IT'S ROUNDUP TIME AGAIN

Lions Will Match Turtles at Fair

Mason Lions will again stage their turtle derby in connection with the Ingham county fair.

Members of the club have lined up even more sponsors than last year. In addition to Mason businessmen, Leslie and Stockbridge stores are entering turtle speedsters. Political candidates are also grooming entries. As happened last year, some of the sponsors are buying proved racers through the Lions club. Others are trapping and training their own.

Popularity queen candidates are now posing for photographs. Mason candidates for the honor include Mary Mathias, Donna Acheson, Joyce Morlock, Georgia Foster, Donna Betcher, Judy Heathman, Jean Carpenter, Helen Wiley, Jerry Rickly and Theo Kramer. Leslie has nominated Janet Gearing, Dolores Dutton and Althea Fogg.

Nominations from Stockbridge had not been received up to Thursday morning, Gerald Graham of the Lions club reported.

Mason sponsors who had already paid their entry fees and had procured racing turtles by

Thursday were listed by Graham as follows:

Jefferson Food Market, Little Joe; Howard Pontiac, Chief Pontiac; Davis Clothing Company; Davis Special; Horn's Shoe Store; Red Goose; Dr. R. R. Robbins, Lumbago;

Cable Radio Service, Gable's; Ever Ready; Ware's Drug Store; Kodak; Mason Elevator Company; Elevator Ella; Speedway Tavern; Strohs; Hilton-Richards Bulk Sales, Dynaflow; Perkins Hardware, Maytag Special;

Bill's Bait Shop, Red Worm; Ball-Dunn Furniture Company; Ball-of-Fire; Barr's Sinclair Service, RD 119; Bob's Standard Service, Red Crown; Howlett Implement Company, John Deere; Mason Dairy, Dairy Special; Farmer's Gas and Oil Company, Fargo;

Mason Golf Course, Fore; Michigan Vitified Tile Company, Mich. Vit.; Ron Lewis Plumbing, Lennie Lennox; Ray Fisher's Sales & Service, Henry J.; Arnold Concrete Products Company, Susie Q.; Dr. R. R. DeMartin, Ka Don; Cumlings Barber Shop, Butch;

Graham Awards Contract for Meridian Drain

Drain Commissioner Gerald L. Graham awarded the contract on the Grand View drain, Wednesday. Yoder Construction Co. of Perry with a low bid of $56,025.41 got the job. Lee Hazel of Lake Odessa with an even bid of $57,000.00 was next. There were 3,000.00 bidders. Ted Beauchamp, Stockbridge; Angell Construction Co., Lansing; and Noyce, Reiner & Noyce, Lansing.

The drain is in Grand View subdivision near the Marble school. It is a closed drain designed for combination use as a surface drain and sewer. The ultimate use will probably be as a sewer, the commissioner said. Required for the job will be 11,648 lineal feet of pipe varying from 6 inches to 24 inches in diameter.

With the O. K. of the board of determination, preliminary work will be started soon on the cleanout and the extension of the M. M. Rose drain in Stockbridge township.

A special board appointed by Judge of Probate John McClellan viewed the proposed project July 2 and approved the petition. Supervisors Hubert Bullen of Aurora and Dean Taylor of Mason and L. H. Harrison of Mason made up the board.

On July 8 the same board determined the necessity of the Richard Street drain in Delhi township. This work will consist of 1,200 lineal feet of 8-inch tile drain with appurtenances.

Swimming Party At Lake Lansing Ends in Tragedy

Robert Antcliff, 8, lost his life at Lake Lansing Sunday afternoon. He had gone to the lake with 2 neighbor children to play in the water.

The boy slipped from an inflated inner tube into shallow water. He either drowned, or choked to death, according to the coroner's report.

Discovery of the body of the boy was made within 5 minutes from the last time he was seen on the tube. Artificial respiration was applied and Meridian township firemen used their resuscitator in vain.

Because of the heat the water at the Dells beach was crowded with men and women and children. No one noticed the boy when he fell from the tube. Someone saw him floating face down in shallow water and carried him to shore.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Antcliff, 2222 Sandhill road, gave the boy permission to go with neighbor children, Dennis Wilkins, 9, and his sister, Leota, 5, to the lake with their father, Dale Wilkins.

The youngsters set out joyously. At the lake the 3 children hurried into the water. Mr. Wilkins did not go in. Because of the crowd he could not keep the children in view all of the time.

Robert Antcliff was born April 23, 1944. He attended the Okemos Consolidated school and would have entered the third grade next fall. He is survived by the parents; 2 sisters, Mrs. Mary Cole and Mrs. Josephine McKenzie of Mason; a brother, Howard, of Camp Chaffee, Arkansas; and 2 grandparents, Mrs. Elsie Happe of Ionia and Frank Antcliff of Belding.

Funeral services were held at the Jewett chapel in Mason on Wednesday with burial in Chapel Hill Memorial Gardens, Lansing. Rev. David S. Evans of the Okemos Community church, officiated at the services. Six playmates of the drowning victim were pallbearers. They were: Danny Wilkins, Ward Rathbone, Leroy Austin, Leslie Trepor, Billy Stacy and James Vawter.

Voters Approve Bond Issue for Sanders School

At a special election held Tuesday night Sanders school voters in Leslie township approved a financing plan to improve their school.

By a vote of 19 to 5, the electors approved the raising of an extra 10 mills for school operating and an extra 7 mills to retire school debt. The vote to authorize the school board to issue $3,000 in bonds to pay for remodeling and improving the school was 18 to 5.

For 7 years the Sanders school on Tuttle road, has been closed with the pupils being transported to Leslie. This spring when the Leslie school board issued its consolidation edict, Sanders voted 25 to 9 to reopen the school. The Leslie village school board declared that pupils would not be accepted from school districts which failed to approve a consolidation program.

It was necessary to raise the 10 mills for school operating, directors said, because state school aid does not follow the child the first year. After this next year the Sanders school will share in school aid, explained Director Hugh Hoskins, and the extra 10 mills will not be needed. Mrs. Gertrude Palmer is the moderator and George Covert is the treasurer of the district.

When the school was closed the enrollment had dwindled. Now it is up to 25.

Under the improvement program flush toilets will be provided. A septic tank will be installed. A small building will be erected to house an oil heating plant for the school. The floors will be refinished and the entire interior redecorated.

F. C. Anderson & Sons of Danville have the contract for the heating and plumbing. Russell Shaw of Leslie has the decorating contract.

Farmer Finds Pair of Bucks

Charles Davis of Onondaga saw a pair of buck deer in a field with Holstein heifers Monday.

Davis was working in a hay field. As he came up to a fence he looked across at a herd of young heifers in an adjoining field. Among the heifers were 2 buck deer.

The deer looked at Davis a minute and then loped off to the John Stimer woods at the other side of the pasture.

County Board Is Due Monday

Members of the Ingham board of supervisors are due in Mason Monday for a regular meeting.

On the schedule are reports of a special committee on Lansing's proposed city-county building and a report of a special committee which has conferred with Attorney General Frank Millard.

Lansing supervisors want the county to go along on a city-county building, with the county putting up enough money to cover the cost of housing all Lansing county agencies under the same roof as city departments.

In June a special committee was named to confer with the attorney general. The board sought clarification of the attorney general's legal opinion covering the financing of a proposed expansion at the county infirmary. The attorney general held that neither the social welfare board nor the supervisors has the right to appropriate tax money or fund balances to a building fund beyond $26,000 a year. The county has $256,000 in a building fund for the infirmary. Already spent is $228,000 from such a fund for improvements to and remodeling of the tuberculosis sanatorium.

See Frank Guerrierio for a police insurance policy. Only $16 for 3 years.

Court to Decide Jeep Ownership

City Attorney Howard McCowan informed the council Monday night that on August 19 the circuit court will decide whether or not the city can keep its Jeep.

The city bought a Jeep last winter. After it had been in use for several months Thomas A. Wilkins of the Wilkins Motor Sales of Owosso made a demand that the city surrender it. In fact, he started replevin action and Sheriff Willard P. Barnes seized the Jeep. Mason got it back by posting a bond.

Wilkins claims that Mason Barras of Lansing, who sold the Jeep to the city, used Wilkins credit to buy 5 Jeeps. Wilkins declares that the Jeeps were bought through him by Barras for delivery to the Lansing board of education. Instead of delivering them to the school board, Wilkins insists, Barras sold them elsewhere, the one to Mason.

McCowan pointed out that the city bought and paid for the Jeep in good faith and that in his opinion Wilkins must look to Barras for satisfaction, not to the city.

Because a municipality does not need a certificate of title for the procuring of an automobile license, Mason does not have a certificate to show ownership.

Council Aims Ordinances at Bees and Bikes

Bookkeepers Get Chance To State Case Before Ordinance Is Adopted

Mason councilmen want to regulate bees, and children riding bicycles.

At Monday night's session Councilman Ralph Strope had 2 ordinances ready for adoption. One would regulate the keeping of bees within the city, and in certain cases prohibit such keeping. The other would force every owner of a bicycle to procure a yearly license at a fee of 25c.

The bicycle ordinance would make it illegal for any person to give another a ride on the handlebars or a ride on the rumble seat behind. Neither could a bicycle rider carry a package if the carrying would prevent him from having both hands on the handlebars. Another section would force bike riders to always travel single file.

Strope declared that passage of the ordinance would be a safeguard against theft and provide yearly lessons in bicycle safety.

Councilman Alton Stroud asked what prompted Strope to have the proposed ordinance prepared. Strope did not reply to the question beyond stating that several other cities have such ordinances.

Under the ordinance those who violated it would be subject to fines of $10 or could be sent to jail for 10 days, or the police could impound their bikes for 90 days.

Bees Are Discussed

The proposed ordinance on bees would prohibit any resident keeping or harboring bees in a hive less than 200 feet from the dwelling of another, unless written consent of neighbors was secured.

Violators of the ordinance would be liable to fines up to $100 or could be made to serve 90 days in jail, or they could get both.

Councilmen said they did not want to interfere with the keeping of bees except when they become a specific nuisance.

Councilman Stroud asked that introduction of the ordinance be held up until July 21 to permit bookkeepers to state their case.

City Engineer Walter E. Zimmer brought up the matter of the proposed issuance of $70,000 in revenue bonds to finance a new digester and a sludge-drying bed at the disposal plant. At a previous meeting he said that the digester is inadequate for a drying bed, and that the sludge would dry quicker out from under the glass. The city built the 65x60 greenhouse in 1930 at a cost of $3,500. It never should have been built, Plant Operator Ross Richmond said.

Received was a petition for curb and gutter on Hall boulevard. The petition was referred to the budget director, Julius Schmeichel. Mayor C. H. Hall indicated that the job can probably be included in next year's budget.

Francis Olney, assistant operator at the disposal plant, was granted a $200 raise, from $2,600 to $2,800 a year. The raise was promised when Olney was hired, the councilmen said.

3 Youngsters Go to Hospital For Polio Care

Polio struck Mason and Leslie homes again during the past week.

In the polio ward of the East unit of Sparrow hospital, Lansing, are Janice Simons, 3 1/2, Mason; Judy Sunderland, 4, Leslie; and Kathryn Corden, 3, Leslie.

The Simons girl is in an inhalator with her back and legs affected. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Simons, 420 Randolph. She was first taken sick Saturday with what appeared to be the flu. Her condition worsened Sunday. On Monday a doctor was called. Tuesday he had the girl taken to the Sparrow hospital where the diagnosis of polio was confirmed.

Condition of the Sunderland child was reported as good with no serious paralysis indicated. She fell sick July 1. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sunderland of Wright road, Leslie.

Kathryn Corden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Corden. A Leslie doctor saw the sick child Tuesday and recognized polio symptoms. The diagnosis was confirmed by a Lansing specialist.

In all 3 of the families there are other children who have not been sick.

Judy Sunderland has 2 brothers and a sister, Curry Adam, 3, Ruth Ann, 2, and George Riley, 1 month old. Janice Simons has 2 brothers, Donald, 7, and Rickley, 5. There are 2 other children in the Corden family.

Rosemary Spalding, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Spalding, 5370 North Okemos road, was taken to the polio ward at Sparrow Monday but was removed Thursday when doctors decided she had a severe case of rheumatic fever instead of polio.

Have You Met?

Mr. and Mrs. John Diener and children who live at 121 Monroe street? The Dieners who came to Mason from Columbia City, Indiana, have 2 children, John, Jr., who is 7, and Terre, a daughter, who is 2. John, Jr., has been sick with rheumatic fever since the family moved to Mason 2 weeks ago.

Diener is employed in the shoe department at Schmidt's. He had worked in the Flox department store in Columbia City for 6 years. Both Mr. and Mrs. Diener attended school in Bellefontaine, Ohio. The family usually attends the Methodist church.

Grading Crews Start Work on Widening I27

Interurban Right of Way Is Smoothed Down for Carrying Highway Traffic

Grading crews started moving the landscape around on US-127 north of Mason last Thursday.

They have cut and dragged big trees away. They are clearing the brush and taking off the top dirt. After a Consumers gas main is relocated near the south end of the job, the bulldozers and big graders will start hitting deep. The gas main relocation held up the grading Wednesday.

All the dirt needed is right there on the job in the old interurban right of way. The interurban fills made 40 years ago to carry electric trains are being

Workmen Are Needed

As grading operations reach full speed, more men will be needed by the contractor on the US-127 widening. Foremen are now taking applications.

William J. Muelenbeck of Saginaw has the grading contract for the 4 miles of widening between Pryor road and Holt and on the Mason by-pass. The Sargent Construction Co. of Saginaw has the paving on both jobs. The by-pass is being by-passed until the widening job is well underway. The completion date on the widening is this fall. The by-pass does not have to be done until next year.

Traffic is being maintained while the widening is being done. The present pavement is carrying the traffic in both directions. When the new 2-lane strip is in use the present pavement will be rebuilt. On the south end the rebuilding will be on a new grade.

Roe Bridger is the foreman of the drainage crew now at work. The main grading crew will be on the job within a few days.

The state highway department has assigned Edward McKeon to handle the field engineering on the grading job.

School Officers Will Be Elected By Monday's Vote

With the exception of Lansing and East Lansing, school elections in Ingham county will be held Monday. Lansing and East Lansing electors have already voted.

At Mason, Haslett, Okemos and Webberville, as well as in primary districts, the elections are of the town meeting type. Holt, Leslie, Stockbridge, Williamston, Ingham Township Agricultural and Alameda Township Unit use the registration plan. Under that system nominations are made by circulating petitions, or by writing in names on printed ballots.

At Mason the nominating is done from the floor. The Mason meeting is set for 8 o'clock at the school.

Terms of Secretary Charles A. Densmore and Trustee Raymond H. McLean at Mason expire. Densmore has told other members of the board he does not intend to accept nomination or election again. McLean has expressed his willingness to serve again if his services are demanded.

