

CONTRASTS EXIST between farm life in the United States and in Finland, said Miss Kaisa Airaksinen, but basically the problems are the same. And people are pretty much alike the world over, she has found. She is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Watkins, 150 Lamb road, Mason. She has been in the United States ever since May as an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate from Finland. (MSU photo.)

Finnish Girl Enjoys Stay With Farm Families Here

Here at Mason is a sweet and gracious visitor, Miss Kaisa Airaksinen. She has come from Finland to learn how Americans live and work and play. She arrived Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Watkins, 150 Lamb road.

While she is learning about American ways, Americans have the opportunity to learn a bit about the life and ways of Finland, something of the valor of the only people who paid their debts to the United States after World War I, something of the courage of a people who were forced to fight 3 wars in World War II (Germans once and Russians twice) while the rest of Europe was fighting one with U. S. help.

Finnish could hardly have made a happier choice of an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate than Kaisa Airaksinen. She comes from a farm family at Siilinjärvi, Kaunas, 300 miles north of Helsinki. The family has 223 acres, 70 acres of it tillable. Chief crops are rye, wheat and barley, and milk from a dairy herd. The farm is mechanized to the point where machines instead of the women now do the milking. The Finnish girl has 6 brothers and 2 sisters. One brother lost his life in the war.

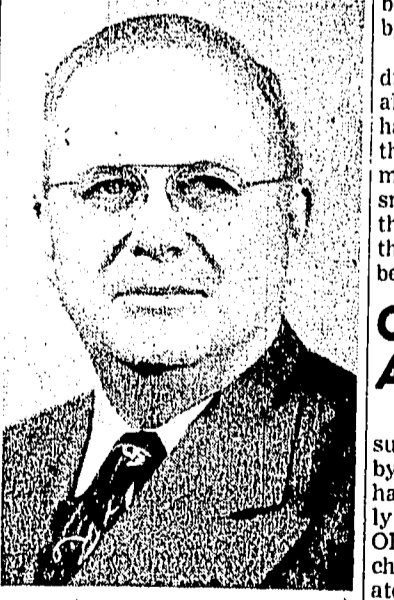

Kaisa speaks Swedish, German and English in addition to Finnish, which is unrelated to other Scandinavian languages. The Finns, she said, came centuries ago through what is now Russia to settle in Finland. They have had to fight to retain their freedom. They have to continually fight to wrest a living from the sea, from the forests and the comparatively few acres of tillable land. They are used to fighting and to paying what they owe.

To get back to Kaisa, she is a student at Helsinki university. She plans to become a school teacher but indicated a willingness to change her plans if the right young man comes along. And the right young man will probably be Finnish, she indicated. Not that she doesn't like American young men and young men of other nationalities she has met through IPYE, but much better all around, she said, that she marry a man from her own country.

Kaisa is one of a group of IPYE delegates from 45 foreign countries who exchange places with American farm boys and girls for 4 to 6 months. The program is sponsored by the National 4-H Club Foundation, the U. S. extension service and land grant colleges.

Arriving in New York aboard the SS Mauretania May 24, Kaisa first went to Washington and from there to Georgia. She lived with farm families there for 2 months—2 hot months. August 3 she arrived at Michigan State university for an IPYE conference and following that went to Michigan's Upper Peninsula. She was a guest of a farm family near Marquette, a family of Finnish descent. Not only was she welcomed in Finnish, but she was invited to the sauna, the traditional Finnish steam bath.

After her stay in the Upper Peninsula, Kaisa returned to the East Lansing campus to attend the state 4-H show and from there went to the home of Mr.

Jury Brings in Lesser Verdict Against Crane

After deliberating 2 hours Thursday, a jury found William C. Crane guilty of negligent homicide. He was charged with manslaughter. Negligent homicide carries a lesser penalty.

Crane drove the truck which hit a car driven by Mrs. Victor F. Brenner, Mason, Sept. 17, 1951. Robert Brenner, 11, suffered fatal injuries.

Mrs. Brenner with her son and 2 neighbor boys, Marvin and Harold Pulver, had backed out of the Brenner driveway and had started south toward Mason when their car was struck by the truck driven by Crane.

Judge Louis E. Coash presided at the trial.

Many witnesses went to the stand in the trial which began in circuit court, Lansing, Tuesday morning. Taking of testimony ended Wednesday afternoon.

Witnesses called by Assistant Prosecutor Peter J. Treleven included Mr. and Mrs. Victor Brenner, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Montague, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Hagler, Maynard Brownlee, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn R. Driggs, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foell, Dwight Helms of Tecumseh, George Lynam of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barton, Harold and Marvin Pulver, George Vukovich and Marie Huff, Arthur W. Jewett and sheriff's officers. Crane testified in his own behalf. Roy Conley of Lansing defended him. Victor Brenner, father of the boy who was killed, heard but did not see the accident, he testified. He said he and his twin daughters were in the yard of their home at 607 N. Lansing road when Mrs. Brenner, the son and the Pulver boys drove away, to attend the Mason-St. Johns football game at Mason.

Mrs. Brenner and the Pulver boys had no recollection of the accident, they testified. They did not see the truck before it struck their car.

