

Board Appeals To State Over 15 Mill Split

Tax Allocation Board Deliberations End in 3-3 Deadlock Tuesday

Failure of the county tax allocation board to agree on a split of tax rates will force the state to take over the task.

The county board members agreed Tuesday afternoon that they were hopelessly deadlocked. They adjourned. County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard, upon authority of the board, is now drawing up an appeal to the state tax commission.

Under the law the state tax commission will send inspectors into Ingham to check budgets of all units where the budgets exceed the millage available. That will mean inspections of the county budget, the Lansing school district, Lansing township and several outside school district budgets.

The six-man county tax allocation board was divided 3-3 right from the start of deliberations two weeks ago. Lined up for the schools were County School Superintendent Alton J. Stroud, Joseph W. Planck of the Lansing board of education and C. Bruce Kelley, named by the judge of probate to represent the city of Lansing.

Across the table and having the needs of the county primarily in mind were Chairman Hubert R. Bullen, Aurelius supervisor and chairman of the ways and means committee; Lyle B. Austin, county treasurer; and Hugh W. Sibly, appointed by the judge of probate to represent the county at large.

County Clerk Hilliard is clerk of the board but has no vote. Requests Exceed Millage: The county requires 6.89 mills to cover its budget. The Lansing school district needs 8.61 to meet its budget. That adds up to 15.5 mills without leaving anything for Lansing township and the Lansing metropolitan district. Lansing township wants 1.0 mill and Lansing needs 0.15 mill.

Austin proposed Tuesday that the county and the Lansing school district each pay 2 per cent from budgets. The school forces refused to go along.

The three board members lined up for schools insist that the county budget is padded because of an item showing expected miscellaneous receipts of $75,000 when $111,000 was collected this year. Austin declared that the $111,000 includes special receipts from a divorce epidemic, special non-repetitive services in the register of deeds' office and an erroneous credit of $5,400.

County officials claim the county budget carries no salary increases while the Lansing school budget does.

Supervisors Back Bullen: Ingham supervisors gave Bullen a vote of confidence Monday when he reported the deadlock on the allocation board.

Bullen declared that the Lansing school fraction on the allocation board wanted to cut the county welfare and health budgets to gain more millage for the Lansing school district.

Supervisor Fred L. Kircher of Lansing asserted that 9 out of 10 taxpayers favor holding the line on taxes.

Supervisor K. G. Brown suggested that school districts can ask for extra millage from taxpayers while the county is unable to do so.

County School Superintendent Stroud told supervisors the tax pie isn't big enough to serve everyone all he wants. No one will be satisfied with smaller pieces, he asserted. He declared that every member of the tax allocation board wants to satisfy every governmental unit. He pointed out the need for more school money to keep pace with increasing enrollments in many districts.

Three Votes Taken: School forces moved to cut the county budget request of 6.89 to 6.60 mills Tuesday, with Lansing township getting 1.0 mill and the Lansing school district 7.40. The vote was tied at 3-3.

Then came another school motion to set the county rate at 6.65 with the Lansing school district getting 7.35. Kelley left. The Planck-Stroud lineup to vote with Austin, Bullen and Sibly against that division.

12 German Cops Study Government Here in Ingham

Twelve German police officers were at the court house in Mason Wednesday to learn about American government at the county level.

The 12 Germans are studying under Professor James Miller of the political science department at Michigan State college. They have been at Michigan State three weeks and have five weeks more before they move on to study police methods in cities. The Germans were brought over by the U. S. government to study upon their return to Germany they will institute American methods in local government and police organizations.

At Mason the Germans questioned County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard and Register of Deeds Ethel L. Phillips on county government.

Big Wind Causes Flock of Losses

Insurance adjusters have been busy all week with hundreds of losses in the big wind last Friday and Saturday.

The wind tore off millions of shingles and scratched off many sections of roofing. Most of the losses, however, range from $10 to $50, adjusters reported. They believe losses would have run higher had the trees been leaved out. Dead limbs were cleaned out of trees but only a few solid trees went down.

The roof on the Lansing garage of the county road commission sustained damage estimated at $500.

Rabies Situation Is Looking Better

Health officials are encouraged over the rabies situation, they reported Thursday. They said there has not been a positive case of rabies found since imposition of the Dalton-Ingham quarantine on April 17.

Improvement of conditions does not warrant abandoning controls, health officials warned. Enforcement of the quarantine will be continued through July 15 whether or not there are new rabies cases reported.

On Thursday Russell Martin, 2709 Cooper road, Leslie, reported his daughter Karen, 2 1/2, had been bitten by the family dog. The dog is under observation for rabies and the little girl is taking the Pasteur treatment.

State School Superintendent Will Address Eighth Graders

Dr. Lee M. Thurston, Michigan's superintendent of public instruction, will be in Mason Monday night to urge eighth graders to continue their education. He will address 103 rural eighth graders coming to Mason to receive their promotion certificates from County School Superintendent Alton J. Stroud.

The promotion services at both Mason and Williamston will be held in the school auditoriums. At both places they will begin at eight o'clock.

Mrs. Donald Osterle, teacher at the Bullen school in Aurelius, will preside as chairman at the Mason program. Robert Williams, teacher of the Rowley school, has been named chairman of the Williamston exercises.

Pupils from the fifth, sixth and seventh grades of the schools in the two areas will sing under the direction of Miss Marie Adler of the Michigan State college extension staff. Alan Curtis, Mason high school sophomore, will accompany.

Rev. Charles Brooks will deliver the invocation and benediction at Mason. Rev. Leo D. Miller, pastor of the Williamston Nazarene church, is down for the invocation and benediction at Williamston. Superintendent Stroud will present the certificates at both exercises.

State Complaint On Sanatorium Rate Unjustified

Charges of $8.25 per day per patient at the county tuberculosis sanatorium are fair, declared hospital officials, despite the complaint of the Michigan Health Council.

Dr. John Cowan of the Michigan Health Council at Ann Arbor protested the Ingham rate to the supervisors Monday. The protest, contained in a letter, was referred to the board of control of the sanatorium. The board met Wednesday.

After scanning costs and going over the schedule of charges, the board of control decided the state complaint is unjustified.

The $8.25 per day per patient is based on costs, explained Hubert R. Bullen, a member of the sanatorium board. Those costs include up keep and depreciation of the hospital and equipment, it was learned. The rate charged for the 20 to 25 state patients is the same rate charged Clinton, Gratiot and other counties which have patients at the Ingham hospital.

Ingham provides surgical treatment, something lacking in most county sanatoriums, Bullen explained. Surgical treatment may add to the per diem cost but it greatly reduces the time of hospitalization, he pointed out. Sanatorium records show that many counties and the state send patients to Ingham for the operations and then transfer them to other hospitals.

Dr. Cowan complained in his letter that the jump from $4.50 and $4.75 per day in 1946 to $8.25 in 1949 was out of line with increases made by other counties. The Ingham answer is that the services provided at Ingham should not be compared to those provided by other counties.

The Ingham sanatorium has 139 beds and the institution is filled to capacity practically all the time. The board of control reported. About 80 per cent of the patients are legal residents of Ingham, a hospital auditor reported Thursday.

Hospital Group Invites Public To Open House

Members of the Mason Hospital Auxiliary are presiding at an open house at the Mason General hospital Friday afternoon and evening.

The open house is to mark national hospital day.

At the Mason General hospital visitors will be conducted through the laboratory, the newly improved kitchen and service room, the operating rooms and the wards. The Auxiliary room in the old Peters residence adjoining the hospital on the east will be open for inspection, too. The room has been newly plastered and painted and will be used for the making of bandages and the mending and sewing done by Auxiliary members.

A new hospital gas range has been installed in the kitchen. New asphalt tile flooring has been placed in the service room.

Members of the Auxiliary will serve tea from one o'clock in the afternoon until eight o'clock at night.

Extension Worker Demonstrates Every Day

Mrs. Robert O. Schaeffer of Mason was introduced to the board of supervisors Monday as the next home demonstration agent. Following the introduction she went home to bake a custard pie. Waiting for the pie to cool are the three Schaeffer youngsters who have benefited by their mother's training and skill as a home economist. At the left in the picture is Tom, 8. Joel, in the center of the trio, is 3. Anita is 4 1/2.

Mr. Schaeffer is assistant engineer at the Ingham county road commission. The family came to Mason four years ago following the husband's release from the army. They live at 405 East Ash. Both Mr. and Mrs. Schaeffer are Michigan State college graduates. Before their marriage he worked for the Kent county road commission and she taught home economics in Muskegon Heights. She taught at Beaverton two years following graduation from Michigan State in 1938. Mr. Schaeffer is a native of Fenville, and Mrs. Schaeffer of Iron Mountain.

Mrs. Schaeffer will succeed Mrs. Mary Jane Johnston of East Lansing as home demonstration agent. Mrs. Johnston agreed to remain on the job until June 10. She came to Ingham last fall and has made a notable success as leader of extension groups. She was a home economist with Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. in Grand Rapids before entering extension work.

County Agent Donald Curry introduced Mrs. Schaeffer to the board of supervisors Monday. He explained that Mrs. Schaeffer's appointment is subject to the approval of the state board of agriculture. She will begin her duties June 12, the county agent said.

Curry pointed out to the supervisors that the federal government provides the state with funds to employ county agricultural agents and home demonstration agents. The county provides office space, two clerks and pays traveling and office expenses of the staff, the county agent said.

Damming of Drain May Cost $2,500

County road commissioners are studying the legal angles of the loss of a bridge across the Clinton drain on Catholic Church road Monday. The cost of removing the broken bridge will run $500, commissioners estimated, with $2,000 needed to replace it.

According to the commissioners, Lucerna Dixon, working Dixon Bros. muck land, dammed the creek so he could work his land. The dam raised the water only 18 inches but it set quicksand to swirling. The sand swirled out from under the structure on the downstream side and it collapsed. The bridge was a box type with a 10-foot span. It was located east of Sts. Cornelius and Cyprian church.

Auto Checkup Studied
The legislative committee is studying a compulsory automobile checkup plan favored by Supervisor Uno Helms of Lansing. Supervisor Fred W. Kireher of Lansing, chairman of the legislative committee, said he would have a report ready for the June 12 meeting.

The Helms plan calls for a safety check of all cars before the issuance of annual licenses. There would be no collusion between inspectors and garages, Helms declared.

Supervisor Helms cited figures showing the traffic toll. He said part of the toll is due to defective brakes, low-visibility windshield and steering gear faults. Dr. R. Lansing, county health director, also presented figures on automobile accidents.

Supervisor Walter Munyon of Lansing insisted that enforcement of present laws would prove more effective than the establishment of inspection bureaus.

Garage mechanics would be unwilling to find something wrong with every car inspected, Supervisor Stoppel commented. He also stated that adoption of such laws costs citizens their freedom.

