Supervisors Okay Poxson Park Start In Lansing Area

Michigan Children's Aid Is Given More Money to Care for Court Wards

With the opening of the Pennsylvania extension on Lansing's south side, Poxson park will be developed. The supervisors gave the go-ahead signal to the park commission Monday to start development of the site given to the county in 1935 by Ella and Sarah F. Poxson Bateman.

The park contains about nine acres and is situated between Pennsylvania avenue and Cedar street in the Everett area.

In the fund to start development is $8,000. Money has been appropriated every year since the land was accepted but only a few expenditures have been made.

There have been two reasons why the park has not been developed previously, members of the park commission explained. The No. 1 reason is that the open Holmes drain carrying sewage and the effluent from septic tanks runs through the park. Another reason has been the inaccessibility. With the completion of the Landel sewage plant and sewer system, Holmes creek will carry only surface and spring water. With the completion of the Pennsylvania avenue extension the park can be easily reached. Real estate development is expected along the new highway and the park will offer a play space, park commissioners told the supervisors.

The county park commission is the same as the road commission. On both commissions are L. D. Dunckel, Guy C. Hull and William N. Sweeney.

Money Appropriated Russell Darling of Lansing appeared before the supervisors Monday forenoon to ask for an emergency appropriation of $1,200 to continue the care given 13 wards of the county by the Lansing branch of the Michigan Children's Aid society. He declared that the society asked for $8,000 in October of last year and received only $5,000. Darling is vice president of the Lansing branch.

Darling told the supervisors that the Lansing branch of the agency has a budget of $8,000 and cares for more than 100 children. The county charges make up 8.2 per cent of the number of children given care, Darling said.

The supervisors made an appropriation of $1,000 to the Children's Aid.

Vacancy Unfilled Supervisors delayed action Monday on filling the vacancy on the board of control of the Ingham tuberculosis sanatorium. Jacob Scherers resigned in October. At the October session of the board Vernon J. Brown was chosen for the vacancy. He told the supervisors he could not accept the position because of a conflict with business interests.

On motion of Supervisor Raymond Wilcox of Lansing township, the supervisors put over the election of the TB board meeting until December 6.

At Monday's meeting the usual list of resolutions was received from other counties. Benzle county asked Ingham to join in having the apple advertising law rescinded. Missaukee county wanted the school superintendent law made effective in every county. Jackson county asked Ingham to join in a demand for a closed deer season in the southern counties. Isabella county asked Ingham to urge the legislature to give oil severance taxes to counties where the wells are located. Wayne county asked Ingham to join in a drive to have unemployment benefits raised.

No action on any of the proposed legislation was taken by the Ingham board.

BIG GAME SEASON OPENS MONDAY

Deer Hunters Heading North

Some Michigan communities, especially the farm areas, will be almost deserted next week. Herds of deer hunters, men, women and children, are heading north. Many of those who intend to hunt above the straits have already departed so they will have their camps made ready for the dawn of Monday.

Close to a million deer and a few more hunters than last year—that's the prospect as viewed by the state conservation department. The Monday opening will spread hunting pressure over a longer period inasmuch as week end hunters will be unable to take to the woods for most of the first week of the season.

The state highway department is again advising the hunters who will cross the straits to start a day earlier.

Five Rural School Districts Will Vote on Consolidation

December 14 is the tentative date set for the vote in five rural school districts on consolidating with the Williamston school. That was the announcement of Alton J. Stroud, county school superintendent, Wednesday afternoon.

The five rural districts which will vote on the consolidation plan are Akers and Fuller in Williamston township; Meridian Center, fractional between Williamston and Meridian; Podunk in Leroy; and Whitcomb in Wheatfield.

All except the Akers school are closed and the pupils are now being transported to the Williamston school. If consolidation is voted, however, the district will be organized as a rural agricultural school district. Under consolidation the district can transport all pupils to the central school in Williamston or can send the younger pupils to the one-room schools.

The consolidation issue in the Williamston area is unique in that four of the five rural schools involved are already closed and the pupils are now in the Williamston school. If consolidation is approved there will have to be no immediate building program because there will be no influx of new pupils to Williamston outside the Akers district, County Superintendent Stroud pointed out.

Taking the five rural districts will add between $600,000 and $700,000 to the assessed valuation of the Williamston district.

More than 50 per cent of the electors in the five rural districts signed petitions calling for the consolidation vote. Sentiment for consolidation appeared to be the strongest in the Akers, Fuller and Podunk districts. At one time the petition in the Meridian Center district was insufficient and additional names had to be secured.

The consolidation proposal has been fostered by the Williamston PTA over the last 18 months.

There are now three consolidated school districts in the county—at Dansville, Okemos and Haslett. There is a move on at Leslie but no petitions have yet been presented. A second township unit system with all the schools in the township being under the control of one school board.

At the October meeting of the supervisors MacLean was asked to submit proposals for an interlocking of the board of supervisors with the fair board. Control of the fair board by supervisors can only be by the voluntary action of the fair board itself, MacLean declared.

Now the county fair board of directors is made up of one representative from each of the township, city and village boards. The fair board is made up of 10 directors. The fair board is made up of 10 directors. The fair board is made up of 10 directors.

The six supervisors who will make up a majority on the 10-man board of directors if the change in the fair association's bylaws is made will be Chairman Wilfred Jewett of Vevay, Clarence Puffenberger of Onondaga, Raymond Wilcox of Lansing township, and Charles Hayden, Rina Dell and Earl Collier of the city of Lansing.

President Otto Hartig and Secretary J. O. Davis of the fair board are present at the meeting of the board of supervisors Monday. They said they believed an arrangement can be worked out to give the supervisors the control asked.

Launstein was elected by the Independents, Taylor by the Peoples party. Alderman Gerald Parsons, re-elected November 2, is an Independent and so are all three of the holdover aldermen, Lee Darling, Frank Dakin and W. Davis Post.

Being a minority of one holds no terrors for Alderman Taylor. "I don't know of any issue which divides Mason's two parties," Taylor declares. "I favor extension of the sewer system and the making of needed improvements to the disposal plant. I believe that Mason will continue to grow and that facilities for growth should be provided. I don't foresee any great difficulties serving on the council as the only representative of the Peoples party."

Asked about his views on city problems, Launstein said, "Many of those views are yet to be shaped up. I am interested in the traffic problem of the city and hope I can do something to better conditions. I am on every street in town every day. To me there seems to be rather simple remedies for some of the conditions."

"I have made no promises to anyone, either before or after the election. I intend to thoroughly study every issue placed before the council and decide each one on its merits. Six Supervisors Suggested for County Fair Board

Promise of Financing On County Fair Buildings Held Out to Directors

There are still some ifs and ands, but it begins to look as though the board of supervisors intends to help finance the county fair deficit.

At Monday's meeting of the supervisors it was suggested that there be six members of the board of supervisors on a 10-man county fair board. Previously there had been hints of county help on deficit financing if the board of supervisors could have control of the fair board until the debt is liquidated.

There is some $6,000 of indebtedness existing from building a new grandstand and repairing the old one in 1947. Prosecutor Charles R. MacLean informed the supervisors that the county has the right to appropriate money for county buildings. The fair buildings are county buildings because they are on county property, although they have been built with county fair revenues and under county fair supervision.

The board of supervisors also has the authority to appropriate up to one-tenth of a mill a year for promoting agriculture, mechanics and the arts.

To slim down the board of directors of the fair to 10 will necessitate a change in the bylaws. To provide that six of the 10 directors shall be members of the board of supervisors will take a gentlemen's agreement, the prosecutor explained. It would not be legal to draw up restrictive bylaws providing that six of the 10 members be supervisors, MacLean added.

At the October meeting of the supervisors MacLean was asked to submit proposals for an interlocking of the board of supervisors with the fair board. Control of the fair board by supervisors can only be by the voluntary action of the fair board itself, MacLean declared.

Boy Shot in Hip On Rabbit Hunt

Darrel Redman, 15, was shot in the hip while hunting rabbits with his brother, Robert, 23, Sunday afternoon. The injured boy is in the fair association's hospital. His condition is reported as good.

The Redman brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Redman, were hunting on their farm on Hanna road in Ingham township. According to the report made to the sheriff's office, Darrel Redman went into a pile of brush to kick out a rabbit. As Darrel came out, the tip of the brush on the opposite side, his brother ran around the pile to aim at the rabbit. The gun was accidentally discharged, striking the younger brother in the hip.

The injured youth was brought to the Mason General hospital and Dr. A. V. Smith dressed the wounds. The boy was weak from loss of blood but he is now gaining rapidly.

Jail Count Drops To Record Low

Usually at this time of the year the count at the jail is starting up. This year it is shrinking to an all-time low. On Thursday morning the guest register showed only 37 and 20 of them were awaiting sentences.

Just a few months ago the average daily count at the jail hung around 65.

Jail attendants are at a loss to know the reason for the sudden loss of popularity of their institution.

Recount Looming On Congressman

There is more than a possibility of a recount on sixth district congressman now that the final count shows William W. Blackney, Republican, the winner by only 784.

George D. Stevens, the Democratic candidate, has indicated that he would ask for a recount if the margin fell below 1,000.

The Labor-Democrat forces gave Stevens a 14,091 margin in Genesee. Ingham gave Blackney a majority of 10,492 while Livingston added a majority of 4,383. The Ingham-Livingston combined majority of 14,875 more than offset the Genesee Stevens lead of 14,091.

New Aldermen Take Up Duties With Open Minds

Both New Officials Pledge Unbiased Approach To All Civic Problems

Neither of Mason's two new aldermen elected at the November 2 election has any pet project. Both men have pledged themselves to approach every city problem with an open mind.

The two new aldermen, Frank Launstein of the first ward and John Taylor of the second ward, will attend their first council session next Monday night. Taylor, who also serves in the dual capacity as supervisor, attended his first meeting of the county board Monday.

