

NATIONAL CONVENTIONS DISTRACT INTEREST

Voters Ignore Home Work

Maybe it's the heat or the humidity or TV from the Chicago conventions. Voters so far have shown little interest in local political contests.

Republican candidates for United States senator and for governor and lieutenant-governor are whooping it up. But the people don't appear to be listening much. At any rate they are not excited.

Congressman Charles E. Potter and Auditor General John B. Martin, Jr., are waging active senatorial campaigns outside. Little is being heard from Dr. Eugene Keyes and nothing locally from Clifford A. Prevost so far.

Secretary of State Fred M. Alger and Lieutenant-Governor William C. Vandenberg are both making the rounds in their own districts.

In the second district John McCune of East Lansing and Representative Lawrence B. Lindemer are the candidates. East Lansing has become the chief battleground.

For county offices the Democratic regulars have lined up behind George William Parker for county clerk, Melvin C. Oesterle of Webberville for county treasurer and Wilbur H. Schade of Lansing for sheriff. Parker is opposed by Mrs. Maya D. Elmer of East Lansing, Oesterle by Mrs. Jennie Katz of Lansing and Schade by Benjamin F. Carman of Lansing.

Republicans also have contests for sheriff and register of deeds. Sheriff Willard P. Barnes is opposed by Samuel J. Tomlinson of Mason, former deputy. Mrs. Mia Bell Humphrey, appointed register of deeds to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. Ethel L. Phillips, has an opponent in Francis H. Taft of Lansing.

Scenery is changing fast between Holt and Mason. Workmen for the William J. Muehlenbeck Construction Co. are moving mountains of earth at a four thousand yard-a-day rate. In another week the rate will be doubled, according to Stanley Kozlowski, superintendent on the job.

"Probably next week, traffic will be detoured around the construction area," Kozlowski stated. "Present plans are to send traffic east from Holt on Holt road to College road, then south across the present highway near the Ranch restaurant and on to Columbia road. There the traffic will travel to the Columbia street-US-127 corner in Mason."

"Thirty men and as many machines are on the job this week. However, Kozlowski said he hopes to build the working force up to about 45 men in a week."

"We are right on schedule," the superintendent stated. "We have only made a start, however. Figuring the divided highway and the Mason by-pass, the job calls for more than a half million yards of earth to be moved. A lot of hills and low spots must be leveled and filled before even the grading is completed."

Paving of the divided highway between Holt and Mason will be finished by this fall, Kozlowski said. The Sargent Construction Co. of Saginaw will do the concrete work.

The new highway will join the present highway site just south of Harper road. The stretch of highway running past the Country Kitchen restaurant will be turned over to the county for maintenance, Kozlowski stated. There won't be any connection with the south end of the present highway near the restaurant with the divided highway near Harper road. Instead, traffic wanting to reach the old US-127 will have to turn off on Harper road and then drive west to the old highway.

Bulldozers and other earth-moving equipment are taking down the hill north of Harper road and moving it into the low spots south of College road.

"We have run into some excellent sand on this hill," Kozlowski stated. "We'll use it for the 2-foot fill under the concrete."

Kozlowski will head the by-pass crew which will do business west of Mason this fall. The crew will work right through the winter, according to the superintendent. However, paving won't be started on the by-pass until next summer, he added.

Plans call for the by-pass to swing south through the hill southeast of the Angell gravel pit.

"We estimate that more than 35 thousand yards of earth must be taken from the hill," Kozlowski said. "The earth will be moved to the low area centering around Columbia road. At least 35 thousand yards of muck must come out around Columbia road before the fill dirt will be taken off the hill."

Headquarters for the construction crew is in Holt. However, it will soon be moved to the Minneapolis-Moline building north of Mason.

Willis Smith Dies Following Polio Strike

Father of 2 Children Dies Suddenly, 6 More Cases Are Reported

Infantile paralysis snuffed out the life of Willis C. Smith, 27, of Mason early Sunday morning. He was the father of 2 children. Services were held at the Jewett funeral home Monday afternoon. Burial was at Maple Grove cemetery.

Smith's attack was sudden. A week before his death he was at work at the Oldsmobile plant in Lansing. He laid off work a couple of days with what he thought was a bad cold. On Wednesday the pains in his back and neck were sharp. He called Dr. A. V. Smith who diagnosed the case as polio and rushed the Mason man to the Sparrow hospital in Lansing.

Smith's condition grew steadily worse until his death 4 days later. He was born July 15, 1926. Surviving are the widow, Mary, and the 2 children, Mary and Willis, Jr., 3 brothers, Clyde, Stanley and Harold Smith of Mason; 4 sisters, Mrs. Nina Everett of Onondaga, Mrs. Betty Simmons of Sunnyville, California, and Mrs. Evelyn Curtis and Miss Shirley Smith of Mason; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. B. Smith of Mason; and the grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Smith of Lansing.

Smith was a prisoner of war while with the army during World War II. After a paratrooper jump on the Belgian Bulge, he was part of a 500-mile forced march to a concentration camp in Germany.

Brown-Cavender post of the American Legion conducted the funeral.

Polio increases
Smith was one of 31 known Ingham county victims of infantile paralysis this year.

Six attacks have been reported this week. Susan Clark, 5, of Holt was struck with polio July 4 but the diagnosis was not positive until this week. Mrs. Ellen Dalton of Webberville contracted symptoms Monday. The other 4 cases are in Lansing.

Ingham county has had 25 percent of all the infantile paralysis cases in Michigan so far this year," Dr. Robert Lanting of the Lansing-Ingham health department stated Wednesday. "Children and even adults should make a point of getting enough rest especially during the summer months. Fatigue is on the side of polio and it should be avoided. It is sometimes difficult to get enough sleep on hot summer nights and with the long daylight hours for work and exercise, it is easy to become tired."

At least 99 people out of a 100 who have polio never know it, according to the doctor. Paralysis is the only outstanding effect of polio, he explained.

Dr. Lanting also warned about becoming chilled. According to recorded cases that also enters into the picture, the doctor pointed out.

Commercial Space Is Going Fast

Hammers, trowels and paint brushes are flying at the county fairgrounds at Mason. Three 4-H club cattle and horse barns are being rushed to completion before the fair begins August 11. It will continue all week until Saturday night. Members of the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges are erecting a 44-foot dining room next to the present lodge kitchen.

Commercial exhibit space is practically gone, according to Fair Secretary Joy O. Davis. A few spaces are still available in the L-shaped tent. Space in the brick building has all been taken, Davis said.

Featured attractions in front of the grandstand will be about the same, Davis stated. However, on Monday night the program included 3 wrestling matches by TV news twisters. First event features Bull Allen, 240-pounder from Dallas, Texas, and Aldo Bogni, 245-pounder from South America. Another event will feature Mel Dove, 205 pounds, from

Elevator Firm Installs Cage In Court House

Builders of Court House Had Shaft Constructed Under Original Plans

Erectors for the Houghton Elevator Co. of Detroit are installing the cage on the court house job. By September 1 the elevator will be in operation, county officials said.

C. A. Van Order of Jackson and Reuben Crites of Lansing are installing the elevator.

The elevator shaft was provided when the court house was built a half-century ago. The supervisors never got around to providing the elevator until last fall when an appropriation of $25,000 was voted. Installation of the elevator had been discussed for 10 years.

Water pipes, steam pipes and plumbing installations had taken up most of the room in the shaft. It had to be cleared.

Clearing of the shaft was let by contract to Foster, Schermerhorn & Foster of Lansing. The bid price was $9,000 with the understanding that extras may be added.

The Houghton Elevator Co. was awarded the contract on furnishing and installing the cage in the shaft at $13,978.

Elevator service will be provided for the 3 floors, basement, main floor and the floor where court is held and the supervisors meet. The cage will not go up into the attic.

No operator will be needed for the elevator. It will be fully automatic. The maximum load will be 2,000 lbs. That means about 15 people. A 15 h. p. motor will operate the lift.

Electricians have brought a 440 line from Barnes street into the court house. The overloaded 110 line is also being replaced. The new power service will be cut in Sunday, announced Bob Stevenson, the building custodian.

Alger Boosters To Tour Ingham

Thursday, July 31, 5 days previous to the August 5th primaries, boosters for Fred M. Alger, Jr., candidate for the Republican nomination for governor plan to tour Ingham county with a motorcade and stops at all towns.

Beginning at East Lansing, the tour will wind up in Mason with dinner served by the women of the Methodist church at 7 o'clock. Under the schedule to be followed the Alger party with the candidate and his wife accompanying it, will arrive in Mason at the east side of the court house square about six o'clock. There will be introductions and handshaking and opportunity for meeting and talking with the secretary of state now seeking the office of governor. No formal speeches are planned, the committee announced.

The public is invited to attend the dinner for which a charge of $1.50 is to be made. Mrs. Herman Walt is local chairman for Alger activities and will have tickets for the dinner for any who desire to attend. Reservations are being made for those from around the county, both for those accompanying the tour and for others who plan to come for the fraternalizing hour and the dinner. Arthur Boetcher of the Lieberman company, Lansing, is Alger's county chairman.

Mexican Tortilla Industry Moves North

Mrs. Pablos Gonzales, left, does the flipping as Mrs. Mary Vasquez tosses the uncooked tortillas onto the hot grill. That's how tortillas are made in Mason's newest factory, the Gonzales Tortilla bakery at 125 North Cedar.

Tortillas are the staff of life South of the Border. With the coming of Mexican nationals and Texans of Mexican descent to work in cucumbers, onions and mint there developed a demand for tortillas. Mr. and Mrs. Gonzales recognized that demand and made a deal with Earl Alderman to build an addition to his store to house baking equipment.