Supervisor Helms said the recommendation of the county board, if it is forthcoming at the June meeting, will be before Secretary of State Frederick M. Alger. Helms declared there is a possibility for county enforcement of periodic inspection even though it is not adopted on a state-wide basis.

The board gave Ways and Means Chairman Hubert Bullen a vote of confidence for his stand on the allocation of tax millage. He represents the supervisors on the tax allocation board.

The General Motors Proving Ground is an outdoor road test laboratory, with 25 miles of all surfaces and grades within its 1,268 acres. Garages and laboratories have total floor space of 309,000 square feet.

County Workers Have Fun at Party

County employees cast aside the cares of office Tuesday night to make merry at their third annual party. It was held in the Legion Memorial building in Mason.

Three hundred were at the banquet tables. Following the banquet the guests enjoyed a delightful program. Danville, Mason and East Lansing provided the talent with the Women's Association of the Aurelius Center Baptist church furnishing the culinary skill.

Dansville sent Mrs. Dave Overholt with her accordion and the zany Pantomians, Phil Arnold, Wayne Chief and Neale Musolf. Gerry Rickly and Joan Jewett represented Mason talent and Professors Guy Hill and Charles N. Hill of Michigan State college came over from East Lansing. The Mason string ensemble, made up of Mrs. Russell Robbins, Mrs. Frank Evans and Mrs. Dorwood Carn, accompanied by Mrs. George McArthur, played dinner music.

Miss Ann Zimmerman

There is nothing like a new slipcover to chase the winter slouch from your room. The sparkling freshness of color is such a pleasing change, especially when an upholstered piece is getting on in years. Even if your upholstered pieces that are new you might consider saving them the summers wear and at the same time create a cooler appearing room for the warm days ahead.

Generally speaking, all slip covers should be made of fabric that is firmly woven. Loosely woven fabrics catch or pull and lose their shape too soon. As to color and pattern, this depends on your walls and rug; if both of these are patterned you would be wise to choose plain fabrics with contrasting welting for interest. If you have a plain rug you can create a harmony of design in the furniture, combining a flowered fabric, a plaid or stripe with a plain. It would be interesting in this case to use welting of the plain fabric to trim the printed slip covers and reverse it by trimming the plain covers with the printed fabric in either flounce or bindings.

To make large pieces look smaller use a plain fabric that blends with your color. Use a plain fabric on the outside and a figured on the inside. On a large couch you could make the pillows and boxpleated flounce of the print, then have the rest of the couch plain, with only weltings of the printed fabric.

When choosing slipcover material consider that you are making a long-term investment. Cutting corners on the quality of the material is unwise, considering the years of wear you should receive and the labor that is involved. We will be glad to help you find the fabrics that will be correct for you.

P. S.

Mothers are just girls grown up. Even with all the responsibilities they have and the efficiency-expert manner in which they manage our homes, they still remain young in heart, they still get tingles of excitement over something beautiful, something personal.

So when Mother's Day brings with it the excuse you've been waiting for to show her your affection in a material way, you'd be pleased to show you these beauties she has longingly looked at when she has been to buy paint or wallpaper or draperies instead of something for herself.

Study Club Entertains Girl Scout Leaders

Holt Child Study club No. 1 met in the cafeteria room of the high school last Wednesday with five girl scout leaders as special guests. They were Mrs. Clarence McGee, Mrs. E. H. Spraker, Mrs. Clyde Parker, Mrs. B. S. Richmond and Mrs. William Sheaffer.

Mrs. Paul Mudgett, matron of the Mason detention home, was guest speaker. She stated that the home was run like an average private home with the children doing light chores and being allowed free time and freedom of the house and grounds. When the children are brought into the home they are given physical attention and properly clothed, she said. They are placed in boarding homes as soon as possible to help avoid the feeling of unwantedness. Mrs. Mudgett continued. She said the main reason for children misbehaving is because they feel unwanted and that parents should demonstrate their love every day. Mrs. Mudgett has been a registered nurse for over 30 years.

The next meeting for May 17 will be at the home of Mrs. Philip McCabe. Installation of officers will be held. A potluck supper is also being arranged.

Layman Preaches Stirring Sermon

Charles A. Davis, Onondaga farmer and a leader in the Aurelius Center Baptist church, discussed world needs with Presbyterians Wednesday night. He was the speaker at the dinner of the Presbyterian Mens Council held in the church parlors in Mason.

All of the factors and influences which brought about the downfall of Rome, Spain, France, England and other countries are present here in the United States today, because Americans have departed from the vision, the faith and the courage of their forefathers, the speaker asserted.

More important than the Brannan plan, subsidies and other adventures into economics, Davis said, is revitalization of the spirit of self-reliance, freedom and regard for the rights of others.

Davis declared that all groups of Americans today are too much concerned with their own problems. There is an unwillingness to forget self and to work for the good of all, he added.

Al Rice presided at the meeting. Vernon J. Brown was chairman of the program.

The hydraulic power steering gear produced by the Saginaw Steering Gear Division of General Motors for trucks and buses applies its power in proportion to the resistance to steering offered by the front wheels. Thus, a small child could easily steer one of these large vehicles.

Gabbert Shuts Out Howell With Two Scratch Hits

Wayne Gabbert almost pitched himself a perfect baseball game Wednesday afternoon as the Bulldogs set down Howell 7-0 at the county park field in Mason. Gabbert gave up only two hits, both of the blows were struck by Jim Baller, rf. One was a good solid smash in the fourth frame and the other was a blooper ball that fell over second base for a safety.
The Mason hurler didn't walk a man and struck out eight batters. The first man to face him got on base when Gabbert hit him with a pitched ball.
Mason pounded out seven hits for its seven runs. The Bulldogs was the big frame. The Bulldogs notched six big runs. In the fourth the Bulldogs pushed across another tally and then both teams settled down to a hit famine.
Denny Stolz powered out a double in his four trips to the plate for the only extra-base blow of the game but it was Chuck Howell who stole the batting honors. The Mason speedster belted out three hits in three trips up to the plate.

Holt Thin Clads Move Leslie Off of County League Throne

Holt ended a three-year reign in the track throne room for the Leslie Blackhawk track team. For the past three years the Blackhaws have been at the top but Wednesday afternoon at the Ingham County league track meet run off at Michigan State college the Holt Ramblers rambled to the front.
Holt collected 55 1/2 points, Leslie was second with 41 1/2 points. Fowlerville third with 33 1/2; Williamson, 21; Okemos, 20 1/2; and Haslet, 4 3/5.

Holt had too much in the sprints for Leslie to overcome and in the distance where Leslie was the strongest the other teams ate into the points Leslie should have collected.
Jim Tuttle of Leslie made a one-man assault on the Ingham County league records. The Blackhawk ace broke the high hurdle record at 16:2, broke the high jump record with a leap of five feet, eight inches and set a new record of 22 seconds flat for the 180-yard hurdle.

The Holt 850-yard relay team tied a county record of 13:07. Holt's relay team is composed of Larry Gilles, Don VerPlanck, Mel Morrison and Ben Hope.
Winners in all the events are: High hurdles, Tuttle, Leslie, 16:2; mile relay, Williamson, 2:46.5; 100-yard dash, Gilles, Holt, 10:9; mile run, Straugh, Williamson, 5:31; 440-dash, Morrison, Holt, 56:4; 180-yard hurdle, Tuttle, Leslie, 22:0; 220-yard dash, Hope, Holt.

Broad jump, Gilles, Holt, 19 feet, 10 1/2 inches; 880-run, Kanna, Leslie, 21:25; pole vault, Preisser, Okemos, 10 feet, 3 inches; shot put, Pierce, Holt, 42 feet; high jump, Tuttle, Leslie, five feet, eight inches; and 880-yard relay, Holt, 13:09.

SAILMOBILE—Motorsists near Amarillo, Tex., were started recently to see this landlocked "sailboat" skimming down a highway in the heart of the Panhandle district. Piloting the strange, three-wheeled craft is its builder, Ray Landrum, of Friona, Tex. The dry-land yachtman has no gasoline problem, but he may run out of wind.

Cub Scouts Have "County Fair" As Monthly Pack Meet Theme

Cub Scouts of Mason Pack No. 262 held their monthly meeting Thursday evening, May 4, at the Mason school gymnasium.
Since the theme of the meeting was "A County Fair," the 125 parents and guests who attended were surprised to step onto a road-ramp midway where the side show barker's voices described the freaks inside the tent. Shooting galleries, dart games, ring-the-duck's-neck and many other games of skill were enjoyed by the crowd.

After a half-hour of midway fun the meeting was called to order. The Woman's Relief Corps presented the Pack with a beautiful American flag. It is planned that the den which has the best attendance record for each month will have the honor of caring for the flag and having it at their den meetings for one month.
Mason Troop No. 62, Boy Scouts of America, joined with the cub pack in a graduation ceremony for Roger Newman, Ronald Haviland and Rodney Caltrider. They have reached the 11-year-old age limit when boys graduate from Cubbing to Scouting.

The following awards were made for achievements leading to a raise in rank: Wolf awards, Roger Jones, Henry Willis and Lon Everett; Bear awards, Gary Hadwin and Larry Hadwin; Lion awards, Donald Haviland, Charles Schmitter, Clair Bouts, Robert Mulkins and Dick Seibert; Gold arrow points of special achievement, Dick Seibert (2), Tommy Clipper, Roger Jones (2) and Charles Schmitter.
David Lori, Larry Melendy, Douglas Strickland, Lonnie Day, William McLinnam, Gale Lamphrey, Jerry Fellows and Raymond Strayer became new members and were awarded their Bobcat pins.

Vaughn has been a Mason resident for the past three years, coming from Saline, Michigan, where he had been manager of the Saline Valley Farms cooperative, under the presidency of Harold Cray, for 15 years. Vaughn's work in Ingham county was rural enrollment representative for the Blue Cross hospitalization insurance in which he worked closely with Farm Bureau and Grange members, as well as other rural residents.

Born in Portville, New York on December 7, 1895, the son of James E. and Martha Vaughn, Harold Vaughn was a graduate of Portville high school. He enrolled at Michigan State college following graduation and attended for three years, leaving to enter the army during World War I.
Upon his return from service he completed his college degree as a horticulture major in the department of agriculture in 1920. It was also in 1920 that he married Marian Miller Vaughn in Salamanca, New York.
Continuing his work in agriculture, Vaughn taught agriculture and coached football in Fremont, Michigan, for a few years. Vaughn teaching he went into county agent work, serving Manistee county for three years and Oakland county, eight years. Prior to the depression years he entered the University of Chicago for graduate work in social service administration and during the depression took up and directed the relief services in Tulsa county, Oklahoma, with headquarters in Tulsa. Eighteen years ago Vaughn returned to Michigan to manage and develop the Saline Valley Farms.