Ray Perkins and Dr. R. R. DeMartin have both been mentioned as prospective candidates for the post now held by Densmore.

At Dansville (Ingham Township) David Diehl is unopposed for a 3-year term as trustee. There are 3 candidates for the vacancy caused by the departure of C. I. Riehnner from the district. Gilbert Glover, Charles Weeks and Harold Wing are the 3 candidates for the vacancy.

Lawyer Remodels Home for Office

Oscar J. Hood has bought and is remodeling the former Bertha Slaughter home on East Maple for a law office. He and Mrs. Hood will also make their home there.

Mr. and Mrs. Hood have lived at their present home, 423 West Ash, since 1920. He has occupied his present offices in the Harrison building since 1935.

It will be several weeks yet, according to the Mason attorney, before he moves his office to the new location.

Justice of the Peace Roy W. Adams occupies part of the Hood suite. He intends to take over the entire lease. He said he may set aside a room for the sale of used books.

Mrs. Hankerd Enjoys Life at 101

Surrounded by her 6 children, 5 daughters and a son, Mrs. Patrick Hankerd, the former Sarah Ann Birney, celebrated the 101st anniversary of her birth at the Hankerd homestead at Pleasant lake last week. Her birthday fell on Monday, July 7, but on account of her daughter's teaching duties, the family gathered at the old home during the closing days of last week for the family reunion which for years has been an event of that memorable day.

Mrs. Hankerd was born July 7, 1851, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Birney, who were among the early settlers of Bunker Hill township. The Birneys arrived in 1810. Their daughter, Sarah Ann, was married to Patrick Hankerd of Henrietta in 1872. They had 8 children. Two have died. Those with her last week included her son, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Vincent T. Hankerd of Highland Park, 5 daughters, Sisters Marion, Ferndale; Scholastica of Saint Augustine, Kalamazoo; and Rita, of Nazareth college, Kalamazoo; all 3 of St. Joseph's Order of Nazareth at Kalamazoo; also Jane who remains at home with her mother and Helen who resides at the nearby Hankerd hotel at Pleasant lake.

A granddaughter, Miss Marion Hankerd of Washington, D. C., came home for the occasion.

On Sunday the day before her 101st birthday, Mrs. Hankerd attended church at Saints Cornelius and Cyprinus as is her custom. She was accompanied by Rev. F. Hankerd and the 3 nuns who received their early religious training at that church and school and her other daughters.

Patrick Hankerd was among the most prominent citizens of Jackson county. He was elected to the state legislature of 1883 and again in 1885. Soon after that he developed the beach properties along the east and south shores of Pleasant lake. A summer hotel, a dancing pavilion, baseball diamonds, a golf course, bowling alleys, tennis courts and many other facilities were provided for the transient guests and for the many who leased land on which cottages were erected. Mr. Hankerd died 41 years ago, since which time the widow and her daughters have operated the properties.

On a beautiful site on the road which runs between Pleasant lake and its sister Bateese lake stands the handsome brick dwelling erected by Michael Hankerd, father of Patrick, in 1856. Handmade brick from kilns located about a mile north of the structure were used. The mortar with which the walls were laid is stout enough for another century. Surrounded by huge locust trees, the Hankerd home has long been a landmark and center of hospitality in that section.

Patrick was 11 years old when the house was built. He used a slab of shingle on which he noted bricks to the masons who laid them. When the bricklayers had finished his father lacked sufficient funds with which to pay them. Mrs. Hankerd related Monday: No money came in to meet the debt until the sheep were sheared the following spring. It was then that the 12-year-old lad was sent on foot to Munith, several miles away, to hand the masons the remainder due them—$7.00.

Patrick was 3 when his father came to settle and clear up the farm. He spent the remainder of his lifetime there. Mrs. Hankerd went to the farm immediately following her marriage and thus has lived in the home for 80 years. She enjoys excellent health, retains remarkable possession of her faculties, still exudes a rare personality and enjoys company. Scores of messages from friends and acquaintances accumulated over the years came to her during the past week and many old friends went in person to extend congratulations and good wishes.

Registrations Set New Mark For Election

Election Board Increases Ballot Printing Order For All County Precincts

Registration drives conducted by political parties, patriotic groups, automobile dealers and others paid off. People stood in line all day Monday and late at night to register. That was the deadline.

The number of registrations swamped township and city clerks. In Lansing township some 1,500 new voters appeared to register. The increase in the registration lists in the cities of Lansing and East Lansing and the township of Meridian is startling. They came in so fast, officials said, that precinct totals have not yet been computed.

Under the law the county election board must provide 25% more ballots than were cast at the same election 4 years before. But election officials fear that won't be enough this year. Election interest 4 years ago was light. More votes were cast in 1950 than in 1948, so those figures formed the base for the ballot printing order. Now with new registrations establishing a record, the printing order has been revised again.

Where voting machines are used, as in Lansing, the only paper ballots provided are for the use of absent voters. Because of the demand of soldiers to participate in the primary and the number of voters who expect to be on vacation, the election board has doubted the absent voter ballot order for Lansing.

Delivery Date Advanced

Just before adjournment the legislature advanced the delivery date on ballots to July 16, which is 20 days before the August 5 election. Heretofore the delivery date has been 10 days before election.

In Ingham county the ballots will be ready for wrapping Friday and Saturday. Partisan ballots are being finished Thursday, with the non-partisan ballots scheduled for running Friday and Saturday.

Partisan ballots must go through the presses 4 times in order to rotate the names of candidates and to imprint the ballots with the number of delegates to be chosen, and to number and perforate the ballots.

Non-partisan ballots only have to be run through the presses twice, once for rotating names and the other for numbering. On non-partisan ballots there are the names of 5 candidates for the 2 posts of circuit court commissioners. The names of Probate Judge John McClellan and Robert M. Montgomery will not be printed on the ballots at the primary because if there are only 2 candidates both would be nominated regardless of how many votes each received. Both candidates will have their names on the November ballots.

Had there been only 4 instead of 5 candidates for circuit court commissioner there would have been no need for holding a primary election for non-partisan judicial offices. Now 1 of the candidates will be eliminated August 5.

Sunoco Station Will Be Rebuilt

Mason's main west side intersection will have a new look. The Sun Oil Co. has bought additional property, and will entirely rebuild its present station.

The oil company owns property to the south of the present station. It recently bought from Richard Ferris 2 lots and the dwelling east of the station. The house will be moved to the east lot with the west lot being used to expand the site for the new station. The present gas station will be torn down and one of the most modern will replace it, a station with additional driveways and with greasing and other servicing equipment.

The state highway department had previously given its consent for construction of the drives leading from US-127. On Monday night Mason's city council added its approval for both Cedar and Columbia drives. Work on the new station will start in 45 days. It was learned at the Jackson office of the company.

Richard Hayhoe leases the station from the Sun Oil Co. He will also have the lease on the new station, Sun Oil officials said.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferris have bought from Lawrence Simpson the dwelling at 502 West Columbia. They intend to move within a week.

Because a bird chose a dangerous place to perch Monday afternoon the firemen had to make a run to put out a grass fire.

Firemen made a run Sunday afternoon out South Barnes to put out a grass fire.

Flaming Bird Falls Into Dry Grass

Because a bird chose a dangerous place to perch Monday afternoon the firemen had to make a run to put out a grass fire.

A sparrow alighted on utility wires leading to a transformer at the Park street well. With one foot on the high tension line and the other on the lightning arrester, the bird burst into flame. The circuit was shorted, power stuttered momentarily and

Grading Crews Start Work on Widening I27

Interurban Right of Way Is Smoothed Down for Carrying Highway Traffic

Grading crews started moving the landscape around on US-127 north of Mason last Thursday.

They have cut and dragged big trees away. They are clearing the brush and taking off the top dirt. After a Consumers gas main is relocated near the south end of the job, the bulldozers and big graders will start hitting deep. The gas main relocation held up the grading Wednesday.

All the dirt needed is right there on the job in the old interurban right of way. The interurban fills made 40 years ago to carry electric trains are being

Workmen Are Needed

As grading operations reach full speed, more men will be needed by the contractor on the US-127 widening. Foremen are now taking applications.

William J. Muelenbeck of Saginaw has the grading contract for the 4 miles of widening between Pryor road and Holt and on the Mason by-pass. The Sargent Construction Co. of Saginaw has the paving on both jobs. The by-pass is being by-passed until the widening job is well underway. The completion date on the widening is this fall. The by-pass does not have to be done until next year.

Traffic is being maintained while the widening is being done. The present pavement is carrying the traffic in both directions. When the new 2-lane strip is in use the present pavement will be rebuilt. On the south end the rebuilding will be on a new grade.

Roe Bridger is the foreman of the drainage crew now at work. The main grading crew will be on the job within a few days.

The state highway department has assigned Edward McKeon to handle the field engineering on the grading job.

School Officers Will Be Elected By Monday's Vote

With the exception of Lansing and East Lansing, school elections in Ingham county will be held Monday. Lansing and East Lansing electors have already voted.

At Mason, Haslett, Okemos and Webberville, as well as in primary districts, the elections are of the town meeting type. Holt, Leslie, Stockbridge, Williamston, Ingham Township Agricultural and Alameda Township Unit use the registration plan. Under that system nominations are made by circulating petitions, or by writing in names on printed ballots.

At Mason the nominating is done from the floor. The Mason meeting is set for

Mrs. Anna May Lyman Dies in Albany

A woman who gained fame as a Hollywood script writer and an editor of women's pages died in Albany, N. Y., July 3. She was Mrs. Anna May Lyman, 80. In her childhood in Mason she was May Acker, although her name was Hillton. Her stepfather was Harvey Acker.

Mrs. Lyman's parents were John and Chloe Bortle Hillton. Mrs. Lyman was born in Lansing. Her father was drowned in the Grand River in Lansing. The mother and infant daughter came to Mason. Here the mother married Harvey Acker, stone mason and contractor. Many of the Acker buildings still stand after three-quarters of a century.

Anna May Hillton (Acker) attended Mason high school and in her late teens married Harry Padlock, son of a prominent Mason family. The marriage was of brief duration. After the divorce Mrs. Padlock left for the east to enter medical college at Syracuse University where she spent 3 years in study. Her marriage to Dr. Charles A. Covell, a pioneer in X-ray research, interrupted her medical career. Dr. Covell died a few years later.

Prominent in Syracuse society circles, Mrs. Covell, of active and searching mind, found social duties monotonous and turned to artistic lines. Her first writings were the product of watching the childish activities of her 2 young sons and were printed in Syracuse newspapers. Public response was such that the author, then near the mid-thirties, was asked by editors to furnish more copy. A series, "Vignettes of Syracuse" followed and Mrs. Covell established a following. Thus began a writing career which endured for the remainder of her long life.

Moving to New York, she procured the post of editor of the women's pages of the American Press Association, later sold to a Chicago syndicate. The APA served weeklies and small dailies throughout U. S. A. and Canada.

A noted facet of her mind was that of a phenomenal memory. She would stroll along Fifth avenue glancing in fashionable shop windows and return to her office to write a weekly column on current fashions, not having touched pencil to pad. She carried none; always she carried her notes in her auburn-haired head.

Also, her weekly duties included a series of bedtime stories that were popular with children. When APA was sold to the Chicago syndicate Mrs. Covell was offered the post of women's editor there, but she determined instead to remain in New York and free lance. This, after a brief opening struggle for recognition, she did with unusual success, publishing fact and fiction in newspapers and magazines. Later, after her marriage to Olin L. Lyman, December 5, 1918, she evolved the plot for the motion picture "The Whistle," starring William S. Hart, the Paramount star.

It was as May Wilmoth that Mrs. Lyman was known to film and to a wide reading public. For 15 years Mr. and Mrs. Lyman resided in Albany.

Besides the husband, Mrs. Lyman is survived by 2 sons, Charles A. Covell of Detroit and Edwin V. Covell, Flushing, N. Y.

Funeral services were held in Albany, July 5, with burial in Albany Rural cemetery on the old Troy (Revolutionary) road.

It is an ordinary 2-gun western, but this piece was an industrial theme introducing steelworkers of Pennsylvania. This old "stunt"—it was seen in Mason—had a successful international run. Subsequently, many other stories and articles by May Wilmoth's pen were printed. Of late years sickness had prevented her further work.

Emory Colby will be the guest of honor at a picnic Saturday evening. The picnic, planned by members of the county school superintendent's office, will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Stroud. Colby is retiring as attendance officer after 15 years of service.

Louisa Guenther Dies at Home

Miss Louisa Guenther, 83, died at her home at 2668 College road, Holt, Tuesday. She had been sick 2 years.

Miss Guenther was born November 25, 1868, in Germany. She was the daughter of Michael and Margaret Guenther. In 1873 she came to the United States with her parents, and settled on the farm where she lived until her death.

She is survived by 1 brother, Ben, of Holt; and 3 sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Holt of California, Mrs. Minnie Moses of Lansing, and Mrs. Emma Biechheimer of Holt.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. at the Ball-Dunn funeral home, Rev. R. L. Norton, officiating. Burial will be at Maple Ridge cemetery, Holt. Lewis Weiland, Martin Allen, Harry Box, Richard Andrews, Gail Thorburn and George Thorburn will be the pallbearers.

Suit Over Acres May Be Settled By Sale of Land

Judge Marvin J. Salmon adjourned court at Mason Tuesday to give time for litigants to reach a settlement out of court.

Clifton S. Swift and wife of Onondaga brought suit against Mrs. Hazel Hunter and Mrs. V. L. Morrison. Swift owns 40 acres in the NW 1/4 of the NE 1/4 of Section 11, Onondaga. There is no right of way to it. For many years he has gone across the land now owned by the sisters. Annis road leads up to the land.

Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Morrison a few months ago padlocked the gate. They offered Swift the use of the key if he would call at the house each time and return it there. That wasn't satisfactory to Swift as the house is down the road a piece from the gate.

After much of the testimony had been taken at the trial the parties conferred. Swift offered to sell his 40 acres to Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Morrison. They have made a down payment and have 90 days in which to complete the deal.

O. J. Hood of Mason, with Claude J. Marshall of Lansing as counsel, represented Swift. Lloyd D. Parr of Lansing represented the defendants.

Lansing Farmers Show Interest in Local Operations

Members of the Lansing Farmers club on a tour Monday evening visited 2 Mason farms. They stopped at the Cow Emens farm and the Carlyle Waltz farm on West Columbia.

Emens specializes in Hampshire hogs and Holstein cattle. His dairy herd is one of the best in the county and he recently built a new dairy barn. The visitors reached the farm at milking time.

At the Waltz farm the visitors inspected the barn, saw hay-drying and corn-drying installations and watched Waltz demonstrate his new $5,000 combine. Waltz has a dairy herd and is one of the county's most successful wheat and corn growers. He also raises many hogs.