The Gonzales tortillas are sold to stores, not direct to customers. In Mason tortillas are, of course, sold at the Alderman store. Other retail outlets have been established in Lansing, Edmore, Grant and Traverse City. In all those areas are Mexican field workers.

Tortillas are about the size of pancakes. They are thin, though. Lime is mixed with the corn. No yeast is used.

White field corn is cooked overnight. The corn is then stirred and run through a grinder. The mash is kneaded into a stiff dough. Because of the need for mass production, the Gonzales bakery flattens out the patties with a wringer. The thin patties are then placed on the grill.

When thoroughly cooked, the tortillas are packed 24 to a package.

In the Mexican diet tortillas are used instead of bread and potatoes. They can be used to wrap around meat or vegetables. They can be covered with ground beef or sausage. There are many ways, all good and all nourishing, to eat tortillas, Mrs. Gonzales explained. (Ingham County News Photo)

Expert Explains That Bee Legislation Would Not Prevent Nuisance

Mason councilmen let bees and bikes off with a warning at the meeting Monday night. Two weeks ago councilmen agreed that ordinances were needed to control both.

The proposed bee ordinance would have prohibited the keeping of bees in a hive less than 200 feet from the dwelling of another. Violators would have been liable to fines up to $100 or could have been made to serve 90 days in the county jail, or they could have got both.

The proposed bicycle ordinance would have forced every owner of a bicycle to register it at a cost of 25c. In addition, the ordinance would have made it illegal for any person to give another a ride on the handlebars or on the rumble seat. Violators would have been subject to fines of $10 or could have been sent to jail for 10 days.

Councilmen dropped the bee ordinance after listening to Bert Martin of the Michigan State college entomology department. Martin told the group that the mere regulation of distance is not the answer to preventing bees from becoming nuisances.

"Location is the most important factor," Martin stated. "A honey bee will travel 5 miles in search of food. High hedges or fences around the bee areas are much more effective for control. Such high barriers force the bees to fly high over the heads of people."

"While picking raspberries in my patch I have been stung by bees," Councilman Frank Dakin stated.

"But if it wasn't for the bees you wouldn't have had any raspberries in the first place," Martin stated. "Bees are necessary for most fruit pollination. That is their most useful purpose. Certainly Michigan State college and the agricultural department are not so much interested in producing honey as in increasing the pollination possibilities of fruit trees."

"The only way the keeping of bees has been curbed as far as the courts are concerned is when the bees are proved a nuisance," Martin stated. "Only then will the courts decide against bee keeping. Using the right techniques of bee control and by all parties working for a solution, most nuisances can be avoided. It's funny how a pall of honey to the neighbors once a year will reduce complaints."

Bee Keepers Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hawkins and John Fish attended the meeting. Councilman Ralph Stroppe, who 2 weeks ago presented the bee control ordinance, moved to stop further consideration of the ordinance. The councilmen agreed.

Water Charges

Wrog Computation Gives Wrong Answer To June Water Bill

There's good news for those who pay their water and sewer bills. Councilmen took steps at the meeting Monday night to make a rebate on the second-quarter water bill. An error in the method of computing the sewer bill will amount to about a $1.50 return to the average water and sewer user.

Under the city water and sewer ordinance which became effective April 1 of this year, the rates for water and sewer were raised according to the ordinance, the sewer charge was to have been based on the water consumption for the first 3 months of the year. The sewer charge should have been figured at 60% of the gross water bill during January, February and March.

However, the second-quarter sewer charge was based on 60% of the water bill for the second quarter of April, May and June. Water consumption jumps during those months when residents water their lawns. Such consumption does not overload the sewer system.

City Clerk George Kellogg and City Treasurer Mrs. Leland Austin told the councilmen that the error was due to a misunderstanding.

Councilmen agreed that the only thing to do was to credit all accounts with the difference between the correct charge and what was billed.

Parsons Makes Protest
The subject of water came up when Gerald Parsons, former alderman, told the councilmen that he objected to his high water bill.

"Water costs more than taxes," Parsons stated. "When I was on the council I was pushing for more water. Now that we have it, it costs more, too. People won't water their lawns and some won't even take baths if the high water rates continue. I'm looking for my old well."

Parsons left the council chambers before the computation error was revealed.

Mrs. Austin told the council that about 95% of the people who pay their water and sewer bills complain of the high cost.

"I can see why now," Mayor C. H. Hall stated.

Plans of School Are Being Drawn

Final plans for the new school building to be erected near the corner of Ash and Cedar streets should be available next week, according to Maurice Rickly, president of the school board. Preliminary plans were submitted last week. School officials suggested several changes. Final plans together with a prospective drawing of the actual building will be available, he added.

The school building project was passed by Mason electors in May.

Rains and high winds during this week and last have hurt Ingham's wheat crop. No matter how hot and dry the weather is this week end, the crop will not be as good as it was about 10 days ago.

Those are the opinions of Jim Hoekzema, county agricultural agent.

"Small grains have been the hardest hit by the wet weather," Hoekzema stated. "Most crop crops, especially corn and beans

Genealogist Is Guest in Mason

Mrs. Georgia Wisda of Norwalk, Ohio, was honored by a luncheon given for her by her cousin, Mrs. Fannie Henderson, at Morse's Restaurant Saturday. She was a house guest of Mrs. Henderson for the week end.

Mrs. Wisda is a genealogist as a hobby, and has compiled a 400-page genealogy of the VanCleave family. Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Wisda are cousins and both their mothers were members of the VanCleave family. This week end was the first time the cousins had seen each other in 25 years.

The VanCleave genealogy in the United States dates back to the 17th century when the first VanCleave to leave Holland settled in New York state. Members of the family have fought in all the wars, American Revolution, Indian Wars, War of 1812, Civil War, Spanish-American War, World Wars I and II and the current Korean War.

In their discussion Mrs. Wisda remarked that she is glad the family pioneered its way West to blaze the trail for oncoming generations, but Mrs. Henderson said that she wished they had stayed on Long Island and grown rich along with the Vanderbilts and the Roosevelts. Mrs. Wisda has found accounts of members of the family fighting Indians, being tomahawked, scalped or abducted by them, and fighting beside Daniel Boone in Kentucky.

Mrs. Wisda has also compiled a genealogy of her father's family, the Gosneys, which has been published. The VanCleave genealogy is to be published in the near future.

Mason folded last Thursday night and M. Moriah walked off with a 16-2 victory, the Ingham county championship and the right to move into the Flint state American Legion tourney.

Mt. Moriah did not last long at Flint. The Flint champion and Howell tripped up the Mt. Moriah boys in 2 straight games and back home they came.

In the last game of the 3-game playoff over at Marshall field Thursday Mason had the doubtful honor of establishing a new record for errors. A very lenient scorekeeper still had to total up 15 miscues. These lost the crucial game for Coach Harold Haase's crew before the first 2 innings were over.

Loren Shattuck made up for his bobbles by slamming out a terrific home run in the second inning. He also turned in a good job on the mound when he replaced Gary Crowe, the Mason starter. Crowe pitched good ball but did not have any support. Easy ground balls ran through the legs and up the sleeves of Mason infielders.

He pleaded not guilty, trial was set for July 29 and he was held in the Ingham county jail. Monday he changed his plea to guilty, paid $15 fine and costs and was released.

Arthur Roose of Mason demanded an examination on the charge of indecent exposure. The

Born in Toledo November 24, 1895, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Spink, he spent most of his life in Ingham county and graduated from Mason high school in 1915.

Prior to entering the service in World War I, he attended the University of Michigan.

Surviving him are the widow, Lois; a son, Douglas; a brother, Harold of Delhi township; and a granddaughter.

Services were conducted from the Gorsline-Runciman funeral home in Lansing Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery, Mason.

Weather

Over 2 inches of rain fell in Ingham county during the past week. The official reading was 2.28 inches, recorded on 4 different days. Friday there was a .01 reading, Saturday, 1.13; Sunday, 1.95; and Wednesday, .19.

The high winds Tuesday and Tuesday night blew away some rich Aurelius muck land.

The rainfall brought wheat harvesting to a standstill, but spruced up the corn and bean crops.

Not only has there been lots of rain this week, there's also been plenty of hot weather. The mercury soared to the 90's 3 days and the other 4 days. Average temperatures were in the 80's. Average temperature for the week was 78 compared with a 69-degree reading last year at the same time. The low for the week, 54, was recorded Wednesday night.

Temperatures for the week as recorded at the Mason Sewage Disposal plant were:

Ingham Women Prominent In Homemakers Conference

Two Ingham county women are playing a prominent part in the 25th annual Michigan homemakers conference held this week at Michigan State college. They are Mrs. Delmar Carr of the White Oak group and Mrs. Harold Glynn of Southwest Wheatfield.

Mrs. Carr represents the St. Mary's lake district of the state as chairman. Chairmen from the 11 districts in the state comprise the state home demonstration council. Mrs. Carr has participated in several meetings during the conference and has reported for all the counties included in St. Mary's lake district. She served as chairman of the local county executive board during the past year.

Mrs. Harold Glynn, who has also been prominent in local county extension activities, took part in the program Wednesday evening. The silver anniversary program was titled "Our Yesterdays—Our Tomorrows."

Mrs. Glynn was 1 of the 3 stars in a television program, "Then I Dipped into the Future." With her on-TV were Miss Margaret Harris, who has been an assistant state home demonstration leader for many years, and Mrs. Lloyd Spencer of Pullman, who has been state president since 1948.

The 3 women served as narrators, reviewing the history of Michigan extension work by looking at a scrapbook. Flashbacks showed the styles, prices, news items and extension interests each year. One particularly amusing incident to the women who attended was a lamp made 25 years ago. The lining, trimmings, and ornate brads differed greatly from the lamps the women made as one of their projects during this year.

