

Woman Awaits Examination on Murder Charge

When taken before Justice of the Peace Roy W. Adams Wednesday afternoon on a charge of first degree murder, Mrs. Margaret Jordan, 39, demanded examination. Judge Adams set the examination at 10 Monday morning and ordered Mrs. Jordan held in jail without bail.

The appearance of Mrs. Jordan, charged with killing Lenwood Stowe, 40, by running him down with a car early Sunday morning, lasted less than a minute before Judge Adams. Mrs. Jordan was brought down from her cell on the third floor of the jail to a conference room on the second floor. Waiting for her there were the judge and her attorney, Howard A. McCowan of Mason.

As the judge picked up the warrant and started to read it, McCowan interrupted with the statement that he had read it, and that Mrs. Jordan demanded examination. Mrs. Jordan nodded her head in corroboration.

Because the charge was first degree murder, Judge Adams explained to Mrs. Jordan, she would not be admitted to bail. She made no comment.

The time of the examination is only tentative, Judge Adams said. He indicated it would probably be adjourned to suit the convenience of Prosecuting Attorney Paul C. Younger and McCowan. The judge issued the warrant Tuesday. Mrs. Jordan was held in jail for investigation from Sunday forenoon until Tuesday morning pending a study of the case by the prosecutor.

Mrs. Jordan is facing examination for murder and Lenwood Stowe, another woman's husband, is now in Maple Grove as the aftermath of a night of drinking and a pre-dawn brawl Sunday morning.

Body Was Tossed 60 Feet
Stowe died when he was hit by Mrs. Jordan's car. She said she had only intended to scare him, not to injure him. But she broke his leg, gouged a hole in his head, and crushed his chest. The impact tossed Stowe 60 feet away into a field.

Sheriff Willard P. Barnes has a statement which bears the purported signature of Mrs. Jordan. In it the Mason woman told of the events leading up to the hitting of Stowe within a few rods of his home at 2290 Doble road, just north of Holt road.

On Saturday night she had a date with a DeWitt man she and another Mason woman had met the night before at the Red Rail north of Lansing, the statement sets forth. At 8:40 Saturday night Stowe telephoned her and wanted to join the party, she said. Mrs. Jordan, the DeWitt man and the other Mason woman picked up Stowe at a house on Holt road at 10.

The DeWitt man went on ahead in his own car to get a table with the other 3 following in Mrs. Jordan's car. They arrived at the bar about 10:45, according to the statement, and remained there drinking and dancing until the place closed at 2:30. Stowe, according to the statement, supported the DeWitt date for Mrs. Jordan shortly after the party got underway at the bar.

The 2 couples had agreed to meet at a restaurant after leaving the Red Rail, but they didn't, said Mrs. Jordan. She and Stowe went to one restaurant and left without being served she said, and then visited another. They didn't eat there either, she said, because the proprietor wouldn't cash a check for Stowe. So they started home, Mrs. Jordan said, leaving US-127 at Holt and driving east on Holt road to Doble.

Upper Plate Fell Out
There had been a previous dispute, said Mrs. Jordan, after she had refused to permit Stowe to go to her house at 416 E. Maple in Mason. At the corner of Doble and Holt roads, Mrs. Jordan said in her statement, the dispute resulted in a struggle with Stowe striking her about the face. In the melee the car door jarred open and Mrs. Jordan lost her upper plate, she stated. That ended the fighting, she declared. The 2 climbed out of the car and Mrs. Jordan groped under the car for her plate while Stowe held a cigarette lighter so she could see.

Mrs. Jordan Took a Ride
Mrs. Jordan said she then, after a few words with Stowe, turned her car around and drove west a little over a mile to Okemos road, 5 miles north on Okemos road to the Okemos school and then turned back. She said she decided

DR. PHILIP T. MULLIGAN, mayor of Mt. Clemens, had to drag himself away from the F. C. Anderson & Sons store in Dansville Wednesday afternoon. His Dansville visit was "just what the doctor ordered," the surgeon-major declared to well-wishers in the picture above. The Mt. Clemens mayor went to Dansville to take part in the Michigan Week mayor exchange program. In the picture are Bud Anderson, A. O. Greenough, F. C. Anderson, Mayor Mulligan and Chairman for the Day Lawton Gauss. The mayor liked the informality of Dansville hospitality. He talked fishing, crops, hunting, and photography with zest. He urged Dansville people to continue to help their village prosper.

Imported Mayors Govern Two Towns

Stockbridge and Dansville folks turned on their official charm Wednesday during the Michigan Week exchange of mayors program. Local welcoming committees pointed with pride as the visitors nodded with approval.

Dr. Philip T. Mulligan, mayor of Mt. Clemens, got the welcome treatment in Dansville. He spent the morning talking with village merchants, visiting the C. A. Diehl & Sons farm and viewing public buildings. The doctor inspected the town hall, the county library and the Ingham Township Agricultural school.

In the afternoon Mayor Mulligan attended a dinner at the school and later addressed the students.

"The Mt. Clemens mayor is serving his fourth and final year as mayor, he declared. He is a surgeon.

"I took on the job of mayor as a public duty," Dr. Mulligan explained to some folks who had gathered in the Anderson general store. "Now it's someone else's turn."

He was impressed with Dansville and its citizens. The mayor took satisfaction in seeing individual private enterprise at work. "It'll be back," Mayor Mulligan declared.

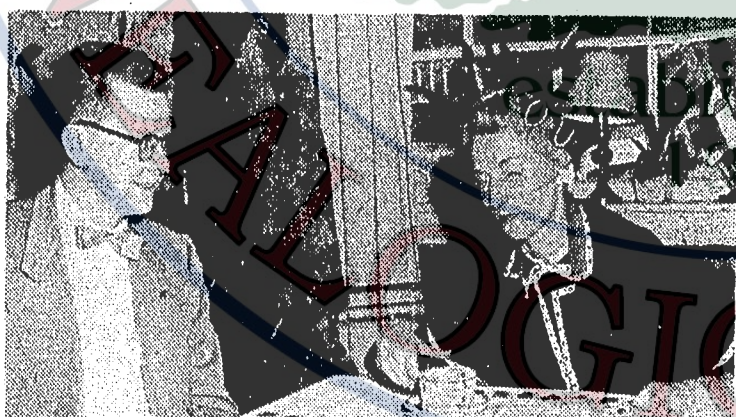

Official members of the reception committee were Lawton Gauss, chairman, Bud Anderson and A. O. Greenough. Searl Briggs, school superintendent, worked with the committee to make arrangements for the dinner and the school program.

In Stockbridge for the day was Mayor Glenn S. Allen of Kalamazoo. Mrs. Allen and their 2 children, Holly, 7 and Susie, 5. Originally planned, Holly and Susie were to be enrolled in the Stockbridge school for the day. Holly had attend the second grade classes, but Susie was more interested in seeing the town. She turned down the offer to spend some time in the kindergarten class.

The mayor and his family were taken on a tour of the village, including the water plant, the Veterans Memorial field, churches, Behner at the noon dinner sponsored by the Stockbridge Lions club. Mayor Allen spent the day with Stockbridge people. He spoke at both the Lions dinner and at the school.

WHILE MAYOR ALLEN talked government with Stockbridge folks, Mrs. Allen charmed them with her smiling ways. She, too, made the entire tour of Stockbridge. She talked with teachers, women on the street and business women. Mrs. Allen made many friends and hinted that she wouldn't mind living in Stockbridge one bit. (Ingham County News photos.)

Members of the Stockbridge Lions club sponsored a dinner at Turney's restaurant at noon. Dr. F. G. Behner was general chairman. The Allens were given a loot bag containing samples of everything manufactured or

Fruit Growers Hope for Best After Freeze

If Ingham fruit crops escaped serious damage in the sub-freezing weather this week growers will credit it to a miracle. On Monday and Tuesday nights the mercury dropped to the freezing point or below and it went down almost that far Wednesday night.

The miraculous part is that peaches, plums and cherries were in full bloom and had been pollinated before the freeze set in. And apple blossoms were still in the shuck. If there can now be a few days of bright, warm weather the bees can finish their work of pollinating apple blossoms.

If the warm weather comes the apple orchards should be in full bloom Saturday and Sunday.

John Robinson at Tuttle Orchards, Leslie, reported that cherries, plums and pears suffered some damage but that peaches probably escaped, because peach blossoms can withstand cold weather in the spring. At the Tuttle Orchards ice covered blossoms Tuesday morning. Apple blossoms were not far enough out to suffer serious damage, Robinson said.

Alfred Wardowski of Blossom Orchards at Leslie, while still keeping his fingers crossed, was hopeful about his fruit. His plums were in full bloom Saturday and Sunday. He said he thought his peaches were pollinated before Monday's cold wave set in. His pears were not hurt seriously, in his opinion.

Apple blossoms at the Wardowski orchard are set heavier than last year, and with a few days of good weather, the prospects for a crop should be good, Wardowski said.

Recording thermometers in the Wardowski orchard registered 28 Monday night and 32 Tuesday night. The snow and drizzle and the breeze protected the blossoms somewhat, growers said.

Duane Baldwin, Stockbridge onion grower, credited the snow and rain with saving muck plantings.

Retailers Learn Customer Wants In Merchandising

Members of the Merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce took a lesson in store management Monday night. They heard Keith Odle of the continuing education department of Michigan State college give his report on trading area surveys.

The surveys taken in Michigan cities showed that customers demand store cleanliness and good lighting, Odle said. Customers also want attractive windows and attractive store interiors with open display cases at convenient heights so they can inspect goods offered for sale, Odle added.

Merchants should offer customers the best selection possible, said Odle. National advertising keeps customers informed of new features. In only 2 of the 15 communities surveyed did customers put price first as a consideration, Odle stated.

Actually the most important factor in a store's success, according to the survey, Odle reported, is the training of the sales staff. Enthusiasm, diplomacy, politeness, determination and knowledge of what the goods will do for customers are requisites for sales people, he said.

Friendly and courteous on the part of the sales staff are essential, even more so in small towns than in big cities, Odle explained.

Parking has become a major problem in most cities and is now resulting in the new development of shopping centers on the fringes of cities.

Odle declared that cooperation among business men is important in developing trade for a city. He urged merchants not to kill Dollar Days and other special events by trying to unload old merchandise. He also urged business men to take part in civic affairs.

K. A. Zimmermann, president of the Mason Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting held in the Presbyterian church dining room. There was a 6:30 dinner. George McKeehan had charge of the program.

Zimmermann gave a report of the activities of the Merchants division. Frank Guerriero discussed the need for additional housing.

"The group decided to continue the present setup of the Merchants division under the Chamber of Commerce, with Zimmermann authorized to appoint 5 retailers to serve as an advisory committee. Zimmermann had previously charged the Chamber of Commerce with inactivity and some of the directors with lack of interest. The 5 new men are Robert Coon, Max McCann, Ray Perkins, Frank Guerriero and Bernard Cady.

Dirt Will Fly Saturday

Good weather is in prospect for the Ingham plowing contest scheduled Saturday at the F. C. Anderson & Sons farm in Dansville. The belting and backing contest will begin at 10 a. m. The main event—the plowing contest—will start at 1. So far 21 contestants are signed up for the activities. The annual event is sponsored by Ingham county implement dealers and gasoline distributors for 4-H and PFA boys. The Anderson farm is a mile east of Dansville on M-36.

Fight to Ban Hot-Rods Loses by Single Vote as County Takes Over Fair

By a vote of 17 to 16 the board of supervisors refused Tuesday to deny the newly created fairgrounds committee the right to enter a contract to stage hot-rod races at Mason.

Supervisors also took over the county fair through creation of a new committee made up of 6 supervisors and 4 others. Under the new set-up the 10-man committee will operate, manage and control the county fair and when the fair is not being held the 6 supervisors on the committee will have control of the grounds.

The arguments over the county fair situation and automobile racing consumed 45 minutes Tuesday morning and 2 1/2 hours in the afternoon.

In the audience were about 20 Mason residents of the area, there in silent protest against the proceedings. No one spoke. Supervisors Dean Taylor and Hugh W. Silsby of Mason led the fight against the hot-rod races but when the votes were counted they were one shy.