Francis Platt of Mason, as chairman of the program for the Lansing club, had charge of the tour.

Following the inspection of the farms the Lansing club members and guests, 60 in all, were served supper at the Mason Methodist church.

Professor George Brown, head of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State college, presided at the program following the dinner. Platt introduced

LETTERS to the Editor

Desperate in Love I am just passing through on my way to Atlanta, but I am coming back for her.

There are many rumors about the home folks but how can they truly say she did them any wrong. It's not what the neighbors say, but what you believe. I've known this girl for 20 years. All the wrong she did was to live with her husband. This girl is tops. There isn't any kind of work she wouldn't do to help you. Sometimes she wears overalls and shirt; sometimes a dress. She loves children, especially her son.

My girl may get drunk once a year and it's about time for her to cut loose again. So you good home folks, give her this paper, for I love her and want her for my wife.

To you, my darling, I am sending your snapshot in care of the Ingham County News. Maybe you'll read this and know that I want you and your boy. Please don't marry. Give me a chance. I've waited all these years. Honey, there just isn't anyone like you. You told me, "Look, but I can't find you. Please give me a chance, won't you?"

I won't bother you if you marry — if he makes you happy. But I am coming back, and if you aren't married I am going to take you and the boy, as I love you both. Your happiness means everything to me.

I can't make you love me; I only wish that I could. Please answer this.

DESPERATE IN LOVE The Other Side of the Case You published an article in your July 3 issue, "Palmy results in suit"—regarding our legal case against the Sterling Insurance Co. over a health and accident income policy issued to Orin W. Voss, Dansville.

For the benefit of other policyholders who are interested I would like to point out some misleading statements in the article as it appeared in your paper.

Since the first claim was entered against the policy in July, 1950, we have had trouble collecting any benefits. The Michigan state insurance commission handled our complaint at one time. Then—as misstated in the article—in October, 1950, the company informed us it had cancelled the policy.

This was not for non-payment of premium; but because the company refused to accept the premium mailed to it—although the company cashed our personal check. They refunded the money with a notice that they would accept no further claims against the policy and were cancelling said policy. Their stand was that Mr. Voss was affected with a chronic ailment—a fact that 3 doctors have denied.

Then it came out that because Mr. Voss was able to occasionally attend church services and go to his barber shop on days he felt stronger that they considered him able to work part time; also a fact that friends and neighbors know to be untrue.

Due to the circumstances and the claim service we had received, and the flow of mail concerning various clauses of our policy, we felt justified in starting a legal action to collect what we were justly entitled to collect as claim benefits under said policy we had been paying premiums on and which we had taken out in good faith.

Our stand is that of any policyholder of any policy. We never hesitated to pay premiums and feel that the company should pay the honest claims against that policy instead of looking for those legal loopholes which allow them to deny payment of claims and even cancel the policy.

This manner of handling of claims, etc. has caused undue worry and strain on Mr. Voss and aggravated a poor heart condition all at a time when doctors say "Don't worry."

The outcome of this was that the case never went before a judge and jury as the company offered to make a substantial cash settlement out of court which we accepted. So the case was withdrawn.

We appreciate this opportunity to state our side of this case since we have had several inquiries from friends about the article as it appeared in the Ingham County News last week.

Another Cactus I was reading of the cactus that Mr. and Mrs. Gabel of Phillips road have that is blooming. I always enjoy reading of special plants.

I have an oleander bush that we brought here from Eagle Pass, Texas, in 1947 and this year it has bloomed out with a lovely pale pink blossom cluster. I have it in a galvanized tub with a dwarf lemon which is only 10 inches high and blossoms out every year in the late summer or early fall. I keep these plants outdoors until frost comes.

We also brought from Texas a piece of pear cactus that same year and now it has 7 pieces growing from it and more are coming.

Rain Delays Harvesting of Wheat

While Tuesday's showers provided scarcely enough rain to wet the dust, they did delay combining of wheat.

Hot weather the last two weeks has ripened wheat fast. Much of it is ready now for the binder, but there are few binders left. For combining, another few days are needed for most fields. If the weather dries out Thursday and Friday, combining will be started. By next week the harvest should be in full swing. Dee Bray of the Mason Elevator Co. and F. C. Balderson, who has the former Farmers Elevator, agree.

There is as much acreage as last year. Many farmers say the yields will run lower.

Both Mason elevators are in readiness for the harvest. Their own storages are cleaned out and grain cars are available for shipment, the managers said.

Last week federal officials lifted the support price to $2.26 for No. 1 wheat in Ingham. The previously announced price was $2.23.

Ralph Glynn, chairman of the Ingham PMA, is urging farmers to store their grain on their farms.

Wheat marketed during the 6-year period 1946-51 brought an average of 35c per bushel less at or near harvest time in August than when sold 5 to 10 months later, Glynn said.

"This means," Glynn pointed out, "that growers in position to store their grain to avoid dumping their crop on the market at harvest time have a good chance to come out ahead. It is to help farmers avoid the low prices and the transportation and storage difficulties that result from the frequently season dumping that Commodity Credit Corporation farm storage loans are available. This program provides loans to producers on their stored grain, permits the producer to market his grain on which he has a loan if the market price goes higher than the loan value, and permits the producer to deliver his stored grain to the Commodity Credit Corporation in repayment of the loan if the market price is less than the loan value at time of maturity.

"Purchase agreements, designed for growers who do not need loans, permit the producer to earmark any specified amount of his stored wheat for sale to CCC at the support price. Under the agreement, the producer is free to market his grain as he desires so that he can take advantage of any increase in market price during the period of the agreement. The wheat is not mortgaged in a purchase agreement.

"Wheat growers who desire to do so also may obtain CCC guaranteed loans to buy or construct their own storage facilities. This is particularly recommended in areas where commercial warehouse grain storage space is frequently filled or not available."

Stone Wall Stops Car at Cemetery

Johnny Davis, 31, of Camp Atterbury, Indiana, pilled his car against the stone arch at the entrance to the cemetery at midnight Saturday.

Davis escaped with cuts about his head and bruises on his legs and arms. Alta Pawamo, riding with Davis, was not injured.

Davis and his companion were driving into town from West Columbia. Davis didn't notice the turn at the corner of Columbia and State. He kept on going east until he jumped the curb at the cemetery entrance and then hit the wall.

Neighbors turned in a fire alarm, summoned the sheriff and called an ambulance. The firemen were not needed. Neither was the ambulance. City Officers Emory Colby and Dallas Langham took Davis to the Mason General hospital to have his wounds dressed and then to the county jail where he was held until Monday on a reckless driving charge. At first he pleaded not guilty and trial was set for July 10. Later in the day he changed his plea to guilty, paid fine and costs of $30 and was released.

Leslie News

School Election Will Be Monday

The annual school election for the Leslie public school will be held Monday, July 14, from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. at the G. A. R. hall.

Harold Hamilton is a candidate to succeed himself on the school board for the 3-year term. No other applications have been received. One proposition will be placed before the voters for approval or rejection: "Shall the Leslie board of education be authorized to transport children living within the district?" Parents have been requesting bus transportation for children living some distance from the school but within the Leslie district and with outlying districts now joining the Leslie No. 1 district. The board needs this authorization.

The annual school meeting will convene at the high school at 8 p. m. on Monday.

Tuition Rates Are Reduced

Tuition rates for the coming school year have been reduced from $122.75 to $78.23 for the upper 6 grades; 7 through 12, from $86.23 to $48.39 for the elementary grades. The operating cost per capita is $179.01, and the cost above the tuition charge is received from state aid, sales tax and other funds.

The $100,000 bond issue for the construction of the new elementary school has been approved by the Municipal Finance commission of Lansing, and bids for their purchases will be opened by the Leslie board of education at 8 p. m. on June 24.

Bids on the contracts for construction of the new elementary building will be opened by the Leslie board of education at 8 p. m. on July 29.

Joyce Binkley Becomes Bride Of Donald Bell

Yellow gladioli and palms with candelabra banked the altar of the Grovenburg church as Miss Joyce Binkley and Donald Arlen Bell spoke their wedding vows during the double-ring ceremony Saturday, July 5. Rev. Floyd Wallace read the 2 o'clock ceremony as the bride was given away by her father.

Joyce is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Binkley, Grovenburg road, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bell of Holt.

For her wedding, the bride chose a cap sleeved full-length gown of Chantilly lace over tiers of net and taffeta, with matching mitts, and a Peter Pan collar. Her fingertip veil was held by an illusion tiara. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and carnations.

Floyd Bell, Jr., was his brother's best man. Mrs. Charles Smith, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown of blue chiffon was styled like the bride's gown, and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations.

The bridesmaids, Miss Bonny Rice and Miss Beverly Leonard, wore identical gowns of orchid and pink chiffon and carried yellow roses and white carnations. "The flower girl, Janice Allen, cousin of the bridegroom, was dressed in yellow organdy and carried yellow roses.

Larry Smith, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Ushering was done by Robert Bell and Donald Thompson. Miss Bartlett McFadden of Lansing, an aunt of the bride, sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Beverly Notestine of Eaton Rapids.

A reception was held in the church parlors after the ceremony. The 5-tiered wedding cake, encircled by yellow daisies, was cut by Mrs. Dorothy Surato. Miss Lou Ann Bell and Miss Marilyn Bell presided at the punch bowl, which was made of ice, with yellow roses embedded beneath the ice.

Miss Marilyn Davis attended the guest book and those serving were Miss Marilyn Barrett, Miss Barbara Wood, Mrs. Harold Wilson, and Mrs. Hugh Angell.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Binkley chose a navy dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Bell wore an aqua dress with white accessories and yellow roses.

The couple will honeymoon in northern Michigan. They will be at home on Grovenburg road July 20.

Every-Shields Vows Repeated

Miss Shirley Shields became the bride of Raymond Every Thursday evening, July 3, at the farm home of Mr. Every's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Every. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Shields.

Rev. Loyd G. Caraway, pastor of the Mason Baptist church, performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock before an improvised altar banked with baskets of white lilies and delphinium.

For her wedding the bride chose a yellow street-length dress and she wore an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Every attended the couple. Mrs. Every wore a blue taffeta gown with a corsage of red roses and lilies.

Mrs. Shields wore a navy and white gown and Mrs. Every's dress was also navy. Both mothers wore gardenia corsages.

After the ceremony the couple greeted their guests at a reception. A three-tiered decorated cake centered the serving table, which was covered with a yellow cloth. Yellow tapers flanked the cake on either side. Punch was also served.

Fifty guests attended the wedding and reception. They came from Ohio, Lansing, Eaton Rapids, Charlotte and Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Every spent the week end in northern Michigan. They are now residing with his parents at 536 Every road where he is engaged in farming.

Akers-Hart Vows Spoken in Home Rites

Miss Marlene Lillian Hart and Pvt. Grover Akers, Jr., spoke their marriage vows Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stone of Harper road.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hart of Mason. Mr. Akers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Akers, Sr., also of Mason.

Rev. Raymond Norton, pastor of the Mason Methodist church, performed the double-ring ceremony before an improvised altar of white candelabra, palms and two baskets of ferns and white gladioli. Traditional wedding music was played for the nuptials.

Sandra Sue Hart and Judy Stone carried the rings to the altar on white satin pillows. Sandra wore a green organza dress and Judy's dress was lavender organza.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin styled with a lace yoke and a high neckline, with long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. Her train of orange blossoms held in place a finger-length veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies, pink roses and ferns.

Miss Muriel Hart of Lansing was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a gown of white net over yellow taffeta, and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, yellow roses and ferns.

Leo Stone, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. James Stone of Midland, also brother of the bridegroom, ushered the 43 relatives who attended to their seats.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hart selected a rose crepe dress with a lace bodice. She used white accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of white carnations and pink roses. Mrs. Akers wore a silk print sheer for the wedding, with straw-colored accessories. Her corsage was like Mrs. Hart's.

Wedding Reception Held
After the ceremony the newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception. A 3-tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells and a miniature bride and groom centered the lace-covered serving table. Pink roses encircled the base of the cake and it was flanked on either side by green tapers in crystal holders.

PVT. AND MRS. GROVER C. AKERS, JR.

Mrs. James Stone of Midland and Mrs. Henry Leato of Lansing, sister-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, respectively, cut and served the wedding cake and groom's cake. Mrs. S. W. Hart, sister-in-law of the bride, poured the punch.

Mrs. Paul Mudgett, II, another sister of the bride, presided at the guest register.

Trip to Upper Peninsula
The couple left on a wedding trip to the Upper Peninsula following the reception. For traveling Mrs. Akers chose a beige suit with navy accessories. The bridegroom is home on an 18-day leave from Fort Jackson, South Carolina. Upon his return he will report to Camp Stoneman, California.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Akers are graduates of Mason high school. He graduated in 1950 and she was graduated in June. Mrs. Akers plans to reside with her parents during the absence of her husband.

Auxiliary Has Junior Members

Due to the weather conditions, the outdoor meeting planned for Tuesday evening by Browne-Cavender American Legion Auxiliary, was held at the Legion Memorial building. A potluck supper preceded the program, which included the initiation of junior members and reports of Girls State.

Mrs. Grace Ankney, unit president, conducted a short service, including into membership 6 of the unit's 10 members. Those in the tiny lot class were Carolyn and Linda Pardee, the group from 7 to 11 years old was represented by Mary Ellen Pardee and Phyllis Jewett, while Patty Adams and Sharon Jewett became members of the 12 to 18 year old group.

Roberta Evans and Keith Mills, who recently attended the American Legion Auxiliary Girls State at Ann Arbor, gave reports of this event, dedicated to the teaching of Americanism and the privileges of citizenship. Girls State is divided into mythical cities and counties with government based on that of actual municipalities in Michigan. Political campaigns and elections are conducted, including the establishment of a legislature and the election of a governor.

Roberta Evans was a member of the legislature from her county while Keith served on the city council. The week's activities also included various addresses on careers for women by members of the faculty of the university.

Keith, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mills, was sponsored at Girls State by the Mason Lions club. Roberta, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Evans, was sent by Browne-Cavender American Legion Auxiliary.

Townsend-Swick Vows Exchanged

Miss Ivelle Swick of Sunfield became the bride of Bruce Townsend of Mason July 3. The 8:30 p. m. wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Tease of Eagle. Rev. Darrell Allen of the Pleasant Grove Nazarene church, Lansing, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Tease, wore a light blue suit and black and white accessories for the wedding. Her shoulder corsage was of white carnations and red roses.

Myron Townsend was his cousin's best man, and Mrs. Myron Townsend was the matron of honor. Mrs. Townsend wore a pastel blue suit with black and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations and red roses.