Launstein is a Mason daryman. He is a member of the well known Launstein family of Vevay. The Frank Launsteins came to town several years ago and live at 322 East Oak. They still own the farm and operate the milk processing plant there. Both Mr. and Mrs. Launstein fly their own plane. They have their own landing field at the farm. Their two sons, Lee, 9, and Rene, 7, are also enthusiastic about flying. The family makes many trips by plane. Out in Vevay Launstein served on the Hawley school board.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and their two children, Stuart, 14, and Virginia, 8, live at 238 West Elm. The Taylors came to Mason seven years ago. He was manager of the Mason branch of the Lansing Ice and Fuel Co. until last January when he was promoted to the post of sales manager at the main office in Lansing. He has never before held political office although he has served on Mason's traffic commission.

Launstein was elected by the Independents, Taylor by the Peoples party. Alderman Gerald Parsons, re-elected November 2, is an Independent and so are all three of the holdover aldermen, Lee Darling, Frank Dakin and W. Davis Post.

Being a minority of one holds no terrors for Alderman Taylor. "I don't know of any issue which divides Mason's two parties," Taylor declares. "I favor extension of the sewer system and the making of needed improvements to the disposal plant. I believe that Mason will continue to grow and that facilities for growth should be provided. I don't foresee any great difficulties serving on the council as the only representative of the Peoples party."

Asked about his views on city problems, Launstein said, "Many of those views are yet to be shaped up. I am interested in the traffic problem of the city and hope I can do something to better conditions. I am on every street in town every day. To me there seems to be rather simple remedies for some of the conditions."

"I have made no promises to anyone, either before or after the election. I intend to thoroughly study every issue placed before the council and decide each one on its merits. MINORITY OF ONE on the city council is Alderman John Taylor, here shown inspecting the new Elm street bridge.

Alderman Taylor was the only council member elected by the Peoples party at the November 2 election. Regardless of party affiliation, Alderman Taylor approves of the new bridge. He ought to, because his house is just a few feet from the west approach.

"Mason needed this bridge," Alderman Taylor declared. "Some people don't realize how much traffic Elm street carried before the bridge was washed out in the 1947 flood. With the opening of the new bridge a lot of traffic congestion on Lansing and Ash streets will be relieved. West siders won't have to make a series of left turns and go three blocks out of their way to reach their homes from the business district."

Canvassers Still Checking Ingham County Vote Totals

Democrats now have their jubilation under better control and Republicans have again taken up the burden they have borne for 16 years, but the county board of canvassers is still checking the returns from the November 2 election. It will likely be the end of the week before all the discrepancies are ironed out.

Mrs. Carmaleta Stanley of Lansing is chairman of the board of canvassers. The other two members are James B. McIntee of Bunker Hill and Ardel Rosenberg of Onondaga. On Wednesday afternoon the board went to Lansing to meet with several precinct boards to have errors corrected. In some of the precincts the totals for some of the offices exceeded the total of votes registered on the machines. Canvassers believe that the mistakes were made in setting down the totals for the various offices and that the totals as recorded on the machine counts will be found correct.

The vote fell some 6,000 below the anticipated 60,000 in Ingham. In fact, the vote this year was 4,000 less than the Dewey-Roosevelt total of 1944 when 58,313 ballots were cast in Ingham with thousands of young men overseas. Another factor is that the county's registration lists are 3,000 higher now than they were four years ago. The vote this year even fell below the 1940 total when Willie and Roosevelt were candidates.

Candidates for president and for state offices ran neck and neck on the Prohibition, Wallace Progressive and Socialist tickets. Some 300 votes were cast for candidates of each of those three minor parties. Socialist Labor and Socialist Workers candidates received about 25 votes.

While the figures are still unofficial, canvassers believe that the following table will stand up within a few votes of the official vote which is now being tabulated:

	Dewey	Truman	Stieglar	Williams	Hilliard	Mosher
	R	R	R	D	D	D
Alderton	318	99	236	175	297	112

Stroke Is Fatal To Mason Woman

Death came to the Powelson home at 528 West Maple street without warning Tuesday morning. Mrs. Ada Elizabeth Powelson, 50, appeared to be in her usual good health Monday night until she was stricken about 11 o'clock. She died at 8:30 Tuesday morning without regaining consciousness.

At the Powelson home for dinner Monday night were Mr. and Mrs. Tim Stolz, Mrs. Stolz was Stella Powelson before her recent marriage. Preparations were being made that night to entertain a group of 30 former Dansville friends and neighbors Tuesday night.

After Mrs. Powelson retired she asked her husband to get a cold cloth. She complained of a severe pain in her head. A few minutes later she lapsed into unconsciousness and did not rally.

There was not a friendlier woman nor a better neighbor in town than Mrs. Powelson. She was active in the Methodist church and

Officer Tells Of Corregidor Fall

Capt. Thomas J. Watkins, U. S. Army, told Mason Kiwanians Tuesday night of the fall and the recapture of Corregidor. Captain Watkins was in both historic events. He was in the last group to be taken off in a PT boat and was with the paratroops which went back to recapture the fortress.

The army officer declared that the fall of Corregidor resulted from the confusion of army orders which permitted the American planes at Clark field to be grounded when the Japanese launched their attack.

Captain Watkins asserted that preparedness would have prevented the Japanese attack and that preparedness now will scare off Russia. The captain is instructor in the organized reserves at Lansing.

Boy Scout Drive
Short Of Quota

Gerald L. Graham, general chairman for the Mason Boy Scouts drive, reports that the drive has fallen just short of its quota, which was $739.40.

Already $728.32 has been turned over to the Chief Okemos council. There is some possibility that the quota may still be made, as there are three or four workers who have not reported.

With the benefit of the new interest that is becoming apparent in scouting, Mason may regain the position which was held a few years ago.

Mason Nurses Attend Meeting

Mrs. Ethel Woodard and Miss Beatrice MacDonald, R. N., of Mason General hospital attended the fall conference of the Michigan hospital association in Grand Rapids November 8 and 9.

The conference included a meeting of leaders of Michigan hospital auxiliary units from various hospitals throughout the state. Mrs. Esther Morris, superintendent of the Allegan health center, Graham Davis, director of division of hospitals of the Kellogg foundation, and Dr. Malcolm T. MacBachern of Northwestern University all emphasized the importance of hospital auxiliaries. Dr. MacBachern stated that auxiliaries performed many services for hospital patients which could not be accomplished in any other way.

Basic Recipes
"IS THERE any simple way to learn how to be a good cook?" asks a young woman now starting out to keep house. Older homemakers have asked me the same question just as often, so the problem seems to be a common one.
The answer is simply yes. The method is to learn certain basic food preparations, then to vary these, and you certainly will have a good storehouse from which to select for meals of all kinds—for family and for guests.
The idea is to learn the basic recipes so well that it becomes as much a part of you as any simple habit. You'll memorize the ingredients if you repeat the recipe often enough, and the method is even easier to learn. Then it's no trick at all to make an infinite variety of variations of the basic recipe.
Once you have learned a recipe in this way, you'll remember it, no matter how rushed you are or in whose kitchen you are making it. You will have arrived at perfection once you polish the technique of making it, and that is true satisfaction.
Perhaps you've heard that Mrs. Jones is the muffin maker of the community, especially because of her orange muffins. You can become famous for any one of several of your recipes just by learning to follow basic recipes, and trying out their variations.

HERE ARE SEVERAL good basic recipes with their appropriate variations which can form a good backbone to your collection:
Plain Muffins (Makes about 14)
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
4 tablespoons melted shortening or salad oil
Sift together dry ingredients. Combine all remaining ingredients. Add all at once to flour mixture, stirring, not beating, quickly and vigorously until just mixed but still lumpy in appearance so that muffins will have good texture. Fill greased or oiled muffin pans, one-half full, and bake in a hot (425-degree) oven about 25 minutes.

WHOLE WHEAT MUFFINS: Use above recipe, reducing flour to one-quarter cup, adding one cup unsifted whole wheat flour. Increase sugar to four tablespoons and use four teaspoons baking powder. Bake in a moderate (375-degree) oven for 35 minutes.
NUT MUFFINS: Use plain muffin recipe, adding one cup finely chopped nuts to other ingredients.
ORANGE MUFFINS: Use plain muffins, increasing sugar to four tablespoons, reducing milk to three-quarters cup, and adding one-quarter cup orange juice and one-quarter cup grated orange rind.
CHEESE MUFFINS: Add one cup grated American cheese, lightly packed, to dry ingredients.
BLUEBERRY MUFFINS: Mix three-quarter cup of fresh blue-

HAM AND MACARONI: Take one-third package macaroni, place in casserole, top with thin slices of leftover ham, sprinkle with a little dry mustard, dot with butter and pour some of sauce on top of that. Repeat with layer of cheese, ham and sauce twice. Bake as above.

FETED AT BRIDAL SHOWER
A group of friends of Mrs. Wayne Engle, who was Betty Every before her marriage on November 5, were entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Earl Otis on October 19. Mrs. LeRoy Saelsens acted as co-hostess with Mrs. Otis in the affair. Fall flowers were used as decorations throughout the Otis home. The guest of honor opened her gifts before a miniature bride and bridegroom entering a little white church. For entertainment the evening was spent playing dress the bride and hunkum-pinkum penny duster, after which refreshments were served.

Horses Need Attention During Stabled Period
Disease and injury that sometimes prove crippling can be prevented by giving special attention to horses' feet during the stabled period. Brittle hoofs, spongy hoofs, thrush and foot canker are the four diseases commonly caused by bad stable conditions.
Clean, dry floors are recommended as a precaution. The feet of stabled animals also should be trimmed at least once a month.

A new national industrial and farm iron and steel scrap drive is being sponsored by the U. S. Department of Commerce. Scrap collected on farms is considered particularly desirable as much of it is of heavy cast iron which is scarce in steel scrap. Farmers play an important part in supplying raw materials for the steel mills and foundries as they furnish approximately two million tons of scrap a year.

Benefit Grid Game Played in Mud

Mason's varsity reserves finally beat down the junior varsity 20-0 Tuesday night in a benefit game played in the rain and soup of Mason's Athletic field. It was more of a game than the score indicated. The junior varsity made up in spirit and aggressiveness what it lacked in experience and weight.