Voting to refuse permission to the fair board to stage the races were Lloyd Aseltine, Alalendo; Abram J. Becker, George Sidwell and R. F. Wall, all of Lansing; Silsby, Taylor and S. A. Bemert, all of Mason; Hubert R. Bullen, Aurelius; Austin Cavanaugh, Bunker Hill; Donald Crakes, Leslie; Fred Marshall, White Oak; Phillip Mills, Wheatfield; Bruce Stone, V. A. Triquet and Chairman John Patriarche of East Lansing; and Raymond Wilcox, Lansing township.

Refusing to restrict the fairgrounds committee were Supervisors Fred L. Kirchner, Robert H. Klock, Zigmund Kowalski, Frank W. Perrin, Christine Poxon, Frederick E. Tripp, Frank Preuss and Milo Ward, all of Lansing; Harold Pletz, East Lansing; K. G. Brown, Williamston; John B. Fay, Holt; Willard Jewett, Vevay; Alva Cronkhitte, Stockbridge; Berton Johnson, Wheatfield; Earl Leeman, Williams town; Clarence Puffenberger, Onondaga; and Charles Woods, Ingham.

The fairgrounds committee of 6 supervisors, while it wasn't told not to lease the track for hot-rod racing, still doesn't have to take over the lease from the former committee which lacked authority. A meeting of the new committee is scheduled for Tuesday.

Mason's opposition to leasing of the grounds for racing is still alive. The city council has police power inasmuch as the fairgrounds lie wholly within the city. The zoning angle may also be used, city officials indicated. The fairgrounds property is zoned residential.

Orphaned by action of the supervisors was the Ingham County Agricultural society, incorporated to conduct the Ingham fair. The corporation still exists but has no place to hold a fair, and no real reason to continue. Unless the county takes over the debts, estimated at $3,000, the old agricultural society will have to settle, or as individual directors or stockholders will have to pay. The new fair board, Younger ruled, has no liability for old debts or contracts. However, Supervisors Aseltine and Brown declared that the new board does have a moral obligation to pay up the debts which Brown said were largely for improvements to the grounds.

Only 10 parcels fail to sell at Ingham Tax Sale

Out of 180 parcels on the delinquent tax list, 170 were sold at Mason Tuesday and Wednesday. The remaining 10 were bid in to the state.

The 10 not sold, explained County Treasurer Laurence Parker, carried heavy drain taxes or other special assessments. One Stockbridge farm was among the 10. The rest were Lansing suburban parcels.

For the 170 parcels sold, tax title buyers paid a total of $6,342.94. Practically all the buyers, Parker said, were investors, buying for the interest they will get when the parcels are redeemed.

Property offered was delinquent for 1951 taxes. It was sold for the taxes. Owners have a year in which they may redeem by paying 1 1/2 a month. They have an additional 6 months to redeem by paying a penalty of 50% plus $5 per description.

There were 746 descriptions on the original sale list. Taxes on all except 180 were paid before Parker opened the sale Tuesday.

Masons Plan 3-Day Centennial Observance May 13, 14 and 15

One hundred years and a little over will be marked by Mason lodge No. 70, Free and Accepted Masons, next week. The 3-day observance will start Thursday and continue through Saturday, with a church service planned for Sunday.

The first meetings of the lodge were held in a building owned by John Rayner located on the site of the present Neely clothing store. After leaving the Rayner building the lodge leased the third floor of what is now the A. A. Howlett & Co. building. That was the temple for 4 years, until 1870.

On February 9, 1870, the Masonic building committee was instructed to sign a contract with C. H. Darrow for the third story of a proposed new brick building on the corner of B street (now Jefferson avenue) and Ash street. A 99-year lease was signed March 12, 1870. Under the terms, the lodge would occupy the third floor for $2,100. The proposition was financed with a bond issue of $10 denomination to draw 10% interest and payable on or before 10 years from date. That's still the temple. In recent years a building fund has been started. A few months ago the lodge showed interest in acquiring the Legion Memorial building. There has been no decision reached, however.

The first settlers came to what is now Mason in about 1836. In the following decade New Yorkers and Vermonters came in to take up government land.

Among the early settlers were men who were members of Masonic lodges in New York and Vermont. They met in 1853 and made application for a charter for a lodge in Mason. Mason was then as now the county seat. Three of the charter members were county officials. They were William Woodhouse, register of deeds; Orlando M. Barnes, prosecuting attorney; and James J. Jeffres, a deputy sheriff. Other charter members were Dr. John W. Phelps, physician and merchant, and Dr. Jesse O. Searl of Leslie. Joseph L. Huntington, merchant, and Peter Low, a Stockbridge merchant, were also first signers of the application and were charter members.

Woodhouse was born in Oisego county, New York in 1824. He came west to settle in Livingston county, Michigan, in 1838. Three years later he went 30 miles farther west to Leslie. In 1851, after being elected register of deeds, he came to Mason. He was the first master of the lodge.

Barnes was born at Cato, New York, in 1824. He came to Aurelius in 1837, as a boy of 13, with the earliest settlers. He was one of the few of his day to gain a university education. He received a law degree from the University of Michigan in 1850. He began the practice of law at Mason immediately. In 1853 he was prosecuting attorney. He withdrew from his law practice in 1871 to devote his time to the Jackson, Lansing and Saginaw railroad. He had been secretary and general counsel of the road since it was started. He was the first senior warden of the lodge.

Dr. Phelps, Mason's second physician, came in 1841, from Plymouth, Michigan. He was a church member and long a prominent citizen.

Huntington was a Vermonter. He was born in 1800 and came to Aurelius in 1838. He was a tanner and shoemaker. He was elected sheriff in 1846 and again in 1848. He was the first sheriff who had a county jail. For many years he conducted a boot and shoe business with his son, Collins D. Huntington, and later the father and son entered the milling business in Mason. He was the first junior deacon of the lodge.

Love was active in every enterprise in the early days. He was a charter member of the Mason lodge and its first secretary. He also helped organize the Stockbridge lodge. He was born in Sullivan county, New York, in 1831, and came to Stockbridge in 1853. There were no settlers at Mason then. He was named county clerk in 1859. He was re-elected in 1843 and again in 1851. He was elected Vevay supervisor in 1863 and was president of the village of Mason in 1866. He was a merchant and banker.

Jeffres was a deputy sheriff when the lodge was organized and was its first senior deacon.

He was an architect and contractor and later practiced dentistry in North Lansing. He served as captain of the 14th Michigan Volunteer infantry. He died from wounds received at Chattanooga in 1864.

Dr. Searl was born in Delaware county, New York, in 1811. He located in Leslie in 1850 and engaged in the practice of medicine. He made his calls on horseback, carrying his instruments and medicines in saddlebags. He was the first junior deacon elected by the lodge.

Dr. Minos McRobert, 49, was an applicant to file an application for membership. David Potter, 50, an Aurelius millwright; Johnathan DeMuth, 60, a Mason gunsmith; and John Coatsworth, 39, merchant and a former county clerk, had their See MASONS, Page 1, Part 2

City Will Act On Storm Sewer For East Side

Residents on Hall boulevard and part of VanderVeen subdivision may be up out of the mud by next spring. City Engineer Walter Zimmer submitted a cost estimate of a storm sewer project for the area at the city council meeting Monday night.

The project, estimated to cost $23,842.91, has top priority this spring, according to Councilman Alton Stroud, drain committee chairman.

The proposed storm sewer would be part of a long-range program to improve drainage from Hall boulevard and VanderVeen subdivision to South street and South Barnes street.

The overall cost of the project, according to Zimmer's figures, would amount to $62,326.70. However, only the Hall-VanderVeen area is being considered at the present time, according to Stroud.

The city at large will absorb 38% of the cost of the drainage. That figure is based on the percentage of surface in the area owned by the city. It includes streets and alleys. The remainder of the cost would be assessed to the benefitting property owners. It would amount to $3.82 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation. The average cost per city lot would be $44.64.

The storm sewer must come before curb and gutter can be built on Hall boulevard or VanderVeen subdivision, Zimmer explained. Residents on Hall boulevard have already petitioned for the curb and gutter. They are just as anxious to have a storm sewer installed to remove the surface water, Stroud pointed out.

"These people have waited long enough," Stroud stated. "The area is fast becoming one of the nicer locations in Mason. Many houses have been built there already. Others are under construction in the area now."

Stroud indicated that construction of the sewer will begin this spring.

Dansville Officials Go Visiting

Dansville's President Dan Jennings stepped right into the lead harness when he visited Mt. Clemens Wednesday. He took over the Mt. Clemens mayor duties while Mayor Philip T. Mulligan picked up the gavel at Dansville.

Oakland County Sets Up Staff To Study Rates

Oakland county has a full-time staff working the year around to equalize property valuations, Ingham supervisors learned Tuesday. Supervisor Elmer Haack of Birmingham, a member of the Oakland equalization committee, outlined to the Ingham board the system used in this county.

According to Haack, Oakland's equalization committee makes valuation samplings in each township and city, and then equalizes at a given percentage of state tax commission figures. That was 85% of 1911 figures, 45% of current valuations, last year, Haack said.

Replacement costs are used in arriving at valuations, said the Oakland supervisor, with 1% per year depreciation and a maximum of 40% depreciation.

Oakland has a 5-man staff with a salary cost of $30,000, Haack reported. He said that supervisors in Oakland favor the new system. It has added many millions in valuations to the tax rolls, Haack stated.

Two Are Injured As Car Overturns

Mrs. Sadie Behm, 75, Dansville, and Fred Frye, star mail route carrier, suffered injuries Wednesday morning when Frye's car overturned. Mrs. Behm had her shoulder broken, was cut about the face and suffered shock. Frye was cut and bruised. Both were taken to the Mason General hospital.

Frye carries passengers back and forth between Dansville and Mason. He had delivered mail to Dansville and was on his way to Mason Wednesday morning when a black cat leaped into the road. Frye twisted the wheel to avoid hitting the cat. The driver lost control. The car ran off the road to the right and hit a bank and then overturned.

Roy W. Adams is carrying mail on the route until Frye is able to resume duty.

Holly, 7, spent the morning with the Stockbridge second graders. Susie, 5, was to have attended kindergarten classes, but changed her mind. She spent the day climbing on the fire trucks, being shut in the village jail cells, visiting farms and seeing Stockbridge folks along the streets. It was a big day for both youngsters.

grown in Stockbridge. Nearly 100 people turned out for the dinner to honor the visiting mayor. Richard Howlett introduced Mayor Allen and local officials. Bill Caskey presented the loot bag.

In the afternoon, the Allens were taken on a tour of the school. Mayor Allen spoke before the school assembly and remained to observe the student council election and to hear a few campaign speeches.

Following the school program, the visiting mayor and his family visited the Mackinder-Glenn V. F. W. Post No. 510 and finished up the tour by a visit to the Waterloo game area.

Wendell Barber was chairman of the mayor exchange program in Stockbridge.

"We're learning a lot," Mayor Allen repeated during the tour. "Stockbridge is a progressive community that presents a united-action front. It's encouraging to visit such a town and to meet so many fine people."

Mrs. Allen was enthusiastic, too. She quickly made friends during her short stay in Stockbridge. The mayor's wife expressed the desire to some day live in a town just like Stockbridge. She liked the way folks received the Mayor of Kalamazoo and his family.

While foreign diplomats were at Stockbridge and Dansville, representatives from those towns were in Kalamazoo and Mt. Clemens.

Daniel D. Jennings, Dansville village president, managed the affairs of Mt. Clemens Wednesday. Wilnot Bohnet went with President Jennings to Mt. Clemens.

The Mt. Clemens welcoming program, starting at 10 in the forenoon, continued through a dinner in honor of the Dansville president Wednesday night.

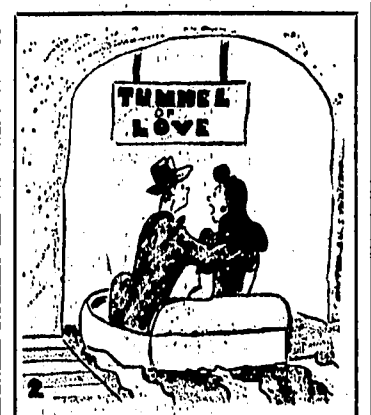

Paul Stephens, Stockbridge village president, was mayor-for-a-day in Kalamazoo. A dinner was served in his honor by the Kalamazoo Kiwanis club. During the day he inspected public buildings, talked with merchants and visited several industries.