Mrs. Glynn was the Ingham county recreational chairman during the past year, and in previous years served as a member of the executive committee.

The yesterdays of Michigan extension activities included recognition of women who attended the first homemakers conference in 1926, then called Farm Women's Institute. Women attending the Farm Women's Week from 1927 to 1935 were also honored.

Mrs. A. B. Whiting of Okemos received a yellow rose for being in attendance at one of the first Farm Women's Weeks.

The Shiawassee county chorus gave a short concert, "With a Song in My Heart," directed by Miss Marian Hermance, county home demonstration agent. The chorus, composed of women in home demonstration groups in Shiawassee county, was organized in January of this year.

Ten Ingham county women are attending all of the conference. They are: Mrs. M. H. Avery, Route 4, Mason; Mrs. Henry Frohwerk, East Lansing; Mrs. Leon J. Fellows, Mason; Mrs. Nova Whiting, Okemos; Mrs. Jay Alvis, Lansing; Mrs. Marion David, Lansing; Mrs. Marcell Fox, Lansing; Mrs. Delmar Carr, Route 1, Webberville; Elizabeth Chamberlain, Williamston; and Mrs. George Frost, Williamston.

Many more Ingham county women attended some of the meetings, though they did not stay in East Lansing for the entire conference. The Ingham county women met Tuesday morning in the west lounge of the dining room in West Shaw hall for a get-together.

According to Mrs. Annette Schaeffer, Ingham county home demonstration agent, women from Ingham are the only ones who have used any means of identification, as far as she knows. They are wearing wooden nameplates with macaroni letters spelling out Ingham. The nameplates were made at women's camp last month.

Any women are welcome to attend the meetings, Mrs. Schaeffer emphasized, whether they belong to an extension group or not. The final session will be held Friday, July 25, at 10:30 in the auditorium. Mary Barber, home economics consultant, will speak on "The Homemakers' Responsibility as a Citizen."

Extension Club

The Wilson extension club meeting, which was to be held July 31 with Mrs. Earl Dunsmore at Pleasant lake, has been postponed indefinitely due to the serious sickness of her brother and sister-in-law, who are in the Sparrow hospital. Members are asked to give their aprons to the secretary, Helen Collar, by or before July 31.

Southwest Wheatfield Mrs. Frank Everett entertained the Southwest Wheatfield extension group at her home on Burkley road Wednesday. Mrs. Dan Patrick and Mrs. Frank Church, assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Jesse Sherwood baked a cake honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Ella King. She received a gift from her secret pal.

Mrs. Erma Pollok received the guest prize.

Mrs. Roger Church, secretary and treasurer, opened the business session. The Michigan extension women's creed was repeated and 16 members responded to roll call by telling their favorite radio or television show.

Mrs. Roger Church read the minutes of the executive meeting held at the home of Mrs. Ruth Goble. Mrs. Jean Yager collected pennies for the penny collection

Services Held For Vern Every

Vern Every, 75, died Monday in the St. Lawrence hospital following a sickness of several weeks.

He was born June 22, 1877, in Mason, the son of George and Martha Every. Surviving is one sister, Mrs. Pearl Aseltine of Detroit.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Jewett funeral home with Rev. Raymond L. Norton of the Fairview Methodist church officiating. Burial was in the Fairview cemetery in Dansville.

Farm Bureau

Northwest Bunker Hill The Northwest Bunker Hill Farm Bureau group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Meridith Patterson, Friday evening for the regular meeting. Refreshments of cake and ice cream were served by the hostess.

A-H Clubs

Canaan Aggies Members of the Canaan Aggies A-H club met at the home of Don Doolittle Saturday. The fair was discussed and entry blanks were given to members. The group took a short tour to see Leon Everett's calf and Vernon Bird's turkeys. They then played games and had refreshments.

PETTEYS SELL HOME Mr. and Mrs. Mason Reynolds have purchased the Ever Petseys home at 409 East Oak street. It was Mrs. Reynolds' home as a girl, and the Reynolds were married there 53 years ago.

In the absence of Mrs. Marian Pollok, Mrs. Ronald Church has joined the group.

Mrs. Yager told the group about the mystery trip to Detroit. Mrs. D. V. Robertson, Mrs. Earl Smith and Mrs. Jean Yager turned in their aprons to be sold at the fair for the county building fund. Mrs. Frank Everett was chosen to attend homemakers week at the college.

The August meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jesse Sherwood.

I seek nomination, not as a politician, but because of longtime experience as a member of Ingham County Sheriff's Dept. A lifelong resident of Ingham county. I have served in all capacities, from patrolman to being in charge of jail administration for 3 years. I pledge myself as a 24-hour sheriff—always available. Lower expenses through more efficient use of equipment and better administrative control. Closer watch on prisoners to prevent numerous escapes in past. Will surround myself with other experienced law-officers rather than political job-seekers. Better cooperation between Lansing and Mason sheriff's offices and with other law enforcement agencies. Money to Burn!

We hear tell that there's a Maharajah or something in Asia who is paid as much gold as he weighs. No doubt he has money to burn. But for us more ordinary people money is pretty hard to come by. That's why bank savings are so important, because when money is put into the bank it draws interest. The Maharajah needn't worry about interest, but we ordinary folks can't let this get away either. We welcome the good news that comes several times a year... when the interest on deposits is compounded and put into our accounts. Don't let your money go up in smoke. Come in today and open a savings account. Your passbook will be your visual record of your financial progress.

Holt-Grovenburg Districts Merge

Grovenburg school district, No. 3, Delhi township, will be annexed to the Holt school district August 16. The voters of the Grovenburg district voted 11 to 4 for annexation at their annual meeting, and the Holt school board passed the resolution necessary to complete the annexation at the Holt annual meeting July 14. Inclusion of Grovenburg's equalized valuation of over $200,000 will bring Holt district's equalized valuation over the $3,500,000 mark.

Jay Parkhurst won the election for Holt school trustee with 52 out of the 55 votes cast at the annual election. This was the first election held as a registration district, rather than the town meeting type of election. Parkhurst succeeds himself as trustee. Andrew Farnsworth, Cassius Shuff, Lawrence Johnson, Mead Fluke, Otto Hartig, Mrs. Frank Landers, Mrs. Richard Asteock, Howard Chappell, Mrs. Jack Armour, Mrs. Harold W. Austin and E. H. Spraker volunteered to serve on the citizens committee on building and site for the proposed school building. The members volunteered when President Landers called for interested people. A meeting with architects is planned for Monday, July 28. Four classrooms in the Presbyterian church annex will be used during the coming year while new classrooms are being built. The new building is expected to be ready in September, 1953.

Fourth and sixth graders assigned to the church annex will be all bus pupils plus pupils near the church on Keller road, Bertha street, Park lane, Bond avenue, Coolridge, and the east side of Cedar street. The 2 groups of fifth graders assigned to the church annex will be the bus pupils and all those in the area east of Cedar street, north of East Delhi, and west of Park line plus all those living anywhere on Bond avenue, those living on West Delhi out to Walnut street, on Walnut street south to Sycamore, east on Sycamore and thence across to South Cedar and back to the stop light, and including all the territory bounded by these streets.

The Holt school board approved a plan for using correspondence courses from the University of Michigan for small groups of students who desire courses which the high school cannot offer because the classes would be too small. By the board plan students pay $4 of the tuition cost and the school board $10.

Miss Roberta Van Wert of Pontiac has been hired as a junior high school social studies teacher for the coming year.

Firemen Learn New Life Saving Method

Mason firemen are being schooled in the back pressure—arm lift method of artificial respiration. The new method is newly approved by the Red Cross and other service organizations.

"Victims" on the floor are Norman Austin at the rear and Ralph Silsby in the foreground. Ruchl Kruse is working on Silsby and Bill Parsons is the operator on Austin. Chief Leland Austin stands at the left. Observing in hand for the ride. Tickets are available at the extension office in Mason.

Club Excursion Planned
Buses for the annual excursion, which is this year to Holland, will leave Williamston and Mason at 7:00 a. m., Tuesday, July 29. The Mason buses will leave from Peters drug store and from the bus stop in Williamston. One bus will stop in Okemos and the others at the bus depot in Lansing to pick up people there. All 4-Hers are urged to be on time and have their noon lunch with them if they plan to take it, and swimming suits for swimming at Lake Michigan upon arrival there.

Some buses will go directly to the state park at Holland while others will stop at the Netherlands museum, the miniature Dutch museum and also at the wooden shoe shop before going on to the lake. A 1-hour boat ride on Lake Macatawa will be available during the day to those who wish to take the ride.

Members and leaders are urged to purchase tickets this week so that enough buses will be on

The pressure and expansion principle resembles normal breathing to a closer degree than the conventional method of artificial respiration, Chief Austin stated.

The victim is laid face down with elbows bent. The face is turned to one side. The one giving the respiration kneels at the head of the victim. Conventional artificial respiration calls for the operator to straddle the victim.

Dairy members and their leader, George Liebeck, held a dairy judging meeting last Wednesday morning. Donovan Conkrite, F. A. teacher of Stockbridge high school, assisted the dairy members on judging Brown Swiss, Holstein and Guernsey cows.

Clarice Cook was chosen to be a member of the food preservation judging team to go to the state show at Lansing.

Marion Liebeck is home from University Hospital.

The members will take part in the talent show finals at Grass Lake on Tuesday evening: John Liberski, Vivian Liberski, Marilyn Liebeck, Mary Ann Musolf, Virginia and Bill Lindstrom and David, Alan and Clarice Cook.

The gold fish is closely related to the carp.