Sheriff Willard P. Barnes, Captain Versile Babcock and Turnkey Harold Barnhill all testified they could smell liquor on Crane following the accident and that he gave other appearances of having been drinking. Mr. and Mrs. Montague and Mr. and Mrs. Hagler were 1 1/2 miles north of the accident scene, they testified, when Crane's truck passed them at a high rate of speed.

Mr. and Mrs. Driggs and Mr. and Mrs. Foell said they were driving north and saw Crane's truck swerving while going south. They said they feared the truck driver was coming across the pavement divider to hit them. Immediately, though, the truck struck the Brenner car, they testified. They were first at the scene, Mrs. Driggs called an ambulance. They said they smelled liquor on Crane. Helms also testified that he smelled liquor on Crane.

Called as rebuttal witnesses were Mrs. Huff and Vukovich. They said they saw Crane drinking in the Midway tavern and the Crystal bar at Holt shortly before the accident.

Crane declared he had had only 3 bottles of beer all afternoon and evening. Injuries to his head and his leg caused him to limp and perhaps give the appearance of having been drinking, he testified. He said he saw the Brenner car ahead of him but was unable to avoid a crash because his truck was hemmed in by other cars.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton were driving on Hogback road, paralleling US-127, when the accident happened. They said they saw the truck whirling on the pavement. They testified that they smelled no liquor on Crane, when they went to the wreckage, and that he gave no indications of being intoxicated.

Change Shortens Aurelius Dialing

Beginning October 1, Mason subscribers can reach Aurelius by telephone without using both hands and 2 directories. Presently the user at Mason must dial OR-7-3411 to get the Aurelius exchange and then give the operator the number; first getting the Aurelius exchange number from the Mason directory and then the Aurelius subscriber number from the Aurelius directory.

That's all going to be changed. Beginning Saturday, Mason telephone users have only to dial code "9" for the Aurelius exchange; no OR, no 7, no 3, no 4, no 1, 1, 1. When the operator at Aurelius answers, then only the Aurelius patron's number has to be supplied.

RAY RAYMOND of Leslie became Ingham's, 27th traffic fatality Friday. He was killed on Edlen road, south of Mason.

Young Veteran Dies in Crash At End of Road

Failure to make a sharp turn on a familiar Vevay country road cost Ray J. Raymond, 24, his life Friday evening.

Raymond, recently released after 4 years in the navy, was driving south on Edlen road, 3 miles south of Mason, when he met his death. He lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Raymond, Leslie, 2 miles south of the turn he failed to make.

Edlen road jogs at Rolfe road, west across Michigan Central tracks and then south again through Edlen. Raymond had driven the road hundreds of times. Friday evening he either forgot where he was or had mechanical trouble with his car, officers said.

Raymond was driving a car he had purchased new after release from the navy. Friends who had ridden with him shortly before the crash said the brakes needed adjustment. They said they suggested that Raymond get the brakes adjusted when he had the car's 4,000-mile check made.

Jack Sheburne, who lives nearby, notified the sheriff's office of the crash at 7:25. First on scene were Police Chief Harry Chandler and Tim Stolz of Mason. On their way to handle traffic at the football game, they picked up the radio message and sped to the intersection of Edlen and Rolfe roads. They found the driver dead in the wreckage of his car. The car had struck an 18-inch maple tree south of the end of Edlen road.

David Marquardt identified the body of Raymond. Minutes later Raymond's 2 sisters, Patricia Raymond, Leslie, and Mrs. Lester Howery, Mason, drove up to see what had happened. They learned it was their brother who was the crash victim.

Surviving the young navy veteran are the parents, the 2 sisters and 3 brothers, Jack, Pleasant, Iak, Rodney, Leslie, and George, Lansing.

Following his discharge from the navy, Raymond entered the employ of Oldsmobile in Lansing. He was graduated from Leslie high school in 1950.

The Leslie man entered the navy in August, 1951. He served in Hawaii, and Japan and on other Pacific islands and made a cruise around the world.

Funeral services were at the Leucht establishment in Leslie Monday afternoon with burial in the Leslie cemetery. William Taylor, Robert Coppennoll, Garth Disenroth, Marcus Stanfield, William Marquardt and David Marquardt were pallbearers.

Accident Victim Remains Critical

Richard Beers, 28, 478 Waldo road, remains in a critical condition at Sparrow hospital in Lansing. He was found in the wreckage of his car a half-mile from his residence Saturday morning. He has fractured skull, broken legs, chest injuries and cuts about his head. Wednesday he regained consciousness to the point where he recognized his wife.

Max Hulett, who lives near Beers, discovered his neighbor in the wreckage. Hulett was taking his wife to work at the county hospital, Okemos, when he saw the wrecked car and the unconscious man.

Sheriff's officers who investigated, attributed the accident to the driver dozing at the wheel. Beers was driving south on Meridian road. His car went off the pavement on the left, along the bottom of a ditch for 200 feet, struck a tree and spun around, heading north. Indications, officers said, were that Beers had been in the wreckage for at least an hour before Hulett came along.