Change in Policy Shifts Scientist

After 16 years at Upper Darby, Pa., a Philadelphia suburb, Henry R. Adams has been shifted to the University of New Hampshire at Durham. He has the title of state soil scientist.

At Upper Darby Adams was in the regional office of the soil conservation service of the United States department of agriculture. He was in charge of soil survey work and land classification for the 12 eastern states from North Carolina to Maine. A recent reorganization of the department of agriculture eliminated regional offices. Adams is now doing the same type of work but on a state basis in New Hampshire. He began his duties there May 1.

Mrs. Adams is remaining in Upper Darby until June when a house will be available in Durham.

Adams is a brother of Miss Ethel and Roy and Ralph Adams of Mason. He is a graduate of Mason high school and of Michigan State college, graduating from college in 1921, and receiving his master's degree in agronomy in 1924. He also did graduate work at Rutgers University. He served in France with the 119th Field Artillery in World War I and retains membership in Brownie-Cavender post of the American Legion.

Car Death

to turn back to see if Stowe had reached his home safely. She retraced her route to the corner of Dubie and Holt roads and swung north. She saw Stowe walking along the road, and as she put it decided "to scare the pants off him."

She intended to drive just as closely as possible to Stowe, related Mrs. Jordan in her statement. She said she heard a slight thump and concluded she had struck Stowe's hand as she had swung past. She continued on up Dubie road to Willoughby, where she turned around and headed back south. She didn't see Stowe, she said.

"I turned around at the next driveway and went back, praying he wasn't hurt bad," the statement quotes her as saying.

She had left the car and was on foot, she said, when she saw Stowe lying in the field. She said she went to him. He was lying on his face with his leg out at right angles, Mrs. Jordan said. She turned him over, she told officers, felt his heart beating, and partially covered him over, then ran for her car and sped for the jail at Mason.

At the jail she told Turnkey Wilbur Keyes that as she was driving along Dubie road she had seen a man lying beside it and that he was injured.

Deputies Hunt at Scene

Keyes radioed the message to patrol car 7, manned by Deputies Carl Arker and Roger Massman. They were almost within sight of the body at the trysting corner of Dubie and Holt roads. The message was sent at 4:12. At 4:13 the deputies on patrol radioed back that they had found the man. At 4:15 came the message that the man was dead, and indications pointed to foul play. Captain Fred Frye and Lt. Verslie Babcock were called, along with a Mason ambulance and Coroner W. Ray Gosline.

Deputies Acker and Massman had driven south on Dubie road just before receiving the radio message and their lights had not shown Stowe. Officers ordered Mrs. Jordan brought in for questioning and she at once, they said, told about striking Stowe with her car to scare him. Officers found the right headlight of the car smashed and the fender dented in. There was another dent near the right front door hinge and marks along the top of the car.

The bumper of the car struck Stowe's left leg, the headlight struck his arm. The imprint of Stowe's coat sleeve is in the paint on the fender and the indentation near the door hinge was where Stowe's head struck. His feet made the mark on top of the car, officers said. It was an even 60 feet from where Stowe's hat dropped in the road to where he fell in the field, Lt. Babcock declared.

Stowe was hit with such force that buttons from his coat sleeve were found inside the assembly of the broken headlight.

The wrist watch worn by Stowe was smashed. It had stopped at 4:01.

Mrs. Jordan and her daughter Nadine, 13, lived on East Maple in Mason. Mrs. Jordan has 2 sons, Richard of Mason and Lora, now serving in the navy. The daughter is staying at the home of Mason friends. Mrs. Jordan was recently divorced. She has had 3 divorces.

Stowe's Wife Saw Car

Mrs. Bernadine Stowe, teacher in the Williamson school, saw Mrs. Jordan's car after it had struck Stowe, although she did not know at that time her husband had been hit. She said she had known that her husband had been out with Mrs. Jordan on previous occasions.

On Saturday night after finishing farm work her husband had changed his clothes, the wife said, and told her he was going to walk to the home of friends on Holt road to play cards. He had his driver's license taken up on a drunk driving charge. It was about 9 o'clock when Stowe left home, his wife said. He left with the statement that he would be home by 11:30 or 12, Mrs. Stowe said.

After midnight, Mrs. Stowe said, she laid awake watching the lights of all cars driving north on Dubie road past the place. It was about 4 o'clock, Mrs. Stowe said, when she saw Mrs. Jordan's car.

Fair Board

Durwood Dickinson, Okemos; and Clay Hullett and W. H. Freshour of Mason. The 4 non-supervisors will serve staggered terms, 1, 2, 3 and 4 years, respectively. The supervisors will serve from January 1 to December 31 each year, with all terms starting Tuesday.

Members of the county fair board are now like other county officers elected by the supervisors. No salaries were set Tuesday, however. The new board will have power to fix the salaries of any employee, it was stated at Monday's conference between the old board and the prosecutor.

In the shuffle Tuesday S. A. Laxton of Mason and Bob Price of Stockbridge lost their jobs on the fair board. They were on the old board but are not on the new, being succeeded by Dickinson and Hullett.

Under the new setup the fairgrounds committee of the county fair board can lease the grounds for any event or series of events, day or night, any day of the week, so long as the enterprise is legal, the prosecutor told the supervisors. The board of supervisors itself can limit the committee, Younger added. But the attempt to limit it Tuesday failed.

Supervisor Silsby sought to have the county buildings com-

She recognized it, she stated, and a few minutes later saw it headed back south. Then she saw it stop down the road a piece, and wondered why. Shortly she saw the car start up and later a police car, with flashing lights, stopped down the road. It was after that the officers drove into her yard, she said, to report the death of her husband.

Stowe served in Navy

Stowe was a navy veteran of World War II, serving as a deep sea diver. He was born at Mason March 10, 1914, the son of George and Etta Havens Stowe. He attended school in Alabedon and was graduated from Williamson high school. All his life, except for navy service, he had lived in the Dubie road area. He had been in the tool and die department of the Oldsmobile factory for 17 years until he quit to devote full time to farming. He and his wife, the former Bernadine Williams, were married in 1947.

Besides the widow, Stowe is survived by his mother, Mrs. Etta Stowe, Mason; a son, (by a previous marriage) Larry, 16, Lansing; a sister, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott of California; a half-brother, Vern Stoddard, California; and a half-sister, Mrs. Mable Doctor, Durand.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Ball-Dunn funeral home in Mason with burial in Maple Grove. Rev. Paul L. Arnold of the Mason Presbyterian church officiated. Russell Leonard, Howard Leonard, Leo Chubb, Robert Elliott, Lawrence Moran and Robert Leonard were pallbearers.

Residents Protest New Dump Site

Mason street residents dumped an anti-dump petition into the laps of city council members at the council meeting Monday night. An area near Mason street is the proposed location of the new city dump. The residents charged the council with failing to realize the loss in property values which would befall the area due to smoke, offensive odors, flying litter and heavy traffic.

Mayor Clairmont Everitt turned the petition over to the dump committee which will meet with the property owners.

The Mason council bought the proposed site for the dump from Mrs. Sam Clemens for $1,200 last month. The city has been offered $1,000 for the present dump site.

The county road commission has a lease on the proposed dump location, the former Waggener gravel pit. Under terms of the sale, the county has the right to remove gravel in sections before the city can take over. As the city excavates the gravel, the county excavates the areas for the dump, the agreement provides.

At the council meeting 2 weeks ago, council members agreed that there would be new housekeeping rules at the new dump. The prevailing westerly winds will be blowing away from the residential sections of Mason street, they pointed out. And in addition a greater effort will be exercised to control offensive burning odors and to stop the scattering of trash along the route to the dump.

Women Bowlers Attend Banquet

Mason women bowlers and their sponsors gathered at the Vevay town hall Wednesday night for their annual banquet which was prepared and served by the DuBois Mothers club. The decorations used were nutcrackers with bowlers drawn on them, and bowling pins served as place settings for the different teams.

Following the banquet, prizes, which had been donated by merchants, were given out. Paul Judgett, Jr., presided as master of ceremonies. He presented Wayne Miller's team with the first-place trophy and individual trophies to each of the bowlers in that team, and gave out the other awards.

Individual prizes were won by Terry Griffin and Neva Royer for winning first place in the Hi-Lo doubles tournament held last week. High individual game for the year was bowled by Isabelle Whyte with 215; Margaret McLean had high individual series of 531; Verla Glover made the greatest increase in average by 13 pins; and Katherine Rumbles rolled the most pins over average in one game. The team taking high series was Christensen's Sales with 2191, and McCann Olds rolled high team game with 820. Before the awards were given, entertainment was furnished by members of the league. Members presented Isabelle Whyte, president, with a gift.

At the close of the banquet a business meeting was held, at which time new officers were elected for the ensuing year. Those elected were Eileen Fry, president; Helen Lyon, vice-president; Donna Belyea, secretary; Margaret McLean, treasurer; and Judy Heathman, sergeant-at-arms. A meeting will be held early in the fall to decide when the new season will start.

THE FURRIER'S CORNER

The beaver ranks as one of our most important historical fur bearers. In fact, it was one of our first natural resources. Its importance and value led pioneers in the exploration of our country.

Beavers also furnished a means of exchange for food, clothing and shelter. As far back as 1621, they were used as a unit of exchange with the Dutch West India Co. The skins were sold by the pound, or else so many of them were piled in flat heaps until they reached the height of a gun. The Hudson Bay Co. issued at one time coins equivalent to beaver skins. These were known as MB (made beavers).

For work of any importance done to your furs—consult your Mason furrier. Her many years of experience guarantees your satisfaction.

Five Hundred Extension Members Attend Achievement Day at MSC

Five hundred women from all parts of Ingham county gathered at the Fairchild theatre, Michigan State college, Tuesday for the annual extension achievement day.

Mrs. Morell Fox, county chairman, presided at the morning session and Mrs. Charles Hard gave the invocation.

Mrs. Fox introduced members of the Home Demonstration Council, which includes herself and Mrs. Lawton Gauss, Mrs. Charles Deeg, Mrs. Jerold Topfiff, Mrs. Harold Redman, Mrs. Roy Hills, Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Mrs. Alvin Goble, Mrs. William Quick, Mrs. Vernon Seelye and Mrs. Delmar Carr.

She also introduced candidates for the coming vacancies. These include Mrs. Roy Hills of Williamston, Mrs. Roland Graham of Weherville, Mrs. Lawton Gauss of Dansville, Mrs. Jerold Topfiff of Eaton Rapids, Mrs. Deloy Monroe of Rives Junction, Mrs. Claude Maynard of Okemos, Mrs. Chet Beecham of East Lansing and Mrs. Robert Lechtner and Mrs. Stanley Adams of Lansing.

Included on the morning program was a talk by Beatrice Franquist, assistant state home demonstration leader, speaking for the state specialist staff. She congratulated the women on the fine work they had done throughout the year.

Women Donate Pennies

Mrs. Lawrence Smith of Wheatfield township then led in the "Pennies for Friendship" portion of the program. At this time club women made a voluntary contribution to be turned over to the Associated Countrywomen of the World of which Ingham home demonstration women are members. This money is to be used to promote world peace by better understanding of women throughout the world.

M. H. Avery, Ingham county 4-H club agent, then explained to members how the home demonstration program is the organized women's program of the Cooperative Extension Service, just as the 4-H program is the young people's program. Both Miss Franquist and Avery emphasized in their talks that the end purpose of the entire service is to improve homes and families in rural communities, whether working through the men, the young people or the women.

M. D. Graham Speaks

Home demonstration women have been urged to take an interest in their native state and county. To tie in with this, M. D. Graham, native of Onondaga township and former Mason resident, gave a talk on "Know Your Michigan."

Mr. Graham has been active in training sales people for General Motors. His interest in Michigan has led him to be one of Michigan's best sales promoter people and Governor G. Mennen Williams has stated that he is "Michigan's Good-Will Ambassador."

In his talk, Mr. Graham told women many interesting facts about the state. In closing he pointed out, "We have the only self-sufficient state in the entire world and it is very fitting that we stop this week to realize what a wonderful state we have."

Another feature of the day was the debut of the newly-organized home demonstration chorus which sang 4 selections under the direction of Mrs. Robert Leonard.

Luncheon was served to 326 women at Phillips hall at 12:45. All women received favors including rulers, yardsticks, floor wax, furniture polish, hand lotion or plastic bags.

Exhibits Are Displayed

Exhibits, representative of lessons and projects covered the past year, were in display on the large stage in the Fairchild theatre.