A campaign placard nailed to a utility pole on US-16 induced a Hoosier to try to find a missing limb on his family tree.

"Re-elect Lindemer" was the sign which attracted the attention of Terrence B. Lindemer of Lowell, Indiana. After seeing the sign the Hoosier Lindemer stopped at the capitol in Lansing to learn about the Ingham representative, perhaps to see if he wanted to claim relationship.

The Indiana Lindemer then wrote a letter to Rep. Lawrence B. Lindemer, setting forth that Grandpa John Lindemer came to Indiana from Germany in 1891.

The Ingham Lindemer had to reply that the chief ancestor of his tribe came to the United States before the Civil War. His son, John George Lindemer, now lives in Florida. The grandson, who is Lawrence Lindemer's father, lives in Syracuse, New York.

DO YOU CARE

Who Goes to Congress

FROM THE 6TH DISTRICT?

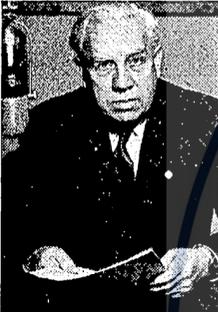

I am KIT CLARDY, a Lansing attorney. This is the only public office I have sought.

My reason is simple: I am so disgusted by the way our national government is being run that I have decided to do anything and everything I can to help clean up the mess in Washington—BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE.

No one asked me to run.

I have not been drafted. But I'm fighting mad and I intend to wage a fighting campaign on the terribly important issues of the day.

If the voters of the 6th District send me to Washington you may expect fireworks on the floor of the House.

I do not intend to sit quietly by and let financial crockpots and parlor pinks take over further chunks of our government.

And in fighting such influences I devoutly believe I am expressing the sentiments of the bulk of Americans.

4-H Camp Ends at Algonquin

Fifty Ingham county 4-H club members returned Saturday afternoon from a week at the Algonquin lake 4-H club camp near Hastings.

Though considerable rain fell during the week at camp, all campers reported a very fine time. Billy Diamond, who was there for only half of the week, said that it was the best 3 days he remembered spending anywhere.

Several campers learned to become intermediate swimmers and a smaller number to become regular swimmers. The attempt at camp was to give instruction to all youngsters and encourage them to learn to swim if possible during the period there. Each member while at camp made some article to take home to show a new handicraft activity learned.

Friday, the judging contest was held near camp for poultry, crops and garden judges. Members from Ingham county who participated in this contest and all who are old enough will be considered for the eliminations at Michigan State college, August 7 and 8.

Free Fair Ends At Stockbridge

Stockbridge's first annual Free Fair, under the sponsorship of the Mackinder-Gleason American Legion post 510, came to a successful conclusion Saturday night. Heavy rains curtailed most activity Friday night, but clearing skies on Saturday brought a huge crowd to the fairgrounds at the south edge of town.

In addition to the midway brought here by the Downriver Amusement Co., there was an extra large tent filled with Commercial exhibits.

Many prizes were given away by merchants gift certificates by the Legion, and a bicycle by the Legionettes.

Law Will Boost Security Pay

More than 8,000 people in the Lansing area will receive higher social security payments as a result of the social security amendments which became law Friday. The first increased checks will be for the month of September, delivered early in October. W. Scott Hamlin, manager of the Lansing social security office, emphasized that no one needs to apply for the increased payments. "The Social Security administration is already changing the amounts," he pointed out. "We expect to get them changed in time to have them in the mail October 3, the regular delivery date, but if in a few cases we don't meet that schedule we'll send the regular check and make up the difference in a later check."

Hamlin pointed out that although nearly every family receiving payments would receive an increase, the additional amount would not always be divided among all the members of the family receiving monthly checks. In some cases the entire increase will go to the retired worker.

Under terms of the law, most families will get an increase of about $5.00; some will get less and some will get more. A few benefits now being paid, and most of those payable in the future, will be based on earnings after 1950 instead of after 1936. The amended law provides a new formula for determining the amount of the payments in these cases. Under it, a retired worker's monthly benefit would be 55 percent of the first $100 of his average monthly earnings plus 15 percent of the remainder up to $300.

Beginning September 1, the new law increased to $75 a month instead of $70 the amount of money a beneficiary may earn and still receive the monthly benefits. Self-employed people entitled to old-age and survivors insurance benefits may receive the payments for each month of the year if their net earnings during the entire year are not over $900.

The amended law contains a provision of special importance to self-employed people who have retired or plan to retire during 1952. Before the passage of the amendments their earnings for the year in which an application was made could not be used to figure their old-age benefit payments. Now, those self-employed people who originally applied for benefits in 1952 may re-apply at the close of the taxable year and have their 1952 earnings used in figuring their monthly benefit payments. In general, this will increase the monthly benefit payment to self-employed persons.

There the many fire trucks of his section stand constantly manned, ready in an emergency to rush to the scene. "In the case of a bomber accident," Airman Stolz said, "our first thought is helping the crew to safety. We do that while another part of the crew works on the fire."

Kiwanians Hear Talk on Polio

Harry Elsenhimer of Lansing told members of the Mason Kiwanis club that 20 to 25 per cent of Michigan's cases of infantile paralysis are in Ingham county. He spoke at the weekly meeting of the club at the Mason golf course.

Elsenhimer is on the board of directors of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation. The Lansing man reviewed the facts that most cases of polio occur in the warm months of the year. Summer days are long and sleep is difficult. Fatigue should be avoided, Elsenhimer stated. People should make a point to get enough rest, especially in the summer, he added. Dr. Robert Lauring, director of the Lansing-Ingalls health department backed up Ingham's percentage figures. "The doctor added that by the end of the year, Ingham's share of polio cases should not be any greater than in previous years."

On July 12 the club took a trip to Lansing and went through Nehi Bottling plant and the State Journal building. They then took part in M. H. Avery's radio program.

A club tour on July 22 started at the Henry A. Wright home. Avery took part and 15 projects were visited, 7 gardens, 4 horses, 4 dairy cattle and a beef steer. The tour ended with a picnic at Cedar Bend roadside park.

TODAY'S Meditation

Whoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life. (John 4:14) Read John 4:7-14.

One summer day, a traveler strolled for rest and pleasure near the mouth of a large river. Coming at the time when the ocean was at low tide, the traveler saw a splendid spring of pure, fresh water, clear as a crystal, gushing up from the rocks. Twice a day the salt tide would rise above that beautiful fresh water fountain and cover it. But when the tide spent its force and went back again to the ocean's depths, the spring would send out its pure water.

If the human heart be really a fountain of love to Christ, it will send out its streams of fresh, sweet water even into the midst of the tides of politics, business, and social activities. The tides of life and its interests may seem to overwhelm and engulf. But when the world has spent its strongest, bitterest force, those who have within their hearts the abiding presence of the Holy Spirit will still be victorious. They will come forth with clean hands, pure hearts, the mind of Christ, and a conscience free of offense toward God and man.

PRAYER
Our kind, heavenly Father, Thy mercies are ever toward us. This day give us courage and faith and love. Let no difficulty conquer us, no discouragement cause us to lose heart, for we are alive to Thee, through Jesus Christ. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Christ sweetens the wellspring of the heart.—Katherine Bevis (Texas)

MICHIGAN OUTDOORS

New Game Laws Can Backfire

Our Michigan conservation department has definitely established the courage of its convictions in the setting of longer seasons on some of our more prominent Michigan game, but they'd better pray that nature cooperates!

Most bird and animal populations are subject to fluctuations over which man has no control. High and low peaks seem to run in more or less definite cycles which have sometimes been predicted well in advance. If upland game bird population holds at its current high level, if Michigan rabbits continue to multiply and sustain their present numbers, the new, longer seasons will be heralded as a wonderful move on the part of the conservation department. Hunters will be lavish in their praise of the decision.

However, let nature put the skids on partridge or bunnies in one of her cycles and the hours will be lost! They'll be buying at the door of those game biologists who said that longer seasons wouldn't put a dent in populations. They'll be howling that too much hunting pressure did it! The birds and bunnies have been chivvied and harried relentlessly in the elongated season! The very seed stock has been all but destroyed! It's murder! And it's all the fault of the conservation department.

Gun Pressure Won't Count

Personally, I hold with game men who don't think guns can seriously effect the numbers of upland game birds, squirrels, rabbits or raccoons from year to year. They're spread over a very wide area in hundreds of thousands of acres that are never even hunted.

The so-called "seedstock" is invulnerable in this wilderness. They'll prosper as nature will let them in her cyclic moods, despite the booming of a half-million guns in hunters' hands. However, in my own mind, it's a different story with pheasants.

Pheasants Can't Take It

We're probably giving pheasants as much of a going over as they'll stand, and the reason is twofold. Their range is limited, and right now there are probably several million of these popular birds fairly well concentrated in southern Michigan. They're easy for the hunter to reach. Their cover is limited, and worst of all too many careless "sportsmen" kill off an alarming number of hens every fall.

Today's farmer has to be a shrewd businessman and operate his farm on a sound financial basis, Michigan State college agricultural economists say.

July 24, 1952

Farmer Peck's Wife

Corn was 50 1/2" on July 4th. Cousin Peg and I set a Visiting Day. Anna Lawrence was an inspiring teacher.

It looked like Marlelyn and Agnes would win the contest! Their sweet corn was 48 1/2 inches tall. On the Fourth of July each of the 11 members in our local 4-H club was to measure his sweet corn to see who had the tallest. When all of the measuring and checking were done the winners were Donald and Dillah Cook with 59 1/2 inches. Shirley Fogarth's was 57. We think that's pretty good for the Fourth of July. In spite of a long dry spell there is a lot of good looking corn.