It was the smoothness of the varsity reserve backfield that swung the balance. With Denny Stolz, Rog Hummel and Ken Mathews, all with plenty of playing time under their belts, juggling the ball, the outcome was never in doubt.

The stand out performance of the game was turned in by the junior varsity line. Playing against bigger and more experienced players, Clare Smith, Reed Montague, Bucky David, Fred Welsh, Ralph Furtney, Dick Thomas and Wayne Gabbert outcharged and outfought their heavier opponents and came up with some vicious tackles that held the score down.

Coach Lou Lort loses most of this year's varsity line. If Tuesday night's game is any indication, he won't have to look too far for good replacements.

Varsity reserve touchdowns were scored by Ken Mathews and Denny Stolz, with Stolz racking up two.

Sunday School Is Reopened

Plains church, located on Plains road, five miles out of Eaton Rapids, has been reopened for the afternoon Sunday school. Due to the illness of Charles F. Brooks, it had to be closed for 3 months. Last Sunday, the third since the reopening, showed an increase in attendance. A group from Lansing known as the Fisherman Group have been assisting Rev. Malcolm Cronk.

The church had been closed for five years until May of 1947. Since that time lights have been installed, a piano purchased, an oil burner installed and Sunday school supplies furnished without any debt being contracted by the church. The hour of the Sunday school is 3:00 to 4:00. As soon as the bus route can be organized, a bus will be used to transport those who have no way to attend Sunday school.

Pictures Show
Need In Europe

Pictures taken in Europe last summer by Dr. Robert M. Bartlett, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church in Lansing, revealed the tragic need of Europe. Dr. Bartlett showed his movies at the Methodist church Wednesday evening.

The Lansing pastor declared that German cities had to be destroyed in order to win the war but that now the United States must rebuild them in order to promote peace and relieve suffering.

Dr. Bartlett declared that Christians should follow the examples of the Olympic contestants, who showed perfect teamwork.

"Each contestant believes in himself and expects to better previous records," the Lansing pastor remarked.

The Lansing pastor was in Europe as a delegate to the Amsterdam Assembly. The assembly is the answer to communism, Dr. Bartlett declared. The assembly has planned a program of action against communism by teaching people to read and to think for themselves and to work for the improvement of their living conditions, Dr. Bartlett said. He declared some Europeans are already showing a spirit of unity and willingness to work.

The appearance of Dr. Bartlett in Mason was sponsored by the Women's Society for Christian service.

Farmer Falls Hardest

Life on the farm is far more hazardous for the farmer and his sons than it is for his wife and his daughters.

In fact, a survey covering 15,000 farms the country over, made by the department of agriculture, reveals that about four times as many accidents happened to men and boys between the ages of 14 and 65 as were suffered by farm women and girls. Of the youngsters under 14 injured, nearly 65 per cent were boys.

More farm people were injured by falls than any other type of accident, with the majority of mishaps involving falling on steps and stairs and from vehicles. Men and boys were victims of twice as many injuries from falls as were women and girls.

Of the total number of farm accidents, 50 per cent were connected with farm work and 8 per cent with housework. The age period from 25 to 45 was disclosed as the most dangerous.

Horses Need Attention During Stabled Period
Disease and injury that sometimes prove crippling can be prevented by giving special attention to horses' feet during the stabled period. Brittle hoofs, spongy hoofs, thrush and foot canker are the four diseases commonly caused by bad stable conditions.
Clean, dry floors are recommended as a precaution. The feet of stabled animals also should be trimmed at least once a month.

A new national industrial and farm iron and steel scrap drive is being sponsored by the U. S. Department of Commerce. Scrap collected on farms is considered particularly desirable as much of it is of heavy cast iron which is scarce in steel scrap. Farmers play an important part in supplying raw materials for the steel mills and foundries as they furnish approximately two million tons of scrap a year.

Niagara Falls Trip Follows Engle-Every Rites Friday

At a simple but impressive candlelight ceremony performed Friday evening at the Mason Baptist church, Miss Betty Every, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Every, became the bride of Wayne Engle. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Youngs of Eaton Rapids.

Preceding the double ring service at eight o'clock, which was performed by Rev. Loyd Caraway, Miss Marilyn Coy sang, "Because" and "I Love You Truly." She rendered "The Lord's Prayer" as the benediction. She was accompanied by Mrs. Loyd Caraway, who also played the wedding march.

The couple spoke their vows before an altar decorated with palms and baskets of white and yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride selected a street-length dress of royal blue crepe with a matching feather halo hat. Her corsage was of red roses. Her only attendant was her aunt, Mrs. Leroy Saclens, who wore a fuchsia dress with gray accessories. She had a corsage of white carnations.

Robert Every, cousin of the bride, was best man. Raymond and Wayne Every, brother of the bride, acted as ushers.

Mrs. Every, mother of the bride, wore aqua-green with black accessories. Mrs. Youngs chose a black gown with black accessories. Both mothers had corsages of white mums.

A reception for the couple was held in the church parlors. Bowls of white, yellow and bronze mums decorated the parlors. Ice cream and sherbet were served by Marilyn Engle, sister of the bride; Marian and Janet Every, sisters of the bride; and Miss Marjorie Every and Mrs. Willard Every. Miss Beverly Watkins served the tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Earl Otis presided at the guest register.

Guests were present from Haviland, Ohio; Grand Rapids, Grand Ledge, Eaton Rapids, Lansing and Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Engle left for a trip to Niagara Falls. When they return they will be at home to their friends at an apartment in the Every home.

The bride graduated from Mason high school in 1946. She is employed in the county treasurer's office. Mr. Engle graduated from Mason in 1945, served one and one-half years in the navy and attended Michigan State college last year following his discharge. He is employed at the Duplex factory in Lansing.

Following rehearsal Thursday evening, members of the wedding party were entertained at luncheon at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wouert Every, 502 East Ash street. Guests were seated at a table which was centered with an arrangement of yellow mums. The luncheon consisted of apple pie a la mode and coffee.

Director Tells Woman's Home History at Meet

Members of the Mason Woman's club held a luncheon at the Hall Memorial library on Tuesday with Mrs. R. G. Henson, Mrs. C. C. Clinton, Mrs. William Meier, Mrs. L. B. Barr and Mrs. William Dart as hostesses. Following the luncheon, Mrs. Smith Young of Lansing, a director of the Woman's home on Willow street gave a history of the home. She has been a director for the past 25 years.

The Woman's home is a project of the Ingham County Federation of Women's clubs. This county federation is the only organization of its kind in the state which has undertaken so large and extensive a project to sponsor. At the present time 34 elderly women are living at the home with a minimum of expense to themselves.

In 1922 the possibility of the Woman's clubs of Ingham county joining, become more than just a dream of a few far-sighted women, and 17 of the clubs, now 28, of the county undertook to sponsor such a program, with two trustees appointed from each of the clubs. Starting on a shoestring, so far as finances were concerned, they first rented a house, and with four applications on hand, opened the home on January 1, 1923. Later the trustees arranged for the purchase of the present home at 510 West Willow street, to which two additions have since been added. The home is now owned and operated, as from the first, by the county federation, through its board of trustees from each of the clubs.

For a time the home shared in Community Chest funds for assistance in its operating costs. In 1939, however, when the old age pension law became a reality, the home authorities decided not to ask for further aid from the Community Chest fund, but instead those who are admitted, pay in part, at least, for their care from pension funds. A matron, housekeeper and other help are employed all the time, and during the years that the Federation has maintained and operated this home 195 elderly women have been residents there of from varying periods of time up to 15 years. A number of Lansing's best known businessmen have interested themselves in the home and contributed to its purchase price.

Following the talk by Mrs. Young, Mrs. Clarence Havens, president of the Ingham County Federation, gave a talk on the history of the County Federation.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wright and son, Russell, spent the week and end of the week at the wedding of Mrs. Wright's nephew, Amos A. Graves, and Alice Schutte of West Branch on Saturday afternoon. Miss Marjorie Worden of Jackson accompanied the Wrights to West Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hosley and daughter, Sheryl, spent Sunday with Mrs. I. Ingelhart in Schoolcraft.

Mrs. William McGinn attended the St. Lawrence hospital Auxiliary benefit bridge given Tuesday afternoon at the Reo club house in Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kean accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Glen Warner of Bluffton, Indiana, to the Indiana-Notre Dame football game Saturday. They also visited Mrs. Kean's niece, Carolyn Warner, who is a student at Indiana university.

Mrs. Inghram was attired in a black suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gibbs, Route 2, Mason. A tiered wedding cake, ice cream, sandwiches and coffee were served by Evelyn Smith and Gloria Barrett, assisted by Mrs. Gibbs.

Greenough Says

ELECTION IS OVER. Let's start milking those cows now and let's make some butter by buying the following offerings:

ADMINISTRATOR sale of one of the best farms in Ingham county. 200 acres, 1/2 mile south of Williamson, known as the Baker farm. Best of land, extra good buildings, and plenty of them. Glad to show this farm by appointment. It is exclusively offered by me at $40,000.

ATTENTION! Here is another real farm of 287 acres just out of Mason on the Okemos road, known as the Herb R. Taylor farm in section 21 and 28 of Alabaster township. Has large house and barn and is practically all work land. This also is offered exclusively and shown only by appointment by me.

GREENOUGH 262 ACRES, all well drained and tillable. Has 30 acres wheat with cozy home, large barn, 2 tool sheds, granary, tenant house. Buildings insured for over $15,000. This 80-acre of highland and balance muck with peppermint still is worth investigating at $30,000. Imagine 7 1/2 acres averaging 80% pounds spermin oil per acre and even transplanted spermin oil averaged 51 pounds per acre.

MASON, 2 bedroom new small modern 2 bedroom house. Full basement with air-conditioned stoker, bin fed furnace, $3,500 with $2,600 down. Possession soon.