Included were exhibits on "Getting Acquainted with World Neighbors," "Matching Design Colors with Room Colors," "How to Grow African Violets," "Your Clothes and You," "Mending Made Easy," "Know Your Ingham County," "Sing for Fun and Relaxation," "Disaster Preparedness," "Glove-Making Steps," and examples of home safety, chair caning, refinishing furniture, apron sale and work done on the Korean clothing drive.

To open the afternoon program, Pamela Wright of Lansing, 4 years old, did a dance number, after which Mrs. Lloyd Spencer of Pullman spoke on "Our Worldwide Countrywomen Friends." She told of meeting women all over the world as a result of attending 2 world conferences of Associated Countrywomen of the World. Mrs. Spencer is a past president of the Michigan Home Demonstration Council.

Poppy Sales Aid Disabled Vets

The poppy program of the American Legion Auxiliary brings help to disabled war veterans throughout the entire year, according to Mrs. Beverly Hill, rehabilitation chairman of Brown-Cavender unit of Mason.

"Poppies help in 2 distinct ways," said Mrs. Hill. "Throughout the fall and winter months, the making of the flowers provides employment to disabled veterans in hospitals and convalescent workrooms. The American Legion Auxiliary pays them for their work, and the poppy-making is of value as occupational therapy, often helping a veteran start again in working at a steady job."

Another way in which poppies help, Mrs. Hill explained, "is the fact that all contributions dropped into the coin boxes of the Auxiliary's Poppy Day volunteers will be used to help disabled veterans and needy children of veterans throughout the coming year."

"Most of the funds will stay here in Mason," Mrs. Hill said, "and will be expended by our local unit for the benefit of local veterans and their families who are in need of help. Our poppy funds are kept separate from all other moneys of our organization and can be used only for aid to veterans and their children."

"With veterans of 3 wars in every community, the Auxiliary is expanding its rehabilitation work. We are hoping for a generous response to our Poppy Day appeal in order that we may be able to do more for more veterans during the year ahead," she concluded.

There followed introduction of the city's dignitaries present and out-of-town guests from Milan, Howell, Monroe and Lansing.

He cited prominent young men of history.

The program concluded with a recitation of the Jaycee creed in unison.

Dansville Aggies Lose to Leslie in Thriller Thursday

Last Thursday afternoon the Dansville baseball team was defeated by Leslie 5 to 3 on the Leslie diamond. Bailey, of the Leslie team, was the hero of the game. He hit 2 home runs, each with a man on base, to drive in 4 of the 5 Leslie runs.

Dansville scored twice in the top half of the third inning. Don Douglas opened with a single to left. When the Leslie left-fielder juggled the ball he went to second base. Junior Kirby followed with a single to center, and Douglas went to third. With Bravender at bat the Leslie catcher, in throwing to the pitcher, tossed the ball over the pitcher's head enabling Douglas to score and Kirby to move to second.

Bravender fanned, as did Weldon. Brown kept the rally going by singling to center, scoring Kirby. Soule fanned out to end the inning.

Leslie came back in its half of the third when Steward ripped a long drive that bounced through the fence in left center field for a ground rules double. Bailey followed with a drive over the center field fence to tie up the game.

Brown, the Dansville pitcher, then shut the door on that inning by getting the last 3 men in order.

Dansville picked up its third run in its half of the fifth to once again take the lead. Bravender opened with a single to center. Weldon followed with a long triple over the head of the Leslie right fielder, driving in Bravender for Dansville's final run.

DeBreule replaced Steward at the mound at this point in the game. He forced Brown and Soule to pop to the catcher and took a liner of five bat of Richard Brooks for the final out.

Leslie bounced right back in its half of the fifth to even up the game. Steward opened with a walk. He advanced to second as Bailey grounded out. Brown to Soule. Steward went to third as DeBreule grounded out. Brown to Soule.

Parr singled to left driving in Steward. With Baldwin at bat and 2 away, Parr attempted to steal second but was thrown out. Kirby to Bravender, for the final out of the inning.

Dansville batters went down in order as the clever pitching of the young Leslie left-hander in the sixth and seventh innings.

Weldon replaced Brown on the mound for Dansville in the seventh. He struck out Wherman and got Budd on a pop fly to Douglas. It looked like the game was going into extra innings when Kyser singled to left center. However, Bailey, the next batter, sent his second 4-bagger over the fence in center field to wind up the ball game.

Dansville showed good defense, going through the game without an error.

Final results of the game were: Dansville, 3 runs, 8 hits, no errors and 7 men left on base; Leslie, 5 runs, 10 hits, 4 errors and 3 men left on base.

Clubs Report on Their Activities

Women Tell Benefits of Extension Work

May 2 through May 8 is National Home Demonstration week and all through the nation the story of how home demonstration work has helped millions of women lead a richer life, is being told, says Mrs. Annette Schaeffer, Ingham county home demonstration agent.

In Ingham county 1,050 rural and urban women observed the week by attending the annual achievement day and preparing exhibits to show the general public what kind of activities they participate in.

"To facilitate getting information to as many homemakers as possible there are 73 groups organized in Ingham county," stated Mrs. Schaeffer. "Club members are women who are interested in improving themselves, their homes and their community. The story of what goes on in each club is a mighty interesting one," she added.

Groups have recently made reports to the county extension office in order to be considered for the annual award at the homemakers week at Michigan State college.

Included in the reports were statements which indicate how local women feel about extension work and what it does for them.

In the report from the Peppy Homemakers club was this statement: "We all get together each month with great anticipation and a will to learn something before we go home. We had a family night at the Vevay town hall at which members served a small supper. One of the members took her record player with old-fashioned square dance tunes so that all could learn. Some of the men hadn't danced in 20 years. Children played games and a good time was had by all. Through the extension service and the college we have better homes, healthier bodies and learn how to relax, which we need, to adapt ourselves to present-day conditions."

The Southwest Wheatfield report read, "Members take part in every learning project and even start projects of their own."

The Ingham township club report read in part, "Our leaders have attended all the leader-training lessons. Many have gone on to teach others, such as one member teaching the home economics class to make candles. Another taught the safety lesson to her children. One member taught a Lansing sorority flower making and interior decorating. One member is making 'pin money' by selling these flowers."

From the Red Cedar-Meridian group came the report, "All our members are active extension women. Some attended homemakers conference, rural health conference, nutrition conference and the heart association classes. They are active leaders in church, 4-H and Girl Scouts."

Members of the Okemos group reported they had helped the county hospital patients by supplying magazines and materials, helped a blind person do chair caning and contributed to the Youth Haven Boys Home in Muskegon.

Community Interest Aroused

In the Alaledon Center club, Mrs. George Fogle as chairman reported, "We've been getting interest stirred up in our township for remodeling or building of a township hall. I, as chairman, had the job of getting together the first meetings. There will be a public meeting soon."

Merry Mixers members said, "We are inviting new neighbors to the family night social. Our husbands enjoy these affairs more than we expected and are interested in another."

"Nearly all members went through the cancer detection center," reported the Fancy Doers club. "We display the flag at every meeting, and observe a prayer for peace with freedom. This group has contributed to foreign and freshman home economics scholarships, has encouraged women to vote, and members have carried lessons back to church groups."

Said the Etchells Corners club, "This is an average extension club which needs extension work. The good that it does and the results that are obtained are most rewarding. We can all be proud of them."

TAKE YOUR FAMILY TO CHURCH

Business and the Golden Rule

BUSINESS bureaus designed to protect the rights of both sellers and consumers exist in some communities. Such bureaus are successful to the extent that they inspire those they aid to operate in accord with the ancient law of Moses (Leviticus 19:18), "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

To the pure thought of the Master, Christ Jesus, this law was a Christian duty, for he recognized it as a divine command. He said (Matthew 22:37-39): "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Christian Science, the religion which is based upon the inspired Word of the Scriptures, teaches its adherents to apply God's Word to all phases of their activity. Specifically applied to business affairs, Jesus' rendering of the Levitical command means that we must serve mankind honestly, sincerely, and unselfishly, as we ourselves would be served. In the proportion that we recognize that the brotherhood of man is based on the spiritual fact that all are in truth the sons of God, and hence are perfect in His sight, we are able to follow Jesus' counsel to His disciples (Luke 6:31), "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise." Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, points to the need of doing this when she says (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, p. 222), "Mankind will be God-governed in proportion as God's government becomes apparent, the Golden Rule utilized, and the rights of man and the liberty of conscience held sacred."

A transaction that is based on the Golden Rule assures equal benefits to both the buyer and the seller. Outwardly, an interchange of commodities takes place. Actually, however, the real substance of the exchange is the expression of integrity, wisdom, and love on the part of the individuals who are concerned.

The truly successful man does not become so through profiting by another's mistakes. Good business methods harbor no unfair competitive action. The sincere endeavor to serve public needs fairly, recognizing too that others have equal opportunities and abilities, is in full harmony with the command, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

"Our thoughts beget our actions; they make us what we are," Mrs. Eddy explains (Miscellany, p. 203). And she goes on to say, "A deep sincerity is sure of success, for God takes care of it." We may know with scientific certainty that under divine guidance every individual is accorded endless opportunities to share in the unlimited bounty of God, good. Sincerity reveals opportunity. Diligence is an incentive to progress. Integrity is a solid foundation upon which is built irreversible success.

Farmer Peck's Wife

The girls love to go barefoot. It's fun to tend chickens now. Sammy likes the big bed.

Susy and Sally are having a fit! (A small one!) They want to go barefoot. They say it is plenty warm enough. They are so hot, so uncomfortable, so sticky. . . and dying to take their shoes off.

The ground is so wet you can't get on the fields and they are not going barefoot yet. Sally is one of those kids who gets a cough at the drop of a hat. All she needs is a little bit of a cold to cough her head off. Sometimes she barks just like a puppy in the night. We try everything.

I'd like a good night's sleep to-night. Last night it was Sammy who kept us awake. I said he was cutting some more double teeth but Pete said, "Can't a kid feel ormy and act like a little demon for the pure joy of it without you women saying it is his teeth or something?" I guess we can't for we all do it.

Sammy is just like Sally. Just like sleeping with an octopus. . . or what I would imagine that would be like! Not when he is feeling good but when he is bit off with teeth or a cold. He will lose and turn and kick and maul you until you think your arms will fall off.

It seems to be increasing in frequency that the little pill likes to get in bed with us. I have been putting him in with us around 4 for some time. Lately the time has been sneaking up to 3, 2, 1. He will look so comical and give us a big happy grin and snuggle down on Pete's pillow. Pete says, "I know we ought not to be doing this every night, son, but it surely does feel good with your little arm around my neck."

There! That's how we are doing it. Just as nice and grow-on-you as you please. Susy and Sally did it too and still like to come and crawl in. We should have one of those big beds you see in magazines that are 6 feet wide. Then we couldn't put it in our bedroom. . . but it's a good idea.

Oh, but it's been fun. . . downright fun, to tend to chickens this week. It seems my bushel is full and running over more than I deserve.

We have had another tragic fire in this neighborhood. Adolph Scholari's house burned to the ground Wednesday night. Milo Summer took the 2 oldest boys for a few days and we have the youngest one, 12 years old.

Nearly twice as many fatalities occur in "fall-asleep" highway accidents as in any other kind, reports Employers Mutuals of Wausau. Long-distance drivers should go easy on bread, potatoes and other starchy and greasy foods; eat lightly because heavy meals make you drowsy; get out and stretch often and, above all, pull off the road if you can't stave off sleepiness.

Church Service Hours Are Changed

A new schedule of services of worship and church school will be started Sunday, May 9, at the Okemos Community church. Worship will be at 9:45 and 11 a. m. on the new schedule instead of 9:30 and 11:35 as before.

During the 9:45 service the high school primary, kindergarten, preschool and nursery classes will meet, as well as the Friendly and Fellowship groups. During the 11 a. m. service the juniors, seventh and eighth grade classes as well as the Kum-Dub and College groups will be in session. There will be a nursery and junior church also during the second session. The plan is an experiment to run from May 9 until June 20 when the summer schedule will be in effect.

Mother's Day services will feature special music by the choir and the sermon, "The Qualities of Great Mothers" by the minister, David S. Evans. In the evening, the Youth Fellowship will meet at 7 p. m. in the parlors.