Beers is employed by Martin Block Co., Lansing.

Taxpayers Face County Budget Of Record Size

County government is going to cost Ingham taxpayers $182,700 more in 1956 than in 1955. The new budget adopted by supervisors at Mason Wednesday forenoon is a record $2,345,490 in property taxes with another $195,000 coming from estimated receipts. Receipts this year were listed as $148,000.

The budget does not include highway revenues. Ingham pays no tax for highway construction or maintenance.

Taxpayers were spared $200 by a successful fight against an item for the East Michigan Tourist association. But a few minutes before, that $200 and $800 more with it went to a new organization, the Michigan Institute of Local Government. As recommended by the ways and means committee and adopted by supervisors without a dissenting vote, the lobby organization for county and township government will get $1,071.

A move to transfer money for extradition of prisoners from the sheriff's to the prosecutor's budget failed. An attempt to tack on a specific appropriation for the Lansing Mental Health Center was finally dropped.

When the vote on adoption of the budget was taken there was only one negative vote. That came from Supervisor Robert H. Klock, Lansing.

Back into the budget for next year went $12,000 for Michigan Children's Aid Society. The item was dropped from the budget this year but the organization has been paid for care rendered county wards, supervisors explained.

Supervisors provided nothing for the county fair building fund next year. County parks will get $1,000 less and there will be $33,000 less to pay for drain charges against the county at large. The contingent fund was set at $128,041 for next year, an increase of $90,000 over the 1955 item. Provision was made to set aside $9,000 from the 1956 contingent fund for Ingham Chest hospital maintenance if needed. The budget item for the hospital is $153,000 for this year, $160,000 next.

Supervisor John Patriarche of East Lansing said that the health department budget for next year, set at $185,000, is below requests but that he would make no protest. This year the budget provided $178,490.

The sheriff's department received a major budget boost, from $137,870 to $168,270. It covers a shift in personnel and wage increases. Women will be hired as driver license examiners and the men now detailed to the assignment will be added to the patrol staff.

Supervisor Hubert R. Bullen, chairman of the ways and means committee, said the committee did not recognize a CIO union as bargaining agent for deputies.

The move to transfer extradition funds from the sheriff's to the prosecutor's budget drew only 5 votes, those of Supervisor Klock, Harold A. Moore, Max E. Murningham, Christiane M. Loxson and Frank Preuss, all of Lansing.

Mrs. Poxson opened up the ways and means report on mental health funds. She inquired first why an item for the Lansing clinic was eliminated from the budget. Supervisor Bullen replied that the prosecutor is unable to appropriate funds for private patients.

"If the supervisors are unable to appropriate for non-public agencies," asked Mrs. Poxson, "why does the committee recommend $200 for the East Michigan Tourist association?"

George Thornton, a Lansing attorney, spoke on behalf of the clinic. He questioned the opinion of the prosecutor.

However, after Supervisor Triquet explained that the clinic staff can file claims on a fee or case-cost basis, Mrs. Poxson withdrew a motion she had made to leave the budget open on the mental health item to await the opinion of the prosecutor.

The motion to delete $200 for the East Michigan Tourist association from the budget carried 18 to 11. Negative votes were cast by Bennett, Brown, Bullen, Card, Cronkrite, Leeman, Marshall, Silsby, Triquet, Ward and Wilcox.

With only Supervisors Cavanaugh, Patriarche, Stone and Woods dissenting, supervisors raised the mileage rate for county employees to 8c. It is now 7c. There will be no October meeting of supervisors. Adjournment was taken to November 1.

HANDICAPPED? Because of "Employ the Handicapped Week," October 2-3, Jim Stubbert, Mason postal clerk, posed for this picture. A German land mine cost him a leg in World War II, but the young veteran didn't let it spoil his life. Instead, his success as a family man and as a hard worker in the postal department has given courage to others. (ICN photo.)

Soldier Lost Only a Leg, Not His Will to Succeed

Jim Stubbert, Mason postal clerk, doesn't think of himself as handicapped or disabled. He puts in long hours at the Mason post office, has built his own home, pilots a plane and does carpenter work. He doesn't sit back and let his artificial leg get the best of him.

On March 1, 1915, just a couple of months before the war was over in Europe, Jim was with the 37th infantry division in Germany. He had fought the battle of the Bulge, crossed into Belgium and France. Advancing just north of Cologne, he stepped on a land mine. The explosion tore off his left leg above the knee.

For 11 months, he was hospitalized. First in France, then England and finally at Percy Jones hospital in Battle Creek. Following his release from the hospital, he attended the Pine Lake Veterans Training school where he learned cabinet-making. He worked as a cabinet-maker, sold automobiles and worked in factories until September, 1953, when he applied for the job of substitute custodian at the post office.

"If you can do the work, you're hired," Postmaster Leslie Palmer told Stubbert.

The wounded veteran took the job. He climbed ladders to wash windows and did other tasks many handicapped men would not have undertaken. Normally, Jim stays in the postoffice sorting mail, cancelling letters and waiting on the public. However, he has also learned RPD 3 and on several occasions has made rural mail deliveries.