During his work in Ingham county, Vaughn has become acquainted with hundreds of farm families and carried membership in the Farm Bureau in Ingham county. Six months ago he entered University hospital in Ann Arbor for treatment following a heart attack, but had recovered sufficiently to resume his work for three months.
Other organizations to which he had devoted service include the Michigan Association of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers of which he was president and in which he was an associate member of the national unit of the organization. During the war he worked closely with the Eastern Michigan Agricultural Advisory service.
Vaughn holds membership in the American Legion post in Saline and is a member of the Masonic order. He has also served as chairman of the Unitarian fellowship group of East Lansing, a church of liberal religion, and is a member of the Michigan State college alumni association.

Survivors include the wife, Marian, a teacher at the Boys Vocational school in Lansing; two sons, H. Robert Vaughn of Bay City and David Ellsworth Vaughn of Owosso; two grandchildren, Michael and Susan Vaughn; two sisters, Mrs. Merle Coleman of Portville, New York and Mrs. R. G. Kelley of Cleveland, Ohio. Two brothers preceded him in death.
The body has been taken to the Ball funeral home in Mason. It will be removed to the White Memorial Cemetery and Mausoleum in Detroit for cremation and with in the next month memorial services will be held at the Unitarian church in Ann Arbor, the date to be announced later.

Price Delivers in Professional Debut

Bob Price, Stockbridge baseball star, is making himself known around Jamestown, New York. The lanky fireballer was assigned to the Jamestown club, part of the Detroit Tiger farm system, by the Flint Arrows. The Arrows hold his contract.
Sunday night he worked his first game as a starter and pitched himself a shut-out game for the Jamestowners. He allowed only five hits, no runs and walked only five men. He struck out 11 men. So far in his brief pro career he has only been scored upon once. Price signed a contract with the Detroit baseball system this last winter. Up to then he had played nothing but high school and sandlot ball.

President Roosevelt's Board said— President Truman's Board said— Still the leaders of the Railroad Firemen's Union say— "STRIKE!"

This ridiculous strike is an affront to every citizen of the nation. It's not for more money. It's not because of hours. It's only for soft feather-bedding spots for additional unnecessary firemen to go along in diesel locomotives just for the ride. A leading liberal newspaper calls the demands of the union leaders "horse-fathers"!

The reckless leaders of the firemen's union want to force down the throats of the railroads and the public a ridiculous "make-work" proposal which has been twice ruled out by Presidential Fact Finding Boards duly appointed under the provisions of the Railway Labor Act.
This demand of union leaders for additional and unnecessary firemen to ride in diesel locomotives was rejected after months of hearings—by a Board appointed by President Roosevelt in 1943.
It was again rejected in 1949 by a Board appointed by President Truman. Recent meetings with the National Mediation Board have brought no change in the attitude of the union dictators.
The union leaders helped write the Railway Labor Act. Yet in an attempt to jam through this scheme of pure "feather-bedding" by leading the members of their union out on strike and threatening paralysis to large areas of the nation, they are defying the spirit and intent of the very law which they helped to create.
This strike is not for higher wages. It is a strike to force the railroads to employ many more thousands of firemen who are not needed! It would be indefensible waste. The railroads have refused to place this additional and unnecessary burden on the public.
But more important than any other consideration, is the action of these few irresponsible union leaders in seeking to force a crippling strike upon the

Governor and Legislature Quarrel Will Result in Treasury Deficit

By Gene Alleman (Michigan Press Association)

The jig-saw puzzle of putting together the state of Michigan budget for the coming year is just about completed.

Republican legislators have whitened Governor Williams' $343,000,000 budget to around $240,000,000. As anticipated revenue will total $235,000,000, a deficit of $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 is thus in sight.

Legislative leaders plan to recess the special session soon to a date after June 30, 1950, when the balance sheet for the present fiscal year will be available.

Governor Williams recommended to the legislature that government spending be increased approximately $110,000,000 for the coming fiscal year. Of this amount, $135,000,000 would be used for state operations; $125,000,000 for payments benefiting local units of government; $27,000,000 for college and hospital building; and $18,700,000 for road improvements.

The role of the state as a tax collector for local governments was augmented by the constitutional sales tax diversion amendment.

Under this amendment, twice approved by the voters, the state diverts 75 per cent of the sales tax revenues to local governments.

The difficulty confronting the legislature in trimming state expenditures from an over-all total, as recommended by Governor Williams, of $343,000,000 has been widely recognized. Republican leaders have used the device of the caucus agreement to hold legislators in line. The strategy of Democrats will be to publicize the economy program of Republican legislators as a denial of needed public services and crippling of vital government functions.

Governor Williams has indicated that he disapproves deficit financing, especially during good times. Thus the legislature will probably face a double attack of incurring deficit spending and, paradoxically, a charge of needless economy.

Recentment of Republican legislators over the legislative limitations imposed by the governor is reflected by the current consideration of a proposed constitutional amendment calling for annual regular sessions of the legislature. If this resolution is approved by two-thirds of the house and senate membership, voters of Michigan would be given an opportunity to vote on the proposal next November.

The annual session of the legislature would convene the second Wednesday in January annually, and sessions in even-number years would be required to adjourn on or before the second Friday in April.

If the 1950 legislative session had been an annual session, as contrasted to the present special session, legislators would have been free to introduce and consider bills of any type. Thus a bill to increase the gasoline tax and weight tax, whereby road improvements could be financed, would probably have been adopted by the legislature and before the governor for his signature at this moment.

The state administrative board has approved a plan for a $4,000,000 state office building near the capitol. The building would be financed by bonds to be purchased by the state employees retirement fund. Existing rentals of state departments would be replaced by rentals on the state building. Whereas departments now pay an average rental of $1.15 a foot in private buildings, the state building rental calls for $2.50 a foot.

Michigan farmers are approximately 16 days behind in their spring planting schedule. The low temperatures this spring, however, indicate a favorable yield for Michigan apples, cherries and peaches.

The newest effort to reorganize Michigan government—state and local—is being made by a legislative committee headed by Senator James T. Milliken, Traverse City. A paid staff of fact-finders has been recruited by Loren B. Miller, director of the Bureau of Governmental Research at Detroit. Although the 1949 legislative committee has only $5,000 in its budget, $20,000 have been contributed by the Bureau and private foundations. Previous efforts of professional reformers have miscarried. Senator Milliken is hopeful that the new movement, patterned after the successful "Hoover Commission," will find the answers.

Mason Authorized "NA-CHURS" LIQUID FERTILIZER Dealer

GROWERS REPORT INCREASED YIELD UP TO 50% Letters in our files from 1948 and 1949 Wheat Champions, as well as from other well-known grain growers and general farmers, indicate increases in yield up to 50% when seed grain has been treated with "Na-Churs" Liquid Fertilizer before seeding.

EASY TO USE - NO EXPENSIVE EQUIPMENT One gallon of "Na-Churs" Liquid Fertilizer Concentrate is being used undiluted to wet down eight to ten bushels of seed grain. No new equipment or additional expense needed. Just wet grain—mix thoroughly—dry well—use in ordinary seeding drills without expensive attachments.

"NA-CHURS" WON'T PERFORM MIRACLES Soaking is a very economical method for supplying an initial part of the plants' needs; the remainder can be supplied by normal fertilizing at a correspondingly reduced rate. There is no reason to suppose that a sufficient amount of any particular nutrient element can be introduced into the seed by soaking, but the nutrient so introduced is immediately available and of maximum efficiency.

COST ONLY 75c PER ACRE—MAKE THE 10-GALLON TEST Seed grain, treated with "Na-Churs" Liquid Fertilizer, apparently germinates more quickly; gains healthier, earlier growth; develops more vigorous root and top structure so that it is better able to withstand diseases and drought. The cost is little and if it will increase your yield it is too good to pass up.

PROVE IT TO YOURSELF As little as 10 gallons of "Na-Churs" will tell the story. Try it—you be the judge

Hearing Tests Completed In Dansville and Mason

Six hundred Dansville, Mason and Vevay township school children have been screened for hearing defects during the last two weeks.

Mothers, trained to do the hearing screening at a workshop held April 20, began testing in Vevay township schools at the end of April. Dansville children were tested May 1 and 2, and Mason children, May 3 through 5.

The county-wide hearing conservation program sponsored by the health department started January, 1949. Since the inauguration of this program it is estimated that 15,000 children have been screened for hearing defects. In all schools where the screening has been carried on, parent volunteers have carried out the first screening. The children who show any difficulty in hearing during the screening process are retested by the department's technician. If they still appear to have difficulty in hearing, they are then referred to their doctor for further examination.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Poppy Day

Saturday, May 27, will again be "Poppy Day" in Mason, as announced by Mrs. R. G. Henson, president of Browne-Cavender American Legion Auxiliary. Each little crepe paper flower worn on that day will show that an American is thinking and giving for the welfare of men in hospitals and the women and children in fatherless homes, those for whom the war has never ended. The poppies have no price; the auxiliary asks all Americans to "wear a poppy," and contribute what they can for disabled veterans and needy children of veterans.

The auxiliary of the Mason Legion has carried on its poppy campaign for over 25 years, since the project was first inaugurated by the American Legion. Later copied by similar organizations, the idea has spread outside the United States to a number of other countries.

Not only are all gifts to the poppy fund used for rehabilitation and welfare work for veterans and their families, but the making of the poppies themselves is recognized as valuable occupational therapy. Disabled veterans in hospitals gain new confidence in themselves by working and adding a small amount to their family income. Over 35 million of the bright red crepe paper flowers have been made this year, and the Mason auxiliary plans to sell its share of these to establish its fund for local rehabilitation work.

Farmer Peck's Wife

My Pig Story.
Farm Play Dangerous.
Home Movies.

Sometimes you have such good memories that you can still smile 20 years afterwards over it but again you have such a bad one that a chill shakes your shoulders remembering it. Such is my pig story. In fact I looked in the mirror the next morning to see if my hair had turned white.

This happened the last time our sows had pigs and now the daily pattern of wondering "where-are-those-girls" is beginning all over again because we have six sows with little pigs right now.

"The girls and I had been to town and home. Feeding hens was the first thing to do but first I went down cellar to fix the furnace and get the egg pail. The girls had gone on to the granary and I remember telling them not to get dirty. The egg pail was full of eggs so I put them in a case.

The dog was barking when I came up and such screaming I've never heard before or since.

I rushed to the granary and a huge sow was inside gobbling, clanking and chewing on some cloth. I flew at her with my pail and she turned and knocked me down where she stood barking and snuffling over me while that terrified screaming was going on behind me. I kicked and yelled and she hunched off. I picked up Sully where she had backed into the farthest corner and asked where Sully was.

Sally Screamed
Sally just kept screaming and crying while I almost lost my sanity. Right then was my worst minute on earth. I flew out, around and around carrying Sally before me for Sully but no answer.

Into the henoop we rushed and there stood little Sully with an egg in each hand as happy as could be. My knees gave up and I knelt in the litter with my arms around them saying, "Thank you, God. Thank you, God." over and over. My knees were bleeding where I had fallen and my hips were lame from falling or rolling on hog's feet but oh, what a blessed feeling to have my arms around those two warm and alive little bodies.