TODAY'S meditation

from The Upper Room
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

O taste and see that the Lord is good. (Psalm 34:8.)
Who satisfieth thy mouth with good things; so that thy youth is renewed like the eagle's. (Psalm 103:5.) Read Acts 16:1-15.

Lake Louise, high in the Canadian Rockies, is one of nature's most beautiful spots. This smooth, blue lake stretches out to a glacier-capped mountain. Two thousand feet above Lake Louise is another lake, tiny Lake Agnes. The winding footpath from Lake Louise up to Lake Agnes is a hard climb. But the air is bracing, the scenery thrills, and the glacier touches the water's edge.

At a tea room by the lake, we were served hot biscuits, strawberry jam, and coffee. The physical exercise, the gorgeous scenery, the invigorating air, and the food made a wonderful combination.

God has greater treats for us in spiritual food. He stimulates our spiritual appetites as we work for Him. By climbing spiritual heights, we get the proper view of life. When we breathe deeply the love of our Father, we rejoice in doing good. When we feed on His Holy Word and pray, we rejoice in the strength He gives.

PRAYER
Our Father, we thank Thee for Thy Word and its strengthening power for the nourishment of our souls. Help us to seek Thee in the privacy of our homes, and nurture one another in the Christlike way of life. In Christ's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Spiritual work stimulates our appetite for spiritual food. —Maxey Jarman, Manufacturer, (Tennessee)

Celia Allen Is New Missionary

Miss Celia Allen, daughter of Mrs. Alfred Allen of Mason, has accepted the appointment as new Christian Friendliness missionary for northern California, sponsored jointly by the WABHMS, San Francisco Bay Cities Baptist Union and the Northern California Baptist convention. She succeeds Bernice Cofer, now national director of this work.

Before she commenced her duties May 1, Miss Allen was staff member of the First Chinese Baptist church of San Francisco. For the past 17 years she has served as a missionary at this church. In the past 5 years alone, 7 young people have left that church to enjoy full-time Christian service or training for it. Three young men from this church were ordained at one time.

Miss Allen is a native of Mason, where she was converted and heard her first call to Christian service. After graduation from Kalamazoo Teachers college, she taught for one year in the Lansing public schools. After a Baptist camp experience, she accepted appointment to the Chinese Baptist church at Seattle. She took a leave of absence after the first of her 8 years there, for special study in kindergarten work at BMTS. She also received her bachelor's degree from BMTS, after some additional study there and at Berkeley Baptist Divinity school.

May is the month of spring flowers and of eager young people preparing to graduate from high school and colleges to take their places in the world of adults. This is a good month for remembering the men and women who have contributed so much to the world and for reading inspiring biography. The Ingham county library has many new books of biography, besides the shelves of excellent ones published in other years.

One of the best of the new books is BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, by L. Bernard Cohen. This is a study of the achievements of this great man, and of his contributions to the American tradition, rather than an account of the events of his life, and it is based upon and illustrated by extensive quotations from Franklin's own works. As the author says, he was "America's first humorist, in the tradition of Mark Twain, Mr. Dooley and Will Rogers," besides being one of our greatest statesmen.

Another more recent humorist who has become something of a national hero is the subject of OUR WILL ROGERS, by Homer Croy. This is a full-length, sympathetic biography which has drawn on the reminiscences of Rogers' old Arkansas and Oklahoma cronies, and of latter day friends such as Charles A. Lindbergh, Gene Buck and others, besides the other available material on this cheerful gum-chewing, rope-spinning, philosopher who has been so eulogized during the past 2 decades.

SCENES AND PORTRAITS, by Van Wyck Brooks is the autobiography of quite a different kind of person, a literary historian who reminds us here on his childhood and youth in New England. Those readers who have enjoyed his FLOWERING OF NEW ENGLAND and other books of our author will not want to miss this one about the writer himself.

THE TRACK OF MAN by Henry Field, is the story of an important anthropologist who was a member of the well-known Chicago family although himself reared in England. If you are interested in archeology and ethnography you will find this book exciting reading; and, if you have never before been interested in such subjects you are likely to find that you have been missing something worth discovering. Dr. Field has a gift for imparting his own enthusiasm to the reader.

LABRADOR NURSE, by B. J. Banfill, is the inspiring story of a heroic woman who was connected with the Grenfell Mission in 1928 and again in 1942. Nurse Banfill stresses the deep satisfaction of the work with the courageous Labrador people rather than the loneliness and the hardships which she endured, making a story of service which is well worth reading.

Other interesting new books for adults include the following:

Eyes of Boyhood, by Clyde Brion Davis.

A Sergeant Named Batista, by Edmund Chester.

Far, Far from Home, by Ruth McKenney.

Forty Plus and Fancy Free, by Emily Kimbrough.

Greener Fields, by Alice Marriott.

Long Wednesdays, by Earl Chapin.

Seven Steeples, by Margaret Henrichsen.

Stemming the Tide, by Winston Churchill.

Two Eggs on My Plate, by Oluf Olsen.

Sillmeadow and Sugarbridge, by Gladys Taber.

Baptists to Hear Radio Preacher

At their meeting in Detroit from May 19 to 25, Conservative Baptists will hear Dr. Charles E. Fuller of the Old Fashioned Revival Hour. The Highland Park Baptist church will be the host church to some 2,000 delegates from all over the country.

Dr. Charles E. Fuller

Featured speakers besides Dr. Fuller will be Dr. M. R. DeHann of the Radio Bible Class in Grand Rapids. Dr. W. A. Criswell from Dallas, Texas, and Dr. James McGinlay from Brooklyn, New York.

Meetings will be held from 9:30 a. m. until 8:30 p. m. at which time the featured speakers will address the delegates. The Michigan State Fair Coliseum will be the scene of the closing meeting. Dr. Fuller is scheduled to speak at this meeting.

All meetings except for the final one will be held in the host church which is located at 25 Ford avenue, Highland Park.

Methodists Plan For Family Night

Family night will be held at the Mason Methodist church Thursday, May 6, at 6:30 p. m. Dinner will be served. This is the last family night supper of the church year.

In commemoration of national family week a gift will be presented to the largest family attending.

A special worship service centered around children, will be given. Feature of the evening is a new colored moving picture entitled, "For Every Child." The film points up the responsibility of the churches for more children than ever before in history.

Okemos Baptists To Hear Evangelist

Alastair Cameron Walker will be the evangelist next week at a series of meetings at the Okemos Baptist church. He will be speaking at the 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. services on May 9 and 16 and nightly during the week at 7:30 p. m.

Walker was born of Scottish missionary parents in South Africa. He came to America to attend the Northern Baptist Seminary in Chicago from which he graduated in 1951. He now makes his home in Waco, Texas.

He has been holding successful meetings throughout the country.

Each morning during the week of May 10 through 15 at 6 a. m. there also will be special meetings on the subject "The Believer and the Holy Spirit."

Henry Liddicoat Plans to Retire

Completing 41 years as a Methodist minister, Rev. Henry Liddicoat plans to retire in June. He is now completing his third year at Otsego. He went there from Mason. He has served other pastorates in Osseo, Leslie, Breckenridge, Buchanan, Big Rapids, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek and Grand Ledge.

As a young man of 18 he came to the United States to work in the Upper Peninsula copper mines. He left the mines to study for the ministry.

In Mason Rev. Liddicoat was active in all community affairs. He was a member of the Mason Kiwanis club. Under his ministry extensive remodeling of the church edifice was done.

Michigan State Plans Big Time This Week End

Michigan State college will open its doors to an expected 2,000 parents May 8 and 9 at the fourth annual "Parents Day" week end.

Among student events scheduled for the week end are the engineering exposition, international festival and the spring "Green and White" intrasquad football game at Macklin stadium.

A special feature this year will be "Collegiate Comeback," a program of entertainment for parents, on Saturday in the Union ballroom, at 8:30 p. m.

Tickets will be on sale at the Macklin stadium gate for the annual football game at 2:30 p. m., Saturday. No other home athletic events are planned.

On Saturday, registration of parents will continue throughout the day at the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education. Other events, also at Kellogg, will include "get acquainted" coffee sessions, Rose Bowl and game films at 1:30 and 2:30 p. m., and a 1:30 p. m. talk by Michigan State college President John A. Haman.

Open houses will be held at WKAR-TV, the campus television station, and at the Memorial health center, radio station WKAR and the Michigan State college museum. A carillon concert at Michigan State college's Beaumont Tower will take place at 5 p. m. Individual living units also have arranged welcomes and entertainment for visitors.

An organ recital in the Alumni Memorial chapel will be heard Sunday at 12:30 p. m. Closing the week end will be the annual sorority sing, a concert of group vocal music by the women of Michigan State college's sorority houses, at 2 p. m., Sunday, in the bandshell.

ADVISE EARLY START

High school students who wish to make engineering their career should take all courses in mathematics and science available within their curriculum, advises Employers Mutuals of Wausau, which like other large compensation companies, employs many engineers. Because of the rigidity of college engineering courses, engineering-minded students should start preparing for their careers long before entering college.

Ingham Students Visit Greenfield

Pupils of the German school in Mason and Riverside school visited Henry Ford's Greenfield Village in Dearborn last Friday.

Greenfield Village is 12 miles from downtown Detroit and 5 miles from the River Rouge plant.

The German group with Mrs. Bernice Uter in charge and the Onondaga pupils with Mrs. Helen Lynch visited the craft shops where weaving, pottery making and cooperage are demonstrated; the homes and early workshops of such famous Americans as Noah Webster, Luther Burbank, the Wright brothers, and William Holmes McGuffey; and such nostalgic landmarks as the oldest windmill in America, a wooden covered bridge and an old paddle-wheel steamer. They are all a part of the rambling 200-acre that make up Greenfield Village.

One of the highlights for the pupils and chaperones was a visit to Thomas Edison's Menlo Park (New Jersey) Laboratory, where the great wizard developed some of his most significant contributions to science: The phonograph, electric light and carbon telephone transmitter.

Michigan Needs 7,000 More Teachers

By Elmer White
Michigan Press Association

"Wanted—7,000 young people. Attractive pay (starts from $3,200-$3,600); good working conditions; summers off; steady employment; social acceptance; immaturity; assured opportunity for advancement."

This sort of a help wanted ad could easily describe the serious need in Michigan for qualified school teachers.

Faced with the alarming situation of 7,000 too few trained school teachers today and the obvious need for an additional 2,000 each year for at least the next five years, Dr. Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, is leading a frontal attack.

A committee of 35 members has been appointed to solve this and other educational problems. A special sub-committee of industrial public relations experts, newspaper publishers, educators and representatives from radio and television was assigned to work out a program "to interest bright young people to enter the teaching profession."

Adopting techniques already proved successful by industry, business, and the armed services, this sub-committee announced its plan which will be carried out through Michigan newspapers, radio and TV, and "sales presentations" to students.

These will be aimed at 9 groups; the 65,000 students who will graduate from high schools this spring; students already enrolled in the state's colleges; former teachers who might qualify themselves by securing a few more hours of college work.

"Lack of promotion for the teaching profession has permitted other vocations to skim off much of the cream of graduates," explained Dr. Taylor. He also feels that low salaries paid teachers several years ago were an important factor in student minds when they considered teaching as a life work. "Present pay schedules are about comparable to those in industry," stated the state superintendent. "Particularly this is true for young women, who might have trouble finding jobs that pay as well as school teaching."

"Figures indicate that next year teachers' salaries will average about $4,200 for the 10-month school year," stated Dr. Taylor. "While the present pay schedule might not be considered ideal, it represents a trend toward more money for good teachers that is desirable. And it eliminates to a great extent the low salary as a factor against teaching."

East Lansing Lawyer Eyes Congress

William B. Elmer, of East Lansing, has announced he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for congress from the Sixth Michigan district.

Elmer, a 36-year-old attorney and former U. S. submarine officer during World War II, challenged Rep. Kit Clardy, Republican incumbent, to prove that his current Communist hearings in Michigan have any value except to provide pre-election publicity for Clardy.

"Unless he is willing to show otherwise, the current house subcommittee hearings into Communism being staged by Clardy appear nothing more than a crude grab for headlines," Elmer charged.

"He had ample time last year to conduct the hearings without interrupting his attendance in congress."

"The simple truth is that Clardy hopes to profit by the publicity and divert public attention from his notoriously poor voting record—a record which ignores the thinking of a majority of his home district citizens and which is so super-isolationist that it frequently has been at odds with President Eisenhower."