GREENOUGH 160 WHEATFIELD ACRES, 150 acres tillable, balance woods and pasture. Basement barn, 38x70 plus shed 20x38; granary 24x30; barn 30x30; hen house 16x40; tile with cement floor; 10x12x35; brand new garage 24x30. Nice 6 room house with bath and furnace. Look this over at $21,600, between Dansville and Williamson.

GREENOUGH FARM EXTRAORDINARY. Only four owners since taken up from government. Replacement cost of buildings would be more than sale price of farm. This is a good dairy farm with basement barn, 36x118, with 37 stanchions, center aisle, bull pen, calf pen, stalls, etc. with drinking cups, milk house, 3-car garage and big pen. The house is a large semi-bungalow type with oak floors and finish down and maple and pine up. Has bath and forced automatic controlled hot air furnace, full basement, fruit cellar, stone fireplace chimney. Good electrically pumped water system to house and barn. Buildings are all in good state of repair. All this on 159 acres of good land, fair to good fences with 300 to 400 trees, well known sugar bush. This farm is near Mason and can be purchased for only $21,000 with easy terms or cash. Don't delay on this one.

GREENOUGH VANTOWN (near) 80 acres, level, clay loam soil, with 70 tillable acres Barn 38x50, other buildings, new silo Large house with modern bath and Holland furnace. One-half of 25 acres wheat. Price $18,000.

GREENOUGH NEAT CITY HOME in the country. It means just that too, with plenty of other good buildings on 100 acres of good level clay loam soil except a couple of acres not so good. Close to Dansville school and village. Included in price is the carpet, wall to wall, deep freeze, and wonderful drapes. Move in now. Price $16,000 with terms.

2 FAMILY in Dansville, 4 rooms up, 6 down, has bath and furnace, 2 car garage, large lot, price $8,000.

FISHING FARMER, here is your chance, 8 boat live, rice grove, 110 acres, good 8 room house, furnace, 2 barns, 2 silos. Owner's one-third of corn included. Near Stockbridge. Price, $16,000.

GREENOUGH DO YOU WANT to go into the grocery store business? I have some desirable places for sale. Ask me.

5 ROOM HOUSE with bath, 2 compartment, American cabinet sink with built-in cupboards. This is in Dansville. It is an old house, but quite livable at only $2,500.

170 ACRES near Leslie, good land and buildings. Price $25,000. Call Mr. Fox, Leslie 2492.

LESLIE FARM of 80 acres—located at 4440 Cooper road, 65 acres tillable, good house, barn and other buildings. Priced at $10,750 with terms. Call Mr. Fox at Leslie 2492 for appointment to show you this desirable farm.

WHY DON'T you buy this 8 room house and 2-car barn-garage located on large lot right on M-36 in Dansville? Remodel this to suit yourself and then you will really have a nice home.

GREENOUGH WANTS HAVE BUYER for one to 10 acres with six or seven room house between Mason and Lansing.

MR. FLOYD S. FOX of Leslie is representing me as salesman in the Leslie vicinity, so if you want to buy or sell real estate phone him at Leslie 2492 and he will call on you.

HAVE BUYER for good land contract or mortgage or if you have money for investment, tell me. I NEED some farms to sell. If you want to sell, give me a ring. Your farm may be just the one my buyers are looking for. IF YOU HAVE real estate anywhere in the state, kindly give me full information, and I may be able to sell it.

I NEED STORE and investment properties or businesses. I NEED some more money to loan on farms or city property at 5%. You must be satisfied with loan.

SOME OFFHAND REMARKS . . . Gen. Charles De Gaulle, disciple of French conservatism and the extreme right wing of political thought, has some pretty emphatic views on what's wrong with France and what should be done to correct conditions in that chaotic country. These pictures of the general were made at a press conference in Paris and show two different moments during his discussion where, with typical Gallic gesticulations, he said pooh to the present government. The general is not exactly reticent when he explains a point.

TEN HORSEPOWER IN ACTION . . . In these days of power-driven machinery, a ten-horse team is as rare as that day in June. This team is in use building an irrigation canal in the Murray valley soldier settlement, Victoria, Australia, where between 500 and 600 miles of irrigation channels are being excavated. The horses are used in preference to power machines because stamping of the horses' hoofs warden their feet bind the soil.

DAILY DOUBLE . . . This pair of unrelated "twins" is the reason that some of the good people of Van Dyke, Mich., go about muttering in confusion. They are Marie Kohler (left) and Charleen Rogekki, both six years old, and they're as alike as two peas in the proverbial pod. Strange as it may seem, Marie and Charleen are not related to each other except in the duplication of physical characteristics.

CARD OF THANKS—I wish to express my appreciation and thanks to my friends, neighbors and relatives, who by their cards, flowers, visits and gifts helped to add cheer and comfort to the last week of my loved one, Cordie Reynolds. Also to those who after his passing away, gave us aid and comfort by their beautiful floral offerings, cards and deeds of kindness and thoughtfulness that I received in any way. I also wish to thank the Mason K. of P. lodge, No. 70, the pallbearers, Rev. Marshall Simpson and Mrs. Russell McBride, Mrs. Cordie J. Reynolds. 46w1

Weather

During the last week, the precipitation was .06, almost an inch. For three days, on November 3, 4 and 5, there was over one-third of an inch of rainfall. This did not, however, affect the mighty Sycamore. So far, for the month of November there has not been as cold a day as on October 17, when the mercury dropped to 20 degrees. On November 8, the mercury dropped to 24.

At 11:15 o'clock on the morning of November 10, one day before the 30th anniversary of Armistice Day, there was a snowfall. Temperatures as recorded for the last week at the sewage plant by S. L. Demorest are as follows:

Hours Increased At Williamston Station Library

Beginning Monday, November 15, hours at the Williamston station of the Ingham county library will be increased, according to Alta Parks, county librarian.

Hours will be as follows: Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, 2-5:30 p. m.; Saturday, 7-9 p. m.; during school year, Wednesday, 12-1 p. m. The Wednesday noon and Monday hours are in addition to the regular ones. Note should be taken that closing time is 5:30 rather than 6:00, Miss Parks pointed out. It is hoped that the Wednesday noon hour will enable all rural students to make use of the library.

Books and services at the Williamston library, as for all units of the county system, are maintained by the Ingham county library. Buildings and maintenance must be by the community with the approval of the county librarian and county library board. When station libraries are organized in a community, some group is asked to act as sponsor, to assist in interpreting its work, to act as guide in obtaining needed equipment, and as a local group with whom the county library may work. Miss Parks pointed out. In Williamston, this has been the Library Founders Guild. In some places it is a Women's club, PTA, Child Study club, or community council. From November, 1947, through October, 1948, 1300 books have gone into Williamston on regular exchanges from the county library. This, at an average cost of $1.50 per book, means almost $2000 worth of books, besides the large number that are sent on special request for reference or recreational reading, Miss Parks asserted.

The Williamston library is in the Faye building, opposite the post-office. Miss Belle Putman is the station librarian. Any resident of Ingham county may borrow books from any of the community libraries.

Church Completes Visitation Drive

Closing a campaign of visiting among the members and congregation of the Presbyterian church, about 50 workers met at the church Thursday evening to evaluate the results. Reports from the various teams participating followed a bohemian supper, and disclosed the fact that 175 calls had been made in the preceding 10 days.

The project was a part of the new life movement of the Presbyterian church in the United States with a goal of one million new members by 1950, 300 new churches and 100,000 additional lay workers.

Rev. Marshall W. Simpson has announced that on Thanksgiving Sunday, November 21, a large number of candidates will be received into church membership, as a result of the work in the community.

Other Presbyterian churches in the surrounding communities are carrying out similar programs.

Legion Auxiliary Opens Drive for Magazine Sales

Browne-Cavender American Legion Auxiliary is currently sponsoring its fourth annual magazine subscription campaign to secure hospital equipment to be loaned to residents of Ingham county. Entering upon this project some three years ago, the local unit now has three wheelchairs, a Vollrath polio-pak heater, a fracture bed and 3 hospital beds which are loaned free of charge anywhere in the county.

According to the records of Mrs. A. W. Jewett, who is in charge of the equipment, the polio-pak has been loaned once during the past year for a period of several months, the wheel chairs have been used by seven people and the beds have been loaned for use in 24 homes in and near Rives Junction, Dansville, Leslie, Stockbridge, Holt and Mason.

It is hoped that this year's campaign will result in sufficient funds for the purchase of an additional wheel chair, as these are usually needed for longer periods than the hospital beds. Plans also include the purchase of an invalid walker and crutches of various lengths. During the past year the local Auxiliary has also presented an incubator to the Mason General hospital, which has saved the lives of a number of babies born there. This was purchased with proceeds of a home talent show which the unit sponsored last spring to raise funds for community service.

WINDOWS SMASHED

A 22x32 plate glass window was broken in the Day store at Dansville last Thursday night and a quantity of pop and candy was looted off. Several nights before a 21x32 window had been smashed in the same store. Sheriff's officers have not yet found the culprits.

County Library Is Sponsoring Poster Contest

In celebration of national book week, November 14-20, the Ingham county library is sponsoring a poster contest through the schools where there are community libraries.

Boys and girls interested have been asked by Miss Dorothy Rozek, children's librarian, to make a poster representing an idea, theme, character or incident from a book borrowed from the library. The three best from each school will be brought to the county library headquarters at Mason by 5 p. m., November 10. From these the best three will be selected and displayed about the county in rotation after book week.

Judges for the contest are Miss Lucille Showerman, helping teacher from the county superintendent's office, Miss Louise Kellenberger, Ingham county bookmobile librarian, and Miss Margaret Yull, art instructor from Michigan State college. Posters will be judged on originality and general construction.

Winners will receive books as prizes, and may choose from the following stories: Little Women, Tom Sawyer, Robinson Crusoe, Robin Hood, Smoky, Blue Fairy Book, Paul Bunyon, Silver Chief, Treasure Island or Mary Poppins.

Rites Held For Cordie Reynolds

Funeral services for Cordie J. Reynolds, 79, were held at the Ball funeral home Monday afternoon with burial in Fairview cemetery, Dansville. Mr. Reynolds died last Thursday afternoon after a long sickness. He had been confined to his bed for weeks.