I had a ripe tomato on the Fourth and we've had quite a few the last week. Also peppers and cabbage. We like salads and it surely seems good to pick the makings of one out of your own garden. All winter it made me laugh in a grim sort of way, to see how I bought cucumbers and paid a pretty good price, too, for what I would throw to the pigs if they smelled though and added a zip like nothing else could! Now I'm providing my own zip—how wonderful!

Ruby's movies of the television program we visited recently were very good—at least they were clear and showed in color how we looked and acted—but I would not call any movies I was in good. I bet Zelma will have a big laugh when she sees the film—just like real movies.

You all know how you intend to go visiting to a certain place and days, weeks, months and years go by and still you never go. I guess the best way—so you'll find them home and make it so they plan on it—is to set a date, then stay home and polish up the house—and presto—company.

At the reunion, Cousin Peg and I hatched up a day like that. She lives at Flint and hated to drive all the way up here if I wasn't home (something she has done). She said she'd be here early and when she drove in at 8:30 I almost fell over. Pete said afterwards that he had heard her say she'd come early when she took Justin to work and that I should listen better. She had her 3 daughters dressed alike and they did look so nice.

Aunt Grace McDaid, Mary Helen McDaid and her 3 little boys came, too. They had been saying for years that they were coming. Those are the cutest little boys imaginable—just like 3 peas in a pod. Susy and Sally said they didn't see why we couldn't have 1—the little—as long as they had 3. He was a year old. He was creeping along on the grass but when he came to the driveway and he wanted to get across to the other children he walked on all fours just like a bear. It did look comical.

Elizabeth came down after dinner. She can't eat things other folks eat and she said it was no fun to watch us eat a big chicken dinner. She has been bloating lately and wanted to be extra careful. George's girls came with their grandpa as their car was being fixed that day. They all came later. Never saw anyone so proud as they all are of Janice, their year-old baby. She is a little doll. Ruby and her 2 daughters came over so we had a big day—and some day soon we're going to have another.

We got the girls a plastic wading pool and they almost live out there. Sally is as brown as a berry but which berry it is I do not know for never saw any brown ones. They are getting quite brave in the water and duck their heads and flop around. As soon as they are old enough we want them to learn to swim. This affair is 60 inches across and big enough for them to float on plastic toys.

One year stands out as the happiest year of my school life. It was Gratiot county normal class of 1934. There were 29 of us and we were just like a big family. Everyone was so friendly and along with a lot of work we had some awfully good times. Anna Lawrence made us feel important or so it felt—worthwhile, I guess is the word.

We studied and read, among them some books that lifted me up—A Lantern in Her Hand, Aldrich; Jean Mitchell's School Wars; Giants in the Earth, Rolwaag; The Stump Farm, Rose; Evolution of Dodd, Smith; The Brown Mouse, Quick; and many others under the recommendation of Miss Lawrence. It seemed every day was different and exciting and wonderful. Before, I had been just another "Brown Mouse" but here each of us was encouraged.

I feel I owe Miss Lawrence a lot. This little poem I copied at the front of a notebook I still keep—in this notebook I wrote all sorts of thoughts and quotations, poems, advice and sentences I liked or heard that year.

"I am but one, but I am one. I cannot do everything, but I can do something. What I can do I ought to do. God helping me, I will do." And she encouraged me to write. This column is because she used to say, "You ought to do something with that gift God gave you of making little everyday events seem interesting and wholesome." Her influence on my life and what she has meant to me is like this, another excerpt from that little notebook:

"And thou, my friend, whose gentle love yet thrills my bosom's chords, How much thy friendship was above description's power of words." Well, the Charles Hoopers invited that normal class Tuesday evening for a party to honor Anna Lawrence. There were 12 of the old group present with Addie Parker, some of the husbands and wives and children, which made 25. We did have a good time. She showed her movies of her adopted state, Arizona, (Tucson) and they were beautiful. Some were of the desert in bloom as they have had rain out there this year. Then the flowers in their yard were extraordinarily fine. At times she has written that they spend so much time on them that letter writing suffers. You can see this. Hope someday we can go out there.

I'd like to tell more of that evening but already this is longer than it should be—will have to add a little more, though. We added the children and altogether there are 65 offsprings. Glen Shroyer still says what he wants

Texan Meets South American In Wrestling Match at Fair

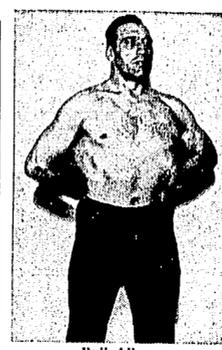

Bull Allen of Dallas, Texas, is pitted against the South American champion Aldo Bogni August 11, the opening night of the county fair.

Allen, like Texas, is big, he talks big, too. He weighs 240, and is regarded as one of the roughest men in the ring. Bogni weighs 225 and is capable of taking care of himself.

Mel Dove, former college champion, will meet Jimmy O'Day in another bout on the opening night of the fair. Dove hails from Chicago, O'Day from St. Paul. Dove weighs in at 205 and O'Day at 215.

The 4 wrestlers will also clash in what is known as a 4-man tag team match where just about anything goes.

Joy O. Davis, secretary of the Ingham fair, said the wrestling bouts were secured at the request Bill Allen of women who have viewed wrestling over TV.

Prisoner Kills Ingham Inmate

Harry Edward Moore, 21, of Lansing was killed by a fellow prisoner in Jackson prison Sunday.

Moore was sentenced to prison 2 years ago following his conviction of breaking and entering the Cities Service gasoline station, 711 Center street, Lansing, February 14, 1949. He is the son of Mrs. Frank McDaniels of Holt.

to, which makes us laugh; would have liked to hear him sing but guess no one thought of it till too late.

Bernice Kirby Cook has taught the longest and incidentally that's as it should be, as I remember she was given a superior rating during practice teaching days.

I could go on forever—it was such a pleasant evening. Many thanks to the Hoopers for their hospitality and the delicious cookies, tea and lemonade.

Miller Elected To School Board

The annual meeting of the school district of Williamston community schools was held Monday evening, July 14, with approximately 65 persons attending.

The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were given, and president Clarence Morris gave the report on the status of the outstanding bond issues. The bond issue of 1929 has unredeemed bonds totalling $34,000, of which the last are payable in 1958.

The issue of 1949 has unredeemed bonds totalling $200,000 scheduled to run through the year 1965.

The present and anticipated conditions in school enrollment were discussed at length. The need for a far-reaching program to provide for the future requirements of the school district were summarized with the possibility that a citizens committee being organized to study and provide data, might be available in the near future.

The report of the election inspectors indicated that 231 ballots had been cast during the day to fill the position left vacant by the expiring term of Ora G. Langham. Lee R. Miller was the successful candidate for this office, receiving 173 of the 231 votes cast.

The board of education, which later held a special meeting, re-elected the following: Clarence Morris, president; Harold Oesterle, secretary; and Everett White, treasurer.

Death Claims Old Resident

Miss Nellie I. Traver, 87, lifelong resident of Williamston died Sunday night, July 13, following a sickness of 3 months at the hospital in Okemos.

Miss Traver was born December 27, 1864 in LeRoy township on the corner of Dietz and Rowley roads northeast of town. Here the family lived when the father joined the Union forces, and fought during the Civil War. When Nellie was 5 the family moved to LeRoy township on Meech road where Miss Traver lived the remainder of her life until she entered the hospital in November, 1951.

As the parents grew older, Miss Traver took over more and more of the farm duties as she devoted her life to caring for her aged father and invalid mother, and a nephew, John A. Traver.

After the death of her parents who lived to be very old, she continued her work of caring for the nephew and farm work with his assistance. For the past 15 years, her brother, George Traver, and his wife made their home with her until she was taken to the hospital.

The Traver family, of which she was a daughter, is closely woven with the history of Williamston, her brother George having taught the first music here publicly with singing bees and teaching school. She was an active member for many years in the Methodist church. She was also active in the Woman's Relief Corps of Williamston No. 96 until her health failed, when she was made an honorary life member of the local corps. She was a member of the Daughters of Union Veterans for many years here, and a member of the Ingham County Historical Society.

Surviving are a brother, George Traver of Williamston, and several nieces and nephews. The body was taken to the Gorsline-Runciman funeral home in Lansing and removed to Gorsline Brothers funeral home in Williamston Wednesday.

Services were held Thursday afternoon, July 17, at 2:00 p. m. with Rev. Horace James officiating. Burial was made in the family lot at the Rowley cemetery. Pallbearers were Charles Traver, I. Herbert Miller, Marc G. Traver, Harold Traver, Robert Parslow and Dick Traver.

Search Continues For Fugitive

Williamston police, sheriff's officers, state police and the local Civil Air Patrol joined last Sunday in a search of the Williamston area for a man believed to be the only one of several escaped convicts from the Jackson state prison still at large.

The man, with several days growth of beard, was seen by Bob Gotschalk, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Salisbury, in the Salisbury garage on Corwin road about 10:30 last Sunday morning. He chased young Gotschalk toward the house and then disappeared.

Local police were notified, sheriff's officers and the local CAP joined in the hunt all day but failed to locate the man. Bud Nixon flew police officer Gordon Yeager over the area in a thorough search from the air.

Monday evening a man answering this description chased a little girl into her house at Webberville, then took off down the railroad tracks towards Williamston. Local police were notified and a search was again made including several vacant buildings in the vicinity, but no trace of the fugitive was found. It is thought that hunger will eventually drive the man into the open somewhere where he can be apprehended.

Book Talk

from
Ingham County Library

Hours open to the public at the Hall Memorial Library: Daily 2-5; Mon., Wed., Sat., 7-9 p. m.; Tues. and Fri. noons, Sat., 10-12 a. m.