A reception at the Tease home was held following the ceremony. Wedding cake and punch were served from a lace-covered table. Summer flowers decorated the room.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Townsend, 618 Center street. He attended Ingham Township Agricultural school at Dansville and is employed by the Oldsmobile in Lansing. The newlyweds are making their home in Lansing.

Haslett Is Here For Big Game

Mason's Browne-Cavender post junior baseball team held its own in league play this week. Tuesday night Mason polished off Haslett 13-2 over at the bedside city. Wednesday night M. Moriah post of Lansing and Mason slugged it out to a 5-5 tie. Darkness settled in on the players and the game had to be called at the end of the seventh inning.

Jon Davis got back into pitching harness over at Haslett and came up with a 2-hit performance. The game was played in a drizzle and the field was sloppy, causing plenty of errors.

Mason's batting power was in full gear Tuesday. Coach Harold Hansen's boys rattled out a total of 11 hits. There were no extra-base smashes. Dick Thomas had a perfect day at the plate. He batted out 3 safeties in 3 trips to the plate. Bucky Phillips and Don Lyon each picked up 2 safe hits.

Mason Phys Giveaway
Wednesday night Mason came up with the sloppiest game on the record books this year. Fortunately for Mason M. Moriah played the same brand of ball.

In the second inning the Lansing team put together a single, 2 errors and a walk to score 1 run. Mason tied it up in the third when Larry Alberts walked, Bill Rumbles reached first on an error and then Alberts came on home when Thomas singled.

Mt. Moriah added another run in the fourth inning and 3 big runs in the fifth. Mason picked up 2 runs in the fifth to close the gap a little. In the first of the seventh Mason made its best bid. Rumbles walked, Thomas walked and Phillips reached first on a fielder's choice. All this happened with 2 men out. Then Jon Davis took the first pitch offered him and sent it screaming down the third base line for a 2-bagger and 2 runs. With the score tied at 5-5 at the end of the seventh the umpires called the game.

The chips will be on the table for Mason Thursday night. Haslett will be in town. Mason must get by the Lakers in order to move into the playoffs with the Lansing city champion. The winner of the county playoff will move into the state tourney.

The Lansing champion has not been determined. Post 12 and Michigan Bell post will square off Thursday night for the Lansing championship.

Mrs. Grace Parisian of Lansing and Roy Parisian, Betsy, Phil and Terry visited Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wiley and Helen Sunday.

Woman Captures Prisoner Fleeing From County Jail

Mrs. Blaine Kruse held a convict at bay last Thursday while Lieutenant Versile Babcock and Undersheriff Jack Voss slipped the cuffs on him.

The lieutenant had already halted another prisoner by firing a revolver shot over the man's head.

It was the shooting that alerted Mrs. Kruse. She saw the officer popping away in the direction of a man on the right bank of Sycamore creek near the city garage.

GUN WASN'T LOADED Smith was cowed by an unloaded rifle. Mrs. Kruse said she grabbed up a cartridge when she ran to the bedroom for the rifle. But she didn't have time to slip the cartridge into the chamber before Smith started up the steps.

Mrs. Kruse, who lives at 143 N. Jefferson, saw a man coming her way at a fast clip. She leaped back into her house, grabbed a 22 rifle from the bedroom and hustled back to the porch.

Undersheriff Voss and Lieutenant Babcock hurried up and snapped the handcuffs on.

Itailed on the creek bank by Babcock's shots was James Hufnagle, 19, Lansing. The bullet whizzed past Hufnagle. He sprawled onto the ground and stayed there until Babcock handcuffed him.

The prisoner who lost his freedom because of the vigilance of Mrs. Kruse was Robert Smith, 19, Mason.

Mrs. Frances Stevens, the mother of Mrs. Kruse, also had a part in the capture of the fleeing prisoner. When Mrs. Kruse saw what was up she shouted to her mother to keep an eye on Hufnagle while the daughter went for the rifle.

Trusty Is Overpowered Turnkey James Bowser at the jail was dispatched to fetch Hufnagle, Smith, Carl Brown, James Stebbins and Jay Flannigan from the cage on the second floor to the main floor.

Johnny Bonell pleaded guilty to a drunk charge when he appeared before Judge Adams on Saturday. He was given his choice of paying fine and costs of $12 or spending 10 days in jail.

Dean Bowlin of Lansing township pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery when he was taken before Judge Adams Monday. He paid fine and costs of $12 and was put on probation for 2 years.

Those traffic violation tickets reported as settled in Judge Adams' court the past week were:

Henry Tomlandel of Jackson was arrested by Deputy Don Haynes at Leslie on a reckless driving charge Saturday.

Sheriff's officers arrested Louis Long and Merta (Farmer) Kraft on Jessop road, Dansville, Sunday on a charge of drinking on a public highway.

Randolph Allen of Stockbridge, arrested by Deputies Neil Oakley and Glenn Drown at Stockbridge Saturday, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge when taken before Judge Adams. He paid fine and costs of $15.

Fay Robinson of Stockbridge was arrested on a charge of drunk driving Saturday. He entered a plea of not guilty when taken before Judge Adams Monday. The trial is scheduled for

Mason Naval Reservist Is Honorman at Great Lakes

Naval Reservist James M. Rickly, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Rickly, of Mason, received congratulations and a honorman certificate from Rear Admiral Francis P. Old, Commandant, Ninth Naval District, at the colorful graduation review for recruits last Saturday.

Rickly, a member of Organized Surface Division 9-101, Lansing, was graduated as honorman for his reserve recruit company, climaxing his 2-week "cruise" as a naval reservist at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. The 2-weeks "boot" training is an intensified version of the training given regular navy recruits in the 11-weeks "boot camp".

An honorman, Rickly was selected by his commanding officers and fellow company members. He was chosen as being outstanding in leadership, scholarship and military efficiency.

With his recruit "cruise" completed, Rickly will return to civilian life. Next year his 2-weeks tour of duty will be performed afloat, possibly on board one of the ships of the Great Lakes training squadron.

Conference Is Scheduled for Extension Women

Mrs. Annette Schaeffer, county home demonstration agent, issued an invitation today to Ingham county women to attend the annual homemakers' conference at Michigan State college, July 22-25. She said the conference, sponsored by the home demonstration staff of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service, is open to any Michigan woman.

On the agenda for the 4-day meeting is a well-rounded program of educational events. Classes on world affairs, family life, gardening, music, public speaking and leadership will be conducted during morning and afternoon sessions by Michigan State college faculty members. The program will be highlighted to a special 25th anniversary event. Plans have been made to recognize Michigan women who attended early Farm Women's Week, now changed to homemakers' conference. Television flashbacks will be used to compare homemaking methods of yesterday with modern methods, Mrs. Schaeffer said.

Listed on the agenda are such outstanding speakers as John Strohm, associate editor of Country Gentleman, who recently traveled in Russia, and Margaret Hickey, public affairs editor of Ladies' Home Journal. Mrs. Kathryn VanAken, state home demonstration leader in Illinois and Mary Barber of Battle Creek, food consultant with U. S. department of defense, will give talks during the conference. Special event of Thursday evening will be a talk, "Blueprint for Contentment," by Dr. Tennyson Guyer who has been called Ohio's Ambassador of Good Will.

Mrs. Schaeffer urges Ingham county women to contact her at the extension office to make arrangements to attend the conference. Cost for the 4 days is $20.45.

Delegates Report To Kiwanians

Glen Coon and J. B. Dean, delegates from the Mason Kiwanis club to the Kiwanis International convention in Seattle, gave their reports Tuesday night. The delegates told of the inspiring addresses at the convention. Both men with their wives made trips up into British Columbia, and visited Grand Coulee dam and the Canadian Rockies. At Tuesday night's meeting Al Rice told of the arrangements made with the Holt club for joint operation of a barbecue stand at the Ingham county fair.

WOMAN INJURES HAND

Mrs. Martha Wauvle of 323 East Columbia street caught her left hand in the wringer of her washing machine while washing clothes last Monday. Three fingers were crushed. She was taken to the Mason General hospital where the hand was dressed and she later returned to her home. Mrs. Fred Fry and Mrs. D. C. Stockton, neighbors of Mrs. Wauvle, helped her at the time of the accident. Mrs. Roy Rae and Mina Bravender stayed to care for her.

James Gardner Republican Candidate for Congress

Dear Fellow American: The time has come for us, as Americans, to re-establish the rights for which we stand—to re-assert our inalienable rights to human dignity, self-respect, self-reliance—to be again the kind of people who made America great.

Upon this philosophy and the following 10 points, I am basing my campaign for election to Congress in the 6th District (Republican):

- 1. A realistic, friendly but firm foreign policy. 2. A constitutional limit on federal taxes. 3. A return to morality, fidelity, and honesty in government. 4. The conservation of all natural resources. 5. A safe balance between military and domestic spending. 6. The preservation of state rights and limitation of the federal government to specific taxes. 7. A sound agricultural program free of present socialistic policies, and prevention of top soil erosion through lead water flood control. 8. A return to government based on fact, for the common good rather than political expediency. 9. A realization that there is no substitute for mutual cooperation and honest production of consumers' goods to attain real prosperity and the return to a sound national economy. 10. Finally, I believe that faith and unity are the hallmarks of America's future and the salvation of the civilized world—we must face the fact that a bankrupt nation offers no man security of any kind.

I invite you to join me in my efforts to put this philosophy and program into practice. I wish to express my gratitude now for any assistance you can give me. Sincerely, JAMES GARDNER Former Member of Michigan Legislature 816 Detroit Street Flint, Michigan

Detroit Is the Destination Of Extension Mystery Trip

One hundred twenty-five county extension women, intrigued by the mystery trip planned by the executive committee, spent Thursday in Detroit sightseeing. The women making the trip did not know their destination until they were on the bus enroute.

Chartered buses picked up passengers in Lansing, Miller Road, Holt, Mason, Dansville and Stockbridge and were on their way to Detroit by 9:45 a. m.

Highlight of the day for the women was being guests of the television program, "Cinderella Week End." A third of the seats in the studio had been reserved for the group. The show is an audience participation give-away contest and was a novel experience to many of the women.

The first stop of the day was at the Detroit News building. Those who made the trip saw the immense presses, the city room and all the equipment that goes to make up a modern metropolitan newspaper plant.

Before lunching in the cafeteria of the new Veterans Memorial building, the group was escorted to the top-story lounges and observation decks. They were able to see all of downtown Detroit in one panoramic view with the waterfront and Canada before them.

The afternoon program consisted of guided tours through Hudson's, one of the world's largest department stores. The four took them behind scenes to home and kitchen planning centers, special service departments and the household equipment and furnishing galleries.

Buses will start home with the women at 5:00 p. m., and they plan to stop somewhere enroute for their supper.

"Was the trip a success? Was it truly a mystery trip? Ask those who went," comments Mrs. Annette Schaeffer, Ingham county home demonstration agent.

Couple Wed in Howell Church

Miss Rosalee Arend of Howell and Vernon E. (Ray) Burr, of Northville spoke their wedding vows Saturday evening, June 21, in the First Presbyterian church, Howell. Rev. Walter A. Geske officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Arend of Howell. Mr. Burr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stanley of Northville. The couple stood before an altar banked with palms, assorted flowers and lighted candles. Mr. Arend gave his daughter in marriage. Mrs. Floyd Wilson played the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches. She was also accompanist for Miss June Knight, who sang "Because," "The Lord's Prayer" and "At Dawning."

The bride's gown was white slipper satin with a skirt of net over satin. The bodice featured a lace inset and long lace sleeves ended in points over the hands. Two lace panels adorned the front of the skirt, which extended into a chapel-length train. A Juliet cap held in place her fingertip-length veil and she carried a cascade arrangement of daisies and carnations with a pullout corsage of red rosebuds and stephanotis.

Mrs. Ben F. Arend, Jr., was her sister-in-law's matron of honor. She wore an orchid colored gown with a net overskirt, orchid mitts and a matching hat. Her bouquet was made up of pink daisies, carnations and seasonal flowers.

Mrs. Erma Hagerman of Okemos, sister of the bride, and Miss Jacqueline Hogan of Parshallville were bridesmaids. Both wore dresses of mint green satin with net overskirts. They also wore mitts and hats to match their gowns and carried arrangements of yellow daisies, carnations and seasonal flowers.

Benjamin F. Arend, Jr., brother of the bride, was best man.

MRS. VERNON E. BURR

Laurin Wigman of Holt, cousin of the bride, and Larry Hogan of Parshallville ushered the 100 wedding guests to their seats. Out-of-town guests came from Lansing, Mason, Muskegon, Northville, Greenville, Holt, Leslie, Okemos and Plymouth.

Mrs. Arend wore a purple suit dress with gray and white accessories to her daughter's wedding. Her shoulder corsage was made up of pink rosebuds and white carnations.

A circle of the church gave the wedding reception in the church parlors following the ceremonies. Cake, ice cream, coffee and minis were served.

Ontario Wedding Trip

TODAY'S Meditation

The Lord turned the captivity of Job, when he prayed for his friends. (Job 42:10.) Read Job 42:7-10 or James 5:16-20. The Book of Job deals with the problems of human suffering, especially suffering which seems unjust. Job was a God-loving man, but sorrow, loss, and suffering fell upon him with crushing blows.

Three of his friends come to study him and his calamity. They attempt to find the cause for his troubles. They agree that Job's trials must have come upon him because of personal sin, something wrong he has done but which he will not admit. Job ever asserts his purity of intentions and his freedom from sin.

Finally, Job comes to the place where he forgets himself and his sufferings and losses and takes pity on his would-be comforters. He prays for them. When he does this, he is released from his captivity, freed from his suffering.

Something always happens when one prays for others. The greatest blessings come to them and us when we forget ourselves in our concern for others. Our greatest prayers are our prayers for others.

PRAYER
Our Father, we desire so many things for ourselves. But help us to forget ourselves in the larger desire to see blessings bestowed upon the needy, the hungry, and the suffering in the world today. Release new powers of life to all through our concern for them. In Christ's name. Amen.

Korea should never have happened — Truman's war would not have started if the Administration had not been soft toward Communism.

Graft and corruption are the natural results of one party being in power too long.

High taxes are caused in part by waste and extravagance—but the Socialistic projects and the grafting proclivities of the gang in power are also responsible.

Inflation has stolen the life savings of millions—do you want more of the same?

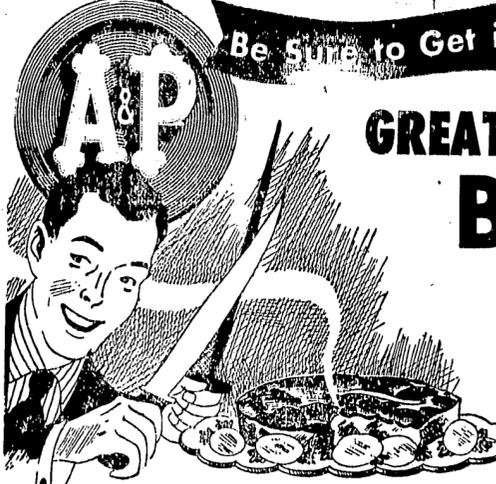

The foregoing are extracts from Mr. Clardy's regular radio broadcasts, heard each Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. on WJLS (Lansing) and WBBC (Flint).