After I took them to the house and we had the dirt, blood and tears almost washed away Sally was still crying and I said, "It's all over now and Daddy will shut her up so she can't get out again."

and she said, "Oh, but mamma, I lost my gun."
P. S. The cloth was a bug of feed that the sow had torn into and was chewing. Pete says if I hadn't gotten so scared and the girls hadn't been screaming that I could have driven her gently out around and knocked me down trying to get away.

Farm Life Dangerous
But I know all accidents didn't occur in the city. A farm with its animals, moving wheels, blades and knives, watering tanks and other things can be a mighty dangerous place to play. Every year, dreadful things come to pass. I may sound like a "worry wart" but mothers get like that some times and isn't it a good thing? I surely hope no little children get mangled riding on farm machinery this spring.

We went over to Pete's cousin's the other night to show our family movies which they had never seen. We'd said we'd not show or ask anyone if they wanted to see them unless they asked, as some folks must get awfully bored by home movies according to all the jokes and cartoons on the subject. But Fred and Ivah have asked us several times so we went. They said they enjoyed it, but it was sweet and good! Delbert, Fran and their three little boys came over and with Alpha had a regular party.

Last night Gene Whitford and his wife and four children came along and we went with them over to L. C. Kindels to see their movie. He had quite a show before we got there though. Just around the corner from here their car backed (I think they took us along to push!) Their oldest boy steered the car and we grown-ups pushed and got it up to five miles an hour at least but it wouldn't go. Then the men tinkered under the hood. Dorothy stepped on the starter and away we went. It was her birthday and that night had helped.

What a nice evening we had and we plan more together. Oh, you want to tell you that Merle has a new broom. The last time we were there L. C. had broken the handle in an attack on a m. . .

A tip for women only: The next time you see a woman with her slip hanging why not whisper to her so she can fix it? How's that for the latest in fashion news?

College Offers New Suggestions On Frozen Foods

Frozen foods retain a greater amount of their original flavor and color than foods preserved by any other method. They help to keep "summer" on your table all winter, and the ease of meat, "winter" on your table all summer.

Because of the interest in frozen foods and their contribution to Michigan meals, Michigan State college researchers have studied their preparation and care in all phases.

Results of their findings are of interest to anyone who eats or prepares frozen foods and wants high quality products. Michigan homemakers can benefit from recommendations based on this research by obtaining a copy of the bulletin, "Freezing Foods for Michigan Homes."

Published by the MSC Agricultural Experiment Station, the 46-page illustrated bulletin covers all phases of freezing—equipment, freezing schedules, packaging and preparation of fruits, vegetables, meats and poultry. Obtain your free copy from the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State college, East Lansing or from your county extension office.

Do you want to know what kind of cartons and wrappings are best to use, how to keep packages from becoming soggy, what variety of strawberries to use? Any question in this complete new bulletin with its up-to-the-minute advice.

You are reminded to freeze only the best. Because freezing does not improve foods, emphasis is put on using recommended varieties of fruits and vegetables—using field ripened foods, and handling them quickly from garden to freezer or locker.

FAMILY FOOD NEWS

Want to give your winter-weary menus a springtime lift? Mary Bodwell, agricultural economics department food specialist at Michigan State college, says rhubarb and asparagus are old reliables for putting that refreshing tang and garden-fresh touch to your meals. They are among the first locally grown vegetables to come in season.

Rhubarb, although usually thought of as a fruit, is really a vegetable. Both rhubarb and asparagus differ from most other vegetables in that we eat neither their roots or leaves, but rather the stem or stalk portions. Leaves of the rhubarb are actually poisonous, due to the strong acids they contain.

To get the greatest satisfaction from these spring vegetables, Miss Bodwell suggests putting these hints about rhubarb and asparagus "in your memory" list.

Rhubarb: Spring rhubarb is usually in season in Michigan in May and June. Green varieties, which usually appear first, have a distinct tart flavor. Reddish varieties are milder in flavor, and require less sugar in cooking. Fresh hot house rhubarb is ordinarily found in the stores anytime between the middle of January and the natural growing season in the spring.

Buy rhubarb by the pound if possible. One pound will make nearly two cups of cooked sauce. Rhubarb can be preserved more satisfactorily by freezing than by canning. When canned it loses color and "mushes" easily. To freeze, simply wash the stalks, cut in 1-inch chunks without peeling, and pack in air-tight containers without sugar.

When cooking rhubarb, stick to enameled pans. Acids in the "fruit" will eat other metals slightly, producing undesirable flavors.

ASPARAGUS—Asparagus is a "good buy" at this time of the year, and an excellent vegetable for the required daily serving of green leafy or yellow vegetables. May is usually the most plentiful supply month. The time to eat, in buying, look for stalks that are green most of the way down, will stand up straight, and have no spreading tips. Spreading tips mean the vegetable is over-mature.

White stalks, which mean woody waste. To keep them fresh at home, cut off stalk ends and set in a shallow pan of water or place in a plastic bag, then keep refrigerated.

Asparagus can be either canned or frozen easily. And here's an important tip for cooking—the tips cook faster than the lower stalk. To get the whole stem cooked evenly, partially cook the lower stalk pieces, then add the tips. Another way is to fasten the stems in bundles, and cook in the pan with cut ends down. The tips, out of the water, will steam done about the same time as the lower parts.

Most of the asparagus in Michigan stores now probably came from Illinois. Miss Bodwell reports. Although Michigan is a leading asparagus producer, most of this truck crop is commercially canned or frozen.

Food Freezing Demonstration Is Scheduled
Are you already thinking of filling that winter-depleted larder? A demonstration on foods for freezing will be given Tuesday, May 23, at 1:30 p. m. at the Methodist church basement in Mason.

Mrs. Mary Jane Johnston, home demonstration agent announced. Helpful hints on freezing fruits, vegetables, meats and poultry as well as baked goods will be given. Some new ideas for making better use of own home freezers will be discussed.

Women planning to do most of their food preservation by freezing this year, or those who have just purchased a new freezer, will find the meeting profitable, Mrs. Johnston said.

and to symbolize the high place that skill and safety have in farming.

Plowing will be done on a comparatively level 20-acre field of alfalfa sod. Contestants in the belting contest will be required to line their tractors up to machines, put on belts, start machines, take off belts, roll them up and back away with awards going for speed.

U. S. Is Now Asked to Assume Part of Great Britain's Debt

By Rep. William W. Blackney

It has recently come to light that the British government has been making overtures to our state department to have the United States assume some of Great Britain's debt. Most people think we have debt enough of our own and there certainly isn't anyone to help us absorb it. It is also now being proposed that the United States government guarantee to the extent of $250,000,000 private capital investments made abroad to carry out President Truman's "bold new program" of developing the backward areas of the world. What would happen if the United States were called upon to make good on the billions upon billions of financial guarantees it has already made?

Russian Scare

We cannot blame the Russians for our inability to handle our internal affairs. We have many threats to our freedom and enterprise—they come from within as well as from without the country. With an unbalanced budget and deficit spending as our way of life, we can be sure that socialism will make further gains. There is so much waste, excess and inefficiency in government that the red flag and the handwriting on the wall spelling inflation and disaster, should be clear to everyone.

Marshall Plan Money

The bill passed the House. It is two years since we started on this foreign aid handout. It has cost the American people $500,000,000 for every hour, in the past two years, to give aid to the 17 nations under the European Recovery Program.

Excise Taxes

The house ways and means committee announced tentative decisions reducing excise tax rates on transportation and communications. The present tax on transportation of property would be cut 50% with an estimated revenue loss to the government of $165,000,000. On transportation of persons the rate would be dropped to 10% with a loss of $75,000,000.

Reductions in rates were also agreed on affecting local and long distance telephone, telegraph, radio and leased wire communications. Local residential phone calls would be taxed at 10% rather than the present 15% as would short toll calls costing less than 24 cents. The rate would be reduced from 25% to 20% on leased wires, radio telephone and long distance telegraph services. Domestic telegraph and radio rates would be reduced from 25% to 10%, while the rate on local business calls would not be changed.

The committee tentatively agreed to lower the tax on alcohol used for medicinal purposes from $3 to $2 a gallon and to eliminate the 10% tax on jewelry and furs.

$70 Billion Budget Seen in 10 Years

Continued pressures on the Federal Government to increase expenditures could result in a Federal tax burden of $70 billion or more annually within the next 10 years unless the public puts a brake on them. This is the conclusion of the Council of State Chamber of Commerce. Here are some of the facts assembled by the Council's research team which lead to that conclusion:

Scores of new Federal measures are now being urged upon Congress. If passed, they could add as much as $25 billion eventually to the nation's annual tax burden.

The president's 1951 federal budget message calls for a total expenditure next year of more than $45 billion, including $3 billion for social security programs financed by payroll taxes. But that's just the beginning.

The proposed budget contains almost $13 billion ($956 million to be exact) to initiate 34 new federal spending programs. Many of these would carry on indefinitely and grow much larger. It is estimated that they would eventually add $4 billion a year to present federal tax burdens.

Then there are the President's proposals for expanded social security benefits and for a national health insurance system, often referred to as "socialized medicine." Financed by payroll taxes, they would require an estimated outlay of $13 billion annually when fully under way. And the cost would increase with the passing years.

Congressional approval is being urged for the Brannan farm subsidy plan. Promoters of this plan have offered no estimates of its probable cost. A conservative estimate by several authorities places it at $5 or $6 billion a year.

Legislation authorizing nearly $2 billion in new public works projects has just been approved by both houses of Congress. This expenditure is to be spread over a period of years. Congress also has before it more than 800 bills providing for a wide variety of new federal grants-in-aid to states and local governments. If all the programs covered in these bills were to win approval, they would eventually add over $6 billion a year to the federal spending budget.

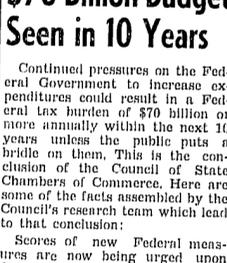

Meanwhile Uncle Sam finds himself with insufficient tax revenues even to balance his 1950 and 1951 budgets. Latest budget bureau estimates indicate a $5½ billion deficit this year and another of equal size next year. This, of course, unless congress makes substantial cuts in appropriations.

Where, then, would federal establishments obtain the additional taxes needed to support a 70-billion-dollar-a-year spending program? Except for the administration's two social welfare measures which would be financed by payroll taxes, the advocates of new spending legislation offer no answer.

Senator Langer (R) of North Dakota, introduced a resolution calling for continuation of full mail deliveries. It called for immediate cancellation of the postmaster general's order limiting home deliveries to one a day and curtailing other services.

The Contact Modulated Amplifier, developed by General Motors Research Laboratories, can measure direct current signals as faint as a few thousandths of a microvolt. It can be carried around like a portable radio and operate without interference of vibrating heavy machinery in a building. Medical researchers use it with the so-called oxymyograph to measure minute changes in the blood oxygen content of a patient under surgery and inform both the anesthetist and surgeon of the patient's condition.