"The whole office has changed since Jim came to work with us," Palmer said. "His cheerfulness and ambition have inspired all of us."

Jim is married and has 2 daughters, Sherry, 8, and Jackie, 6. Mrs. Stubbert met Jim while in the post exchange. The Stubbert family lives at 325 W. Sycamore. Jim built the house, doing all except the plastering.

Right now he's a member of the Sycamore Valley Flying club learning to fly a plane. He's a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans.

"Jim is one of the most conscientious men at the postoffice," Palmer said. "He doesn't watch the clock. He's a credit to the postoffice department and to himself."

Jim has forgotten he's handicapped and that may be the reason for his success.

Neighbors Ask For Ruling on Trailer Court

After 4 months of sparring, property owners east of town in Vevay are in circuit court. A group of property owners are disputing the announced decision of Ernest L. Matteson and his wife Christine to convert part of their farm into a trailer court.

The Mattesons bought the former Floyd Baker farm on Columbia road. They applied for and received a permit from the county health department to establish and operate a trailer court.

The permit was issued while Vevay township was considering adoption of a zoning ordinance. The ordinance which became effective July 15 banned trailer courts except in commercial zones. The Baker farm now owned by the Mattesons is classified as D, general farming and residential.

Judge Charles H. Hayden upon petition of owners of adjacent lands has issued an order for the Mattesons to show cause on Friday, October 8, why an injunction should not be issued restraining them from establishing a trailer court. The petitioners declared they will suffer great and irreparable loss if the trailer court is established. They also declared the establishment to be in violation of the Vevay ordinance.

Those who signed the petition were Mr. and Mrs. Milton C. Larsen, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sherwood, Mr. and Mrs. George Helbig, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Martin, Mrs. Mabel B. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nesbit, Mrs. Charity R. Bergland, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bergeson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Harvath, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myall and Dr. and Mrs. O. K. Paulay.

John Bratlin has been retained by the petitioners, Victor C. Anderson by the Mattesons. Both lawyers are from Lansing.

The building plan presented will cover the district needs through 1959, the school board has been advised.

Only qualified electors who own property within the school district assessed for tax may vote on the bond issue. Last day for registration is Friday, October 21.

VARIETY STORE IS RATED IN TOP 10

Gus Kean, Mason business man for 27 years, will have an 8-day open house at his new self-serve $c to $1 store beginning Friday morning. The store, rated among the top 10 of all independent variety stores in Michigan, has been completely remodeled during the past 2 years.

A new brick front was installed 2 years ago. This year, the front entrances were remodeled in aluminum and glass and blond oak display counters were installed to transform the business into a self-serve type.

The store features a new tile floor, modern slim-line and spot lighting, a double checkout station and a new wider stairway to the basement department.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kean and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marsh came to Mason from Bluffton, Indiana, in 1928 to open a variety store in a building where the federal office building is now located. The building was a harness shop owned by the late Charles Brown. The grand opening of the new store was June 6, 1928. That same year the Marshes sold out to the Kears and moved on to Paw Paw.

In 1929, the Kears leased the Oscar Bush building which is the north half of the present store. And soon the variety store outgrew its space and the adjoining Mack building, occupied by a pool hall and beer parlor, was purchased. Another grand open-

Keans Plan Grand Opening

Gus Kean was observed 20 years ago for that expansion. About 15 years ago, half of the basement was remodeled for retail sales. The first variety store began business with $945 in stock, Kean recalled. There was no plumbing in the building and the old fashioned building didn't have much to offer in the way of display possibilities, he said. "Somehow the business clicked and it's been an expansion after another ever since," Kean declared.

Mobile Kitchen Display Due in Mason

Mason women will have an opportunity Monday and Tuesday to see the "Easy Does It" kitchen displayed by Consumers Power company.

The mobile exhibit will be parked in front of Consumers Power company office and will be open both days from 2 to 4 in the evening.

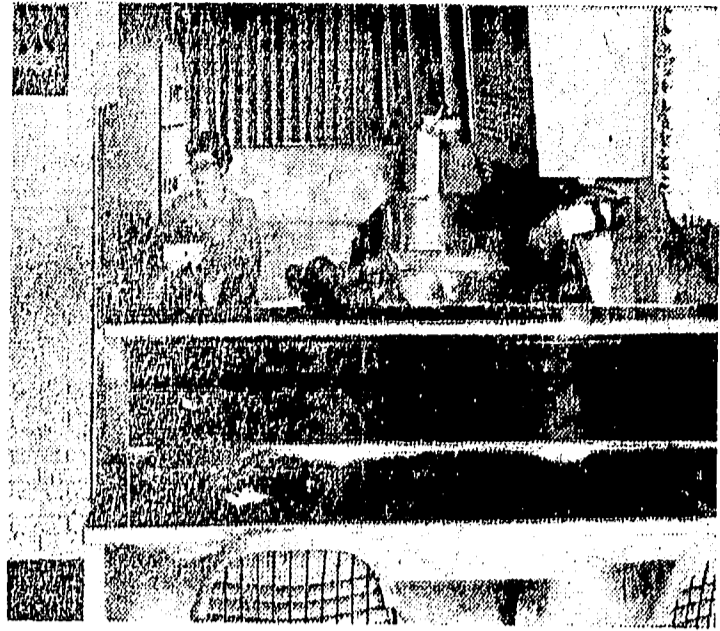

Designed to give the homemaker a wealth of ideas on how her kitchen and homemaking problems can be simplified with improved cabinet and appliance design, the show has drawn the acclaim of homemaking experts since its introduction at Michigan State college, according to Glen Coon, Mason Consumers Power manager.