Born in Dansville June 20, 1869, the son of Joseph and Phoebe Reynolds, Mr. Reynolds attended the Dansville school until he reached the age of 16. From then on he made his own way in the world. He married Ida Mecklenburg in Grand Rapids and they lived there before they went to Newcaste, Indiana, where Mr. Reynolds operated a wholesale and retail cigar business for many years. Lecturer Explains Scripture Doctrine

"No one will ever get to heaven on his own merits, or by his good works. Everybody who gains heaven will be there through the grace of Christ," so spoke Evangelist R. K. Krick last Sunday evening in his Bible lecture at the American Legion hall. A large crowd heard the speaker explain the scriptural doctrine of "salvation by grace."

"There are many people," Krick said, "who think they will get to heaven by keeping the law and being morally good, remembering the 'Golden Rule' etc. This is one of the snares of Satan who wants mankind to feel that they are capable of bringing about the salvation of the world, and that Christ's grace and salvation are unnecessary."

The lecturer quoted Ephesians 2:8-9, "For by grace ye are saved through faith, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God; not of works, lest any man should boast. For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works."

Debruler, grandmother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Artie Wood were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Foess at Perry.

Mr. and Mrs. Eld Hunt of Detroit, Miss Merle Wright of Lansing and Graydon McCoy of DeRuyter, New York, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sporkia and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Tase at Jackson.

2:8-10 which says, "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God; not of works, lest any man should boast. For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works."

To show that Noah, Moses, and all the faithful of Old Testament times were saved by grace, the speaker read Genesis 6:8, Exodus 33:13, 16, Jeremiah 31:1-3, and I Corinthians 10:1-4. Next Sunday night's subject will be "What Did Christ Nail to the Cross? Were the Ten Commandments Crucified at That Time?" The lectures are free, and all residents of the Mason area are invited to attend.

Forrest Fry - Leora Messner Wed At Candlelight Rites

Honeymooning this week in northern Michigan are Mr. and Mrs. Forrest R. Fry, who exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening at the Mason Methodist church. The bride is the former Leora Belle Messner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Messner, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fry.

Rev. Henry Liddicott, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony at eight o'clock in the presence of 125 friends and relatives. Baskets of white chrysanthemums, palms and candelabra, holding lighted tapers, banked the church altar for the occasion.

Preceding the rite, William Barnhart of Holt rendered vocal selections of "At Dawning," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." He was accompanied by Richard Peek, who also played traditional wedding music.

Patricia Messner was her sister's maid of honor. The bridegroom was attended by John Townsend of Williamston. Guests were seated by Roland Messner of Fowlerville and Robert Messner, brothers of the bride, and Douglas Fry of Holt and Clarence Fry, brothers of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in pink chiffon over pink taffeta. Short sleeves, sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice, peplum and full skirt featured the bridal gown. Her shoulder-length veil of pink net was secured by pink rosebuds. She carried a white Bible topped with white chrysanthemums.

Yellow chiffon over yellow taffeta gowned the maid of honor. The dress was styled with sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves, fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a matching net headdress which was held in place by a halo of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Messner chose a gray suit with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. A blue crepe dress and black accessories were selected by Mrs. Fry for her son's marriage. Both mothers wore corsages made up of pink rosebuds.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Anna Slusser, was attired in black crepe with black accessories. Mrs. Cora Baker of Lansing, the bridegroom's grandmother, wore a wine-colored dress accented with black accessories. They had pink rosebud corsages.

The newlyweds greeted their guests in the church parlors immediately following the rite. A four-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and bridegroom, and ice cream were served by Mrs. Jack Whipple, Mrs. Janet Kilder, Mrs. H. S. Pulver and Mrs. Jeanette Reid. Janet Pillingham presided at the guest register and June Herschman of Lansing and Mrs. Lillian Strouse opened the gifts.

For traveling Mrs. Fry chose a gray suit with black accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of pink rosebuds. When the couple return they will reside with the bride's parents until their new home on Lamb road is completed.

Mrs. Fry, who graduated from Mason high school in 1943, is employed at the Paristyle Shoppe. Her husband, a graduate of Holt high school, is associated in farming with his father.

Mason Defeats Grand Ledge To Wind Up Grid Schedule

Mason pulled down the curtain on the 1948 Capital Circuit grid season Friday night in the rain and mud of Fitzgerald field in Grand Ledge with a 13-2 win over the cellar-dwelling Comets. In spite of the poor playing conditions, Mason turned in one of the better games of the season.

Grand Ledge got off to a flying start and took a hulk lead when Left Half Dick Kleinfelt galloped 40 yards to Mason's 14-yard stripe. The Bulldog line dug into the mud and held the Comets. Mason took over the ball on downs. On the first play Merritt Snyder tried to run the ball out and was dragged down behind the goal line for a safety and two points.

From there on out it was mostly Mason. On the kick-out after the safety Don Jennings recovered a Grand Ledge bobble at midfield. In spite of the sloppy field Mason came up with some fancy razzle-dazzle and it paid off when Joe Johnson picked a perfect pass from Merritt Snyder out of the air and streaked down the sideline for the score. Bob Lyons went back to boot the extra point but the slippery ball got away and Mason pulled into a 6-2 lead.

In the second quarter Johnson again set up the touchdown with a punt return that carried to the

Adventure, Comedy, Musical on Fox Film Fare

"The Mating of Millie," Columbia's new romantic comedy, is opening at the Fox Theatre on Saturday. Starring Glenn Ford and Evelyn Keyes, the film has been heralded as the hilarious tale of a girl who needs a husband and a young man who doesn't object to marriage, as long as it doesn't happen to him!

The story is all about a prim, fiance-sny department store executive, Millie McGonigle (Miss Keyes), who wants to adopt an orphan but can't until she finds a husband! A floorwalker in the store, Doug Andrews (Glenn Ford), is the first one she tries to lure into a convenient marriage. He likes his freedom too much to fall in with her plans, but he promises to help her snare a mate.

A fatherly kiss from a friendly guy! Big Willard Parker looks on disapprovingly as Glenn Ford plants a friendly smack right on Evelyn Keyes' forehead in "The Mating of Millie," Columbia comedy at the Fox Theatre Saturday. Ron Randall is also seen in this Casey Robinson production.

Grand Ledge substitutions: Pylman, Troy, Cypher, Barnes, Chapman, Russell, Kowalk.

Coach Lori Claims Doctor's Approval On Stanley Kranz

Mason Football Coach Lori insists that Stanley Kranz only had the wind knocked out of him in the Eaton Rapids game and did not collapse from a heart attack.

Kranz fell unconscious in the game and was carried off the field. He was taken to the Mason hospital where he was examined and treated by Dr. William E. Clark. Dr. Clark explained the collapse of Kranz as the result of a blow to the solar plexus. The blow knocked Kranz cold, the doctor asserted.

At the time of the injury to Kranz some of his friends at the field and even some members of the faculty claimed that Kranz had a heart weakened from a case of rheumatism in his boyhood and that he frequently collapses when near exhaustion. It was reported even by a member of the Kranz family that the grider had a minor heart ailment.

That the stories regarding the heart condition of Kranz had been in circulation for some months is borne out by the fact that Lori and other school officials insisted that something more than a cursory examination be given the boy before permitting him to play football. Before Kranz was permitted to start practice last fall he filed with school authorities a statement signed by Dr. Alfred Spagnola of Lansing. The doctor's statement said an examination of Kranz revealed no heart ailment and that strenuous athletics should result in no harm to the boy's heart.

At Grand Ledge Friday night Coach Lori used only a few words although he was not left until he neared the exhaustion stage. In a statement to the Ingham County News, both Coach Lori and Superintendent James Vander Ven declared that if they had any suspicion that Kranz had a weak heart that he would not be allowed to participate in football.

A member of the Mason faculty and the parent of the boy said that Kranz collapsed while scuffling with another boy at school several months ago.

Holt Holds Lead In County League

Holt had the Ingham County league football lead all week last Friday night, but just for the record the Ramblers hung up a 14-0 victory. It was their sixth in league play. The only blot on the record is a surprising tie with last place Fowlerville.

The Ramblers punched across a pair of touchdowns, one in each of the first and second quarters, to defeat the Haslett team in the rain and mud.

Bruce DePue and Eugene Smith tallied the touchdowns for Holt with Bill Alberts and Van Greene adding the points after the touchdowns.

Leslie lost to Everett 13-6 and Okemos lost to Galesburg 25-6 in a pair of non-league hits Friday. Okemos' victory was tied 6-6 when the Galesburg team shifted to high gear in the third quarter.

Everett scored against Leslie in the second period. Leslie evaded the count to 6-6 in the last quarter. Then the Vikings stepped out to shove across the winning touchdown.

The Friday night Holt-Haslett game was the last one scheduled for Ingham league teams. Dansville, Williamston, Okemos and Stockbridge all tied for second place, each with four victories and three defeats. Haslett finished sixth with Leslie in seventh place and Fowlerville in the cellar.

Daniel Migrants Not Farm Owner

In the rush of handling election news last week, an error was made in the account of the death of Daniel S. Migrants. The newspaper article stated that he was the owner of the farm at 304 Diamond road, where he made his home. He never owned the farm. It was and is owned by the son, Clifford Migrants and wife. The father made his home there after his wife died in 1931.

Participants at the funeral were Cordie Barker (not Cordie Bashford as was stated), Vernon J. Brown, Willis Collar, Floyd DeCamp, Gerald Diamond and Milo Sherwood.

Kim Sigler, Michigan's ex-governor, now a one-termist! Elected two years ago in a reform crusade upset, sparked by grand jury revelations of Lansing legislative graft, the colorful Kim will now be succeeded on January 1 by a 37-year-old veteran of World War II, another political amateur, a man whom the governor casually selected to serve as a Democratic member of the liquor commission.

This capital city is still catching its breath. Despite rising opposition to Sigler, largely from within the Republican party, the forecasted Dewey landslide had been counted on by state officials to afford a safe margin for Sigler.

What happened then?