Mason Pounds Out Easy 12-2 Victory

Mason's on-again-off-again baseball team was on Friday afternoon at the county park. The Bulldogs disposed of Grand Ledge in quick order, 12-2.

It was a tight game up to the fourth inning. Mason capped a long profit. Then the Bulldogs led off on the right hand pitching slants of the ace Comet hurler, Dick Kleinfelt.

The Bulldogs came up with five hits, including two triples whacked out by Don Scott and Chuck Howell, which brought in eight runs before the inning was over. Mason played like a bunch of professionals. There were solid hits, base stealing, and Denny Stolz and Howell even got together for a hit and run play that brought Stolz across the plate. That was all for the Comet hurler, Kleinfelt, who, the mound and Bob Morrow look over the hurling duties. He fared a little better.

Mason played tight ball all the way. Wayne Gabbert was never in trouble. The Comets were completely handcuffed by the star Mason finger in his first start this year. They managed to get two hits off him and one of those was of the scratch variety.

Gabbert did a lot of the hurling for Mason last year but moved out of town this winter. The Gabbert family returned to Mason and the right hander came back to the fold. He worked out for only two days before taking the mound Friday.

Mason banged out a total of 11 hits in scoring its 12 runs. Coach Don Funk's boys were charged with three errors in the field. The Comets batted the ball five times to help the Mason cause even further.

Sunday Film at Fox Features Kentucky Derby Thrills

Promising 99 minutes of excitement, dramatic romance "The Kid from Cleveland," which opens on Saturday at the Fox Theatre, combines all the elements required of wholesome family entertainment.

This picture filmed by Republic Studios and starring George Brent, Lynn Bari, Rusty Tamblyn and the entire Cleveland Indians baseball team, combines the authentic coverage of baseball with a story of juvenile delinquency.

The story relates the trials and tribulations of one wayward boy, Johnny Barrows, portrayed by Rusty Tamblyn, maladjusted because of a home condition involving a step-father. Sneaking into the Cleveland Municipal Stadium for one of the World Series games between the Indians and the Boston Braves, he is discovered by the ball players and a local radio sports announcer, George Brent.

Double Bill

"Rusty's Birthday," latest in the stories of a boy and his dog will be shown at the Fox Theatre on Saturday. This Columbia Pictures release, again features the familiar cast of Ted Donaldson, John Littel, Ann Doran and Flame, while Jimmy Hunt is a newcomer who stacks up on a par with the "Rusty" regulars.

In "Rusty's Birthday," Ted adopts a hostile attitude to a family that comes to his town in the person of an itinerant worker and his two sons, one of whom is little Jimmy. Jimmy, having rescued Rusty, Ted's dog, from a pit, has assumed possession of the animal. Ted, without waiting to discern the facts, accuses the strangers of having stolen Rusty and otherwise harasses them. How Ted learns a more tolerant attitude towards the strangers and helps his parents befriend them, makes for an absorbing film.

Racing Background

Bill Williams and June Nigh, score as the screen's newest romancers in Monogram's "Blue Grass of Kentucky," excitement-packed horse race story filmed in Cincinco, to be shown at the Fox Theatre on Sunday and Monday.

Miss Nigh portrays Pat Armstrong, whose only interest above that in race horses is Lin McVoy; she and the Comets are posing to put the King of the Cowboys in a better light, knowing someday he will marry her despite the fact that she is of a tremendously wealthy family and he is not. As Lin, Williams fills his role with complete understanding of his interest in Pat as well as the friendly rivalry existing between the McVoy and Armstrong stables. The veteran Ralph Morgan delivers an outstanding performance as Major Randolph McVoy, head of the clan and father of Lin.

Veterans Choose List of Officers

Members of Browne-Cavender post of the American Legion chose nominees for office last Thursday night. The election will be held June 1.

Ralph G. Stroppe was nominated for post commander with Glen Dimm as senior vice-commander, and Robert Anderson as junior vice-commander.

John Rose and Rebel Perry were nominated for the post of adjutant. Monney, Edgar Sheldon and John Powell were nominated as sergeant at arms, with Frank Guerriero and Maurice Bailey named for finance officer, Dr. L. A. Wilden for historian and Norman Weaver and Russell Huntington for chaplain.

All the officers and other nominations may be made from the floor, Commander Cleo Bailey announced.

University of Michigan Plans School of Natural Resources

The University of Michigan, which offered the first regular course in forestry in the United States, is pioneering in the field of natural resources.

A school of natural resources, the first in the world, will be established this fall to replace and expand the activities of the school of forestry and conservation.

Dean Samuel T. Dana said the establishment of the new school is a logical further step for the university to take at this time. Teaching and research will be widened in the school of natural resources to consider everything which nature has placed on, under and over the earth in relation to man.

"Professional training will continue to be given in forestry, wood technology, wildlife management and fishery management," Dean Dana said in describing the courses to be offered by the new school. "In addition, nonprofessional courses and programs dealing with these and other resources, such as soils, minerals and water, will be offered along with land-use planning and general conservation."

These programs will cover matters of basic, general interest relating to the distribution, characteristics, utilization and conservation of natural resources and their place in the national economy. Agricultural and mineral resources will be considered in these programs, but Dean Dana emphasized that no professional training in agriculture or mining engineering will be offered.

The Charles Lathrop Pack forestry foundation headed by Randolph G. Pack, of New York City, is helping in the support of the new school through two grants. The foundation has made a grant of $10,000 a year for 10 years to provide for an additional faculty member and $10,000 a year for three years to support research on the problems arising in the field of natural resources.

Dean Dana cited the university's past history in the field of forestry and conservation and said this has set the background for the pioneering move into natural resources.

"In 1881, the university offered the first regular courses in forestry to be given in the United States," he said. "In 1903, the University of Michigan established one of the first separate departments of forestry. Then in 1927 this was expanded into the first school of forestry and conservation."

The People Demand Less Taxes

Economy like charity should begin at home.

Here in Ingham county the people through their representatives on the board of supervisors demanded that the tax line be held. The supervisors obeyed. Their obedience has resulted in hours of argument on the equalization board over the necessity of the county, some schools and some townships getting less millage than they say they need.

State legislators are holding the line against the new corporation tax proposed by Governor Williams. The state budget will have to be trimmed or there will be a deficit.

In Washington there is slight hope for the taxpayer. Congressmen are farther away from the people than our legislators in Lansing or our county supervisors. Probably that's one reason there is more talk and less action about cutting federal spending.

The people are aware that holding down property valuations and opposing the governor's demand for new taxes may cut services. They are willing to take that chance.

The people know that the property taxes they pay make up only a small fraction of the cost of government. Here in this county within the past 10 days more than a million dollars has been sent back to schools, townships, cities and villages and the county road commission. The people pay those taxes, too.

Ingham schools received $205,775.62 in first quarter sales tax diversion money May 3. A few days earlier the township, city and village governments received $199,842.48 in sales tax money for the same quarter. The week before the county road commission got $509,631.29 and cities and villages $277,773.02 in first quarter weight taxes.

Money to pay old age pensions, aid to dependent children, and part of the direct relief money comes from the state. Some of it is first taken from the taxpayer and sent to Washington and then back to the state.

The schools now get most of their money from the state. Teachers are spearheading the drive to tap federal revenues for schools.

Money comes back to local districts from many federal and state agencies. But there is only one source. The one source is the people who earn and produce.

That's the only source of public funds, whether the levy is called an income tax, a property tax, an excise tax, a sales tax or a corporation tax. The consumer, the last man in the chain, has to pay.

It's a tough job, this sitting on the tax allocation board and having to trim local services. But it's a job which the people demand, and it's just about the only place where such a demand can get a fair hearing.

If we deprive ourselves of services here at home we may convince legislators and congressmen of our willingness to forego some of the "benefits" we now receive through state and federal agencies.

Government Bureaus Disagree On How Much Corn to Plant

By Vernon J. Brown

I am again favored with a notice from the Ingham County Production and Marketing Administration committee, this time advising me that as owner and operator of my 76-acre Vevny farm I will be allowed to plant one acre of corn for the season of 1950. It will be remembered that last year I was allowed a similar generous portion of the 1949-1950 wheat acreage.

As a matter of fact I had no intention of planting any wheat in 1949 and so my meager allotment I suppose was bestowed on some more shrewd farm operator. The queer thing about my corn acreage is that last fall I signed up with some of my neighbors to take a short course in soil conservation and at the same time I pledged myself to follow their suggestions so far as possible and stick close to a five-year program of crop rotation designed to restore and conserve productivity of my acres.

The Ingham county PMA and the U. S. soil conservation folks occupy different floors in the same building. Pay checks for both agencies come out of the same department at Washington. It would seem these two should get together, or is this too much to ask?

When I refer to the chart so carefully prepared for me and telling me just what fields to plant to what crops in what season, I find the authorities directing the affairs of the Ingham county soil conservation district pointing to a certain field of 6.6 acres and telling me to plant that to corn in 1950, this to be followed by small grain and alfalfa, bromo and clover in mixture. Another field of 12 acres comes next in 1951 with corn followed by small grain, legumes and grasses and so on.

Now if I follow the mandate of the PMA I will have 5.6 acres lying idle in 1950 and with the same allotment in 1951, 11 acres of another field unused next year.

Just as I get myself all worked up about those orders I am to ignore, I pick up my daily paper to learn that up at Escanaba in Delta county, where the champion potato grower lives, the town folks have been going hungry for potatoes in spite of the fact that warehouses and farm cellars are bulging with nice mealy spuds. To relieve the distressing situation, several carloads of California potatoes have been imported. Outside the fact that this looks like poor management, anyone who has even tasted California potatoes in competition with the Delta county product will readily also distinguish mighty poor discernment.

The trouble up in Delta county is that in order to support the market price on potatoes and keep them off the tables of the average family by forcing the price too high, these same government authorities paid the farmers for their crop, left them in the farmers' bins, dyed them blue, then offered them for sale to the same farmers for cattle feed at one cent a hundred pounds. With that sort of outrageous performance as an example, it is no wonder some smart mink, raphers of Delta cheated a little and fed them to their fur bearing livestock.

Then, too, I was able to console myself with the fact that as one of the millions of suckers who pay taxes to support both the PMA and the conservation pyralies and the potato kings, I ought to be entitled to my choice as to whose advice I am to use.

On the other hand it is too bad that my neighbor, who called around a few months ago to ask a lot of questions about my farm and my plans, has to see his work go for naught. Then, too, there are all these folks who delve into piles of farm reports and who use up reams of paper in "seven-copy" reports to Washington, and the over-worked members of the county committee. It is too bad all this little-appreciated effort must be wasted.