Many of the ideas presented in the exhibit can be put into effect by minor changes in existing kitchens, according to home demonstration agents in charge of the display.

The Mason showing is part of a general tour of Consumer's 26,000 square mile outstate service area.

According to Coon the kitchen display was planned in the hope it would stimulate today's housewife to think of ways to make her kitchen and laundry into a better workshop.

There are 7 separate centers in the kitchen, each of which contains innovations and details of interest.

Miss Marjorie A. Bottesworth, general home service supervisor for Consumers Power company, is shown at the mixing center in the company's new "Easy Does It" idea kitchen which will be displayed in front of Consumers office Monday and Tuesday.

Council Fixes Voting Date on Sewage Plant

Wednesday night the village council set November 30 as the date for a special election on a proposed sewage disposal plant. October 30 is the last day for registration for the election. Only registered voters who own property assessed for taxes will be allowed to vote.

Action was taken after a conference with Robert Norris of Ayers, Norris, Lewis & May and Stratton Brown, of Miller, Canfield, Paddock & Stone, the engineering and bonding firms, respectively, from Ann Arbor.

Norris presented a revised estimate of cost. The original estimate was $285,000. Now it is $310,000. Norris said he and his firm had come to Leslie to prove that a sewage disposal plant was not needed for a village the size of Leslie. Tests made during the research done to prove this proved instead that the facility was necessary, Norris stated. The live sewage being drained into the open creek was found to create a condition which health authorities in the state deemed harmful to the residents of Leslie and, possibly to the people beyond Leslie living adjacent to the creek or the river into which the creek flows, said Norris. It seems quite likely that the state will hold to its order to have the village build a sewage disposal plant immediately.

Norris discussed with the council the methods of financing such a plant. He suggested that a heavy percentage of general obligation bonds to general revenue bonds be planned.

Should the election fail to produce the three-fifths support necessary, and the state issues a court order to have the system built, all bonds would be general obligation bonds.

"Even though the plan seems an exceedingly ambitious program for a village with so few residents, there are other villages which have even greater programs," said Brown. The plan was built on the premise of 550 water users and 300 using sewage facilities. The repayment of the bonds would come from a combination of increased water rates and sewage rates, millage added to taxes, direct and hydrant fees. There would also be an assessment of the school system so that non-residents of the village would be taxed in proportion that their children would be users of both water and sewage facilities.

Early Christmas

Santa Claus came early for Sidney Grayson, he reported. He drove up in a fuel oil tanker and filled the Grayson drums with a supply that will last for several weeks. And Santa Claus wouldn't take off his whiskers, the Mason man reported.

"Whoever made the gift," said Grayson, "he can be sure it is appreciated."

Letters to the Editor

The eyes of the world are on Denver and the hospital room where President Eisenhower is recovering. The prayers of all the people are with the president. As the anxious hours pass, it is a time for sober thought and reflection.

It should now be self-evident that the office of president is a man-killer. But I wonder how many have thought about the fact that this is largely because we, the people, have selfishly imposed this staggering burden of responsibility upon that office? I think it fair to suggest that our demands for more and more government, aided and encouraged by politicians, is due for a large share of the blame.

While we all have some idea about it, I am equally certain that most of us do not realize just how severe these demands are. Even those who are part of the Washington scene do not fully grasp the full meaning of big government. Every law we pass giving more power to the government imposes another burden on the president. Government has grown so big, even the Hoover Commission never really found out its true size and dimensions.

If this latest proof that even strong men can be broken by the terrific strain big government imposes does not warn us that we should reverse the trend, then I don't know what will take. And so, as we wait for the good news that the president is completely out of danger, we should be giving sober thought to the

Longer Waterfowl Season Opens in Ingham Saturday

Gunners may legally open fire at ducks and geese in Ingham county and in other counties in zone 3 Saturday. The shooting season on wild ducks and geese has been extended this year. Open October 1, it runs through December 9. Hunters may start firing a half-hour before sunrise and keep firing until a half-hour before sunset, except for October 20 when they must hold their fire until 10 a. m. That's when the pleasant season opens.

The bag limit on ducks is 4, including not more than one wood duck and hooded merganser. All hunters 16 years of age and older must have duck stamps.

Bag limits and length of season on pheasants are unchanged.

The pheasant season opens October 20 and extends through November 10. The bag limit is 2 a day, 4 in possession after first day, and 8 for the season.

Squirrels are legal game for the same period, October 20 through November 10. Seasons on rabbits, ruffed grouse and raccoon all begin October 20. On rabbits the season runs through January 31, on ruffed grouse through November 19, and on Ingham has so wasted its forest resources; why people are still allowed to hew and hack down trees without replanting.