Since Dewey and Ferguson carried Michigan and since a Republican legislature was elected, it has become painfully obvious that many persons who voted for Republican candidates did not vote for Sigler. This cannot be accounted for on the basis of persons who had been offended by Sigler during his grand jury days. Nor can it be justified by a conclusion that the people did not approve of his ideas for streamlining government. The results of the same election show that several Sigler-sponsored changes were given majority approval: A constitutional convention and better salaries for state officials and legislators by removal of constitutional limitations. True, repeal of the sales tax diversion amendment was emphatically rejected, but Sigler had given up any hope of getting repeal approved at this time.

As we see it, the election of G. Mennen Williams was not a mandate for this-and-that in the way of social reform. It was the indirect outcome of a "protest" registered by Republicans, for the most part, who had come to the conclusion that ANOTHER change was needed at Lansing? why did they arrive at this judgment after only two years?

We recall a remark made by Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., one of the original Sigler men at Lansing. Alger came to the capital city imbued with great ideals, as voiced by Sigler during the campaign. Here was an opportunity for public service of the highest order.

Did Alger get an opportunity to become a member of an administrative team, as Harry Kelly had successfully developed during his four-year incumbency as governor? The answer is no. Sigler failed in this respect to effect a working partnership with his own state officials and with the legislature. This failure was costly. Alger is remaining at Lansing. Sigler is not.

Fair Questions and Fair Answers

Last week the people discovered that big city newspapers and poll takers are not oracles. Perhaps that discovery has put the readers of all papers into a questioning frame of mind.

The Ingham County News made no predictions. It conducted no polls. It didn't even carry the predictions made by Gallup or Roper. Neither did the Ingham County News urge anyone to vote for Dewey, or President Truman or Henry Wallace.

Question No. 1: How come the Ingham County News carried the tabulated election returns only on circuit judge and not on President Truman and Dewey, or on Sigler and Williams?

The answer is this: The totals were not available.

It was Wednesday evening before many election boards completed their count. It was Thursday forenoon before all of the precinct totals were available. It was Thursday noon before tally clerks working with the board of county canvassers had the master return sheet completely filled in.

Because of the closeness of the local contest for circuit judge those figures were the first totaled and the first made available. Right now (Monday morning) the official total is not yet available. In fact, on Thursday afternoon the Ingham County News carried totals which showed Judge Marvin J. Salmon re-elected by 2,500 while the State Journal on the same afternoon had the judge re-elected by less than 1,000.

There are 82 voting precincts in Ingham county. The city of Lansing has 38. There are 15 in Lansing township. It's a difficult task to get the total figures for all 82 precincts down on one master sheet and then to add and check the totals. When the county canvassers did not receive some of the figures until Thursday noon it became impossible to have the totals ready by press time Thursday afternoon. That press time was delayed two hours in order to carry the few totals which were available.

No attempt is being made to apologize for not having the complete tabulated returns in last week's Ingham County News. A lot of people thought and said that the Ingham County News did an outstanding job on election coverage.

Question No. 2: Week after week the Ingham County News carries items about people being arrested for being drunk, for drunk driving and other minor offenses. Why wasn't more said about the Dr. Kraft case in Leslie two weeks ago?

For the simple reason that the editors didn't think then nor do they believe now that the Dr. Kraft case adds up. Reliable witnesses said that Dr. Kraft used a shotgun to back up verbal orders about a moving job at his store building. Dr. Kraft denied that he pointed a shotgun at anyone.

Had there been any reason to believe that the Kraft case would have ever reached court then there might have been a point in giving more coverage to the happening. A check at the sheriff's office on the Thursday morning that the report of the case reached this office showed no mention of any such happening. There had been no report made of any threat to anyone by Dr. Kraft. The deputy sheriff at Leslie had not made any report of any such happening at Leslie. According to the report received at the Ingham County News, a state trooper had placated the parties in the altercation but there was no probability that any official complaint would be made nor that any arrest would follow. To this day there has been no complaint.

It might be explained that no complaint is necessary for any officer to make an arrest in a case of breach of the peace. When any person, be he the owner or occupant of a store, be he a doctor, dentist, newspaperman, farmer or poll-taker, brandishes a gun, any officer of the law has not only the right, but the duty, to take that man into custody.

No—the Dr. Kraft case didn't add up then, nor does it now. The Ingham County News gave to it all the coverage justified under the peculiar circumstances.

A Sweet Tooth Is Soon Decayed

Any school or other organization which encourages the sale of pop and candy to youngsters is likewise encouraging the sale of false teeth.

If schools continue to permit the operation of pop and candy stands at athletic events and other school affairs then alongside such stands should be others where orders for false teeth can be taken.

Dr. Fred Wertheimer, director of the bureau of public health dentistry, has completed a study of tooth decay among Michigan children. He found that decay is occurring many times more rapidly than the dental profession can provide corrective treatment. His research has shown that tooth decay is started by acids resulting from the action of bacteria on refined sugars and starches in the mouth.

With these findings it now becomes the duty of public health and school officials to acquaint children and their parents about the dangers of drinking pop and chewing candy. It becomes the duty of school and public health officials to encourage youngsters to munch on apples, oranges, other fruits and nuts instead of candy; to slake their thirsts with apple or orange juice or city water, instead of pop.

Public health and school officials now have the facts of tooth decay before them. Those facts should not be ignored.

President Should Be No. 1

Under the present law in Michigan it is mechanically impossible on voting machines to have the names of presidential candidates appear at the head of the ballot. On Lansing voting machines the names of the presidential candidates were in positions No. 29. That means there were 28 candidates listed ahead of presidential candidates. Actually the names of the presidential candidates came after all the state officials and all the county officials, even after county coroners and county surveyor.

Voters who pulled the party levers with the intention of voting straight tickets didn't vote for any candidate for president unless they first pulled down the individual levers over the names of the presidential candidates. Some 4,000 voters forgot or neglected to pull down those individual counters and they thus lost their votes for the most important office on the ballot.

The Michigan law was changed to do away with coattail riding. Republicans believed that state and county candidates would have an advantage every four years if the name of Roosevelt was not first on the ballot. So the law was changed but no change was made in the voting machines. The first 28 places on a voting machine are controlled by a party lever. From 29 to 40 the party levers do not control. That's why the names of presidential candidates were 29 places distant from the head of the ticket.

The first act of the new legislature should be to change either the election law or the voting machines so that hereafter some 4,000 Lansing voters and other thousands in precincts where voting machines are used are not disfranchised on voting for president.

EXPERT OPINION ON ELECTION IS OFFERED.

Dewey Counted Votes Too Early, President Truman Not Challenged

By Vernon J. Brown The expert experts have occasionally been busy since the election returns began rolling around the midnight hour between Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. First, there were the so-called "pollsters" whose guesses were found as far wrong as one's wildest guesses could wander from the probabilities. Second, there were those who never attempted to forecast the results but who are always quick to identify those who risk making predictions.

Worse than a flock of Monday morning quarterbacks during the football season are the quackings of those who claim to know all the reasons why the defeated failed and why the victorious won. Since there is no patent on this post-election indoor sport, this column may as well try its hand at it.

My No. 1 comment is that the Republicans counted their votes too early. Long before the national conventions the Gallups and the Ropers had the Democratic party totally demoralized and whipped no matter whom they might nominate and in case they were foolish enough to place President Harry S. Truman in nomination, then the people might as well forego any election and hand the presidency to the Republican nominee. Consequently there was only slight public interest in pre-convention party maneuvers in either major party. As for the Republicans, they took a sleeping powder last June and only awakened on Wednesday, November 3, too late to do anything except offer excuses.

As the president campaigned for re-election, he was met by what would normally have been considered insurmountable handicaps. The Solid South was solid against his nomination. When the convention named him the southern bloc withdrew and named its own candidate. In some states they even denied the president, placed in office by their own votes, a place on the Democratic ticket.

Henry Wallace, whom the president succeeded as vice-president, got himself a brand new party, particularly opposed to the president. United States senators and congressmen, members of the president's party, either stood idly aside or openly repudiated the Truman candidacy. Party bigwigs either ignored his candidacy or openly supported his opponents. He stood alone, he campaigned alone, he openly defied all campaign polls and all party traditions. And he won.

No Challenge to Truman It was a peculiar and a most interesting situation, that presented by the 1948 campaign. As champion of the New Deal, already counted out by the unofficial referees, he was never called upon to defend his title, the reason being announced by a newspaper. For instance, at the Recreation turkeys are being given to bowlers who roll exactly 149 after they have put up an entry fee of $10. That makes the contest a game of skill instead of a game of chance, and such a game can be legally advertised.

Memo to Postmaster Bill Barber: Those Republicans who have been standing around the lobby of the postoffice trying to learn your trade have now made other plans. About as engaging a youngster as there is in town is Claudia Seibert. Her big eyes and quiet manner give her a lot of dignity for a second grader.

"The prettiest girl in kindergarten," my daughter Margaret told me, "is Mary Lou Garcia. Why, she's just beautiful, like Mrs. Beardsley." Mrs. Beardsley is the teacher.

There comes a time to put away childish things. That time comes to the wise when they are very young. Some people never put away childish things and so never grow up. The time comes early to Jacqueline Ryal. She stopped in at the office last week to put in an ad all her own, offering to sell her tricycle and playhouse. "I'm too big for those things now," Jackie said. She told Norma she was six and in the first grade.

It was back in 1942 that Willis Collar husked 1,600 bushels of corn. He husked about 800 this year. He would have husked more if he had had it. Dick Mills is still a good man with a husking peg, if any farmer needs extra help.

Judge Louis E. Coash has commissioned me to keep him informed on church suppers. He was highly pleased with the fried chicken at the Northwest Stockbridge church. I recommended the Mason Presbyterian supper on Thursday night of this week.