Mr. Clardy is seeking the REPUBLICAN nomination for CONGRESS from this district.

Farmer Peck's Wife

This is the 208th column. Dishwashing brings inspiration. Anniversary of Mother and Dad, too.

This is an anniversary special! This week makes 4 years that I have been writing this...

At this stage it seems to me that I assumed a lot when I sent in the first copy...

Yes, we are extra happy and we have 2 healthy little girls but so do a million other people...

However simple or boring or entertaining or mediocre this is what comes to me ironing, hoeing and especially dishwashing.

Under the sink is filled with millions of unreadable blotches...

Everyone coming into this house goes just that pad. Who wants everyone reading about what comes from your innermost soul...

Two things guide me. Down on my knees asking God's blessing and help in saying what I should and looking at the picture of Mother and Dad...

It was just 35 years ago today when we went to live with them. So you see it's another anniversary and one that fills me with love and appreciation...

Oh, mother, time heals to a certain extent for we can talk of you and go to your grave without tears but down in us is a yearning and reaching for your hand to touch us...

Those of you who have her still living don't waste this time but be with your mother and do all you can. Store up precious memories and the way they look for if you don't already know it.

from experience, there will come a time when you will wish you had. Write a letter once a week!

I'm not a real writer. Just a sad little gal tonight sitting before her typewriter who started something that at times she doesn't know what to do with.

Speed Law Came Ahead of Autos

There were speed laws before there were automobiles and actually they are intended for protection and not just to form an excuse for making arrests.

"Speed laws and other traffic laws," Judge Adams stated, "are rules of safety which, if followed, prevent accidents and at the same time make motoring easier."

"The first speed law in this country was being enforced long before the motor vehicle was invented. It was passed in 1678 in the city of Newport, Rhode Island, when the citizens demanded action after a child was seriously injured by a galloping horse.

"Present day speed laws, like the original one passed in the 17th century, are essential precautionary measures based on common safety and common sense."

"Today there are more than 3 million licensed drivers in Michigan. Each of them accepted the responsibility of driving at a reasonable speed when granted a license. Those who disregard this responsibility are risking their privilege to drive. They are also risking their lives and the lives of others."

"Traffic records prove that speed is the No. 1 highway killer."

The Michigan Justices of the Peace association recently passed a resolution recommending that all judges adopt a court policy on speed under which any speeder found guilty of going double the speed limit (50 in a 25 zone, 60 in a 30 zone, 70 in a 35 zone, 80 in a 40 zone) would be placed on probation and required to not drive for at least 30 days.

Garden Project Meeting Planned

Four-H club members with vegetable or flower garden projects will meet Tuesday, July 8, at the 4-H club building at the fairgrounds in Mason for a garden day.

Club leaders will choose the best vegetable garden in each club for competition in the Lansing Lions tour July 23. The vegetable judging contest and judging trip to Michigan State college will also be discussed, according to Club Agent M. H. Avery.

The members and leaders will take lunches for a picnic at the park. An hour of recreation will precede a practice judging contest at 1:30.

Chesaning Holds Annual Showboat

The annual Chesaning Showboat started its 6-night spectacle Tuesday and will run through Sunday night with a program that is attracting bigger crowds than any previous year.

Connie Boswell, the 100-member chorus, the flanking professional acts with Miss Boswell, the amateur acts recruited locally have developed a show that has brought genuine approval from old time Showboaters, its backers declare.

Thursday night is Lansing and Owosso night, Friday is Bay City night, Saturday is for Flint, and Sunday is for Saginaw with mayors of those cities and other guest captains paying tribute to what Chesaning has produced.

Two Big Hits Due This Week at the Fox

"The famous 'Quo Vadis,' has been the feature film at the Fox Theatre this week. Thursday night, July 10, is the last night it will appear at the Fox. Moviegoers may see it at regular admission prices.

On the bill for Friday and Saturday, July 11 and 12, is a Judy Canova laugh hit, 'Oklahoma Annie.' This is the second color laugh hit by Judy, who is known as the queen of the cowgirls.

Famous Family is Back The famous 'Cheaper by the Dozen,' family is back in the Sunday and Monday feature at the Fox. 'Belles On Their Toes,' a sequel to the 'Cheaper by the Dozen' film will be shown to Fox moviegoers.

Jeanne Crain, Myrna Loy, Debra Paget, Jeffrey Hunter and Edward Arnold have the stellar roles and the supporting cast is headed by Hoagy Carmichael, Barbara Bates, Robert Arthur and Verna Felton.

'Belles On Their Toes' is based on the novel by the same authors, Frank and Ernestine Gilbreth, of 'Cheaper by the Dozen.' The story reveals the further adventures of the uproarious clan and tells what happens when the Gilbreth boys get growing pains and the girls discover romance.

'A Streetcar Named Desire,' the extraordinary play that won the Pulitzer Prize and the New York Drama Critics' Award in the course of its Broadway run, has been made into a motion picture. It will be seen at the Fox Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, July 15 and 16.

Starring Vivien Leigh, who created the lead role in London, and Marlon Brando, star of the New York version, the picture boasts the entire prize-winning New York cast. In addition, Elia Kazan, the talented Broadway and Hollywood director who staged the original, directed this picture.

This is that the forthcoming film will have all the elements of the great Broadway attraction. The gifted Tennessee Williams penned a touching, yet powerful work in 'A Streetcar Named Desire.' The story of a southern and Edward Arnold narrowly escape matrimony.

In their screen play, Phoebe and Henry Ephron have given 'Belles On Their Toes' a wider scope and more emotional punch than 'Cheaper by the Dozen.'

'Belles On Their Toes' has been rated as the great American family picture of the year by those who have seen advance previews of it.

Chief of Police Asks Speed Cut

Although it's lives that are important, failure to control speed is also costly in terms of money. Chief of Police Ralph Hall of the Mason police department commented in calling upon drivers to take it easy and save themselves and their cash. A speed control campaign is underway throughout the state.

"The cost of traffic accidents," Chief Hall said, "is high in terms of dollars and cents as well as in terms of lives lost. The worst part of it is that most accidents could be avoided if drivers would control speed and exercise other safe driving practices."

"The price of 13,616 lives lost in Michigan traffic during the past 10 years is incalculable. The monetary cost, based on wage loss, medical care, cost of insurance administration and property damage, is estimated at more than a billion dollars."

"Excessive speed is not the only cause of the high accident toll, but is regarded as public enemy No. 1 on the highways. Furthermore, speed often means the difference between life and death in accidents caused by other acts of carelessness and recklessness."

"Some persons never live to learn just how costly excessive speed really is. Many others learn at the expense of innocent persons' lives and painful injuries. "Courtesy, caution and common sense can save many lives. There is no reason why all drivers should not practice these virtues and help make our streets and highways safer. Take it easy."

Icebergs of glacial origin frequently carry rocks and earth for considerable distance across the sea as they float with ocean current and winds.

Representative Government

The United States of America is a republic, not a democracy, in spite of what some textbooks and some professors say. Under a republic the people govern themselves through elected representatives. In a true democracy the people themselves would represent themselves. They would not delegate power to city councilmen, township boards, boards of supervisors, legislators or congressmen. In practice that would be mob rule.

Yes, this is a republic with a representative government. The people delegate their authority. That's why Republicans met in convention in Chicago this week. That's why Democrats will meet in convention 2 weeks hence.

Party conventions are held to permit members of parties to choose their candidates. Because we don't understand that, or are intentionally misled, we insist on full participation whether or not we ever turn a hand for the party.

Down in Texas that was the basis of the dispute over delegates. Men and women who had never voted Republican, who actually denied party membership, insisted on naming delegates favoring the nomination of one candidate. They actually had no right to invade the province of another party. They had no right to insist on who a nominee of a party, in which they did not hold membership, would be.

The responsibility of the delegates at either convention is to nominate the candidate they feel is best fitted for the job, with the added consideration that such a candidate can be elected.

Because under the 2-party system the people do have the final say when the time comes. They have the choice between the candidates. Some cynics claim that such a choice is always a choice between the lesser of 2 evils; between bad and good, or between ordinary and good — not between the best and best.

Yet history shows that people usually do far better delegating their authority and working through those delegates and parties than they do by mob rule. At any rate, in this republic of the United States that's the system used. In either party, or in any of the minor parties, there is room for new members or for increased activity of nominal members. Representative government is just as essential there as at the polls on election day.

Representative government is in action now for party nominees for important state offices. Delegates to county conventions will be named at the August 5 primary. County convention delegates choose state delegates. State delegates choose candidates for attorney general, auditor general, state treasurer and secretary of state. Those men are as representative of Michigan, maybe moreso, than if they were nominated at party primaries.

Representative government is as responsive and as responsible as we make it.

When representative government fails it is because we as citizens fail to carry out our responsibilities under it.

A Cop on the Corner

Mason or the county could keep traffic moving orderly through Mason's west side by having an officer direct traffic at the corner of Lansing and Ash streets.

US-127 is Michigan's Main Street. From Ohio and Indiana and from other states there is now a steady flow of heavy traffic. Added to it are hundreds of Ohio National Guard trucks, Jeeps, tanks and other vehicles going to and from camp at Grayling.

All day Sunday north-bound traffic was bunched up at the Lansing-Ash intersection to permit an occasional car to travel from west to east on Ash street.

An officer could have and should have kept the traffic moving. Although it is not local traffic, Mason and the county of Ingham share responsibility for keeping that traffic moving. Either a city officer or a deputy sheriff should be assigned to the intersection during peak traffic periods Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Another thing which could be done to make US-127 and M-36 safer through Mason would be no-passing zones. Now nervous drivers gun and madly race their cars to pass others on Lansing, Ash and Cedar streets. A yellow line should extend down the middle of the narrow pavement from South street to Ash on Lansing, from Lansing street to Cedar street on Ash, and from Ash street to the road commission curve on Cedar.

The by-pass is being built. Yet for the rest of this year and for much of next the present route will be used. A little attention by the sheriff's department and the city police department will keep that traffic moving safe and in good order.

We do a lot of talking about traffic control and safe driving. Here's an opportunity to do something about it. Let's do it.

Seconds on Ice Cream

It is not surprising that rioting again broke out in Jackson prison.

Leaders of the April riot were rewarded with kind words from the lips of Dr. Vernon Fox and with steaks and ice cream.

What better way could be found to show appreciation of that treatment than by a repeat performance? How else can prisoners ask for seconds on ice cream?

Fitchburg Got an Early Start But Somehow Failed to Prosper

By Vernon J. Brown

This is to be another story about another Ingham county community center which once gave promise of becoming at least a village but which now boasts a single country store, a church and a school. A visit to the cemetery which is located a short distance west of the 4 corners which once was the center of an active business center, reminds one only of those whose hopes once were centered there.

Fitchburg is the town I am writing about this time. Here is where Ferris S. Fitch came with his family in 1848 to settle on Section 36. Other settlers had come to what is now known as Bunker Hill township. Some had come as early as 1835 but they had chosen lighter lands, more easily cleared, in the northern portions of the township. A Mr. Bunker is said to have been the second settler in the town and his daughter, Mary, is said to have been the first white child born in the town. Legend has it that Bunker Hill drew his name because of this circumstance.

Fitch Commanded Attention

But Ferris S. Fitch was of the type that commands attention. He secured a quarter-section of good land, added to it, built a fine home that for long stood as the largest and finest in the new country, erected many barns and other outbuildings, produced good cattle and fine horses and excellent crops. His extensive operations permitted him to employ a good many of the less affluent early settlers. A good many came to depend upon Mr. Fitch, not only for employment, but for advice and counsel, in business and politics, and for help in time of distress. Four years after he came he was chosen as supervisor.

Later his father, Hubbard Fitch, and 2 brothers came to the "Corners" to live. One brother built the first saw mill. About 1855, a postoffice was established and the father, Hubbard, became its first postmaster. A son, Selah, succeeded his father on his father's death.

The Michigan Gazetteer of 1850 lists Ferris S. Fitch as postmaster. The same authority published in 1863 named William Dowden as postmaster but by that time Fitchburg had become a thriving trading center. There was a general store, a saw mill, a carriage shop, a hotel, 2 blacksmith shops, a livery stable, a boot and shoe shop and about 100 inhabitants, according to the Gazetteer. To serve them and keep them orderly, there was a Methodist church, a school, a lawyer, a doctor and a justice of the peace who also did collecting.

Population Goes to 200

Another issue of the Michigan Gazetteer, published in 1877, gave the population of Fitchburg as 200. John P. Hawley was then the postmaster. The town had grown to boast of 3 general stores, 2 shoe shops, a cooper shop, a farm implement store and there had been added a millinery store operated by a Mary Stowell.

By 1881 the Gazetteer went back to the 100 mark for population but it listed 18 businesses and professions.

Henry Stowell had then become postmaster, Lewis Stowell was justice of the peace and Mary Stowell still had her hat shop. Peter Etchells had opened a general store and his daughter, Laura, had a dressmaking establishment. Z. B. Dewey operated a meat market and there was a drug store, a china and crockery store, and mail was coming from Stockbridge 4 times a week. The Gazetteer also said, "The place has a steam saw mill, a good brick Methodist church and a district school."

Good land could then have been purchased at from $50 to $100 an acre, according to the Gazetteer. Fitch & Paxson were listed as operating a wagon shop where the best of materials were used in making sturdy farm wagons.

By 1885, mail service had been cut to twice a week and after that came a gradual decrease in business and in population. Saw mills closed down, wagon making stopped, the drug store closed, then some of the other establishments. The Gazetteer of 1931 listed Fitchburg as a "discontinued postoffice" with 2 general stores. Nothing else was said about it.

Fitch Family Departs

Meanwhile the Fitch family grew away from its moorings. The sons and daughters were educated mostly as teachers. In 1891, a son, Ferris S. Fitch, II, was elected state superintendent of public instruction. A sister, Mrs. Fannie Fitch Butler, was a teacher in the public schools and in colleges during her lifetime. Another son, Charles C., was elected to the state legislature and also held county office.

A grandson, Ferris S. Fitch, III, was legal advisor to the late Governor William A. Comstock in 1933 and 1934. He later became judge of probate in Wayne county. With the passing of the older generations and advancement of the younger members of the family, the fine old Ferris home fell into disuse, the dwelling became a shambles and the barns fell apart. What once was the pride of the community and the show place of that part of Ingham county, deteriorated into an eyesore.