Kaisa expressed amazement at the multiplicity of activities which engage so many Americans.

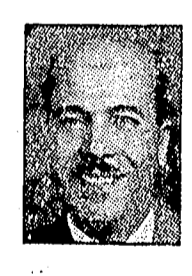

"Finnish families spend more time together than Americans," Kaisa said. "I don't see how so many organizations can thrive as they seemingly do in the United States. I don't understand why so many people want to belong to so many clubs. They don't have time to enjoy their wonderful homes."

Cooperatives play a far bigger part in Finnish economy than they do in the United States, said the I.P.Y.E. delegate. Most Finnish farmers do their buying and selling through cooperatives. The government also has a hand in many business enterprises, she said.

Although 96% of Finns are nominally Lutherans, church attendance is not as regular as in the United States, said Kaisa. "The Lutheran church is the state church," she explained, with the archbishops gaining their appointments from government.

There are churches in few villages, Kaisa said. Towns big enough for a church are designated as church towns. With few good roads and with comparatively few automobiles, country people are unable or unwilling to drive 10 or 20 miles to church, she explained.

"I looked forward to this wonderful trip to America," said the flaxen-haired blue-eyed girl from Finland. "Everywhere people have been so friendly. I appreciate the hospitality shown to me and other delegates and I am anxious to have Americans come to visit Finland. Always I shall remember this visit. I hope some day to return."

Kiwanis Sale Nets $1600 for Youth Projects

Mason Kiwanis club's annual community sale Friday and Saturday netted about $1,600. When all bills are paid there may be a few dollars less or a few more, reported J. B. Dean and Glen Coon, co-chairmen.

The proceeds will be entirely devoted to community projects, most of them for youth. Kiwanians said. Scholarships to college and to music camp at Interlochen, cheerleaders camps, Wolverine Boys and Wolverine Girls states, support of Boy Scouts, financing of 4-11 trips, contributions to recreation funds and of the annual Halloween party will come out of the sale profit, club officials said.

The sale, conducted in the former automobile agency building at 220 West Ash, drew big crowds both days. On sale were used household appliances, bedding, musical instruments, bicycles, clothing, shoes, rugs, furniture, books, stoves, antiques, toys, phonographs, farm and garden tools, plants and many other items. Kiwanians operated the business.

What wasn't disposed of at the sale went to the Community Clearing House. Volunteers of America and other agencies.

Mother Begins Prison Sentence

Mrs. Eva Mae Pierce, 29, entered Detroit House of Correction Monday to begin a sentence for child abandonment. Upon her plea of guilty, she was sentenced Friday by Judge Marvin J. Salmon in circuit court in Lansing, to from 6 months to 4 years.

Sheriff Willard P. Barnes and Mrs. Barnes, jail matron, took Mrs. Pierce to the Wayne county institution Monday.

Last November officers were called to the Pierce home on Rolfe road in Vevay township. There they found 7 children from 6 weeks to 8 years old left with a 16-year-old baby-sitter of subnormal mentality. The home was without adequate food or fuel. The 4 Pierce children were made wards of the probate court as dependent and neglected children.

Three other children were given temporary care and then returned to their mother. Their mother returned a few days later. Mrs. Pierce was not located until a few weeks ago.

It was reported that there are now about 100 who have volunteered to man a GOC station at Mason. That will make 2 hours of duty every 2 weeks for each person, said Staff Sergeant Edwin Cole, Jr., of the air force. He came to Mason from the Grand Rapids filter center to discuss the program and to show pictures.

State Tax Rate Adds to Burden

Using state equalized assessments instead of county equalized puts an added and an unnecessary burden upon taxpayers in districts where special millage has been voted, declared Supervisor Charles Woods of Ingham Wednesday. He protested to his colleagues on the county board the situation which has developed in his township.

The special 5-mill school building levy voted by the people has swelled to a levy of 9.13 mills now that state equalized has been substituted for county equalized, the Ingham supervisor said.

The 9.13 mills is more than is required to pay off school bonds, Supervisor Woods said. He stated that he has heard rumors that court action may be taken to restrain him from spreading the 5 mills on state figures.

In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM—The gap between the good and the evil never removed. The one-way course between the 2. There's never been improved! There's but one ship to take you through. With any safe degree: 'Tis one the blessed Saviour owns, And He the captain be! No fearful storm nor hurricane His charted course has crossed; No ship, with Jesus at the helm, Has ever yet been lost! We board this ship with confidence

That He will take us through; If we reject His proffered course He, nothing more can do! When, at last we hear the singing; Myriad voices o'er the sea, I'll recognize my dear one's voice Who's waiting there for me! In memory of a faithful wife and mother! Deceased September 23, 1955, F. W. Dakin. 39w1

Soil Conservation Worker Completes Special Course

Back on the job with the Ingham soil conservation district is Charles Allen. He recently completed 3 weeks of special training at Coshocton, Ohio. The U. S. department of agriculture operates a training center there, 10 miles northeast of Coshocton.