"The fact is that Clardy's record in congress has been a dismal combination of hard-shell reaction and backward-looking Old Guardism, completely out of step with his own party leadership, which he now hopes to cover up with a few flashy headlines."

Elmer declared he will advocate programs halting spread of Communism by supporting economic and military aid to anti-Red nations abroad and by strengthening American democracy to resist the false lures of Red propaganda.

In announcing his candidacy for congress, Elmer simultaneously submitted his resignation as an assistant state attorney general. During his state service, Elmer was a member of the Michigan public service commission legal staff.

During World War II, Elmer participated in 4 submarine war patrols and received the submarine combat medal and naval reserve medal. He still is an active member of the U. S. naval reserve.

Elmer attended public schools in Dearborn and Detroit and graduated from the Henry Ford Trade school as an apprentice tool and die maker. Later he received degrees in economics and law from the University of Michigan.

Elmer is married and the father of 6 children. He is a member of the American Legion, Michigan State Bar association, Y. M. C. A., Unitarian church and with his wife is active in Parent Teacher association work and Cub Scouting.

Indian Uprising Is Featured at Fox

Exciting, tense, suspenseful, beautiful. These words describe "War Paint," the United Artists offering starring Robert Stack, Joan Taylor and Charles McGraw which plays at the Fox Theatre Friday and Saturday.

Robert Stack, as a lieutenant in charge of a detachment of cavalry, must reach the camp of Gray Cloud, the Indian chief, with a peace treaty from Washington or war will break out. Although Stack and his men at first do not know it, their Indian guide is the son of Gray Cloud and determined they shall not reach his father with what he believes always will be a false peace between red man and white.

This declaration of a one-man war against the United States army develops suspense that is almost unbearable. The portrayal of the Indian's sister by Joan Taylor must surely elevate this talented actress to high places.

The second feature on the Friday-Saturday program is "The Maze."

The film stars Richard Carlson and Veronica Hurst, talented and Robert Stack and Joan Taylor are featured in the tense, suspenseful and beautiful "War Paint," the story of one of the west's savage Indian uprisings. The color film will play at the Fox Friday and Saturday.

Serious need does exist. Of the 45,000 teachers busy in Michigan at present, 10% leave the profession each year. Some marry, retire, die or change vocations. Census figures show that 60,000 new pupils will be enrolling each year for at least the next five years. They will require 2,000 more classrooms.

These needs emphasize the opportunity for advancement in teaching. There will be many more openings for teachers and school administrators than there are qualified people to fill them.

Many present teachers do not meet minimum requirements for teaching standards. Some are teaching with "special certificates" because better qualified instructors are simply not available.

"Accentuate the positive" will be the theme of the campaign to get more and better teachers for Michigan according to Dr. Taylor. "We are putting our faith in public relations methods to solve this and other school problems and stressing the better aspects of education as a life work."

In addition to glamorizing the teaching profession, the sub-committee on educational public relations has some other aims. It intends to find ways to acquaint the public with data about school problems so facts will be available before people make up their minds about a controversial subject. It hopes to make the "average citizen" understand the values of present teaching techniques concerning the "three Rs" and other curriculum problems. It seeks to learn why voters in some areas approve plans for new, needed school programs while voters in similar districts will not.

Members of this committee as well as the department of public instruction realize the urgency of providing fine educations for the youth of Michigan. Keen thinking is needed to meet national and international problems that today's children must face. They feel a strong sense of obligation to provide the best possible training.

Cherry, bean and dairy queens from Michigan in Yankee Stadium? This question might perplex the casual reader, but it is nonetheless a fact. One of the by-products of the state's first Michigan Week, which will draw to a successful end May 8, provided the opportunity for 3 Michigan Misses to take a whirlwind trip around New York and Washington.

Perhaps the high spot of their trip was the opportunity to appear at Yankee stadium just before a Sunday game with the Detroit Tigers and promote the 3 products over which they were chosen reigning queens. Lucky girls were Dairy Queen Virginia Hamilton, Capaci; Bean Queen Marcelline Bender, Saginaw; Cherry Queen Everell Meloche, Suttons Bay. They were accompanied on their trip by Mrs. Joe Wells, editor and publisher of the Coloma Courier.

Financed by funds from each commodity group matched by state department of agriculture monies, the girls left by train and returned by plane.

NEXT WEEK:—Broderick Crawford-Barbara Hale in LAST OF THE COMANCHES in Technicolor with Lew Ayres-Sonny Tufts in NO ESCAPE; Alan Ladd in SASKATCHEWAN in Technicolor; Robert Taylor-Deborah Kerr in QUO VADIS in Technicolor.

Miss Hurst, under contract to Associated British Pictures, flew from London under loanout to Allied Artists, and arrived in Hollywood but two days before the picture went into production.

"The Maze" was produced by Richard Heermance and was directed by William Cameron Menzies. Walter Mirisch was the executive producer. The screenplay by Dan Ullman was based on a mystery classic by Maurice Sandow, which when originally published was illustrated by Salvador Dali.

"The supporting cast includes such well-known players as Katherine Emery, Hillary Brooke, Robin Hughes, Michael Pate, Clyde Cook and John Dodsworth.

"Ma & Pa Kettle At Home" brings the whole hilarious Kettle clan back to the old homestead, and the result is everything their most ardent fans could ask for. The newest in the ever-popular series of Universal International comedies, which plays at the Fox Sunday and Monday, nuts Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride in charge of an even more generous allotment of heart and hilarity than ever before.

The basic theme of this Kettle special gets the story underway at once and keeps it moving at a merry pace. Son Elwin wins an essay contest which puts the Kettle acres in a model farm contest. If this isn't funny enough to start with, the announcement that the contest judge is due to inspect the place sends Ma and Pa, the assorted Kettle brood, and the ever-faithful Indians, Crowbar and Geoduck, hurrying and scurrying to patch up the place.

Arrival of contest judge, hypochondriac Alan Mowbray, carries the funny-business to even greater heights as Mowbray comes to grips with pigs, goats, frogs and other livestock—all endowed with the characteristic Kettle unpredictability. When the farm comes apart at the seams on a rainy day, it seems as though the Kettles are doomed. But never fear, Ma and Pa still have a few tricks up their sleeves—involving an Indian raid and Santa Claus among other developments.

Oscar Winner Returns
For those who didn't see "From Here to Eternity" and for those who did and want to have another look at the 8-Oscar winner the Fox Theatre will have the film again Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

"From Here to Eternity" was acclaimed as being one of the top Hollywood offerings of all time. In it Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed won Oscars for the best supporting roles, the picture itself was judged the best picture of 1953, and Oscars were given out for best screen play, best direction, best cinematography, best film editing and best sound.

Burt Lancaster was named out in the balloting for the best actor of the year on the basis of "From Here to Eternity." The picture was filmed in Hawaii and is the story of the regular army just before and immediately after the Pearl Harbor attack.

The supply of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash fertilizers will be enough to satisfy demand this year. That's the report from the USDA.

Marshall Wells SUGAR BEET DIGEST

Paul Rood's Beet Planting Suggestions

A few weeks ago, we had a radio visit with Paul J. Rood, MSC Soil Extension Specialist. Paul's recommendations for sugar beet planting were so well explained, we're mentioning them again.

Test for Wetness
Getting on the land too early packs and injures the soil, Rood said. This reduces yields. To easily test for wetness, go out with a round point shovel and at several points in the field, spade down. If you find a sticky mass on the shovel point, don't plow. If, on the other hand, the soil crumbles, plow and plant immediately.

Don't Over-fit
Air is what warms soil. If it can't enter, the soil won't warm up, and this, Paul reminded us, brings up "once-over seed-bed preparation." Don't over-fit the soil. . . keep it loose for better drainage and bacteria action. Follow the plow with some tool like a clod buster, harrow or culti-mulcher to smooth and firm the surface only slightly.

Praises New Beet Drill
Place fertilizer about 2 1/2 directly below the seed and cover slightly with soil and firm, so that the seed doesn't contact it. The new beet drill does exactly this, Rood said.

Fertilize Plenty and Well
The point is to work the soil when it's right and plant immediately. . . the same day preferably. Then fertilize well for better yields. Use the 32% nitrogen fertilizer you like best but above all use plenty and use it well.

These are Paul Rood's suggestions for getting better beet yields.

Eggs Are Counted by the Billions

By Carl Collins

USDA issues periodic reports on the world production of various agricultural products. Recently this column mentioned the report on hog numbers. Now comes one on egg production, and about 134 billion eggs were produced last year, 80% of which were turned out in North America and Europe.

The U. S. alone produced over 64 billion. Second in output was Japan, with over 5.3 billion. Argentina produced 3.5 billion, the Netherlands 2.8 billion, and Belgium 2.2 billion. These were the leaders in Europe. USDA says there were over 439.2 million chickens on farms in this country last year.

A good maple syrup run occurred this year. In Vermont, for instance, which is the leading state, the sap flow is nearly over and first reports indicate a 30% increase in production over the lean year 1953. Quality is up too.

We should have a report from Michigan soon on this year's production.

USDA and congressional farm officials say something has to be done about the large area of land now subject to severe erosion in the southwest. Unless soil blowing is halted, the Dust Bowl area may spread. Look for some kind of legislation to encourage putting much of the land back to grass. That's where it should have been all the time. Trouble was, millions of acres were plowed up to grow wheat when the soil moisture was above normal. Many areas should be put into permanent grass and kept that way. Congress may take action to see that this is done.

Going back to eggs again: the egg industry advisory committee recently voiced opposition to price support, surplus removal and subsidy programs for eggs to USDA officials. The committee stated it believes in self-help, leaving to the industry the solution of its problems. It commented that price was the greatest single factor regulating supply and demand for eggs.

The turkey advisory committee also reported to the secretary of agriculture recently and urged that breeder flocks of heavy type turkeys be marketed as early as possible. They also urged that production of late turkeys be cut and that industry and government efforts to increase consumption be stepped up quite considerably during the rest of this year.

Since the start of the 1954-55 dairy price support program on April 1, when support prices were cut from 90 to 75% of parity, CCC has had to continue buying butter to hold prices at the 75% level. Up to the last week in April, over 10.5 million pounds of butter had been purchased by the government.

Plans for disposal of the government's huge butter and other dairy product stocks are having difficulty "gelling." Problem is to cut the price of stored supplies in a way to encourage consumers to buy it and still not foul up normal trading operations. If and when some plan is worked out so that retail butter prices are cut to below 50c, don't be surprised at price slashes on margarine. Oleo producers aren't going to lose their markets without a good stiff fight. And that will involve lower prices.

Butter sales are expected to level off at about 10% above the level of sales before support prices were cut from 90 to 75% of parity on April 1. Retail price cuts resulting from reduction in support prices averaged 10 to 15 cents a pound. On the basis of a 10% increase in consumption, it still will take some fancy plans to shrink the huge piles of butter in government hands. (On the subject of butter surpluses, support prices, etc. Mrs. C. interjects a recommendation to women to read "Your Sins and Mine," a real terror tale for farmers, in the May issue of McCall's magazine.)

Ever wonder how a cow spends her time? Probably not too seriously, but dairy scientists at Virginia Polytechnic made a little study out of the problem and came up with these observations. In a 24-hour period cows spend two-thirds of their time just standing. . . and 9 of these hours were used in grazing, usually after milking and an hour before midnight. They tend to loaf, either standing or lying down, during the hotter parts of the day and for several hours after midnight. The remaining one-third of a cow's time is spent—chewing her cud!

Miscellany. . . Potato prices are expected to strengthen in the next few weeks. The summer crop is now estimated at 25% below last year. . . Commercial hatcheries produced more chicks in March than ever before for that month; output was up 33,000,000 over last year. A big April hatch also is expected. At the beginning of the month there were 7% more eggs in incubators than in April 1953. . . A scientist says wheat can be used for making a building material to substitute for plywood. It comes plain or coated with aluminum or veneer, looks something like cork, and is cheap to mass-produce. . . More rice will be grown in the world this year than ever before. . . The 1953-54 coffee crop (ought to be spelled with capital letters) estimated at 40.3 million bags (132 lbs. per bag) or 3% below pre-war average and 9% below post-war average.