Old timers used to tell of the influence of the elder Fitch upon the voters of Bunker Hill. The town hall was at Bunker Hill center. The residents, especially those of Irish descent, depended upon the advice of Mr. Fitch. They arrived at the polling place early but none would vote or even commit himself until he had seen Mr. Fitch, it is related.

In any event no one today, passing through Fitchburg, would ever dream it was once a thriving, prosperous town, with prospects of becoming bigger and more important. Why the downfall? No one with whom I have talked seems to know.

In passing, it should also be related that the first postoffice in Bunker Hill was somewhere in its western part with a settler named Tuttle as its first postmaster. Later a second postoffice was established at Felts with Dorman Felts handling out the mail. These were both established before Fitchburg reached the postoffice stage of development but neither ever grew to become more than mere mail dispatching centers.

Down by the SYCAMORE

How are your cucurbits coming?

Had anyone asked me that question before the Fourth of July I would have had to have hemmed and hawed. Because I would not have known what a cucurbit looks like. Now I know.

On the Glorious Fourth John Cantu offered me the opportunity to ride and operate an octopus duster. Maybe it was a sexupus duster, because it dusts 6 rows at a time. The sacks of dust carried labels giving the quantities for various types of cucurbit enemies. After riding around the field on the duster I consulted Webster to learn that squash, pumpkins, watermelons, muskmelons, cucumbers and all other plants with vines which produce gourds are listed as cucurbits.

After working in the cucurbits I took my daughter Caroline on the first huckleberry expedition of the year. We found luscious berries just beginning to ripen. The crop wasn't measure up to last year's picking in quantity but the quality is supreme. At least, that's the way we found it.

As I crowded into a berry-laden bush I saw what looked like a tumor attached to the horizontal branch of a small tree. On second glance I saw that the tumor was a nest made of birch bark, cleverly sewn with hair and grass to the limb. As I reached for the limb, which was only 4 feet from the ground, a bird flew out. In the nest were 3 creamy, white eggs. The mother bird fluttered into the top of a tree nearby and scolded as I admired her tidy and snug little home. She was about 4 inches long with a white breast and underside. The topside color was brownish gray. I have searched through bird books but can't find the right picture. I presume the bird was some kind of a finch or thrush or warbler.

Said my father Monday noon. "This is Mrs. Sarah Ann Hanked's 101st birthday. Why don't we drive over and pay our respects?"

So we did, and I'll never forget the visit. We found Mrs. Hanked at home with daughter Jane and son Rev. Fr. Vincent. All 5 daughters and the son had been home the week before but because of summer school duties the 3 nuns had returned to their classes.

At 101 Mrs. Hanked gets around by herself. She reads. She works anagram puzzles. Her memory carries her back to before the Civil War. But she does not live in the past. She knows what goes on here and now and talks about it with enthusiasm and interest.

Miss Jane Hanked showed us through the old house that was built by her grandfather in 1856 out of native brick and native timber. In front of the house are black locusts as big as oaks.

Age comes gracefully to trees, to buildings fashioned with honest craftsmanship and to men and women of high character.

The first story of the Ingham County News auxiliary press-room has been completed and the old cylinder is running again. The press had to be dismantled and removed from the plant after the fire last December. Instead of being erected at the main plant again it is now housed in a special building a block west down the alley.

Job No. 1 for the 50-year-old press is a page-size report which air raid wardens or their survivors will fill out and send to headquarters when the first atom bomb falls.

Members of the Lansing Farmers club and their guests agreed Monday night that Mason Methodist women are handy in the kitchen. That fried chicken and the trimmings were delicious. Who made the lemon pie?

Harry Freshour and his son Lyman have won many honors with their Holstein cattle. Freshour Holsteins have been sought by breeders in many states who have wanted to build up their herds. The Freshours also deserve national recognition for their originality in naming their heifers. For instance: Modest before Midnight and Modest After Midnight.

Friday when a news release came from Brattleboro, Vermont, telling of the sensational record hung up by Modest Before Midnight (see Page 6, Section 3) I grew curious, or maybe I already was. I called the Freshours to learn how they happened to choose such a queer name. Here's how it was: The Freshours bought a bull of the Modest bloodline from Fred Tullis of Monroe. The bull sired twin heifer calves, one born just before midnight on November 30, 1944, and the other born just after midnight on December 1.

I was fearful that Modest Before Midnight might be the better cow and that her younger sister who was Modest After Midnight might have a sorry record.

"Not so," declared Lyman. "Modest After Midnight is just as good a cow as Modest Before Midnight. The record of Modest After Midnight will be coming from the association in a few days and it will be right up there with her sister's."

So there, modesty is modesty, whether it is before midnight or after. I had reached that conclusion before midnight Saturday when the fire siren sounded. I leaped into my clothes and sped for the WPA Gates Ajar at the entrance to the cemetery. That's where the Minnesota driver piled his car. A goodly crowd was there, many of the women comfortably clad for the summer night.

The wreckage was comparatively uninteresting. Some people thought Jim was taking pictures of it. He wasn't. I had given him the assignment to prove the Freshour theory. And it's true, as the pictures show. There is no difference as far as we could see in modesty before midnight or modesty after midnight.

Book Talk

from
Ingham County Library

Hours open to the public at the Hall Memorial Library: Daily 2-5; Mon, Wed, Sat, 7-9; Tu, Thurs, and Fri, noon, Sat, 10-12 a. m.

Among the many new books in the Ingham county library readers will find a wide variety of subjects. One new novel which will interest those who prefer a good religious background is THE TENTMAKER, by Julius Berst, a novel based on the early life of St. Paul from the time he was 16 until his experiences on the road to Damascus. It is translated from the German by Charlissa Graves.

WINDOM'S WAY, by James Ramsey Ullman, is an idealistic and entertaining story of an American doctor in a hospital near a rubber plantation in the southeastern part of Asia, and of his involvement in a strike of the native people over their need for more rice land. This was serialized in the Saturday Evening Post under the title DR. WINDOM'S ORDEAL, but those who failed to read it in the Post will enjoy the book.

An amusing new book about a doctor's wife is FORTY ODD, by Mary Bard. It is written in the same cheerful style as the author's earlier book, THE DOCTOR WEARS THREE FACES, and relates the story of her 40th year and hilarious experiences with such things as reducing, Great Books, courses, lectures, outdoor athletics, new clothes and other cures for being middle-aged. Although comic, there is a core of good sensible advice for the mature woman.

LEARNING TO SWIM IN 12 EASY STEPS, by Adolph Kiefer and Milton Gabrielson, is a complete and practical book on basic swimming with the fundamentals clearly described and many illustrations of the many different strokes, positions and techniques. There is instruction for learning how to float, breathe, dive, as well as for the various strokes and crawls.

SOIL DEVELOPMENT, by Edward H. Faulkner, expands upon the theme of his earlier books, PLOWMAN'S FOLLY and A SECOND BOOK, emphasizing underlying theories rather than actual techniques in his latest book. There is explanation of the reasons why Faulkner believes that his system reduces insect infestations and disease, producing healthier crops.

The second volume in the series, THE MEMOIRS OF HERBERT HOOVER, covering his years in the cabinet and as a president of the United States is now available. This is an excellent record of the events of the period from 1920 to 1933, by the man who is now considered one of our country's great statesmen, though not in public office.

Other new books in the Ingham county library this week are:

Winds of the Morning by H. L. Davis.
All About African Violets, by Montague Free.
Understanding Your Child, by James L. Hymes, Jr.
Where Winter Never Comes, by Marston Bates.
All the Best in the Mediterranean, by Sidney Clark.
Wild Wings, by Frank S. Stuart.

New Hopes for a Changing World, by Bertrand Russell.
Salt Rivers of the Massachusetts Shore, by Henry Howe.

This Fascinating Animal World, by Alan Devoe.
An Ape in Velvet, a mystery by Rae Foley.

Investment for Professional People, by Dr. R. U. Cooper.
All That Heaven Allows, by Edna and Harry Lee.

The Face of War, by Charles and Eugene Jones.
The People in Your Life, by Isabel Leighton.
In the Absence of Angels, by Hortense Calisher.

Red Feather Township Drive Chief

Marion H. Marshall of Okemos heads the townships division in the Red Feather campaign of the United Community Chest of Ingham county.

Marion H. Marshall

Marshall, who is purchasing manager for Michigan Millers Mutual Fire Insurance company, is known throughout the county for his work with the Ingham Glacoe organization.
The townships division will solicit contributions next fall in the 13 townships outside the metropolitan Lansing area.

Funds will be raised in these townships for the Boy Scouts, the Red Cross and the state and national agencies of the United Health and Welfare Fund of Michigan.

Marshall stressed the fact that the Red Cross will be included in the united campaign for the first time this year.

The 13 townships will be divided into two sections. The 8 eastern townships will be in one group and the five western townships in another. Each section will be headed by a chairman assisting Marshall.

Section 1 will include the townships of Locke, Wheatfield, LeRoy, Ingham, White Oak, Bunker

Virginia Rails Have Marsh Homes

When a fisherman hears grunting sounds coming from a freshwater marsh, he might think, at first, that some baby pigs had wandered into the reeds and cattails. But if he knows his way around the outdoors, he realizes that the noises are made by Virginia rails.

The shy birds, though graceful in actions, just aren't singers. Besides grunting, they make kicking sounds. And sometimes they call, "wak-wak-wak" or "kidd-kidd-kidd."

It is fairly easy to hear their harsh noises, says the National Wildlife Federation, but not so easy to see the birds themselves. They live among the tangled plants along streams and marshes, and usually stay under cover. When disturbed, they try to hide where the growth is thickest, instead of taking to the air.

Among the weeds and rushes, they also build their homes. In a nest made of grasses, the female lays from 5 to 12 eggs which are white or creamy with a few brown and purple spots. The parents take turns in sitting on the eggs until they are hatched.

The baby rails are greenish black at first. After a few months, the tinge of green disappears, and they are just plain black. Later they begin to resemble their parents.

Both the male and the female adults are reddish brown birds. The feathers on their backs are streaked with black. Behind their legs and under their short, peppy tails, they are marked with black and white bars. Their cheeks are gray, and their throats are white.

For pecking in the marshes, they have long, slightly curved bills. When fully grown, the birds are about 9 or 10 inches long.

With slender, delicate legs, they walk daintily about in the marshes, looking for food. They are especially fond of insects, and they also eat wild rice, wild oats, and other grass seeds.

In the summer, when they are raising their families, Virginia rails live in southern Canada and the northern half of the United States. To escape cold weather, they spend the winter in the southern part of our country, and some of them go to Cuba, Bermuda and Guatemala.

Interesting information on other wildlife species may be obtained by writing to the National Wildlife Federation, Washington, 20, D. C.

Sewage Situation Reviewed Before Kiwanis Club

The Kiwanis club heard Harry Johnson, local councilman, Monday evening at its regular meeting at Marvin's dining room, explain the sewage problems which are facing the city.

The state has ordered the city to submit a proposal for construction of a disposal plant by next October. A few years ago the electors of Williamston turned down a similar proposal, and it is strongly intimated by state authorities that in the event that should happen again, the state would immediately start court proceedings to force the city to construct such a plant. Pollution of the water of the Red Cedar is the reason given for the demand. The state has already put a stop to any further extension of present sewers in Williamston until such a plant is provided.

While it is not required by the state, the providing of proper facilities, both sanitation and storm, for the city and proper operation of the disposal plant, would require construction of a considerable amount of new sewers. The total cost of the two jobs would be about $250,000 according to councilman Johnson.

More Eloquent Than Words!

It is true, of course, that a Cadillac owner is proud of everything about his motor car.

But it is also true that he reserves a special place in his heart for the beautiful crest that rides high on the hood.

For here, as only he can fully appreciate, is one of the most wonderful and unique symbols in all the world of manufactured products.

In fact, it seems safe to say that no other mark of identification speaks so eloquently of the product that bears it ... and of the man who owns it.

It tells, for instance, of magnificent engineering and inspired design—and of experienced craftsmanship and painstaking construction.

It promises mile after mile of superlative motoring enjoyment—and it foretells year after year of dependable and enduring performance.

It proclaims, in short, the Cadillac pledge of quality—that here is an automobile built to the highest standards it is practical to enforce in the production of a motor car.

And, oh, the wonderful things it says about the man behind the wheel!

It reveals, more surely than if the words were spoken, that he is a man of achievement in his own private world of affairs.

It attests to the high regard he places on the safety and the comfort of his family and his fellow passengers.

And it says that he is a person of discernment and good taste.

Little wonder that the man who owns a Cadillac takes special pride in the beautiful crest that identifies it and adorns it.

The Cadillac crest tells its most eloquent story when it adorns the magnificent car illustrated above. For here is the illustrious eight-passenger Cadillac "75"—so luxurious, spacious and distinguished that it stands alone among the world's motor cars. Beyond it—there is only the future.

Bass Can Be Ornerly
How many times have you fished a lake that's swarming with bass—yet you come home empty-handed? Next trip out you'll have your limit in an hour, and there'll be fish holling all over the surface. That's the time to stop and think about bass fishing and how to make 'em hit when they're "off their feed."

Catching bass the last week in June and first week in July is made a lot easier by nature. The fish have just finished spawning—some may still be near the beds and willing to hit anything that comes near. With spawning ended, appetites improve and they spend more of their time hunting food.

But after July 4 they can be a challenging problem to the angler.

Plug or Live Bait.
They may then feed only a short while each day—or every other day. The rest of the time they're sulking in deep, cooler water. Is live bait allowed to sink into these holes best at such times? Or is an artificial lure most effective? Probably the plug... and probably a plug that sinks slowly when not on the retrieve. My own personal theory about bass plugs is that any similarity to natural food is incidental and unimportant.

A sulking fish will strike from sheer annoyance, especially if the lure sinks into the hole where he's resting, and then suddenly begins its worrisome wiggle or darting action.

Erratic Retrieve Important
Now if any bass lures were made to be reeled in with a smooth even pressure on the reel. If you're casting a floating lure resembling a frog, mouse or whatnot, let it sit where it lands for a few moments. The splash will scare fish as it hits, then they may return out of sheer curiosity if it floats on one spot quietly.

Now begin the retrieve erratically reeling rapidly for a turn or two, then slowing way down or letting the lure surface again. I don't believe your bass is going to strike because he thinks the lure is a frog, mouse or whatnot. He'll bump it challengingly, in a vicious effort to drive the "thing" away.

Follow a Routine
When bass aren't biting get yourself a system. Figure the plan of attack carefully. Try different types of lures with different actions rather than different colors. Line 'em up in your tacklebox in a definite order and fish 'em all confidently. After all, we're smarter than bass, aren't we? Or are we?

At day's end with an empty stringer, this can be a most embarrassing question!

Scouts Plan Family Night

Thursday, July 10, has been set for the mid-summer family night for the Boy Scouts. All people, especially parents, are invited to the basket picnic to be held at Russell park at 7 p. m., or in case of rain at the G. A. R. hall. The Scouts will serve the coffee and soft drinks.