I am able to console myself with these reflections: (1) I have never invited them to come to the farm; (2) I have never been entitled to be; and (3) I buy my own lime and fertilizer and have scorned their cash dotes. Moreover, I have never believed my government owed me a thin dime for doing the best I can to restore my fields to productivity and to prevent further loss from erosion. That is exactly the reason I acquired the old homestead and exactly what I planned to do. The government not only does not owe me for doing what I am doing, I refuse to accept either its money or its restrictions.

In short, if the weather permits and my strength holds out I expect to plant 6.6 acres to corn this year. What I harvest will be up to the elements and my own efforts.

Even if the crop fails I shall expect no consolation prize from the Great White Father. Neither will I ask the bureaucrats at Mason or Washington to pay me more than my crop is worth and then let me feed it to my stock.

I realize one lone non-compliance renegade will not disrupt the parity schemes nor annoy the schemer. But there is still some satisfaction in being ornery. On top of that I can not consistently complain of the inconsistencies of the PMA and at the same time take its dote. My father had a favorite saying that "it is no disgrace to be poor but it is frequently inconvenient." So it is with being counted among the non-conformists. It may be no great source of pride but it is a lot of fun.

Politics and Gas Rates

The Public Service Commission was set up to establish rates for utility firms.

The people would pay more for gas in the long run if three or four gas companies shared the business in each community. With two or more telephone companies serving the same area the public has less use of telephone service than where there is only one telephone system. The same holds true of electric power.

Because utilities are monopolies the people, through the legislature, established commissions to see that the public got good service and fair rates, and to see to it that the investors received fair returns.

In Michigan the Public Service Commission was set up to divorce rates from politics.

It has been the aim of governors to put on the commission men with reputations for honesty, integrity, sagacity and courage. When Governor Harry Kelly had the responsibility of filling a vacancy on the commission he named Schuyler L. Marshall of St. Johns. When Governor Kim Sigler had a vacancy to fill he named Stuart White of Niles. Both men admirably fitted the requirements. They were and are men of unquestioned honesty. They need no defense.

Governor G. Mennen Williams had an appointment to make on the commission. He named John McCarthy. The new man has accused the other two of being overly solicitous for the welfare of the utility firms. McCarthy claims he is the friend of the people, just about the only friend they have on the commission.

That's where politics come in. The stage is being set, the wisecracks say, to make the Public Service Commission and its acts a political issue in the 1950 election.

A lot of people just can't believe the public will be well served by mixing politics and utility rates.

Sure, all of us want lower telephone, gas and electric rates. But we don't really expect them under present inflationary trends. We have sense enough to know that with everything else high, utility rates won't be low.

McCarthy has a perfect right to disagree with Marshall and White over rates. McCarthy may be right and the others wrong. But here in this county where people know Sky Marshall well McCarthy's statements impugning the veracity of Marshall don't set well. Marshall is honest to the core. McCarthy has permitted his zeal for politics to influence his better judgment. He may regret it.

Wasting School Time

Homer B. Millard, founder of the Millard school in Washington, claims that any bright boy or girl ought to complete high school in two years. They do it at his school.

Millard has suggested that two high school courses be offered, one of two years for those capable of and desiring college education, and another of four years for those who can't or don't want to go to college. Those taking the second course would be enrolled in job-training classes.

There is no undue strain, Millard said, in hurrying bright boys and girls through school in two years. They are taught to concentrate and to utilize their time to maximum benefit.

Many teachers agree that the trouble with schools today is that the pace of the brightest must be shortened to that of the duller or the least interested. There is too little incentive for students to do their best when their best doesn't seem to carry them any faster or any farther than the slowest in the class.

We are spending more today on schools than ever before. We should be willing to try some of the suggestions offered to make the most of our investment. This suggestion from the founder of an outstanding school should be given an honest try.

Down by the Sycamore

I didn't ask the right people about the Charlotte piano factory mentioned in this column last week. My inquiry about the factory resulted in a flood of telephone calls, letters and postal cards. One telephone call was from a man who probably knows all the angles. He is A. G. Sperry. He was engineer of the Charlotte factory and helped move the plant to Brazil, Indiana. He even set up the engines and boilers in the Brazil plant and stayed on until the factory was running smooth again.

The Knight-Brinkerhoff piano factory was Charlotte's main industry. It employed about 500 people. Besides turning out pianos bearing the Knight-Brinkerhoff name, the company made the Oliver and Grinnell pianos and the K-B foundry turned out plates for scores of other piano manufacturers. In 1911 when Charlotte failed to show interest in helping secure land needed for expansion of the company, the factory pulled out for Brazil, Indiana, A. G. said. It was a matter of 10 acres of land. The Charlotte Chair Co. moved in after the piano factory moved out.

Business men and employees attended special classes in Mason early in the spring to brush up on their salesmanship which withered during the war. For seven or eight years no one had to sell anything—people stood in line to buy. Selling became almost a lost art. So it's little wonder that school entertainments play to empty houses. The boys and girls don't get out to sell tickets.

Ten years ago the town was canvassed twice over by high school students eager to sell concert and play tickets. They were enthusiastic about the entertainment. They put on a sales talk. They didn't half-heartedly mumble, "You don't want to buy a ticket, do you?"

Not in five years at least have high school students come to this office primed to sell tickets. Competition is back again. Nowhere is it more apparent than in the entertainment field. Quality of the school entertainments warrant better sales. Not only would the youngsters be inspired by playing to packed houses but the people would profit by the type of entertainment offered. That's salesmanship at its best—selling people what they need, convincing them of their needs and then making the performance live up to the salesmanship.

A generation ago thousands of youngsters learned salesmanship this season of the year by grinding up and selling horse radish. Horse radish still grows. People still like it on ham and other meats. It is fun to make and fun to sell, yet no one seems to be doing it hereabouts.

My wife, Jim, Caroline and I took off from Mason Friday noon for Royal Oak and thence on to Lapeer. Jim and I inspected the plant of the Lapeer County Press (America's Largest Rural Weekly). It's a big operation. Up in front men and women were working like mad laying out this week's slew of full-page ads. Out back, printers and pressmen were at top speed. The editorial page for this Thursday was already in type. That's how far ahead the Myers boys cast their thoughts.

The trip to Lapeer was made primarily to buy metal rule from the County Press Elrod caster. With every thousand pounds of silver-plated rule bought Bill Myers throws in a dinner for the buyers. That's why I took so many along. I don't mind paying exorbitant prices for metal so long as I have the privilege of taking part of the family along to those delicious dinners Bill's wife cooks.

During the drive home Friday night in the big wind I was thankful I had demanded full weight on the metal. We had enough ballast to stay in the road while other cars were blown off.

The Lapeer area is filled with men and women employed in the G. M. plants, Buick, Chevrolet and AC Spark Plug in Flint, and Pontiac and other factories in Pontiac. Scores of workers drive to a central parking lot in Lapeer and then share rides from there to the factories. The plan was launched during the war and it saved so much extra driving it is continued.

There's a building boom on in the Detroit area. Big houses and all the angles. He is A. G. Sperry. He was engineer of the Charlotte factory and helped move the plant to Brazil, Indiana. He even set up the engines and boilers in the Brazil plant and stayed on until the factory was running smooth again.

A drive around the Michigan State college campus Sunday afternoon left me speculating on whether ex-cases or careers are the chief interests of the students. Maybe some of both. Couples were on the move everywhere with their arms entwined about each other. Romance in mass production.

Upon leaving for home I cautioned Jim. He has such a long reach. There's no telling what he'd find enfolded in his arms at the end of an afternoon of campus wrestling.

I don't follow the "Broaden Your Vocabulary" features in the magazines. I know too many words now that I can't spell. But on Monday I did look up one when I was asked about my serendipity.

I'd never heard the word. Webster defines serendipity as the gift of finding valuable or agreeable things not sought for. A dictionary footnote explains that Horace Walpole coined the term in 1754. "The Three Princes of Serendip" in their travels were always discovering, by chance or by sagacity, things they did not seek."

In Bible history most of us think of Eve as a wife who hearkened to the words of the sly serpent, and brought upon mankind the necessity of earning bread by the sweat of his brow. But Eve was a mother, the first in history. "And Adam called his wife's name Eve; because she was the mother of all living."

That brings us down to Mother's Day. It comes Sunday. There's something far more precious than flowers or costly gifts that mothers dream about. It's sons and daughters who are honest, upright, fair and kind; and not for a day, but for a lifetime.

This Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Won A Case Against A&P

As almost everyone now knows, the anti-trust lawyers in Washington have brought a civil suit to destroy A&P. They ask the courts to order the dissolution of this company.

They say that this suit is based on the fact that they won a suit against us at Danville, Illinois, in 1946.

They did. In that case, Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley made a decision against A&P.

Immediately thereafter, in a letter explaining his decision, Judge Lindley wrote:

*"I have not condemned the A&P system.
I have not made a finding which could be the basis for a suit of dissolution."*

So, now we have the anti-trust lawyers saying that their suit to dissolve A&P is based on Judge Lindley's decision; while Judge Lindley himself says his decision could not be the basis for a suit of dissolution.

In previous ads we told you about the cases against A&P which the anti-trust lawyers lost. We promised to tell you about this case they won. Here is the story of the Danville case.

What Judge Lindley Objected To

At Danville, the anti-trust lawyers made all of the charges which they are again making against A&P today. They were substantially the same charges they had made and dropped at Dallas, Texas, after four federal judges had objected to some of them as "inflammatory."

In his decision, Judge Lindley was critical of some of our activities. He threw some of the charges out of court. He did not make any decision on others.

He even took occasion to praise A&P for the efficient job of food distribution it had done.

Judge Lindley said:

"To buy, sell and distribute to a substantial portion of 130,000,000 people, one and three-quarter billion dollars worth of food annually at a profit of 1½ cents on each dollar, is an achievement one may well be proud of."

"No place in the world I take it are people so well fed as in the United States. Nowhere else, I suppose, do food distributors accomplish efficient distribution at so low a margin of profit. In contrast, we are told in other nations the problem is not one of an adequate diet but one of no diet at all."

But Judge Lindley did find us in violation of the Sherman Act. He based his ruling on the dual role played by our fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, the Atlantic Commission Company, whereby that organization acted both as buying agent for A&P and as selling agent for growers.

Judge Lindley said:

"If I assume for the purpose of disposition of this case that in general the policy of A&P was to operate within the law and attribute to defendants a desire to comply with the law, there still remains the conscious, knowing adoption by all defendants of a plan of action by the Atlantic Commission Company affecting every department of A&P and every retail store which cannot be squared with the intent and purpose of the act."

In his letter explaining the decision, Judge Lindley wrote: "I have condemned their practices through the Atlantic Commission Company."

Judge Lindley imposed fines totaling $175,000. When his decision was upheld by the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, we paid the fines. This ended the case—but we did not stop there.

What We Did To Correct This

In the light of the decision, we immediately set about reviewing our activities to be sure that there could never again be any criticism of our operations.

First, the Atlantic Commission Company abandoned the dual role to which Judge Lindley objected and which he said was the basis of his decision against us.