RAIN MACHINE AIDS SOIL "DOCTORS"—To compare action of rain on various types of soil and ground cover, this portable infiltrometer, only one of its kind in operation, is set up at the Fort Hays, Kan., Experiment Station. The device, operated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, "rains" on two square feet of soil at a time, and has been touring six western states for three years. Frank Rauzi, left, and Frank Knittle, of Laramie, Wyo., are in charge of equipment.

Now's the Time to Hunt Mushrooms

Hunting for spring morels—regarded the world over as the most delectable and succulent of mushrooms—can be as much fun as trout fishing, according to Alexander H. Smith, professor of botany and biologist in the University of Michigan herbarium.

In fact, in the south mushroom collecting is known as "dry-land fishing." Safe for the amateur to select and eat, mushrooms are practically without equals as edible fungi and are avidly sought.

With no special training and no equipment fancier than a clean cloth, basket and knife, you can search out these delicacies in their favorite environments and return home triumphant with a dish of fungi fresh from the field. Look for morels in the woods every spring around the first week of May. They may also be found in wet, abandoned meadows and orchards. The time of their appearance will, of course, vary with the weather.

You don't need any secret test to identify the morels. Genus Morchella—extremely delicious—has pits and ridges in the cap as its distinguishing features. The plant stands from 2 to 6 inches high, the cap forming the upper half or two-thirds and the stem the remainder. The cap is tan to brown, the stem somewhat paler. Both stem and cap are hollow and brittle in texture.

You do need to be sure of the age and condition of your specimens! Avoid those that are old, limp and flabby, as they may be partly decomposed by harmful bacteria.

After you have found that ripe, plump beauty, cut off the stem neatly just above the ground. Wipe the cap with your cloth and remove from the under surface any debris that may be present.

Then break open the cap, split the stem lengthwise, and examine it for the presence of beetle larvae. If only the stem is infested, it can be broken off and discarded.

In flavor and texture morels surpass the common cultivated species and most other wild mushrooms. Attempts to grow them commercially have so far not been successful. They are unexcelled when cooked and can also be dried and saved for future use. There are many ways of cooking the "sponges," but they are excellent simply fried in butter or served with steak.

White morels are safe to eat, it might be well to point out that there is a personal factor in mushroom poisoning. Persons who know they are violently allergic to fungous spores—some hay fever patients—would do well to be very cautious when first testing any kind of mushroom not previously eaten by them. It is best to play safe and eat only small quantities the first time you prepare a new mushroom dish.

Identical Twins Aid Experiment On Cow Feeding

How does the Michigan agricultural experiment station keep 120 cows in 6 stanchions?

This doesn't really happen—but for tests, it amounts to the same thing, with 3 sets of identical twins. One set of these twin heifers is equal to 40 cows for test purposes. Identical traits cut down on the work of adjusting figures.

One set was tested with one twin on hay alone and the other on hay and corn silage. The one on hay stood out in milk production at first, until its bodily reserve wore down. Then the twin on hay and corn silage took over and produced 3 times as much as its twin eating hay only.

Even if Michigan State college dairy scouts have trouble finding identical twin calves and they cost a bit more, feeding 6 is easier on the tax budget than 120 would be.

This Great New 3-Point Hitch with Load and Depth Control

...Yours, As Regular Equipment, in the New JOHN DEERE "40" Series Two-Plow Tractors

When you inspect the advanced-type 3-point hitch on the new John Deere "40" Series Tractors, you'll quickly see why it offers you advantages over other 3-point hitches. First of all, it's a stronger hitch, with every part built with rugged durability for long service. It's a fully-adaptable hitch that will take a full line of new John Deere Quik-Tatch "pickup" tools as well as any standard 3-point tools made for other tractors.

It is an easier hitch to hook up to, thanks to the turnbuckle design which enables you to shorten or lengthen the top link with a turn of the hand. Best of all, there is the new John Deere Load-and-Depth Control which works with the 3-point hitch and the Touchomatic system to give you the kind of working accuracy you have always wanted for your plow, disk harrow, and other field implements. We'll be glad to demonstrate, any time.

Proper Placement Of Fertilizer Will Pay Off

Proper placement of fertilizer so that it gives the most benefit without burning the seed is one farm operation that pays off, emphasizes Dick Bailey, Ingham county agricultural agent.

Bean drills placing fertilizer below seed have been used for some years in Michigan and this method has paid off in millions, according to Bailey. Corn can be increased about 5 bushels per acre by dividing fertilizer at 2 levels below corn. Beet growers find it pays off to put the fertilizer 2 inches below the seed. Band seeding of small grains places the seed above the fertilizer. These better placement methods pay off.

It's Safe to Eat These

THIS is what the genus Morchella esculenta of the morel, a highly edible and safe variety of mushroom, looks like. It is found all over Michigan in woods and abandoned orchards, according to Alexander Smith, University of Michigan professor of botany.

Dust Bowl Conditions Develop Again

ist bowl conditions of the dramatized in Steinbeck's "The Grapes of Wrath" are once again gripping the southwest, and Michigan is feeling the pinch of abnormal snow and rain falls, according to a report issued by Marlon T. Hall of Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills.

ist storms have already lashed in Colorado, New Mexico, and Oklahoma, and Kansas. In areas depend on spring and summer rains which usually come when warm Gulf winds are against colder air masses from the continent. When the rain comes, however, it does not necessarily water the sections in need. After an extreme drought, throughout a winter or, a hard-baked top layer of soil drains off the water almost as fast as it falls.

th the Missouri and Mississippi river basins got very little water last winter. While this condition will eliminate danger of is when the thaw begins, it will be a lowering of ground water resources for this vast region though these droughts come in cycles spaced from 10 to 20 years apart, the effects tend to be lasting. In the Ozarks the up-oak forests consist of small, stunted trees which are more dwarfed the farther southwestward they grow into Oklahoma. Although Michigan is far from a dust bowl status, precipitation this year has been definitely below average. Danger to water resources for human consumption and industrial uses is not immediate. But the wet-lands and swamps of the state have been directly affected, and a general lowering of inland water areas can be expected to continue.

State wet-lands are gradually disappearing as a result of drainage and greater use of ground water resources. These activities are already seriously harming the swamp-dwelling animals which make up a considerable segment of state wildlife. Water-fowl populations, especially ducks, are expected to suffer severely unless wet-lands are preserved.

In other states plant-life is most seriously affected. As one drives southwest from St. Louis one finds the Ozark forests a veritable tinderbox. Dr. Hall reports, and a great many trees are either already dead or in various stages approaching death.

Spring wildflowers likewise show the effects of prolonged drought. The Bloodroot which normally has flowers the size of a half-dollar, is sporting blossoms smaller than a quarter. Other wildflowers, such as Dutchman's Breeches, the purple and green Trilliums, and the Golden Corydalis are all dwarfed replicas of normal plants.

The expansion of agriculture into these dust bowl areas poses a serious problem for the individual farmer and the entire country. States in which cyclic periods of drought are most severe are marginal areas for agriculture, and farmers in these sections must do well enough in good years to weather out the drought. If May and June do not bring more than average rains, enough to soften the hard crust, "Okie" caravans may once again crowd the highways to greener pastures.

Extra Gallons Are Needed to Return Profits

Although weighing milk from each cow in your herd pays off, you can tell fairly accurately what your cow is producing without scales.

C. R. Hoglund, a Michigan State college agricultural economist, says you can use the amount of milk a cow produces shortly after freshening—her peak period—to figure how much she will give in a year.

A cow that gives you 3 gallons per day will produce only about 6,000 lb of milk a year. That kind of a cow, Hoglund points out, won't pay her keep this year. An extra gallon per day at the cow's peak, however, will add 2,000 lb to the lactation period. But she still wouldn't pay a high labor wage to her owner.

Hoglund suggests that a cow producing 5 or more gallons of milk per day at her peak should be the goal of every dairy farmer. Those kind of cows will return a fair profit this year.

The economist figures that the average Michigan cow gave her owner about 55¢ per hour for his labor and management last year. That was when 3.5 test milk average $3.80 per hundredweight. But for the same kind of milk this year, prices are expected to average about $3.30 per hundredweight. That means the farmer will get only 20¢ per hour for his labor and management. And those farmers who are receiving a higher slaughter price now than they will this summer.

Never has the dairyman had a bigger reason to cull out his below-average cows, Hoglund declares, and cull cows will bring as little as $3 per hundredweight for milk this year, Hoglund asserts, will be working without pay if they have average cows.

Ingham No. 6 Has High Herd Average

Twenty-eight herds in the Ingham No. 6 of the Dairy Herd Improvement association averaged over 30 lb of butterfat for the month of April, according to the tester, Reid V. Losey.

These herds are as follows: Thomas Bell, 14 registered and grade Holsteins, 48.1 lb fat, 1,280.7 lb milk; Glen Sharland, 23 Holsteins, 45.1 lb fat, 1,283.5 lb milk; Thomas Cooper, 17 registered and grade Holsteins, 41.4 lb fat, 1,445.3 lb milk; Beryl Smith, 19 Holsteins and Guernseys, 41.2 lb fat, 1,041.1 lb milk; Brown and Pfister, 25 Holsteins and Guernseys, 40.5 lb fat, 1,022.4 lb milk; Fred Graf, 42 registered Holsteins, 40.2 lb fat, 1,075.7 lb milk; Frank Elfert & Son, 13 Holsteins, 40.0 lb fat, 1,070.8 lb milk; Bert Schmitzing, 14 Holsteins, 38.8 lb fat, 1,002.1 lb milk; Raymond Ansel, 25 Holsteins and Guernseys, 38.5 lb fat, 955.6 lb milk; Coy Dunsmore, 16 Holsteins, 37.8 lb fat, 1,036.9 lb milk; Harold Bollman, 14 Holsteins and Jerseys, 36.4 lb fat, 919.3 lb milk; Vaughn Baxter, 35 Holsteins, 36.0 lb fat, 958.6 lb milk; C. Pastures Pay

By Dick Bailey
County Agricultural Agent

Annual forage crops like sudangrass, rape and the small grains cost more per day of grazing than perennials—alfalfa and ladino clover—and yet their use is warranted.

That's because good pasture supplies food at the lowest cost for milk and meat production, explain Michigan State college specialists.

When seedlings fail or when forage adjustments are necessary, the annual crops can be very profitable, explains Leyton Nelson, farm cropsman.

Good pasture is the reason it costs 40% to 45% less for feed to produce milk in June than in January, notes George Parsons, dairyman. In a program aimed at a long grazing season, it pays to supplement alfalfa-brome pastures with rye for early spring and late fall, sudangrass for mid-summer and Reed canary grass on low wet ground, he adds. Another good practice is to cut excess pasture in late May or early June and store it in the silo to feed during the hot dry spell.

On good corn ground in southern Michigan, sudangrass is the most productive crop to grow, advises Nelson, and it is very responsive to commercial fertilizer. He recommends 350 to 400 lb of 10-10-10 fertilizer per acre at planting time, from May 20 to July 1, for July and August pasture. The best seeding rate is 20 to 25 lb per acre.

Piper sudangrass seed is available in Michigan this year. This new variety is highly recommended for high yields, low prussic acid content, high resistance to leaf diseases and good late summer regrowth. The reddish black seed is its distinguishing feature.

Sudangrass is especially useful for the July-August gap when alfalfa may not be available, suggests Nelson. Early-planted sudangrass will supply abundant pasture in July and up until the first heavy frost in the fall. Danger of prussic acid poisoning from sudangrass following a frost appears slight in Michigan but Nelson says it is a wise precaution to avoid pasturing it after frost. Sudangrass should be at least 18 inches high before pasturing.

Small grains, particularly oats, often furnish about 6 weeks of pasture in June or early July. On lighter soils, or on fields where seedlings are difficult to establish, pasturing the oat companion crop—or removing it as hay or grass silage—often helps the seedlings to become established. This practice could well be followed by many more Michigan farmers at present, the farm cropsman suggests.

Rape and oat make a good hog and sheep pasture. A mixture of 4 pounds of rape and 2 bushels of oats per acre, seeded at oat planting time, provides pasture from late June until fall. Like sudangrass, rape needs a fertile soil. Rape should be fertilized at planting time with 300 pounds of a complete fertilizer per acre. If dairy cows are pastured on rape, they should be removed 3 to 4 hours before milking to avoid off-flavor milk.

Partial millets like German millet are used sometimes for an annual hay crop, notes Nelson, but they are not well suited for pasture. They do not have a strong root system and livestock often pull them out by the roots.