Now that Eisenhower has been nominated for the presidency of the United States, there is bound to be even more interest in the books which are being written about this glamorous soldier. The latest of these, which you can obtain through your Ingham County library, is MAN FROM ABBILENE, written by Kevin McCann, a former assistant to the general. This book, which makes clear that every stage in Eisenhower's life groomed him for world leadership, is a summing up of Eisenhower's political, economic and social beliefs, all obtained from information in his letters, speeches, diaries and memoranda.

Some of the other important books about Eisenhower include John Gunther's EISENHOWER, Allen Taylor's WHAT EISENHOWER THINKS, Harry Butler's MY THREE YEARS WITH EISENHOWER, Helen Nicolay's BORN TO COMMAND, and CRUSADE IN EUROPE, by General Eisenhower himself.

THE FUTURE OF AMERICAN POLITICS, by Samuel Lubell, is another timely book for the person who wishes to inform himself before November's election. This is a general analysis of American politics of the "Roosevelt Revolution" and the "Fair Deal" and is a book filled with important and penetrating observations of the forces which are shaping our political life. It is "based upon a scrupulously nonpartisan study of election trends and political attitudes in three thousand counties, plus first-hand investigations in key cities and rural areas from coast to coast."

For relaxation, there is THE VILLAGE, by Margharita Laski. This is a novel of present-day England, containing an appealing romance, although, also, including a study of the class system which is being upset there by a change in economics.

1948, by Edward Byrnes, is an amusing novel, satirizing modern world politics and the desire for peace. The title comes from the name given to a mysterious instrument, created as a prank, from a baby carriage and a pawn broker's sign of 3 balls, attached to the mast of a neutral warship. The strange instrument caused a great deal of excitement, and horrified the peoples of the world and their governments' into action.

Other new books of interest to adults include:

By the Way, the autobiography of Francis McConnell.

The Groves of Academe, by Mary McCarthy.

A Season in England, by P. H. Newby.

The World Cannot Hear You, by Gwyn Thomas.

How to Use Hand Tools, by Maurice Reid.

Manual for Chevrolet Owners, by C. E. Paeker.

Behind the Crimson Blind, by Carter Dickson.

TV and Electronics as a Career, by Ira Kamen and Richard Darr.

Search for a Hero, by Thomas Phillips.

The Strange Loyalty of Doctor Carlisle, by Elizabeth Seifert.

I Was Stalin's Prisoner, by Robert Vogeler.

First Things First

The Big Issues To Be Met By Every Voter

We must find a remedy for work stoppage. Technical schools are teaching that the incentive profit-sharing system is the coping thing... Right now it has been eagerly accepted in many industries wherein everybody benefits. Tax exemption will speed the early adoption of the incentive-sharing system.

High taxes, resulting from corrupt banking laws (the biggest Washington scandal) are another source of work stoppage. We can reduce these unnecessary trade barriers to free enterprise by expanding the lawful or honest part of our money system; thereby lessening danger of national bankruptcy. For national security we must press for air supremacy and a consistent foreign policy.

Get behind these big issues with a man to stress them, and you won't have a war going on that we are afraid to win.

Dogs got in Harmon Conlin's sheep last Tuesday and Thursday nights and injured them to the extent that most of them died. Three stray dogs were captured Saturday night when they were trying to kill rabbits from 2 different places in town. They are the same dogs that killed sheep belonging to Harmon Conlin and no doubt are the same ones that killed Mrs. Pypor's sheep several weeks ago.

Muck Experiments Will Be Outlined

Muck farmers of Ingham county will have an opportunity to learn about latest developments and view experiments with various crops at the muck farmer's field day, to be held at the muck experimental farm, near Bath, July 30.

J. P. Hoekzema, county agricultural agent, said that tours of the plots will begin at 10 a. m. and again after the noon program. These tours will give farmers a chance to view results of experiments being conducted on the farm. Representatives of the various Michigan State college departments cooperating in projects will be on hand to explain the tests.

In addition to the regular program, commercial machines for farming muck will be exhibited. A fertilizer placement attachment for a celery transplanter and bulk storage onion bins, complete with a conveyor system, will be open for inspection. A rotary type tillage unit mounted on a small tractor will be shown.

Tillage experiments, use of soil conditioners, irrigation trials, fertilizer placement tests, soil fumigation, and various sprays are among the many developments to be explained.

Work with the Russet Burbank variety of potatoes will be shown along with sprays for prolonging storage life of onions, new chemicals for weed control, and foliage sprays and dusts for feeding plants, Hoekzema said.

County Agent Has Helpful Bulletins

Four new bulletins are available at the county extension office, according to J. P. Hoekzema, county agricultural agent.

"Ventilation for the Modern Dairy Barn" as its title implies, gives information on how to ventilate old barns or plan ventilation for new ones. The authors are J. S. Boyd and R. L. Maddox, Michigan State college agricultural engineers. They say that dairy barn ventilating systems should provide fresh air of suitable temperature without drafts, remove excess moisture and remove undesirable odors. They tell how to do these three jobs in the Extension Bulletin 310.

Technical Bulletin 227, "Family Use of Farm Homes" tells how farm families use their homes and should help farm families in planning their homes, according to authors Alice Thorpe and Irma H. Gross, Michigan State college home management authorities.

Extension folder F-10 (revised) tells how to select the best hybrid corn and gives advantages of several proven hybrids, Hoekzema said.

"Preventing Off Flavors in Milk" is the title and subject of Extension folder F-170, prepared by Michigan State college dairymen. It gives the characteristics, causes and prevention methods for coping with off flavors in milk.

Milk was first sold in glass containers in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1878.

Save up to 450 Lbs. Feed On Every 200-lb. HOG

Hogs fed only grain usually eat about 675 lbs. for every hundred pounds of gain. But when mineral is added they eat only about 450 lbs. of grain for every 100 pounds of gain. Minerals help save about 225 lbs. of feed for every 100 pounds of gain—enough to feed an extra hog for every two raised. Come in and ask us how you can cut your feed cost and get those good results with Murphy's Minerals.

Red Feather Agencies Set Goal Of $630,000 for Fall Campaign

Ingham residents will be asked this fall to contribute $630,000 for the 1953 operations of the Red Feather agencies of the United Community Chest and the United Health and Welfare Fund.

The goal for the annual campaign was announced last week following a meeting of the Community Chest board.

Most of the $630,000 will be raised through solicitation in the Greater Lansing area. The remainder will be assigned to the 13 townships outside the area.

Funds will be raised in the out-county area only for the Boy Scouts, the Red Cross and the state and national agencies of the United Health and Welfare Fund. The Red Cross will be included in the united campaign for the first time.

Among United Health and Welfare agencies which will receive funds from the drive in the out-county area include: USO, Michigan Heart association, United Cerebral Palsy association, Foundation, Leader Dog League for the Blind, Michigan Association for Better Hearing, Michigan Epilepsy Center and 20 other state and national agencies providing services in the fields of health, welfare and recreation.

Marion Marshall of Okemos will head the township division of the campaign.

Playing cards are believed to have come from Asia.

Swords Clash on Fox Screen

Stewart Granger as "Scaramouche" battles and clowns his way through the colorful Italian-directed film of the same name. The romantic interest is furnished by Eleanor Parker and Janet Leigh. The film features beautiful film sequences in technicolor and some of the flashiest sword play ever put on film.

A big week is coming up for Fox moviegoers. Several top hits will be filmed.

Thursday and Friday, July 24-25, Arlene Whelan will be starred in "Flaming Feather," in technicolor.

Drama Coming Saturday

A searching romantic drama that daintily deals with the seldom-mentioned problems of modern marriage will be shown when George Stevens' "Something to Live For," a Paramount picture, appears Saturday.

In his sensationally successful "A Place in the Sun," producer-director Stevens framed a memorable commentary on the trials and confusions besetting modern youth. In "Something to Live For," he dramatically uncovers the forces that can shatter an ideal marriage.

Joan Fontaine, Ray Milland and Teresa Wright are the stars in this absorbing story of a young executive, his wife, and the "other woman"—a beautiful actress whose talent is slowly being sacrificed to her passion for drink. Milland, as a reformed alcoholic, meets performer Fontaine while working for an organization that aids problem drinkers. His mission of rehabilitation soon flowers into a passionate romance, and he is eventually forced to choose between returning to his old life and helping the girl who cannot win her battle with alcohol without him.

Sword Play Highlights Film
A fencing duel in the classical tradition of the late Douglas Fairbanks and the longest fencing sequence ever made for a motion picture forms an action high spot of M-G-M's "Scaramouche," technicolor drama based on the adventure classic by Rafael Sabatini, which opens at the Fox Theatre Sunday, July 27.

Stewart Granger and Mel Ferrer are the duellists in the sequence, which runs a record of 8 minutes on the screen, more than doubling the previous fencing scene record of 3 1/2 minutes of "The Three Musketeers." Granger and Ferrer had to memorize 87 separate sword "counts" for the scene which incorporated 28 stunts and situations.

Moreover, the setting was unusual. The orthodox setting for a duel is at dawn behind an elm. But Director George Sidney had his duel take place at night in a brightly lit 18th century theater. The bout begins when Granger, portraying an actor, leaps from the stage into a theater box to challenge Ferrer. The duel starts in the box, ranges down the corridor into the foyer, down the center aisle and comes to a climax on stage in full view of the audience.

To complete this action sequence, Granger and Ferrer required 18 swords and 4 pairs of fencing shoes. Each of the stars wore out 2 pairs of shoes in the process, and their swords were constantly replaced because the slender blades often whipped out of true line. "Casualties" of the spectacular sequence included several potted plants in the theater foyer, numerous stage props and 4 slashed canvas backdrops.