Mixed with the salt rising bread aroma wafted from the ovens of the Mason City bakery Saturday morning will be the fragrance of international baked goods placed on sale by the PTA at the Perkins hardware store. People who have been yearning for some of Mrs. James Vander Ven's soosiyven broodjes, Norwegian rolls spiced with Cardamom as made by Mrs. Ed. Ferris, Pennsylvania Dutch shoofly pie from Mrs. Ed Hinkle's oven, Russian tea cakes from the kitchen of Mrs. Herschel Jewett, Danish pastry as made by Mrs. Orin Hall, Pennsylvania Dutch cheese custard pie from the oven of Mrs. J. B. Roe, and Czechoslovakia almond berry cookies as made by Mrs. Howard Seiber will want to be at the sale early. And who can bake studded? A batch of that is still needed to make the sale a complete success.

Here at the Ingham County News we are no prur in heart than other publishers who advertise the bingo parties. Since receiving that citation from Washington we just darsent mention where and when any game of chance will be staged.

If chance doesn't enter into it games with prizes can be that no one challenged it. Dewey endorsed about everything the New Deal ever did but claimed he could take the same tools and do a better job. Truman carried the fight to the people. He called the Republicans bad names, chided them for keeping bad company, scorned their insincerity, questioned their integrity, accused them of fostering another financial panic, and otherwise acted as if he were the challenger and not the defender.

In contrast Dewey talked about unity and contented himself with platitudes. His diction was perfect, his demeanor nothing less than the cultured gentleman, his attire immaculate and his personal appearance the best that good grooming could produce.

Dewey never asked for votes. Truman never failed to plead for support.

The people must like their politics couched in blunt terms. At least, that is the way they voted. Of course, the sleeping sickness that afflicted the Republicans kept many away from the polls while the laborites who wanted the president but wanted to lick some congressmen got their followers out to vote. While they were there they took the occasion to mark a straight ballot for all Democratic candidates. And that is the reason a lot of Republican candidates for state and local offices failed at election. Grain farmers of the Midwest had their eyes on parity prices and subsidies. They voted for Truman.

Sigler's Defeat But that does not account for the terrible lacing our own Michigan governor took.

I recall that two years ago next month there appeared an article written for the Readers Digest entitled "The Maddest Man in Michigan." That article pictured Michigan as politically and administratively rotten and the outgoing administration as shaking in their official shoes while awaiting the inauguration of a crusading governor who momentarily would come dashing up Michigan avenue on his white charger, with sword sharpened and armor glistening.

Some people think that Kim Sigler is madder now than he was two years ago.

Meanwhile the people of this state became angry also. A good many had listened in awe at the ghost stories they heard during the campaigns of two years ago. They believed there was rotteness and they wanted it cleaned up. When there was no cleaning, some of them came to believe they had been deceived and that there was no such situation as had been described. Others still believed the stories of corruption and bribery, and wrongdoing and suspected the governor of selling out to the interests he was supposed to battle. Both these groups got mad. Then there were a lot of others who

Librarians Hold School Workshop

Haslett, Holt, Mason, Okemos, Webberville and Stockbridge sent their teacher-librarians and at least two student assistants to an all-day workshop sponsored by the Ingham county library at Mason, last Friday. Work was planned on the things for which the teacher-librarians have been asking assistance—how to order, what and where to order books; how much to catalog and how, simple mending processes, and what to send to the bindery or discard.

Miss Ruth Warnock, Kent county librarian, gave an inspiring book review at the noon luncheon on U. P. Hedric's new book of Little Traverse Bay area, "Land of the Crooked Tree."

Miss Alta Parks, Ingham librarian, taught the morning sessions on cataloging and mending, and in the afternoon, Miss Dorothy Rozek, also of the county library staff, led a discussion on the use of the World Almanac. Response from the group warrants a similar meeting next year, the librarians agreed.

any promise, his warring with members of his official family and the legislature—all these contributed to building up a mountain of opposition, which once released, became a veritable and invincible landslide.

A gulp in a recent magazine tells of a distracted mother who told her troublesome little son to go outdoors and play with his friends. The lad retorted, "I have only one friend and I hate him." The moral is, the world cannot thrive nor exist well on hate. Hate and suspicion and innuendo may serve for awhile but sooner or later they will turn into instrumentalities of destruction for those who employ them.

There were many other factors. One commentator has referred to our governor as "the flamboyant, dapper Governor Kim Sigler," and other stunts, name calling, flamboyant and dapper he may have been but from now on he will be remembered as the governor who in 1946 was elected by a plurality of 350,000 and two years later was rejected by a plurality of 160,000. That spells more than half a million votes lost in a single term and that defeat encompassed by another candidate whom few believed could possibly win—a youngster practically unknown to the people of Michigan and almost wholly without experience in state matters.

Both the national campaign and that for state offices were peculiarly dull. Here in Michigan as in other states with the largest cities, the daily newspapers tried their hands at poll taking. In the face of the election results, those poll results are as wised as those of Gallup and Roper.

The people have a way of learning the facts and making up their collective mind. Perhaps in the future it might be wise to let them do that very thing without all the fanfare and costly campaigning which has become traditional.

Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Library, Mason: Everyday except Sundays and holidays, 2-5 p. m.; Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, 7-9 p. m.; during school year, Tuesday, Friday, 11:45-12:45; Busy Hours, Saturday, 1-3 p. m.

BOLD GALILEAN is a novel of the time of Christ. It concerns chiefly three soldiers of Rome and their attitude toward the Jewish people and toward life in general. Through the stories of their lives, the customs of the country are told, the New Testament story comes more alive, and the background of many of the episodes in Jesus' life become more real. The long familiar stories of the Sermon on the Mount, the story of the boy and his loaves and fishes, as well as many of the miracles are all here. One believes it will rival THE ROBE in popularity, and be read by many who found the former a bit lengthy.

ALBERT SCHWEITZER, and anthology, is one of those books one needs to have at home over a long period of time, for his bits of philosophy taken from writings in not only English but German and French, need pondering and savoring rather than being read in gulps. Schweitzer was a philosopher, writer, musician and doctor of medicine. All these activities are felt in his writings.

HOME BOOK OF LAUGHTER is a compilation by May Lambertson Becker of stories from authors who have made her laugh. Included in the collection are bits from Charles Dwy, Camilla Ottis Skinner, Robert Benchley, and the well known characters of Mrs. Peterkin, David Harum and Mr. Dooley. A good book for Christmas giving, it's also an excellent kind for the bedside table in the guest room, as well as for family read-aloud.

BELOVED BONDAGE is by Elizabeth Yates and is the story of two ill-adjusted young people who find happiness within themselves and finally with each other because of the help given the young man by the village librarian, who is all that the ideal librarian should be, for she has not only a keen knowledge of books, but of people and is able to bring them together satisfactorily.

Before the bride party took their places in front of palms, baskets of flowers and candelabras with lighted tapers, Mrs. Mary Schriener sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly." Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Juanita Nelson.

The bride's mother chose a black crepe dress. She wore a corsage of white mums. The bridegroom's mother also wore black with a corsage of white mums.

Only children having brothers, sisters or parents with T. B. were x-rayed, as childhood T. B. is rare. Most of the local stores and eating places had their employees take the test. The drive was sponsored by the local F. F. A. and F. H. A. groups.

Eating Sweets Is Major Cause Of Tooth Decay; Doctor Reveals

Eating sweets is the major cause of tooth decay among Michigan children. That is what Dr. Fred Werthelmer, Director of the bureau of public health dentistry of the Michigan department of health said in reviewing current dental research. He said also that the decay is occurring many times more rapidly than the dental profession can provide corrective treatment.

Dr. Werthelmer urged parents and teachers to attempt to cut down on children's use of gum including the bubble variety—sticky pop and chocolate syrup drinks, cookies, cake, pie, jam, jelly, and sugar.

Research has shown, he said, that decay is started by acids resulting from the action of bacteria on refined sugars and starches in the mouth immediately after eating—sweets would help some, he said, "but what child would rush off to brush his teeth as soon as he had finished a pop?"

How serious the dental problem is, is shown by these facts: At the age of 10 the average child has five permanent tooth surfaces attacked by caries; at the age of 18, he has 20 surfaces attacked; and at the age of 30, more than 45 surfaces attacked.

Research has shown that caries actively will decrease in direct proportion to the extent sugar is cut from the diet. This change has been observed in as little as two weeks time in studies conducted at the university and it was evident over a period of several years in European countries where sugar was extremely short during the war.

Other agents are being developed to counteract the harmful effect of sugar, but until these agents are in more general use, parents can save their children's teeth by cutting down on the sweets each child is permitted to eat.

Union of South Africa is famous for gold mines which produce one-third of the world's supply and for productive diamond beds. Its valuable coal seams, mined to the extent of 18 million tons before the war, yielded 25 million tons in 1947 and are expected to reach more than 30 million by 1949. In 1947, a total of 3,721 new companies alone opened their doors.

The Holt chapter U. D. received her charter and many grand officers attended the ceremony last Wednesday evening. Those attending from here were Marguerite Volmer, Ruth Traver, Ethel Prine, Laura Fisher, Hope Thompson, Helen Johnson, Marie Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hare and Cyrus Griffith.

Thirteen local boys, from 12 to 18 years of age, accompanied the local police on a replacement party last Tuesday afternoon. After assembling at the city police headquarters, the boys were escorted by car to some 15 locations where outside toilets had been tipped over on Hallows.

The boys placed the buildings back on their original foundations.

support of farm prices on a percentage of parity basis and adoption of a resolution calling for the removal of taxes on oleomargarine but continuing the ban on coloring it yellow in imitation of butter.

It is proposed that the ban on coloring oleomargarine for subsequent selling could best be enforced under the fraud provisions of laws now administered by the federal food and drug administration. Such action would be to the best interests of both consumers and milk producers, President Ivan K. Maystead declared, as the housewife would no longer pay the tax on oleomargarine nor could it be sold as butter in its uncolored form.

A resolution was adopted by the meeting urging the incoming state legislature to appropriate funds immediately for expanding the veterinary department at Michigan State college which is falling far behind in its research and training work at a time when Michigan's dairy and animal agriculture interests are rapidly expanding. The delegates also seek the continuation and expansion of the state's fight to eradicate brucellosis from dairy herds by the appropriation of adequate funds to carry on the program.