We did this even though the Atlantic Commission Company had been licensed for many years by the United States Department of Agriculture to act as both a buyer and seller of fresh fruits and vegetables.

The Atlantic Commission Company now only buys for A&P. In other words, we stopped doing the thing which Judge Lindley said put us in violation of the Sherman Act.

We made additional changes in other methods of operation which Judge Lindley had questioned at Danville, even though he did not base his decision on them.

We did even more than this!

We went down to Washington and asked the anti-trust lawyers what else they thought we should do to conform to their new interpretation of the vague anti-trust laws.

The only answer we ever got was that we should break up this company!

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to A&P's size, they insisted that we destroy this size.

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to our manufacturing operations, they insisted that we get rid of our factories which produce many of the fine foods you buy at A&P.

Despite their claim that they were not opposed to our low prices, they insisted that we destroy many of the efficiencies that make these low prices possible.

In other words, they insisted upon the dissolution of A&P.

We were still trying to find out from the anti-trust lawyers what else they thought we should do to conform to the law when they filed the current suit to destroy A&P.

Why, Then, Do They Want To Put A&P Out Of Business?

Ever since this suit was filed, the anti-trust lawyers have been making damaging statements that could seriously hurt our business if they were believed by the public.

They say that we were found guilty at Danville of all the charges they are making today. This is not true. Judge Lindley did not sustain all of the charges of the anti-trust lawyers.

They say this suit is designed to enforce the law.

But A&P has clearly demonstrated its sincere desire to abide by the spirit, as well as the letter of the law.

They say they are seeking to "enjoin" A&P from engaging in certain "alleged" practices. Actually, the whole purpose of this suit is not to "enjoin" us, but to put us out of business.

They say that this suit for dissolution is based on the decision handed down by Judge Lindley in Danville.

But Judge Lindley has said of his decision: "I have not made a finding which could be the basis for a suit of dissolution."

What, then, is the real reason why the anti-trust lawyers want to destroy this company, which for 90 years has pioneered the methods of distribution which have given the American people more good food for their money?

Federation Delegates Named

Williamston Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. Effie Richey for its April meeting. Announcement was made of the County Federation of Woman's Clubs annual meeting May 10 at Haslett. Delegates to this meeting are Hazel Adams and Florence Allen.

Following the business meeting, Irene Putman, leader for the afternoon, presented the following program. Ruth Traver told of the origin of the postage stamp and Ida Putman gave a paper on "mail service," covering the time from the first penny express to the present air mail service. Among old letters and their stamps displayed was one from the grandmother of the hostess, written while she was attending college; one written during the Civil War and stamped with a confederate stamp mailed from the south, and in possession of the Traver family. Ida Putman told of one in her possession, written in 1856 by her grandmother, Nancy Putman, from her brother in New York State. Following the meeting the hostess served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Beach have returned home from Florida where they have been spending the winter.

Safety Commission Starts Drive

The Michigan state safety commission has announced the launching of the first of a series of six emphasis programs of traffic accident prevention for the year 1950.

The Michigan record for the first three months of 1950 was a little better than last year as far as traffic deaths were concerned but both injuries and accidents increased. The coming of warm spring days will mean greater traffic and greater chances of accidents. The loss of 13 lives over the last week end was a dramatic example.

The first emphasis program deals with vehicle safety during the month of May. All law enforcement and court officials are cooperating on the program. Police and sheriffs will check the brakes of all cars stopped for traffic violations.

In commenting on the importance of this program the chairman of the commission, F. M. Ainger, Jr., secretary of state, said, "Last year over 200,000 motorists in Michigan could not stop in time and had an accident. Many of these could have stopped in time if their brakes had been in safe operating condition. A safe driver has to have a safe car which will help him to see in time and stop in time."

All motorists are urged to cooperate with the program by taking their cars to their regular service station to have all of their safety equipment checked and adjusted, repaired or replaced if necessary.

The other five programs for the year will cover speed control, June 15-July 15; signs and signals, during August; child safety during September; pedestrian protection, October 15-November 15; and drunk driving during December.

Just Imagine It's Yours!

You say you have never driven a Cadillac? Well, it's a lovely day—and there are beautiful roads to travel down and interesting places to visit—and a little dreaming never hurt a soul . . .

. . . so just slide over behind the wheel. It's yours!

First, you'll just want to sit for awhile—here where royalty has sat, and the great of industry and state, and of all the learned professions. Yes, the driver's seat in a Cadillac is meeting place for the world's distinguished people.

And sitting here—with your hand on the slender, obedient wheel—you get a close-up view of the ingrained goodness that makes this car so unmistakably . . . the Standard of the World.

The gorgeous upholstery fabrics are tailored in the richest fashion. The exquisite hardware is wrought with a jeweller's care. The lovely instrument panel is a feast for the eyes. All about you is proof of quality.

And then you turn the key, touch the soft-throated engine into action—and you're away, away, away!

The steering wheel all but reads your mind! The brakes are as soft as velvet, and immediate in their response! The road has become a boulevard—and the turns and lights seem so very close-together!

And the soft, easy quietness of it all! You just sit and relax—in complete contentment—and the miles go by—and the miles go by . . .

... "Oh, how I wish this car were mine!"

Well, it's time, we think, to stop dreaming—and lend an ear to this . . .

. . . the lower-priced cars in the Cadillac line cost less to buy than the highest-priced models of numerous other cars!

. . . Cadillac economy is so outstanding that a single filling of gasoline will usually suffice for a full day's drive!

. . . and a Cadillac car is built so well that its lifespan has never been fully measured!

We think you'll agree that, with facts like these, it's time to stop your dreaming.

It's time to go into action—and to make this car your own!

Dairy Interests Gird For Battle of Selling

Faced by the cold, hard fact that the seller's market for dairy products has turned into a buyer's market, with 7 billion pounds of milk annually floating about without a permanent home, the dairy industry has decided to throw all its resources into expanding its markets through advertising, publicity and other sales promotion angles. The annual "set aside" program of a cent a pound of butterfat delivered through one month, June, will be enlarged to a year-around basis, at the rate of a quarter of a cent a pound on butterfat and 1 cent per hundred pounds on milk.

The decision was taken at the annual meeting of the American Dairy Association in Chicago, at which the delegates decided upon the "do-it-for-ourselves" program financed by their own funds. The program, facing the industry was stated bluntly and plainly by Owen Richards, the ADA general manager—about 6 per cent of total milk production, or 7 billion pounds of milk, is floating out of normal consumption bounds and is the cause of today's market problem.

"The solution is finding a steady and absorbing market for the 7 billion pounds of milk," Richards said. "It needs to be sold—to be

SANITATION SAVES CALVES

Clean quarters free of drafts and a plentiful supply of dry bedding are essential to the control of calf pneumonia. It is also important that no healthy calf be placed in a pen vacated by a sick calf until the old bedding has been removed and the pen thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Another worthwhile precaution is to raise calves in small groups, rather than to put them all together. Under this system, if pneumonia or some other infectious disease breaks out it can be confined to a single small group, thereby keeping the rest of the calf crop from being exposed.

Diehl Herd High In Ingham-West

Seventeen other herds averaged better than 30 pounds of fat for the month. They were: Harry DeLaere, 24 registered Holsteins, 46.7 pounds fat, 1254 pounds milk; Harry Freshour & Son, 19 registered Holsteins, 42.3 pounds fat, 1091 pounds milk; Paul Rowe, 19 registered and grade Holsteins, 42.2 pounds fat, 1139 pounds milk; Glenn H. ## Farmer's Question Corner

PREPARED BY
American Foundation For Animal Health

How to Control Swine Erysipelas

QUESTION: How serious is swine erysipelas?

ANSWER: The infection has spread all over the nation in the last 20 years.

QUESTION: In what form does it appear?

ANSWER: It takes several forms. There is an acute type; and a chronic type. Also, the disease does not limit itself to swine. The same germs can infect turkeys, lambs, and human beings.

QUESTION: What are some findings in the acute form?

ANSWER: Common symptoms in swine are sudden deaths, red spots on the skin, soreness and arched backs.

QUESTION: How does the chronic form differ from the acute?

ANSWER: The chronic symptoms are lack of gain, lameness, patchy loss of skin, bob tails and unthriftiness.

QUESTION: Can a producer rely on these symptoms?

ANSWER: No. Swine erysipelas may resemble hog cholera and other diseases. It is very baffling, and often does not run true to type. A laboratory examination can be made, however, to help tell if erysipelas is present.

QUESTION: What can a swine raiser do to protect his animals?

ANSWER: 1. Keep newly purchased swine away from the milk herd for at least three weeks.

2. Keep a sharp lookout for large joints, or thickened ears among young pigs.

3. Have a veterinarian examine the herd immediately if suspicious symptoms appear.

QUESTION: What about vaccination?

ANSWER: In localities where the disease is prevalent vaccination is a wise, standard practice. However, since the vaccine is a living culture of the causative germ, and is also highly infectious to man, it should be administered by a veterinarian.

NOTE:—Due to space limitations, general questions cannot be handled by this column.

July 21 Is Set For Sheep Day

Michigan sheep growers are saving the date of Friday, July 21, for their second annual sheep field day, to be held at the Eaton county fairgrounds, Charlotte.

Attendance at last year's event has encouraged the sponsors to plan for an even bigger field day this year. The program will include judging of several breeds, exhibits of all breeds, demonstrations on preparing and cooking lamb, and discussions on pastures and sheep management problems.

Cooperating sponsors are the Michigan Sheep Breeders association, Eaton County Sheep Extension office, and the animal husbandry department of Michigan State college.

Switches for power machines should be placed out of reach of children or should be the type that can be locked, say Michigan State college agricultural engineers.

Urge Control to Stop Corn Borer

A few tips to farmers in the control of corn borer, which causes an untold amount of damage in southern Michigan every year, are offered by Ray L. James, Michigan State college entomology extension specialist.

James said all fields heavily infested last year should be clean plowed, and that fields where the corn borer thrived the preceding year should be cleaned of all surface rubbish if possible.

The depth of plowing should be from six to eight inches. Coulters, chains, and other devices may be employed to get the rubbish down under the soil as far as possible.

Last year's corn stalks sticking out of the earth may be a haven for the corn borer from where he frequently makes an escape to thrive on a new crop. All infested fields should be plowed under sometime between May 15 and 20.

Though the clean plowing method is a big boost in stopping the corn borer, it nevertheless, is not a sure cure and as a result total control will not result. Early corn crops in Michigan are usually more affected by the corn borer than the later crops. Though some delay is warranted in planting where the borer is bad, farmers should not wait so long as to deter the crop from maturing satisfactorily in the fall, James warned.

How's Your Rhubarb?

Rhubarb is a home garden perennial crop that should be more widely planted. It will do well on almost any type of soil provided it is well drained.

A deep fertile loam that is supplied with organic matter is suggested. Rhubarb does better on a soil that is not more than medium acid.