The program for the evening will be directed by the assistant Scoutmaster, Earl Miller, who will report on the progress of the troop and the coming camp for 1 week at Camp Kirolex. The evening will close with the investiture ceremony for the explorers of troop 69. The Scouts are collecting scrap metal to help pay camping expenses and appreciate donations from anyone. They meet regularly on Thursday nights at the G. A. R. hall.

Double Wedding Held Friday

Miss Elda Weichner became Mrs. Robert Goddard and Miss Janette King became Mrs. Donald Weichner as a sister and brother spoke their vows at a double wedding Friday, July 4, at 10 a. m. at the Flower Memorial Spiritualist church in Leslie.

The parents of Elda and Donald are Mr. and Mrs. Claude May of Fogg road, while Janette King is the daughter of Mrs. Wendall Smith of Maple street in Leslie and Robert Goddard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frances Goddard of Jackson.

Claude May gave Elda in marriage and Wendall Smith gave Janette in marriage as Rev. Ethel McLean, pastor of the church, read the ceremony before an altar banked with white hydrangeas and ferns.

Mrs. William Edwards played the wedding march and also accompanied Jacqueline Smith, a sister of Janette, as she sang, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." The 2 couples attended each other as maid of honor and best man. Clifford Flower and Charles Holcomb were ushers.

The 2 brides wore navy blue with white accessories and carried white gladiolas on white Bibles. Elda's mother wore a steel blue dress with navy blue accessories and a pink carnation corsage. Janette's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and a pink corsage. The brides had identical wedding cakes. The reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony.

The wedding trips have been postponed until fall. Both couples will live in Jackson where Robert Goddard is employed at the Kelsey Hayes plant and Donald Weichner works for Clifton Engineering. The brides and bridegrooms attended Leslie high school.

Guests were present from Mason, Leslie, Jackson, Lansing, Battle Creek, Jonesville, Detroit, New York, Eaton Rapids and Okemos.

NEW McCormick 6-ft. Harvester-Thresher

Saves down and tangled crops... separates grain completely... speeds your harvest

Here's a big-capacity, straight-through combine that picks up storm-flattened crops... lets you save the grain in man-high weed patches without slugging the cylinder. The McCormick No. 64 is built extra strong to withstand long, continuous operation at today's faster tractor speeds.

Low-angle feeder, 64 1/2 inches wide, keeps rank, heavy crops from balling up and clogging the cylinder.

Widest cylinder—64 1/4 inches—of any combine built. This six-bar, rasp-type cylinder can be operated at speeds ranging from 600 to 1600 rpm. to thresh any crop clean.

Big oversize separating unit puts grain in the bin that smaller capacity machines leave in the straw.

Combine many crops—small grains, soybeans, sorghums, legumes, and lots of others. The McCormick No. 64 Harvester-Thresher is an all-purpose combine for average-size farms.

See us for all the facts about the new No. 64 the next time you're in town.

Angus Picnic Planned at Grand River Stock Farms

Sunday, July 13, will be a big day for breeders and farmers interested in beef cattle. The annual Michigan Aberdeen-Angus field day and picnic will be held at the Grand River Stock Farms, located on US-16 between Williamston and Webberville.

No other state may boast of more Aberdeen-Angus cattle from the nation's popular blood lines. Award winners at many strongly contested shows have earmarked Michigan as a breeding ground of popular, highly acceptable Angus cattle.

It would be difficult to select a more desirable central location where so many fine Angus cattle are found on one farm.

In addition to the cattle at Grand River, Raina Farms and Michigan State college will bring in animals for the day for exhibition, demonstration and judging.

Featured in the morning program, beginning at 10:30, will be an inspection of the herd bulls and a tour of pastures and past, docks to see the breeding cows and young cattle. This will be handled by Alex Lyons, manager, and Dr. J. J. Hendren, owner of Grand River Stock Farms.

The afternoon program, following a picnic lunch, will feature such educational events as type demonstration, judging contests, foot trimming and showing demonstrations.

Appearing in the afternoon program will be Dr. J. J. Hendren, owner of Grand River Stock Farms; John Kendall, president, Aberdeen-Angus association; Lyle V. Springer, executive assistant, American Aberdeen-Angus association; Bob Barger, of Albion; Dr. R. H. Nelson of Michigan State college; Col. Paul Good, Van Wert, Ohio, and Robert Williams, secretary of Michigan Aberdeen-Angus association.

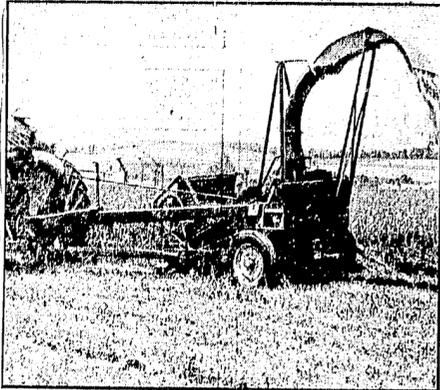

Those attending this field day will have a chance to try their skill at livestock judging. There will be a contest for the women as well as for the men and a junior division.

Grading of Lambs Planned at MSC

A demonstration on market lamb grading, a sheep type discussion with several purchased sheep on hand and other features are scheduled for the fourth annual sheep field day at Michigan State college, July 17.

Graydon Blank, Michigan State college extension animal husbandry specialist, said that this year's event is being planned to be of special interest to commercial sheep raisers as well as purebred breeders. Parasite control and latest sheep management practices will come up for discussion with latest developments to be aired.

Blank announced that the program will begin at 10 a. m., in the shaded area near the college sheep barns. The Michigan Sheep Breeders' association will co-sponsor the program with the Michigan State college animal husbandry department.

CHOPPED GRASS YIELDS MORE SPUDS? — Not satisfied with a three-year rotation of grain, alfalfa and potatoes because the preceding crop was hard to plow under, F. H. Krause of Germansville, Pa., decided that a shredder was what he needed. He went to a manufacturer in New Holland, Pa., and bought the machine, above, which was intended for mowing and chopping grass for silage. Rather than blow the chopped grass into a wagon Krause puts it back on the field as "green manure." He says it will increase potato production.

Country & Town

By JIM BROWN

The best farmers in the country — not county, but country — operate west of Mason near Columbia road, according to Herb Miller of Williamston. Herb spoke at the Lansing Farmers club dinner Monday night at the Methodist church.

That's strong talk and at first reading it ought to make farmers at other points of the compass turn a little green. But Herb said he used the "Columbia road gang" as an example of the high level of farming all around Mason.

"Anyone wanting to study beef-feeding, dairying, hogs, chickens, cash crops or general farming at its best can find it around Mason," Herb told the group. "Men like Coe Emens, Carlyle Waltz, Howard and Forest Smith, Chuck Davis, Francis Platt, Harry Freshour, Ludell Cheney plus lots of others are setting the farm pace for the nation. These men practice what others preach."

Most members of the Lansing Farmers club come right out and admit that they are so-called city farmers. Once a month during the summer, the group heads for the country to visit farms and to eat together. On Monday club members visited Coe Emens and Carlyle Waltz, farmers who curry the lush Columbia valley.

"There was a time when a man could fail at almost everything in life, turn to farming and make a go of it," Herb told the 60 persons at the dinner. "But today, it doesn't work that way. A farmer has got to be a good business man or he won't last but a few years. He must keep up with farm techniques or he is doomed as a farmer."

Farmers can't work by the season as in days of yore. They, like the rest of a busy world, must work by the day and the hour and minute. Production must be the aim. Competition has to be met and overcome.

Charles Butler and his sons on Rolfe road have a field of sweet corn worth taking a look at. The corn was tassled last week and ought to be ready for market within another week or so. Butler moved to Ingham 2 years ago from near Detroit. There are few farmers around here who specialize in sweet corn like the Butlers do.

"There's no reason why sweet corn can't be grown around here just like it is in northern Ohio," Butler said. "Sweet corn takes a lot more care. Ours gets plenty of cultivation including hoeing and several sprayings of DDT. The result is bushel after bushel of perfect corn."

Here's one that ought to go in the Ancient History column, except that it might date me as ancient. Who remembers when young and old splashed in the crystal waters of the ponds at the county park in Mason? How many remember the ice skating and the log hut with the open fire place in the winter at the park?

Time changes a lot of things. It looks now as though I could skate on the scum on the ponds in the summer and swim in the slush during the winter. Two things could be done with the ponds at the park. They could be filled in, or they could be dredged and provided with adequate inlets and outlets to keep the water moving. The city council worries about a future dumping area. The ponds might solve 2 problems. Garbage, cans and tires would look no worse than the stinking green slud which floats in the county park ponds.

Muck Field Day Plans Are Made

The annual Muck Farmers' Field Day will be held July 30 at the muck experimental farm, located near Bath, according to Michigan State college soil science researchers.

Tours of the experimental plots will begin at 10 a. m., and again after the noon program. Representatives of the M. S. C. departments of agricultural engineering, botany, entomology, farm crops and horticulture will be on hand to explain their cooperative projects.

Commercial machines for farming muck also will be exhibited. Tillage trials, variety trials, fertilizer experiments and many other tests of interest to muck farmers are conducted at the farm and will be explained at the field day.

Projects underway with include: Tillage experiments with onions; use of "Krilium," studies in the effect of overhead irrigation on a number of crops; fertilizer placement on celery, onions, carrots, table beets, sugar beets, spinach and head lettuce; the effect of nitrogen on onions on tilled muck; soil fumigation; the use of sulphur and minor elements in the production of blueberries; rock phosphate experiments with table beets and onions; an expanded program of foliar sprays and dusts including manganese, zinc, magnesium, nitrogen and phosphorus for feeding plants; bulk storage of onions; new chemicals for weed control, new methods and materials for onion thrip and mag-got control; and sprays for prolonging the storage of onions.

Hybrid onion, celery, head lettuce, corn, soybeans, potato and barley trials are underway.

In addition to these projects a number of other items of interest will be observed. A fertilizer placement attachment for a celery transplanter, and the bulk storage onion bins complete with conveyor system will be available for inspection. A rotary-type tillage unit mounted on a Cub tractor will be available for inspection.

Two Ingham Herds Finish Test Year

Holstein herds owned by Charles J. Davis of Onondaga and W. H. Freshour & Son of Aurelius have completed test years recently.

The Davis herd of 21 cows averaged 428 lbs of butterfat and 11,978 lbs of milk, about 19 quarts of milk per day for each cow in the herd.

The Freshour herd had an average of 397 lbs of butterfat and 10,413 lbs of milk. That's about 17 quarts per day per cow.

Maplecrest Fobes Bold in the Davis herd had an individual mark of 426 lbs of butterfat and 11,765 lbs of milk to her credit. She was 2 years, 2 months of age when she began her testing period.

In the Freshour herd Lymanlan Modest Before Midnight had an individual record of 522 lbs of butterfat and 13,800 lbs of milk. That's 20 quarts of milk a day for the period covered by the test. She was 7 years, 2 months of age when the test began.

New Farm Crops Chief at MSC

Kenyon T. Payne, associate professor of agronomy at Purdue University, will become professor and head of the department of farm crops at Michigan State college, effective August 15.

Dr. Payne, who will fill the vacancy left by the death of Prof. Roy Decker, was appointed by the state board of agriculture, governing body of the college. The new farm crops department head is a native of Kansas and has done extensive work in plant breeding and in forage crops.

He is a 1939 graduate of Kansas Agricultural college, has a master's degree from the University of Nebraska and received a doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Minnesota.

From 1939 to 1941, Payne served as a special agent for the bureau of plant industry of the U. S. department of agriculture. He served in the U. S. army air force from 1941 to 1947.

College Will Hold Sheep Field Day

A program of special interest to commercial sheep raisers as well as purebred breeders is being planned for the fourth annual sheep field day at Michigan State college, July 17.

The event will be held in the shaded area near the college sheep barn, according to Graydon Blank, MSC extension animal husbandry specialist.

One of the main program features will be a demonstration and discussion on market lamb grading. Those present also will have a chance to grade a number of lambs following the demonstration.

Several purebred breeds will be used in a discussion of types of sheep. A portion of the program will be devoted to the control of parasites and to other sheep management practices.

The program begins at 10 a. m., and the lamb grading demonstration is scheduled for 11 a. m. The Michigan Sheep Breeders' association, co-sponsor of the program with the M. S. C. animal husbandry department, will furnish roast lamb sandwiches and coffee. Picnic tables also will be available.

FEED CHICKS IN SHADE

To keep poultry cool and gaining, Michigan State college poultrymen advise farmers to put feeders in a shady spot. Good, weatherproof feeders will encourage proper feeding, reduce waste and help prevent contamination. Possibly even more important than shade for feeders at this time of year is the water supply. Plenty of fresh, clean water also should be made available in a shady location, the poultry specialists urge.

Bees in Alfalfa Aid Pollination And Boost Yield

A new approach to the problem of getting maximum pollination of alfalfa is being tried by Michigan legume seed producers.

E. C. Marlin, Michigan State college entomologist, says that many growers are moving 4 or 5 colonies of honey bees per acre into the field soon after bloom is well started. The bees are moved from an apiary at least a mile and a half away so the bees will work the alfalfa to a greater degree in becoming oriented to their surroundings again.

Pollination of alfalfa presents a special problem because the flower must be "tripped" or opened by the pollinating insect before pollination can take place. Although some wild bees such as the leafcutter bees and the bumble bees are efficient trippers of alfalfa, they are so limited in numbers that they normally only pollinate for a small seed crop.

Honey bees collecting nectar from alfalfa are not very effective in pollination, but honey bees collecting pollen from alfalfa trip the flower fairly satisfactorily.

Since honey bees often prefer to get their pollen from clovers or some other plants, it's important to bring them into the alfalfa field at the right time. That way they work the alfalfa while looking for some of their more desirable blossoms.

Seed growers who plan to bring bees into the fields for the blossom period should make arrangements with beekeepers well in advance of the date on which they will be required, Marlin said. Importance of good pollination lies in the fact without it, seed production is reduced.

CLEAN COMBINE

With grain harvest time coming up, Michigan State college farm crops specialists remind farmers that a thorough cleaning job on the combine will mean cleaner grain. That means more than just knocking off the worst of the dust. It involves a complete clean-up to make sure the first grain that comes through will be in good shape.

Farmers in Michigan Now Have Six Million More Customers

By G. N. Motts, MSC
The marketing advantages which Michigan farmers have in selling the major part of their output in Michigan and the 4 adjacent states were further emphasized by the 1950 census. The population of Michigan increased 20% during the 1940-50 decade compared with the average of 13.5% for the 5 Great Lakes states. The 7 states which lie just beyond 5 form an important, but secondary, part of the market territory for the bulk of Michigan's farm products. The population of these 7 states increased by only 6.4% from 1940 to 1950.