Film Shot in Turkey
Movie fans are the same the world over. Director Joseph L. Mankiewicz discovered when he took a company to Istanbul and Ankara to film scenes for "5 Fingers," the Twentieth Century-Fox film which comes to the Fox Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, July 29 and 30, with James Mason, Danielle Darrieux and Michael Rennie in the star roles. Day after day, for the 7 weeks the film company was in Turkey, a gallery of 10,000 fans watched the filming. It took more than 300 police officers to handle the crowds. Mankiewicz, however, liked the mobs because they helped him in selecting extras for the picture. Sometimes he used as many as 500 Turks a day.

Racing Picture is Next

Motorcycling, one of the most popular sports in the world, provides the thrilling, action-packed theme for RKO Radio's new drama, "The Pure-Fit" thriller, featuring Bill Williams, Carla Balanda, Robert Armstrong, Frank McHugh and Steve Flag. It is billed with "Texas City" as a double feature Thursday and Friday, July 31 and August 1. The Western stars Johnny Mack Brown.

Capturing the true spirit of the sport, the story deals with a daredevil race rider, his best pal—who is perfecting a revolutionary new motorcycle transmission—and a girl reporter whom they both love. Complications develop when the rider accidentally injures his pal during a race and the girl believes he did it on purpose. Many exciting scenes follow before the story comes to a smashing, breath-taking climax.

Appearing in support of the featured players are many professional riders who are well-known to motorcycling fans. They participate in all the popular motorcycle field events and also perform in a number of sensational stunts. Leon Barsha directing the production by Lewis J. Rachmil.

The Health Department

Ingham people should make up their minds what they want in the line of health service.

That must be determined before a director is hired to succeed Dr. Lanting.

Public health doctors and nurses and other personnel are enthusiastic over public health. They honestly believe that more money to hire more people means better health for more people.

There are members of the board of supervisors who are satisfied with minimum standards.

A few years ago the county had only 3 health nurses to visit the schools and to guard against contagion. Then came the expanded county health department program, serving the county outside of Lansing. That brought in a doctor or two, supervising nurses, sanitarians, more nurses and other personnel. Five years ago the Lansing health department was merged with the county health department. The staff was again expanded with dentists, more nurses and others added. At the peak there was even a health educator, who served as a publicity director.

Health department values are hard to measure.

It's easy to measure the miles of blacktop and concrete and gravel in a county road system. It's easy to measure a drainage system. It's different with a health program. There can be no certainty that extra nurses or an extra doctor can cure anybody or prevent the spread of disease. Most people take for granted that extra workers will result in extra safeguards, but there can be no guarantee.

Figures can be produced showing the drop in contagious diseases. The cause of that drop is hard to determine. Some doctors may say it is because of better diagnosis and more potent drugs. Others may argue that the improvement is because of better nutrition or better housing or better sanitation. Still others may attribute the drop to public health programs.

Perhaps public health workers have claimed too much. That's why some people question the worth of public health agencies when an outbreak of polio develops. There does not seem to be any connection or any distinction between polio outbreaks and health departments. Areas not served by public health departments sometimes escape the disease. Some areas where the disease strikes the hardest are well served by public health agencies.

Before a successor to Dr. Lanting is hired the Ingham board of supervisors through its public health committee must determine just how much public health Ingham should have and just how much money should be made available for it. Then a health program can be adopted and carried out without the friction that otherwise usually develops.

Registration Is Not Election

Ingham county has more registered voters than ever before. The interest whipped up for registration is all to the good—if we remember that registration means nothing unless those who are registered vote.

For the first time last week Holt conducted a school election under the registration plan. There were just 55 voters who went to the polls. Leslie, using the registration plan, drew only 39 voters to the polls. The Ingham district, with a 3-way contest for one office, interested 150 voters sufficiently to cast their ballots. Here at Mason a town meeting type of election the number of voters fell just short of 50.

So the registration total has little meaning. It makes no difference how many are registered. The payoff is how many vote.

This enthusiasm we whipped up in the registration campaign must be followed through at the August 5 primary and at the November election if it is to have any meaning.

Fear of Party Breakup

For 2 weeks Republicans worried over the split in their party ranks.

Now it's the Democratic turn. Democrats are worried over differences of opinion between the industrial north and the south. Democrats, too, are fearful of a party breakup.

Maybe the country would be better off if both parties were broken up and there developed a new alignment.

As Emerson said, "The barbarians who broke up the Roman empire did not arrive a day too soon."

The Best Farm Plan

That rain last Friday and the showers on Sunday did more actual good to individual farmers than all the schemes for farm relief ever hatched in Washington.

Support prices based on parity mean nothing unless there are crops planted, cultivated and harvested. No matter how high the price of beans goes the farmer who has lost his bean crop reaps no profit. The corn-hog ratio means nothing unless a farmer has the hogs and the corn to feed them.

All this talk of agricultural economics is so much blige unless the weather is right.

Farmers who depend upon their own efforts and take advantage of the weather will reap more profit and more satisfaction than those who rely on Washington.

Like most of the early settlers in this part of Michigan, the Clark family of Bunker Hill, stemmed from western New York. Genesee county in that state was a well matured section with all the facilities which the early years of the 1800's provided. A casualty of the War of 1812, Samuel left behind him a sizable family. Among his sons, Abijah was "hound out" to a family of Quakers, was released when he became 14, worked as a farm hand and saved his wages, and at 21 purchased a farm, took a wife and settled down.

Unwisely he signed some papers for a friend, lost it all, came to Lenawee county in 1837. Without means to keep his family going, he was forced to return to Monroe where work could be had. After a year of this he returned his family to his little clearing and rude log cabin. Some years later this farm was sold and the Clarks came to Section 5 in Bunker Hill township, Ingham county, where a fine farm was developed.

William H. Clark was the eldest son. Then came a daughter, Sally; another son, Holland, who died at 2 years; a third son, John Lee, who made the farm his own in later years; and a daughter, Ada. At the outbreak of the Civil War, both sons and the husbands of the 2 daughters all enlisted. All returned alive but during their absence the father died.

Family Comes to Mason William H. Clark came to Mason after the close of the war and became the owner of a hotel which occupied the site where now stands the postoffice. In connection with the hotel business there was the usual food barn and in the case of the Clark House, also a livery business.

"Bill" Clark, as he was known to everyone was a big, portly man. Mrs. Clark ran the hotel and reared a fine family of sons and daughters. William L. Clark became owner and publisher of the Ingham County Democrat, in later years merged with and absorbed by the Ingham County News. Another son, Charles, in later life located at Saint Johns where he acquired the Clinton County News which he successfully published for many years. Still another son, George, became a skilled compositor and after a period during which he worked on Mason and Lansing papers he went to Detroit to work on the Detroit Free Press. He is still on the job there.

A daughter, Lillian, married Frank Minar, one of the sons of Lyman Minar, Great Lakes captain whose sons followed in his footsteps to form a dynasty of lake captains famous in the annals of Great Lakes shipping. Lillian did not live many years but she left a daughter, Mrs. Harry Freshour, who cherishes memories of her sainted mother.

Louie, Pete and Joe Stid were disappointed in their trip East. They went to Washington and traveled widely in Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and Pennsylvania. They didn't see as good Yorkshires as those they left behind on their Vasey farm.

A little piece about wild strawberries (see Page 4, this section) spurred me on to do research on strawberries. There were no domestic strawberries until 1835 when the Hovey Seedling No. 1 was imported from Europe, shortly followed by Early Scarlet.

Strawberries are native to America. They were called woods berries or meadow berries in the East, beach berries along the Pacific Coast all the way from Chile to Alaska. The same berries flourished in the mountains of the West Indies and in Hawaii.

Long before the White Man came Chilean Indians had domesticated a variety with "fruit as big as walnuts." A Frenchman took 5 strawberry plants from Chile to Europe in 1714 and there hybridized them with berries from the East Coast of the United States and with similar berries from Europe and Asia. Mrs. Sarah Owen had already developed the shortcake and the strawberry business was soon in full swing.

In every state in the union strawberries grow—nowhere so sweet and full of flavor as in Michigan. Maryland, Louisiana and Tennessee once were out in front with strawberries, with Michigan usually holding fourth or fifth place. Oregon is now in first place with Washington second and Michigan a close third. Michigan's commercial production in 1950 was 1,352,000 crates which sent Michigan into first place but Oregon regained the position this year.

Mechanization of the home and air conditioning in many buildings has made fanning almost a lost art. People nowadays sweat more wielding a fan than they would if they merely sat still. That's because only a few odd-timers know the secret of wrist action. Most of us wave our arms.

At the combined Presbyterian-Methodist church services Sunday the ushers went to the store-room and came back with armful of Putnam Dye fans distributed by Ware's drug store some years back. Brother Norton, preaching on the "Power of the Spirit," had to watch a demonstration of the power of the arm. How people waved, and with their exertions the sweat rolled down their faces. Women blew wet hair away from their eyes. Men mopped their brows with their free hands. All because arm action instead of wrist action was employed with the fans.

I noticed only 2 women who brought their own fans. They came and comfortably kept themselves cool with a minimum of energy. They barely kept their fans in motion. They heaved no flies. They unconsciously (maybe subconsciously) is a better word for church) and with the utmost grace demonstrated their bringing up in a day when fans and the use of them were of social significance. The 2 I saw were Mrs. J. H. Snyder of the Presbyterian flock and Mrs. Earl Salisbury of the Methodist.

The fan goes back to remote times. Sennacherib, the Assyrian, had female servants to cool his face with feather fans. The sculpture of Ancient Thebes in Egypt show that fans were in use thousands of years before Christ. Japanese invented folding fans. Chinese made light fans with ribs of bamboo and webs of rice paper.