To provide the earliest returns, a light sandy loam soil with a southern slope is suggested. However, more summer drought injury may occur on this type of location.

The use of liberal amounts of manure and fertilizer on rhubarb will pay good returns most years.

In starting a new planting of rhubarb, it is considered best to start with the division of crowns formed during previous seasons. These divisions can be made early in the spring, taking care to leave as much root as possible along with a strong eye or bud in each section.

In starting rhubarb from seed, the results may prove disappointing, since some of the plants will not be of as high quality or good color as the original plant or will shoot up too many seed-stalks.

The plants should be set two and one-half to three feet apart in the row, with the crowns covered with two or three inches of soil. Deep planting in heavy or wet soils often result in larger losses from soft rot.

Improved varieties of rhubarb are now available. McDonald, Ruby, Canada Red, and Cherry Red are some of the more popular red stalked varieties.

Victoria and Linnaeus are selections more commonly found in old plantings that do not have as attractive a stalk color.

Shallow cultivation is needed to keep down weeds. Some follow the practice of mulching annually with straw manure. This keeps down the weeds as well as protects the plants from cold and encourages early growth as well as furnishing needed fertility.

The practice of dividing plants every five to eight years is desirable. Some in doing this cut through the crown, leaving three or four buds still undisturbed in the hill. This practice can be followed in both commercial and home plantings. Heavy crowned plants may become crowded with small buds so that only small sized stalks are produced.

Foot or soft rot seems to be a common disease that injures many rhubarb plants. This fungus attacks and rots the base of the

Hunters Should Visit Farmers

A word of advice to sportsmen was given recently by Charles Shick, extension specialist in game management for Michigan State college and the conservation department. He says hunters should take time to get acquainted with farmers.

Shick maintains that the farmer likes to know the people who hunt on his land. One of his chief complaints is that hunters fail to visit with him after the brief open season on farm game. Sometimes he feels like a forgotten man since he gets attention only in the fall of the year.

The game management specialist says that a friendly visit at various times during the year makes a better farmer-hunter relationship.

Poor Nutrition Causes Disease

A poultryman doesn't have to be an expert on nutrition, but he should be familiar with some of the symptoms of nutritional deficiencies. It's just another part of this job as a poultry-raiser.

Today, with a slight competitive situation in commercially-mixed poultry rations, nutritional deficiencies resulting from inadequate diets are rarer—but they still appear occasionally, because some poultry-raisers mix their own rations.

Learning to recognize symptoms of poor nutrition will enable the poultryman to save many a chicken—and many more profits. Here are some of the commonest symptoms:

The vitamin-A deficiency shows up as a roup-like condition of the nostrils, eyes and face. In a post-mortem examination of a bird this condition is revealed by many tiny white spots in the esophagus, or gullet.

Another common form of nutritional deficiency is early-toe paralysis. A chick in this condition cannot stand or walk, and the toes become tightly-curling back. Curly-toe is caused by lack of vitamin C (riboflavin).

Slipped tendon also appears quite often. This is usually recognized when the large tendon of the leg slips off to the side, giving the hock a misshapen appearance. It is caused by lack of manganese in the diet.

Rickets, of course, is rather well-known among nutritional deficiencies. The disease results in weak, rubbery legs and hocks. Lack of vitamin D in the diet causes this condition.

Another warning sign of disease resulting from inadequate diet is rough and scabby skin, which usually indicates dermatitis. Particular spots affected by dermatitis are the face and corners of the mouth, the area around the vent, and the bottoms of the feet. The skin disease is brought about by a shortage of pantothenic acid or riboflavin.

In correcting these nutritional diseases, it is wise to consult reliable sources (nutritionists, etc.) before making any definite changes in the diet. Of course, the use of any recognized commercial ration is recommended, since such feeds are practically 100 per cent complete in nutritive value.

HOLSTEIN COW BOUGHT

Wilfred Dent, Mason, recently acquired a registered Holstein cow from the herd of Frank W. Marshall, Stockbridge. Change of ownership for this animal, Miss Bess Dewdrop, has been officially recorded by the Holstein-Friesian association of America. The association issued 20,433 registry and transfer certificates to Michigan breeders during 1949.

Even though alfalfa is a soil building crop, it needs fertilization to supply some of its wants, say Michigan State college agricultural specialists. So long as a stand of alfalfa remains good and you wish to continue it for hay, it should be top-dressed at least every second year.

Pork should not be aged as the fat may become rancid and give off flavors to the meat.

Pastures Make Dairy Profits

Pasture-produced milk is the most profitable, dairy farmers tell Michigan State college extension dairymen.

Many have no figures to back their claims—they just know that they feed less grain, little hay, and are freed from heavy barn chores during pasture season.

But one Livingston county dairy farmer does have some proof that milk costs are cheaper in the pasture months. His herd has been on test for 20 years. Figures obtained by M. S. C. dairymen from his records show herd milk from pasture has lowered production costs since he started using it as the summer feed.

Feed costs to produce 100 pounds of milk in pasture months averaged just $1.00 less than they did during the barn season over the past three years. This herd of 12 cows put about $100 more a month in the family pocket book because of cheaper feed costs with pasture.

Pasture for this herd was not figured "free" either. Each cow was charged 15 cents a day while she grazed on the alfalfa-brome to cover taxes, costs of seed, fertilizer, lime, seed bed preparation and maintenance. The big saving was in grain cost, for when the pasture was at its peak, practically no grain was needed.

Dairy specialists report that Michigan dairymen can find out more about the use of pasture and forage in profitable dairy enterprises at the grass day programs to be held throughout Michigan during the month of June.

Lay Plans Now for Fly-Free Summer

Now is the time to plan for a fly-free summer, LaRue Miller, environmental engineer of the Michigan department of health asserted.

Flies are born, live and eat in the refuse in a community. They spread diseases such as typhoid fever, poliomyelitis, dysentery, diarrhea, tuberculosis and cholera when they carry germ-bearing filth from these places to the food being prepared in kitchens or serving on tables, the sugar bowl, the syrup container, the bowl of fruit, the bread plate or to the dishes from which people eat.

The housefly which makes its appearance now can have more than five billion descendants by late summer, if it and all of its offspring are allowed to live and reproduce.

The first step in controlling the nuisance and danger of flies is the elimination of their breeding places—the manure pile, the dump, rotting vegetable, fruit and animal matter, decaying human and animal excreta and cesspools. Clean up and cover up the garbage can and the area surrounding it, the chicken house, the pet shelter, the pig pen, the cow shed, horse barn and the outdoor privy. Make sure that the privy pit is deep, dark and flytight. Pits can be kept flytight by keeping openings to the outside completely screened and by providing tight fitting seat covers.

Screen all buildings in which humans live or in which food or milk are stored or prepared. Spray the inside and outside of buildings with a 3 per cent solution of DDT and paint screens with a 5 per cent solution of DDT once every six weeks. If flies have become resistant to DDT try lindane, a new insecticide which proved effective during the summer of 1949.

"Then swat every fly you see," Miller said. "Every fly you kill right now and every breeding place you eliminate this spring will mean thousands less flies to harass and endanger you in August and September."

Lay Plans Now for Fly-Free Summer

Now is the time to plan for a fly-free summer, LaRue Miller, environmental engineer of the Michigan department of health asserted.

Flies are born, live and eat in the refuse in a community. They spread diseases such as typhoid fever, poliomyelitis, dysentery, diarrhea, tuberculosis and cholera when they carry germ-bearing filth from these places to the food being prepared in kitchens or serving on tables, the sugar bowl, the syrup container, the bowl of fruit, the bread plate or to the dishes from which people eat.

The housefly which makes its appearance now can have more than five billion descendants by late summer, if it and all of its offspring are allowed to live and reproduce.

The first step in controlling the nuisance and danger of flies is the elimination of their breeding places—the manure pile, the dump, rotting vegetable, fruit and animal matter, decaying human and animal excreta and cesspools. Clean up and cover up the garbage can and the area surrounding it, the chicken house, the pet shelter, the pig pen, the cow shed, horse barn and the outdoor privy. Make sure that the privy pit is deep, dark and flytight. Pits can be kept flytight by keeping openings to the outside completely screened and by providing tight fitting seat covers.

Screen all buildings in which humans live or in which food or milk are stored or prepared. Spray the inside and outside of buildings with a 3 per cent solution of DDT and paint screens with a 5 per cent solution of DDT once every six weeks. If flies have become resistant to DDT try lindane, a new insecticide which proved effective during the summer of 1949.

"Then swat every fly you see," Miller said. "Every fly you kill right now and every breeding place you eliminate this spring will mean thousands less flies to harass and endanger you in August and September."

Advice Offered On Cattle Care

Here's a nine-point program to help farmers keep their cattle thriving on pasture.

1. Don't let animals gorge themselves on lush, young pastures. Guard against bloat and grass tetany by making the animals change to green feed gradually.
2. Inspect the herd once a week for evidence of pink-eye. Remove any animals with eye troubles to a darkened stall, and get an immediate diagnosis of the trouble.
3. In blackleg areas, have all calves vaccinated against the disease.
4. Protect the herd against flies by spraying with an approved insecticide.
5. Examine pastures periodically for the presence of poisonous plants.
6. Check the herd regularly for wounds through which parasites and disease germs may enter.
7. If suspected cases of lumpy jaw develop, get the affected animals off pasture and away from the rest of the herd. Have them treated promptly, before the condition gets worse.
8. When calves are unthrifty, suspect the presence of parasites. The parasite danger is especially great on old pastures and community pastures.
9. Bovine tuberculosis is still a problem, and cattle should be tested periodically for it, as well as for brucellosis.

Time Here for Spring Pig Care

The old theory about castrating pigs within a certain phase of the moon is unsupported by scientific fact and is without foundation, according to Dr. B. J. Killham, Michigan State college extension veterinarian.

He made this statement in urging farmers to have their pigs vaccinated and castrated in the springtime as soon as they are the right age. Pigs should not be allowed to run in the mud or in unclean quarters until healing has taken place following castration.

Of the three months of vaccinating pigs, the older serum and virus method has the most supporters. The two newer methods appear to protect hogs during the feeding period, but the duration of immunity may be shorter. However, the two newer methods have the advantage of not endangering other hogs or contaminating the premises.

The newer vaccines lower the disease resistance of the pigs for about three weeks. Therefore, these vaccines should not be used when cholera is present. The best time to apply the serum and virus treatment is just after weaning time. However, farmers are advised

Screen all buildings in which humans live or in which food or milk are stored or prepared. Spray the inside and outside of buildings with a 3 per cent solution of DDT and paint screens with a 5 per cent solution of DDT once every six weeks. If flies have become resistant to DDT try lindane, a new insecticide which proved effective during the summer of 1949.

vised, not to wait too long after weaning.

In the event the sow is immune to cholera, the pig acquires a certain amount of resistance from the milk. This advantage is lost after the pigs are weaned. Dr. Killham pointed out, too, that larger pigs will cost more to vaccinate.