The total population of these 12 states rose from 63,900,000 to 69,900,000 in 1950. Of the 6,000,000 more people in this region, there were 1,100,000 more in Michigan, 2,500,000 more in the 4 adjacent states and a gain of 2,400,000 in the remaining seven states. The 5 Great Lakes states now contain 20% of the total United States population.

Changes Within Michigan
Within Michigan alone the rise in population from 5,200,000 in 1940 to 6,300,000 in 1950 represents an expanded market potential equal to the combined 1950 population of Grand Rapids, Flint, Dearborn, Saginaw, Lansing, Pontiac, greater Muskegon, Kalamazoo, Bay City, Jackson, Battle Creek and Highland Park. Three-fourths of the total increase occurred in the 7 metropolitan areas, while the remaining fourth of the population gain occurred in the other 9 economic areas as defined by the Census Bureau.

The population increase in the 7 metropolitan areas during the 1940-50 decade averaged 24% compared with an average gain of 13.2% in the 9 non-metropolitan economic areas. Area 8, consisting of St. Clair, Lapeer, Washtenaw and Monroe counties, had the largest percentage population gain among the 16 economic areas of Michigan, 38.8%. The next 4 areas in the order of their population gains were the counties in which Lansing, Muskegon, Kalamazoo and greater Detroit are located. These are the areas where the effects of the larger Michigan population will be particularly evident to the farmers of the state.

Some Effects of the Changes
If the total increase of 1,100,000 people had occurred as a newly developed city in the state, it would have been instantly recognized as a major addition to the market for Michigan's agricultural output. But since the growth occurred over a 10-year period and was not centered at one place, many Michigan farmers have overlooked its full significance for them. The striking rate of increase in Michigan's population compared with the rates in the other states that use the bulk of Michigan's farm production emphasizes again the importance of our local markets. Michigan farmers and agricultural marketing agencies should raise their sights to a sales target at least 20% above the 1940 level in order to retain their 1940 share of the Michigan food market. If Michigan farmers and marketing agencies are to increase their share of the total market demand for farm products in the state, local market sales must rise by more than 20% above 1940 levels.

Farmers who live in southern Michigan and who produce commodities well adapted to local market outlets should particularly benefit from the growth of Michigan's principal cities. Such products include fluid milk, fruits and vegetables, poultry and eggs. Since the latter two groups of commodities are sold in large volume on public produce markets in this state, there is an excellent opportunity for the public market authorities, in cooperation with the growers on those markets, to expand their sales in proportion to the increase in population of the cities they serve.

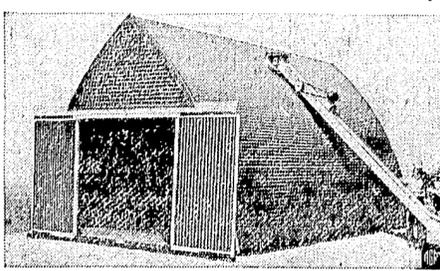

The flow of Michigan farm products is coming from practically the same acreage of cropland harvested as in 1940, but the farms are now appreciably larger in average acreage. Between 1940 and 1950 the number of Michigan farms declined 17% (from 187,589 to 155,589), but the average acreage per farm rose 16% (from 96 to 111 acres).

While these changes were occurring on Michigan farms, the number of assemblers of farm products and of wholesale grocers operating in the state increased, but the number of retail food stores decreased. Census figures show an increase of 48% in the number of Michigan farm product assemblers from 288 in 1939 to 427 in 1948. The number of wholesale grocers in the state rose from 127 in 1939 to 156 in 1948, a gain of 23%.

Meanwhile, the number of retail food stores in Michigan declined as more of the grocery stores added meat and produce departments and became larger individual businesses. During the 1939-48 decade the number of retail meat and fish stores in Michigan declined by 40%, dairy and milk retail outlets by 22%, fresh fruit and vegetable stores and markets by 39%, but the number of retail grocery stores declined by only 2.5%.

It is possible that individual assemblers and wholesale grocers had reached a generally efficient scale of operation by 1940, and the larger food consumption in the state has encouraged new firms to enter business. The number of wholesale grocers in Michigan increased by approximately the same percentage as the population. Retail food stores, however, have been growing in average size and a large proportion of independent grocers have become members of voluntary chains to benefit still further from the economies of larger scale operation.

New Quonset Dries Grain Nature's Way

This addition to the well-known line of Quonset buildings, the All-Purpose Granary, points up the fact that not all round buildings are Quonsets with the new observation that not all Quonsets are round.

Among several features as new as its lines, this all-steel structure has double walls for self-ventilation and provisions for drying and cooling grain Nature's way by unheated air. Fan and tunnel units for this are available as optional equipment. The basic building unit is 16 ft. wide, 12 ft. long. Length may be increased by any number of 8 ft. units.

Fan and tunnel accessories for drying any cooling grain in storage are removable, enabling the building's use for many other purposes when not filled with grain.

Drying Cost Low
Drying and cooling are accomplished by a "down-flow" circulation of unheated air, sketched at left. Cost of this drying operation is only about 3 cents a bushel, necessarily for "turning" grain in storage is eliminated by cooling.

When using the building for these purposes, grain is piled over the tunnel to a 6 1/2-ft. depth as the removable fan operation is started. The fan is pulled into the building through its openings down through the grain. Carrying moisture picked up from the grain, the airflows out through the tunnel.

Fan Runs 20-60 Days
At harvest time, the fan is operated continuously for an initial period until the grain's moisture content is brought down to a safe level for storage. This requires from 20 to 60 days, depending upon moisture content of grain and local weather. Thereafter, the fan is operated occasionally on cool days and nights in order to reduce grain temperature to the lowest possible point for winter storage.

In event grain temperature rises abnormally thereafter, any heating due to excess moisture may be reduced by further fan operation. Under normal conditions this will be unnecessary if drying was done properly at harvest time.

TWO FEET HIGH FOR PASTURE
Sudangrass Pasture Needs Growth
Michigan farmers who have Sudangrass pastures coming along for summer grazing should let the grass get 2 feet high before turning livestock on it, warns Milo B. Tesar, Michigan State college farm crops authority.

Tesar explains that when grazed too short, Sudangrass may be poisonous to cattle and sheep. It also produces less when grazed before it is 2 feet tall. If you start grazing it at the right time it is very productive and not poisonous to any class of livestock.

Sudangrass may be grazed continuously after it reaches a height of 2 feet. Good stands of this grass, seeded early in June, should give about 30 cow days of pasture in July, 45 in August, 30 in September, and 10 in October if the season is normal. The high production of the grass in July and August is especially valuable during a dry season, since other pastures may take a seasonal slump at this time.

Tesar also pointed out that Sudangrass can be grazed heavily in September. This gives an answer to the problem pasture period when legume pastures should not be grazed if they are to survive the winter.

"Even though there never has been a proved case of livestock poisoning from Sudangrass in Michigan, 2 precautions should be followed," the farm crops man said. One is to avoid pasturing short plants or tillers before the grass is 2 feet tall because they may contain enough prussic acid to be poisonous to cattle or sheep. The other is that the short growth produced after a heavy frost may be poisonous."

Harvest Causes More Accidents
"Harvest time is accident time on the farm," according to J. P. Hoekzema, county agricultural agent.

When grain harvesting machinery, with its high-speed cutting mechanisms, shifting gears and chains, is operated in the rust of harvest the chances for accidents mount rapidly, the Ingham county agent warned. It is a season when haste is often emphasized without necessary caution.

The first step for safely operating harvesting machinery is to put it into good condition before the harvest begins. This means that seats, controls, steps and other similar features of the machine should be in good repair. Shields or other safety devices must be in place before the machine is taken into the field.

Hoekzema said that the National Safety Council recommends the following rules for harvest safety: Always be alert and don't take chances. Always stop all machinery before oiling, adjusting or unclogging. Avoid wearing floppy or ragged clothing. Always operate tractors at a safe speed.

The county agent also suggested starting smoothly and slowing down for turns and for rough ground. Avoid operations too close to the edge of ditches or embankments. Small children are definitely out of place around harvesting machinery.

Avoid jumping off equipment before it comes to a full stop. Remember to look both ways before you cross a highway. On a highway, obey the signs and rules of the road. And don't forget to use headlights and tail lights at night.

THIS FARMING BUSINESS BY CARL COLLIN

Do you need more farm storage facilities for handling your crops this year? You can get a loan to finance the construction or purchase of new farm storage through your county PMA committee.

USDA has extended the time for getting this help. The program was supposed to expire June 30. But now it has been extended for another year. The loans, incidentally, are available up to 80% of the cost of the structure. They are repayable in 4 annual installments. They can be liquidated earlier if the farmer chooses. Interest rate is 4% a year.

We need more good farm storage—with the emphasis on the "good." Many farm officials believe that we are entering a period of "surpluses" again. Prices farmers get for their grain products are supported by loans on their stored commodities. Commercial storage here in Michigan isn't too abundant now. If you have your own facilities on your farm, you won't have to worry over what to do with your grains when they are combined.

The anthrax outbreak we had here in Michigan a couple of months ago apparently is under control. No new cases have been reported for some time. During the first quarter of the year there were 395 outbreaks of anthrax in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Ohio and Michigan. Total losses in these states amounted to 846 hogs and 31 cattle. Outbreaks were reported also in 7 other states, including Wisconsin.

Sales of yellow margarine were legalized in New York on July 1. In the first 24 hours of the new law, 9,500,000 lbs. of the colored product rolled into the state. Of the total, 3,000,000 lbs. were shipped into New York City. One major food chain reported its margarine inventory had tripled. The standard retail price was 25¢ lb. In spite of this new competition, wholesale butter prices advanced almost a cent the first day.

Did you know that potatoes catch cold? Well, maybe that's not exactly correct, technically. But they do stay healthier when they are shipped at temperatures of 55 degrees. Temperatures lower than this result in greater shriveling and less healing of skinned and scuffed spots. After 3 days at retail store temperatures, spuds from the cooler cars are more shriveled and browner than those from cars with moderate temperatures.

Recent research by California growers and experiment station people showed that after a week of unloading at the market, potatoes from the cool cars were barely salable while those from the cars with temperatures around 55 degrees showed little browning and shriveling.

There are more 4-H clubs in Michigan than in any other state. We had 4,838 clubs in the state last year. Ohio came closest to Michigan with 4,331. Texas rated third. Southern states had the largest enrollments.

The livestock feed outlook is looking up. Prospects for the corn crop the first of July were excellent. Oats in many parts of the country look good. Hay conditions are reported to be the best in a quarter century. Grazing pastures were reported to be in the best shape in 30 years. However, there are some dry spots in the country and the weather bureau figures that July will be quite dry with temperatures above normal in the middle west. A lot could happen to the excellent crop prospects in the next 5 or 6 weeks.

The Chicago corn-hog ratio for the week ending June 28 was 10.4 compared with 10.4 the previous week and 12.5 the same week a year earlier.

Speaking of hogs, the general level of the Chicago market in June dropped about 3% below May, highest month in 1952. Average June price was $19.30. That's 60¢ less than May but $3.30 more than the April price, lowest in 2 years. Average price in June a year ago was $21.25.

The average market weight of hogs in Chicago last month was lightest in 6 years for June—263 lbs.

Our Canadian neighbors certainly do eat a lot more butter than we do. Per capita consumption of butter in Canada last year was 22.6 lbs. Our average was 9.7 lbs. Oleo consumption also was higher in Canada—10.6 lbs. compared with our 6.5 lbs. Canadians eat less cheese, condensed milk and ice cream than we do and about the same amount of evaporated milk and dry skim milk.

Canadian milk cow numbers have been declining steadily since 1945, as they have in U. S. But unlike the U. S., production per cow up north is lower. Canada had to import some 17,000,000 lbs. of butter last year, exporting none.

Considering all these factors together, Kramer states his belief that prices this year will continue lower than last year and 1953 cattle prices will be still lower.

Jersey Cow Nets $821 for Owner

The collector of internal revenue may be paying a call on a certain registered Jersey cow in Michigan when he hears she grossed well over $1,000 last year.

The milk produced last year by Brampton Jester Lila, an 11-year-old Jersey cow owned by Meadowridge Jerseys, Inc., Ridgway, brought $1,086.70 on a nearby market. After feed and milk hauling costs had been deducted, "Lila" cleared $821.97 for her owner.

The figures were recently computed by the American Jersey Cattle Club, Columbus, Ohio, and were based on her official register of merit record of 17,222 lbs milk containing 1,044 lbs butterfat, and cost figures furnished by the cow's owner. The milk was sold on the Toledo market.

Brampton Jester Lila was on pasture during 6 months of her record and was fed corn silage and alfalfa and ladino clover hay during the winter months. She was milked 3 times a day and received an average of 12 lbs of grain feed each day.

Brampton Jester Lila is the Michigan butterfat champion in her age class of the Jersey breed's register of merit system of production testing. She has also been given the top type classification rating of excellent. But ratings and profit earnings don't affect Lila. She is a contented Jersey as long as she can be a mother and have plenty to eat.

Be careful in using 2, 4-D around farm ponds that are stocked with fish, warn extension specialists at Michigan State college. The carriers in which the chemical is dissolved sometimes will kill fish.

If you want bigger payloads, you want a Dodge

For bigger payloads, choose a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck—1/2- through 4-ton.

"Job-Rated" engineering makes it possible for you to haul more with the right Dodge truck for your needs.

You haul more economically, too, because of such Dodge advantages as lightweight aluminum-alloy pistons and others.

For smoother power, extra load protection, gyrol Fluid Drive is available on 1/2-, 3/4-, 1-ton and Route-Van models.

Come in for a demonstration—and an extra good deal!

Better weight distribution. Dodge short wheelbase allows more weight to be carried on the front axle. Because the engine is located farther forward and front axle is moved back, you can haul bigger loads without overloading.

The right load-carrying units. Frame, axles, and other units that carry the load are "Job-Rated" on Dodge. Each is engineered to provide strength and capacity needed to support your load. All are "Job-Rated" to work together!

The right load-moving units. You get an engine that's "Job-Rated" with plenty of power to pull bigger loads at low cost. In fact, all load-moving units—such as clutch, transmission, rear axle—are engineered to move bigger loads.

"We solved our hauling problems with Dodge 'Job-Rated' trucks"

"Our business calls for trucks that can haul big loads day in and day out—and we like our trucks to last, too! That's why we prefer Dodge trucks that are 'Job-Rated' to fit our particular hauling job."

"We recently put in service two Dodge 'Job-Rated' 1 1/2-ton models... and they sure haul big loads the way we want them to! For instance, the 170-inch wheelbase models allow for a 14-foot body, which is ideal for our business. And Dodge easy-handling advantages enable us to maneuver these trucks in the same space as some other trucks with 12-foot bodies."