At Coshocton Allen received technical training to assist farm cooperators with soil and engineering problems. The training center in Ohio comprises 1,000 acres in a beautiful section of the state. The big farm has demonstration fields showing effects of wind and water erosion and how erosion can be prevented and fertility built up through proper soil practices.

Charles Allen

Allen went with other special students to Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm south of Mansfield, and to the Wooster experimental farm of Ohio State university.

Lawrence E. Tripp, work unit conservator in Ingham, and Melvin E. Stroud of the Ingham staff both received special training at LaCrosse, Wisconsin.

Allen has been on the Ingham staff a year and a half. He owned and operated a 200-acre farm near Parma in Jackson county before joining. He still lives near Parma. While his husband was at school Mrs. Allen visited relatives at Massillon, Ohio, and Pittsburgh, Pa.

Part 2

Vote on Township Merger Finally Wins Board's O. K.

Lansing city and township voters will decide a merger proposal November 8. The decision to place the proposal on the ballot came after 2 hours of debate and parliamentary maneuvers on the county board of supervisors last Thursday afternoon.

Wednesday forenoon of this week there were 2 other skirmishes about the proposed annexation. The effective date was set as December 31, if annexation is voted on November 8.

The other move, led by Supervisor V. A. Triquet of East Lansing asking for reconsideration of last Thursday's vote failed. Chairman Phillip Mills ruled that on a vote for reconsideration a number at least equal to the number present on first consideration must be present. Upon roll call Wednesday only 28 supervisors responded and 32 were present when the votes were taken last Thursday.

Left out of the merger consideration for the present is an area in Lansing township adjacent to East Lansing. In it is East Lansing's disposal plant and a university housing project.

There were 5 areas included in the merger proposal. Supervisors decided to refer merger of 4 areas to voters of township and city November 8. They tabled No. 5 for 60 days, to permit East Lansing to consider annexing it.

The 4 parcels which will be voted on in the merger include the Oldsmobile jet plant, Waverly Hills subdivision west of Lansing, acreage south of Lansing and the Frandor shopping center between Lansing and East Lansing.

Arguments on the board of supervisors revolved around contentions about whether the supervisors do or do not have the right to decide merits of a proposal.

Prosecutor Charles E. Chamberlain gave as his opinion that supervisors can be concerned only with sufficiency of petitions, and that if petitions calling for a merger election are sufficient, supervisors must submit proposals to the electorate, regardless of merits of the proposal.

Supervisor Harold Pletz, East Lansing, chairman of a special committee appointed to study the petitions, reported that petitions were in order and bore enough signatures. There are technicalities about the petitions which may properly be taken into court, Supervisor Pletz said, but after the election and not before.

Three years ago Lansing township voters decided against merger of the entire township with Lansing and East Lansing. Petitions were then circulated covering merger of 5 specific areas. A year ago opponents of merger tied up petitions in circuit court, claiming descriptions were misleading and inaccurate, all signatures were not verified, some signers were not freeholders, and incorrect percentage figures were used in determining sufficiency. Judge Marvin J. Salmon ruled that it was up to supervisors, not the courts, to determine sufficiency of petitions before election. The supreme court sustained him, so the petitions came back to supervisors.

Supervisor Raymond A. Wilcox of Lansing township spearheaded the fight on the county board to keep the merger proposals off the ballot. He fought valiantly all the afternoon but finally lost. At one time he appeared to have an advantage but it disappeared.

Supervisor George R. Sidwell, Lansing, one of the backers of the merger vote, moved to have the East Lansing area withdrawn for 60 days. Supervisor Wilcox insisted that Sidwell's motion was out of order, that all the areas had to be considered together, including the East Lansing area with the others would have resulted in a strong "no" vote on merger, was the theory attributed to Supervisor Wilcox.

The motion to eliminate the East Lansing parcel failed to carry. The vote was tied 16-16.

Supervisor Carl Card, East Lansing, told his colleagues that the area in question includes new housing units of the university and other university and East Lansing property which is served by East Lansing for fire protection, police protection and utilities. The East Lansing council, he said, has already approved merger of the area and Lansing township. The area includes no freeholders. The university and the city of East Lansing own the land so a merger can be effected by authorization of the council and township board without a vote of the people, Supervisor Card explained.

After that explanation, Supervisor John B. Fay of Delhi moved for reconsideration of the resolution which failed of passage on the 16-16 vote. The motion to reconsider carried 24-8 and then the final motion to eliminate the East Lansing area carried by the same vote.

On the first vote to remove and table for 60 days the East Lansing area from consideration the division for and against was: Yes, Beck, Bullen, Card, Cavanaugh, Pressley, Durkee, Kircher, Klock, Murningham, Parriarcho, Pletz, Foxson, Preuss, Sidwell, Stone and Ward; No, Bement, Brown, Crakes, Cronkhite, Fay, Jewett, Johnson, Leeman, Marshall, Puffenberger, Silsby, Triquet, Watkins, Wilcox, Woods and Chairman Mills.

Voting against reconsideration were Crakes, Johnson, Leeman, Marshall, Silsby, Wilcox, Woods and Chairman Mills, all from out-county. Seven of those 8 voted against final submission after eliminating the East Lansing area. Silsby of Mason moved over with the majority. Triquet of East Lansing left the majority to vote with the out-county group.