English society in the time of Queen Elizabeth popularized fans for social purposes. Fans became an aid to coquetry. A woman could express her varying moods with the way she held or waved the fan. So the books say. A hatpin could speak even louder.

garet Shaw. Among her verses is one about "Bill" Clark. I have her consent to publish it.

As I have stated above Mr. Clark was a portly man. Any day when the weather was at all suitable, he would be found sitting in a wide seated arm chair, tilted back against the building, about midway between the door to the hotel office and the entrance to the combined feed and livery barns. From this point of vantage he could watch everything and at the same time exchange greetings with passersby.

Diagonally across the street lived the Horton family and here is the way Madge remembers her good neighbor:

BILL CLARK Tilted back against the house front In his sturdy wicker chair, With his lathered hat pulled lower To protect him from the glare, Of the brilliant summer sunshine, I can see, neath memory's sky, A quaint, old fashioned fellow With a twinkle in his eye.

And sometimes other erones Stopped to pass the time of day And to sit in sunny comfort Just to while the time away. He always made them welcome And kept a vacant chair On the sidewalk by the window For the men who gathered there.

He seemed to lack ambition And he had no scheming plan As to what he might accomplish To surpass another man. He was just content to labor In the brilliant summer sun And to doze in sweet contentment While the work was being done.

Then I recall quite vividly One hot and sultry day When a little girl with golden curls Came near him in her play. Then something painful happened— She fell and cut her hand On a piece of glass well hidden by the gleaming yellow sand.

At her sharp cry of sudden fear And whimpering distress, An old maid rushed to action And to his bosom pressed The little wretch of misery; He soiled and cut her hand Passed o'er her curls in sympathy That seemed to understand.

So quietly he soothed her And held her in his arms; A quick stick of gummed plaster Gave up its sugary charms And, as he held the little form, He whispered soft and low, "There, darling, it will soon be well, Let's bandage it up—no."

And while he talked, a handkerchief Was torn in tiny strips And soon the pain had vanished Out of little fingers. But still he held her gently And talked in kindly ways "My little one must be quite brave In all her days of play."

"For soon will come the later years, Years that bring grief and pain, And she must learn to heavily smile, To make life sweet again. When she becomes a woman There may come days of grief For sometimes love once hurt us And tears bring no relief.

"So don't forget, my golden one, The value of a smile; It makes life worth living And gives each worldly trial." Ah! dear old man whose life was full Of tenderness and love, He held me many blessings, That went with him up above.

And doubtless there are many, If they think of him at all, Who merely see a shiftless man With chin lined 'gainst the wall, And so they sit in judgment Of one they little knew And count his life as wasted Just by things he didn't do.

But often those who work the least Bring more results, by far, In things that seem to count the most When life is in its just at part; And I believe the Father Who knows our hopes and fears Has welcomed one who took the time To dry a baby's tears.

Country & Town

By JIM BROWN

Last week, because I was caught up on my farm work and had nothing to write about, I submitted a riddle in this column. Answers are still coming in. The story went that a man hanged himself in a room which contained only a hook, rope and a drain on the floor. There was only one door and that was locked from the inside. Question: How did the man get up next to the ceiling, throw the rope around the hook and then make the death jump?

The answer to last week's crime quiz is this: The man spent a day lugging cakes of ice into the room, then locked the door and climbed up on the ice for the jump. The ice melted and drained through the drain in the floor. Simple?

One peck of polished Pontiac potatoes is being readied for Rep. Lawrence Lindemer in Stockbridge. He called collect Thursday night with the right answer. I will deduct 2 spuds to pay for the call, Larry.

Altogether, I received better than 50 replies to the problem including 2 long distance calls. I have invited Dick Smith and his wife over for mashed potatoes anytime they can make the trip. They called from Pleasant lake, but they were nosed out by Lindemer.

Mrs. Earl Salisbury said she thought the answer was tricky like the answer to a riddle Earl had told her. Seems that a woman was locked in a room with no windows or other outlets. Yet, when the captors went to get her, she was gone. The room was heated by a steam plant. That's about the only clue.

Yep, you guessed it—the radiator. I'll go over that again. The "rade ate her." Now say it fast and you get "radiator."

Investigator Versile Babcock of the sheriff's department believed that the man stood on his mother-in-law's shoulders for the jump. She was nice enough to let him. Then she walked out the door, slamming the night lock.

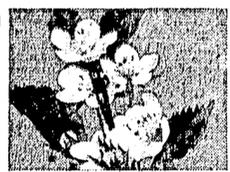

That rain Sunday was just what the doctor ordered for most row crops. It was a peculiar day with driving rains and blue sky and sun changing the watch almost every hour. It stayed off combining operations, though, for probably most of the week.

Farmers I've talked to claim it will be well into August before all the wheat is in. If farmers shocked their wheat like they used to most of the wheat would have been cut before Sunday's rain.

The American Legion boys in Stockbridge put on a real fair last week. I was over there and took a ride on the boob-hoisting equipment. Local merchants had a fine exhibit tent. The Stockbridge Free Fair gets bigger every year. Watch out, Ingham County Fair.

Strawberries Grow Wild

The big red strawberries that taste so good with shortcake and cream come from plants growing in home gardens and on truck farms. They are carefully tended to make them produce berries that are just right for eating fresh or for making into preserves.

There was a time, though, when the only strawberries to be had were wild ones growing in fields. To get the tasty fruit in those days, you had to take a basket and search for a berry patch.

If you were living in the eastern half of the United States, the chances are that you would have found good picking. That is the region where the wild strawberry has been abundant for years. It is still plentiful from New England to Florida and west to Oklahoma and South Dakota.

The place to look for the plant, says the National Wildlife Federation, is in fields, pastures, and grassy slopes. It grows out in the open where there is sunshine to keep the ground dry and to ripen the fruit in the late spring.

Like cultivated strawberries, the wild strawberry is a low plant—from 3 to 9 inches high—that spreads over the ground. It grows from runners, or shoots which reach out and take root at many places.

Fastened to the runners are leaves, growing in clusters of 3 leaflets apiece. Each leaflet has a rough, hairy surface. It is about 2 inches long.

Here and there among the leaves are small white flowers. Each flower is from a half to three-fourths of an inch in diameter and has 5 round, white petals.

Attached to the same stalks that bear the flowers are the sweet red berries. Though not as large and attractive in shape as cultivated strawberries, the field ones look and taste very much like the kind that come from gardens.

As you might guess, the reason for the resemblance is that wild strawberries are the ancestors of the garden variety. By working with the wild plants, experts have produced the strawberries which we cultivate.

night, 55 degrees usually is cool enough, although temperatures as low as 40 degrees are better.

Health Problems Exist on Farms

"Basically, rural health problems are little different from those in many urban areas." That is the conclusion drawn by Paul A. Miller of the Michigan cooperative extension service, when he presented a report to the president's commission on health needs of the nation.

Miller, a rural sociologist with the extension service, was on a 7-member panel on rural health needs and made a report recently of the panel findings to the full commission in Washington, D. C.

Miller went on to explain that rural environment makes health problems more severe, but that rural people feel a solution can be found by bringing the community tradition of self-help into full play.

Poultry Disease Is on the Wane

Recent figures supplied the U. S. department of agriculture by the Michigan State Poultry Improvement association show conclusively that Michigan hatcheries are winning their battle to eradicate pullorum disease in poultry.

H. C. Zindel, Michigan State college extension poultryman, said that during the 1951-52 season, Michigan hatcherymen tested 688,104 birds in 1,804 flocks for pullorum disease using the rapid whole-blood test. On the first test only 2,738 reactor birds were found for a percentage of 0.39%, the lowest in the history of testing in Michigan.

Harvesting of Seed Should Be When Thoroughly Dry

"In harvesting small grass and legume seed, the material should be as dry as possible before combining or threshing," says C. M. Harrison, Michigan State college farm crops authority.

Harrison suggests mowing and windrowing in early morning, while the material is still damp. This will aid in preventing seed from shattering. Once dry, the seed may be threshed, but care should be taken to set the threshing equipment to do the best job.

Among other harvesting suggestions, Harrison said that settings for speed and air are particularly important as the material is easily blown through without proper threshing. One way to check is to hold a hat under the tail gate of the combine to see if a lot of seed is being blown over.

"Since the seed is small, it cannot be seen lying on the ground. As a consequence, many fields are poorly threshed. Care in handling the field and in setting the equipment will result in a much higher percentage recovery than is generally the case," Harrison reminded farmers.

With the investment in time and money being what it is, it is important to get all the seed possible for greatest profit from the job.

Davis Herd Sire Is Medal Winner

Charles Davis of Onondaga and Robin Carr of Ploverville are the owners of Coffeydale Sir Prince Bold, registered Holstein bull production sire by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Based on the superior milk production of the bull's daughters as compared to their dams, the silver medal honor marks him as an outstanding sire of the Holstein breed of dairy cattle.

To attain this high honor, at least 10 daughters of production-tested dams must have themselves been tested with records averaging at least 3.4% test and 410 lbs of butterfat on a 2-milking, 305-day basis. Furthermore, the average records of the daughters must exceed their production "expectancy" by 40 lbs of fat. Expectancy for the daughters is defined by the association as the point midway between the production of the dams and the average of all tested Holstein cows.

The bull's 11 qualifying daughters, producing an average of 483 lbs of butterfat on a twice-daily milking, 305-day basis, exceeded the production of their dams by 100 lbs of butterfat and averaged 3.49% test.

This award is based only on official herd improvement registry or advanced registry records supervised by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America in cooperation with the various state agricultural colleges.