Saliva Prevents Bloat in Cattle

All bloat cases in cattle may be "frothy bloat" in opinion of Dr. Crl F. Huffman, Michigan State college dairy nutrition researcher.

"We have never found a cow that died of bloat that didn't have froth on top of the gas," he explains.

A good saliva flow is the big preventer of bloat, notes Dr. Huffman; cows need some grass to "tickle" their palates.

Plan now to attend the Ingham county plowing contest at the F. C. Anderson farm in Dansville Saturday afternoon. It's free and it's the biggest thrill show of the year.

Twenty-one contestants have signed up to compete in the 3 major events—tractor plowing, belting and backing. This contest is to farm boys what the Indianapolis Speedway is to hot-rodders. It's the ultimate in precision plowing and good sportsmanship. The site of the contest is the first farm east of Dansville on the north side of M-36. Both 4-H and FFA boys will take part in the contest.

FACTS DEPARTMENT: Following the Easter sunrise services 2 weeks ago I started in to seed 16,000 square feet of lawn. Before the services began at 10 a. m., 4,000 feet had been conquered. Last week end, the credit column advanced to 10,000 square feet. This past week end the yet-to-do area was reduced to 3,600. That will be seeded between the raindrops yet this week under present plans.

The weather has been ideal for making lawns. Lawns everywhere are looking their best this spring. The liberal amounts of rain and the occasional warm days make the turf bristle with vitality.

I am using various grass seed mixtures for different parts of the lawn. In the sunny, fertile sections I used the white gold mixture containing Kentucky bluegrass. On the lower sandy slopes which are heavily shaded, I am using a mixture containing 5 parts of creeping red fescue and one part of white clover. In some sections of the lawn, I have raked the seed and then rolled it. In other parts, I have merely rolled it. And in another section I have neither raked it nor rolled it. Probably in a few sections I have not even seeded it.

This experiment in starting a lawn is the result of all the advice I have received. Now, for the first time, I will be able to offer what I consider the easiest and best way to seed a lawn.

One little boy stole the show at the elementary school singing program Friday night. While he was waving from the stage to his parents in the balcony, he stumbled into the bleachers and fell flat. Congratulations to the Masonic Lodge No. 70, F. & A. M., for 100 years of activity in Mason. Masons celebrate for 3 days beginning next Thursday.

The Ingham County News first began publishing 95 years ago, just 5 years after the birth of the Masonic lodge. Let's see, that will make our centennial come around 1959. That seems like a long ways away, but it's only 5 years.

Plants Will Aid Doctors to Cure Some Patients

Some patients need more than medicine to get well.

That's one reason horticulturists at Michigan State college are urging more people to become interested in growing and caring for plants. Michigan State college Extension Folder F-181, "Horticultural Therapy," has some suggestions on how to "offer a tonic to any patients." The folder is available at the county extension office. Here are some suggestions it offers as a supplement to other treatment for patients:

For bed patients, give them some narcissus, hyacinth or crocus bulbs that will grow rapidly in a container with small stones and water. Seeing roots and flowers develop gives them a lift and they can also become amateur plant breeders.

Give a patient some labeled house plants, identifying them by both the common and scientific names. Wild plants that grow in the woods are good material, too. Learning to identify the plants will give the patient hours of pleasure and it makes good use of his time.

A blind person will get much enjoyment from an outdoor herb garden. Plants should be on a sloping area so they're about waist high. A hand rail can guide the blind person and he can learn to identify the plants from labels in Braille.

If the patient is artistic, he can spend a lot of time learning a useful hobby. Give the patient a few flower containers, some chicken wire or other device for holding flowers. If he is in a hospital, he will be able to find plenty of flowers to dismantle

Dogs and turkeys were the only domesticated animals in North America at the time Columbus discovered the New World, says the National Geographic Society. Most Indian dogs seem to have been of wolf or coyote stock but explorers' descriptions indicate others of different ancestry. These strange dogs became extinct at an early date. The mystery of their origin is unsolved.

Dairy Plan Would Drink Up Surplus

Dennis Underwood, treasurer of the Southern Michigan Milk Producers' association at Onondaga, has come up with a new idea for sharing the burden of too much milk.

Underwood has put his idea into action. So far he has given it to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, Congressman Kit Chardy, and Senators Charles Potter and Homer Ferguson.

Here's the Underwood plan

as its author gave it to the Ingham County News this week:

I am writing this in behalf of the milk producers of Michigan. When the Republicans were elected they gave their pledge that industry, labor and the farmer would be helped to solve the problem of surplus with a minimum of government control. So far there has been little progress made. As a milk producer I am primarily interested in the constantly shrinking milk prices. I feel that I am both a laborer and a businessman. My type of labor should be worth a dollar an hour. As a businessman I should be entitled to the average cost of production plus fair interest on my investment, which I am not receiving.

I have been doing some research on the subject and find that it takes $2.25 worth of feed, $1.18 for depreciation and overhead and 1 1/2 hours of labor at $1.00 per hour making a total of $4.63 to produce a hundred pounds of milk. In the Jackson marketing area we are receiving approximately $4.13 per hundred pounds, the Detroit area receives approximately $3.62 per hundred pounds for base milk at the door. At these prices the farmer is operating at a loss. At the present time the farmers have 75-80% of the total investment required to put quality milk on the consumers' table, yet receive less than 50% of his milk dollar.

Any intelligent farmer knows that to maintain a good margin of profit he must either produce only to meet the demand or to expand the market for his product. I believe the following formula will equalize the supply and demand for milk and guarantee the producer a fair margin of profit. I propose that the producers of milk agree to sell to the bottling plants for a fair uniform base price all milk sold as bottled milk, chocolate milk, cream and etc., and for $1.00 per hundred all surplus milk that goes into butter, provided that butter is produced and sold to the consumer at cost as an incentive for the purchase of larger quantities of milk, such as butter at 25 to 35 cents per pound with the purchase of 6 to 8 quarts of milk at a time.

While the farmer would be producing this surplus milk below cost, it would serve as an inducement to sell more bottled milk, thus benefiting producer, bottler and consumer. Milk is already the cheapest drink on the market and at $4.68 per hundred to the farmer, it would still remain the cheapest.

I believe that a plan such as this would take care of our surplus as well as stabilize the price of bottled milk.

Land Judging Is Popular In Michigan

Land judging is becoming popular in Michigan, both for young farmers and adults, reports Dick Bailey, Ingham county agricultural agent. Now that the weather is favorable, judging contests and land appreciation schools are under way all over the state.

"Land judging places land in its proper use class," explains Frank W. Trull, extension soil and water conservationist at Michigan State college. "This is done by determining texture and color of topsoil and subsol, the slope of the land and the amount of erosion. Then the judges determine the most intense, yet safe, rotation for the land and the conservation practices to be followed."

Land judging has been made a part of the Future Farmers of America program for 1954—the first year it has been included. When FFA chapters meet June 21 and 22 at the college, there will be teams for land judging as well as for stock and grain judging.

Vocational agriculture teachers find these contests a fine method for teaching land values, according to Bailey. Students—including adult farmers—find a new interest in study of their soils. Most county contests are sponsored by the vocational agriculture teachers, Cooperative Extension Service and directors of the local soil conservation district.

A land judging contest is being set up in Ingham county for May 12.

Eligibility For Corn Supports Has Basic Rule

A producer in the commercial corn-producing area must plant within the corn acreage allotment for his farm if he wants to be eligible for price support on his 1954 corn crop, Ralph Glynn, chairman of the county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee, reminds farmers. Ingham county is included in the commercial corn area.

"It's comparatively easy to understand the basic rule for eligibility for corn price support," Glynn explained. "The same basic rule applies whether the farmer has one farm or more than one farm in the county. That is, if he complies with the corn acreage allotment for each farm, he will be eligible for a loan or purchase agreement on all or any part of his 1954 corn crop."

"If a farmer has more than one farm, however, and he does not comply with the corn allotment on one or more of them, it gets a little more complicated. If the farmer's share of the underplanted corn acreage on all farms in the county in which he has an interest in the corn crop equals or exceeds his share in the overplanted corn acreage on all such farms, he will be eligible for price support only on the farms on which the 1954 corn acreage allotment is not exceeded."

"However, if the producer's share of the overplanted corn

CAR FINANCING and INSURANCE RATES ARE NOT STANDARD Investigate before you buy and SAVE!

Many people pay too much for financing and insurance service when buying an automobile. They take it for granted the rates quoted them are standard or the lowest available when quite often they are not. They do not figure out the TOTAL cost before they buy—as they should.

Under the State Farm Bank Plan all items are clearly listed. You know: (1) Exactly what you pay, (2) Exactly what you get.

"I knew about the State Farm Bank Plan, so before I bought my 1950 car I saw a State Farm agent. He saved me $122.22 on financing and insurance costs through the Bank Plan, as compared with a rate quoted me elsewhere." See your State Farm agent. BEFORE you buy that car! (One # many actual cases).

average on all his farms in the county exceeds his share of the underplanted acreage on such farms, the producer will not be eligible for price support on any of his corn crop—not even on the born from a farm where he did plant within the corn acreage allotment."

Compliance with acreage allotments for other commodities will not be required for price support on 1954-crop corn, according to the chairman. Minimum price support rates on the 1954 corn crop will be based on a national average of $1.62 per bushel, Glynn pointed out.

Multiflora Roses Are for Farms, Not Small Lots

Some recent sales publicity on multiflora rose should be viewed with caution, Dick Bailey, Ingham county agricultural agent, stresses.

Although the shrubbery plants have value in the proper place, they have limitations, he has been advised by 2 Michigan State college specialists. Joseph T. Cox, extension landscape architect, and Charles Shick, extension game management specialist, point out: Multiflora rose, an inexpensive member of the rose family, is not suited for planting near buildings or in small backyards as the shrub spreads out to 6 or 8 feet, more space than most folks with small lots can devote to hedges. It is suitable for planting on farms south of the Bay City-Mt. Pleasant-Muskegon line and will grow best when planted on fertile soil. It will not do well in dry sandy locations. If planted along farm field borders as a living hedge, the rose seedlings should be mulched or cultivated for good growth. Multiflora rose will pro-

Butter Grading Protects Buyers

Smart homemakers like to know the score on the food situation—and right now butter is one of the chief topics of conversation.

On April 1, when the federal support level for butter and other dairy products went down, the price of butter also dropped and homemakers were interested in renewing their acquaintance with butter.

Quality in butter is based on such things as flavor, texture and aroma. It is difficult for people who aren't experts to tell the difference between butter that is good and that which is the very best.

However, the homemaker has the assistance of government experts when she buys butter. If she will look for the government shield on the carton or inside the carton she'll find a letter C, B, A or AA, indicating the score, or quality, of the butter.

Most of the butter on the market scores 89 or 90. That is Grade C or Grade B. If it is better than ordinary, in flavor, aroma and appearance, it may earn a score of 92, Grade A. And the very best vide wild birds and animals with food, cover and nesting sites. Multiflora rose produces small pinkish-white flowers the last 2 weeks of June. The MSC specialists suggest planting privet bush honeysuckle, Chinese lilac, Siberian peashrub, flowering quince or Japanese yew for ornamental purposes in vicinity of buildings or on small lots. Some of these shrubs are much more "showy" than multiflora rose. They recommend purchasing the shrubs from reliable nurseries, which generally provide good planting stock at reasonable prices.

is graded 99 score. That is given the Grade Double A.

Only about one pound in 8 qualifies as Double A, but there is usually plenty of Grade A butter on the market. The price, of course, goes up with the score. To help you get the quality butter that you want, look for the government label and the letters AA, A, B, or C. Almost all butter is good—but some is better than other.

Farmers who clip their cows' flanks and udders produce a better quality of milk.

Planning a luncheon? How about a nutritious vegetable platter—peas served in turnip cups, cucumbers in sour cream and buttered asparagus, suggests Robert Hershey, foods and nutrition extension specialist at Michigan State college.

Just Back Up . . . CLICK . . . and Go

You'll have to see and try it to believe it! Just back up the Super C, line up the hitch sockets to meet the twin coupling beams on the implement. As you back, the beams lock automatically, instantly, precisely! And in the field—no more muscle work! Implement control is completely hydraulic. Measure . . . Compare . . . Prove to Yourself!—A phone call will do it. We'll bring a Super C and Fast-Hitch to your farm for a free demonstration.