Secretary-Manager Howard F. Simmons in his annual report told

Proper Care Will Yield Profits From Michigan Muck Acreage

Michigan's muck soil area—estimated at one acre in every eight—is recognized as important in the production of special crops such as celery, onions and mint, Michigan State college.

The acres of muck soil are widely distributed. Many farms have a few acres of muck land that is often considered waste land because the farmers are not interested in this type of farming enterprise. Sometimes, when attempts were made to farm the land, water, frostiness and other difficulties caused the area to be abandoned. Davis believes that correct management would have brought substantial returns in many of these cases.

Outlook for 1949 Is Encouraging

Every farmer likes to get the opinion of others when he's planning his next year's farm program. Michigan State college farm economists this week presented a brief outline of the prospects for 1949.

First, they say a strong demand for most farm products is expected in 1949. Farm product prices are cash receipts from farm markets as high as in 1948. High farm production costs, however, are likely to cause a lower net income to farmers in 1949.

Six Herds Reach 30-Pound Average

Six herds in the Ingham-South Dairy Herd Improvement Association averaged more than 31 pounds of butterfat during October, according to the report of the tester, George Ward.

The herd of 19 registered Holsteins owned by Coe F. Emens of Mason was high with 41.2 pounds of fat from 1108 pounds of milk. The other five were J. H. and R. D. Chamberlain, Leslie, 18 registered Holsteins, 38.6 pounds fat, 1031 pounds milk; Dick Smith, Stockbridge, 20 mixed breeding, 37.9 pounds fat, 985 pounds milk; Gottfried Graf & Son, 31 grade and registered Holsteins, 34.0 pounds fat, 950 pounds milk; Robert Rhines, Onondaga, 5 grade Holsteins, 33.8 pounds fat, 970 pounds milk; and L. B. Harris, 16 registered and grade Holsteins, 31.3 pounds fat, 894 pounds milk.

Business Principles Required on Farms

Cash, credit, equipment, soil fertility and human strength are involved on the ledger of assets controlled by the farmer and rancher—assets that become liabilities when management is lacking.

Probably 90 per cent of the difference between a poor farm or ranch and a profitable one is in the management. Good business principles lead a farmer ahead, whereas one who operates by intuition, by guess or "by neighbor" never gets ahead.

Dairymen Ask Ban on Yellow Oleo

The state of Michigan does prohibit the sale of oleomargarine colored yellow in the semblance of butter.

The Michigan Milk Producers association, at its annual meeting held in East Lansing November 4 approved this policy, and other state farmer organizations will be asked, in the near future, to vote on this policy recommended by the three leading dairy organizations.

The National Co-operative Milk Producers Federation and the National Creameries association will in the next few weeks act separately on the recommendation of their policy committees. The American Butter Institute has approved this policy.

LANDSCAPE OFFICE NAMED

Joseph T. Cox

New landscape architecture and urban planning extension specialist at Michigan State college, is Joseph T. Cox of Lapeer. Previous to this appointment he was associated with a landscape nursery at Romeo.

Following graduation from Michigan State college in 1942, Cox spent two years at the Firestone Plantations in Liberia, West Africa.

Cox will work throughout Michigan following the program that was carried on for many years by O. I. Gregg, now retired.

Early Seed Order For Alfalfa Wise

With crop reports showing that the production of alfalfa seed in the United States is far below average this year, C. M. Harrison, farm crops specialist at Michigan State college, advises farmers to order seed now and accept delivery as soon as possible.

Waiting until next spring to order gives local seedsmen very little chance to secure the type of seed desired. Seed that is adapted to Michigan conditions is the best kind to secure, Harrison ranks seeds according to their adaptation to Michigan conditions as follows:

1. Michigan grown seed.
2. Canadian variegated or Canadian grown seed.
3. Seed from any of the Northern states.
4. Seed from the central United States.

Though the latter seed is in short supply, it is considered usable for Michigan conditions when seed from the first three sources is unavailable.

When buying seed, check the label on the bag to insure getting adapted seed of good purity and germination.

Rat Control Is Continuing Job

There's scarcely a farm that isn't troubled by rats at some time. But when you see rats frequently around the place, you can be sure you're in for trouble.

Michigan State college extension specialists are urging farmers to continue rat control campaigns through the whole year.

If you'll make it hard for the rats to find food, they can be easily poisoned or trapped. Feeds should be stored properly and scraps and garbage kept in rat-proof containers.

Ratproof buildings are a good measure to keep rats away once you've rid the farm of them. Putting metal shields around building supports and protecting sides of cribs with metal striping are good steps. Keep scrap lumber pile away from cribs since they attract rats and provide a shelter for them.

Business Principles Required on Farms

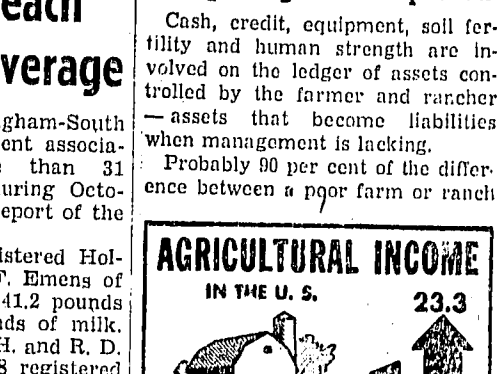

Operation by Guess or 'By Neighbor' Deplored

Cash, credit, equipment, soil fertility and human strength are involved on the ledger of assets controlled by the farmer and rancher—assets that become liabilities when management is lacking.

Probably 90 per cent of the difference between a poor farm or ranch and a profitable one is in the management. Good business principles lead a farmer ahead, whereas one who operates by intuition, by guess or "by neighbor" never gets ahead.

Here are a few points necessary to good farm or ranch management:

1. KEEP RECORDS. This assures factual data to use in determining production possibilities of the farm or ranch. See that yields of crops, production of livestock, cash expenses and receipts are recorded properly.
2. WATCH MARKET TRENDS. By consistently reading market outlooks or discussions on prices, which reflect the most probable future situations, farmers and ranchers will have a guide to use in planning production. Thus they will be able to have produce ready to sell at the right time to realize the highest price and still have livestock and land more fertile for the following year.
3. PLAN LABOR. Make it tie in with seasons for care of machinery and equipment, time for planting, care of crops, harvesting and marketing.
4. PLAN THE FARMSTEAD AND FIELDS. Make rotations easy, save labor and increase yields by adapting crops to land.

Cow Clipping Is Sanitary Measure

With cold weather approaching and conditions more and more of the time in the barns, Michigan State college dairy specialists say that when cows are stabled, a useful step in clean milk production is to clip the animals where dirt, chaff and manure collect.

Regular clipping of the udder and hind quarters will prevent the accumulation of foreign material above the milk pail or teat cups. The clipping makes these parts easier to clean and will result in less sediment in milk.

Study in Contrasts

Long a standby of agriculture in the South, "Sally" views with interest the "new look" in Georgia farming. Latest figures show a steady decrease in the number of mules used for farm power in this state. Replacing them are jeeps, representing another step forward in farm mechanization. Equipped with hydraulic lifts and numerous other special implements and attachments, jeeps have speeded up farm operations and eased the work burden for both farmer and mule.

Mysterious 'X Disease' Tended Serious Threat

"Hyperkeratosis" is the jaw-breaking name of a baffling cattle disease now causing trouble on thousands of farms, particularly in southeastern states.

Known also by the simpler terms of "X disease" and "double X disease," the new malady has caused serious loss in at least 26 states and poses a serious threat to output of meat, milk and other animal products.

One symptom of the disease is a marked thickening of the skin. So far efforts to transmit it and to treat it with drugs have been unsuccessful.

Agriculture department scientists are cooperating with specialists of several southeastern states in an intensive study of the disease.

Portable Elevator Saves Labor and Time on Farm

Easily constructed on the farm and powered with a fractional horsepower motor, the portable elevator-conveyor saves much back-breaking labor as well as time in the handling and storing of grains.

Cost of construction is estimated at about $1 per lineal foot, compared with $1.85 per lineal foot for ready-made equipment. Cost of operation also is low. Plans are available through rural electric co-ops.

SUGAR BEETS WERE PILED HIGH in Mason 35 years ago. Then the beets were hauled to Mason and loaded into gondola cars for shipment to Lansing. The cars couldn't be loaded fast enough to keep pace with deliveries by growers so huge stock piles were built. There was enough acreage on some farms so that stock piles were built up for the teamsters to haul to the railroad at Mason. This picture was taken by Sidney Grayson. Where was it taken and who were the five men on the pile?

Christmas Message on Health Seal

The age-old attempt of children to catch a glimpse of Santa on Christmas Eve inspired the picture on the 1948 Christmas Seals, according to Rev. F. H. Rupnow, president of the Ingham County Tuberculosis and Health society.

This year's seal features a small blond boy in red pajamas, sitting on the floor, hands clasped about his knees, and gazing into a blazing fireplace over which three empty stockings hang.

The seal's designer, Barry Bart of South Kent, Conn., painted the picture after he had watched his young nephew hurry silently downstairs one Christmas Eve and set up his vigil near the fireplace.

Bart is a well-known American artist and illustrator. Born in Paris, he began the study of architecture and painting there and continued at Milan, Florence and Rome. He has always been interested in Buy Christmas Seals aviation, which has been the theme of much of his work, and was an "ace" during World War I. His paintings have been exhibited in various galleries of Paris and at the former Anderson Galleries in New York City. Some of his works hang in Luxembourg, Nantes and Avignon museums.

"This year's brightly-colored red, yellow and blue seal will be particularly decorative on Christmas cards and packages," said Rev. Rupnow.

Tiger of the Sea

Killer whale is known as "Tiger of the Sea" and is afraid of neither man nor beast. It will attack anything that swims. They even eat the tongues of living whales. The male killer has a huge scimitar-shaped dorsal fin six feet high and a the best swims, just at the surface, the waving fin looks like the neck of a serpent. This is responsible for most of the sensational seaport stories. It is not afraid of boats or small ships.