Supervisor Sidwell told his colleagues Wednesday that unless a specific date for annexation is fixed it will not become effective until 60 days after approval by voters. In that event, he said, property in Lansing township might escape paying taxes to either the city or township. January 1 is tax day. Supervisor Sidwell said, and Lansing could not assess the property for 1956 tax rolls if it did not come into the city until January 7.

If the property were to be taken off tax rolls January 7 the township might not be able to assess it either, Supervisor Sidwell explained. He moved that

Report Covers Drain Projects Built in Year

Gerald L. Graham, county drain commissioner, in his annual report gave an accounting of extensive drain work during the past year.

Among jobs completed during the year since October 1, 1954, were Whitehills drain, $156,006; Strobel, $12,005; Pinecrest, $41,860; Tollgate Extension, $143,445; Spahr, $37,595; Freeman Marsh, $18,185; Herron Creek, $12,855; and Mary Avenue, $26,596.

Drains started and completed during the year included Cornell Avenue, $8,916; North Cornell Avenue, $8,827; Spartan Avenue, $18,622; Montgomery Extension, $89,534; and Miller Road No. 1, $16,487.

Under construction and to be completed yet this fall, Graham said, are Willmarth Extension, Wegman Extension, Battenfield and Branch No. 4 of Green.

During the year, Graham reported, several suburban developers built their own drains to county specifications and the drains have now been accepted. The projects have saved money for the county, Graham said and prevents lot buyers from finding themselves with an orphan drain on their hands.

Estimated costs of suburban drains approved this year and paid for by developers were given as: Skyline Heights, Meridian, $17,500; Montclair, Lansing, $20,000; Hopwood Acres, Lansing, $19,000; Grand River Terrace, Lansing, $8,000; Groesbeck Hills, Lansing, $7,600; and Schoolcraft Extension, Delhi, $6,100.

Subdividers are now building 4 drains in Meridian, 2 in Lansing and 2 in Delhi, the commissioner said, although none of them have yet been approved as county drains.

Democrats Plan County Meeting

Ingham county Democrats will have a mass meeting at the Roosevelt hotel in Lansing, Monday, October 3, at 8 p. m. to kick-off plans and work aimed at victory in the 1956 elections.

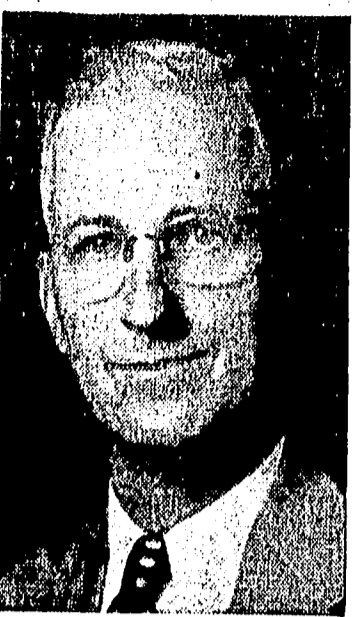

The entire county committee will convene for the first fall session of the committee but County Chairman Raymond Rapaport of Lansing said all Democrats active or inactive, and anyone interested in the party may attend.

An organizational structure will be formulated and a state of the party report will be given by officers and chairmen of the 10 special committees of the party.

The business session is expected to deal with organization, registration, elections, finances and education. An agenda is being prepared by county officers.

Rapaport said 4 preliminary meetings of county officers and chairmen of the special committees have been held to prepare for this open county committee meeting.

"The affairs discussed at this meeting will be of vital interest to all Democrats," Rapaport said. "It is absolutely essential that the voice of the precinct workers be heard as well as that of the officers and it is through meetings such as this that the precinct worker can express himself."

WILLIAM S. JONES, M. D., who has practiced in Menominee for 33 years, is the 1955-56 president of the Michigan State Medical Society. He took office Wednesday during the 90th annual session of the society in Grand Rapids. The 5-day business and scientific meeting begins Monday.

30 days instead of 60 days for the effective date of the merger, if it is approved by voters, be set. He said such a date will also give the city of Lansing sufficient time to take over county roads in the area as city streets.

The only vote against making the merger effective 30 days after approval by voters came from Supervisor Wilcox.

Supervisor Triquet did not reveal his motive for asking reconsideration, beyond saying that the first township area was involved. That is Frandor. Other supervisors said it was a move to have Frandor set aside with the other East Lansing area. Frandor is part of the East Lansing school district. The move failed when only 28 supervisors answered a roll call. There had been more on hand but they had left.

Sheriff's Department Fares Best in Salary List for County Departments

Deputy sheriffs came off better than other county workers in the county salary list adopted by supervisors last Thursday. The men in blue fared better, said salaries committee members, because of comparatively high scales maintained by Lansing, East Lansing and Michigan State university police departments.

In general the county salary list for 1956 parallels the 1955 list with merit raises provided, explained committee chairman V. A. Triquet of East Lansing. There were no blanket increases provided, he said. The raises, except in the sheriff's department, were based on merit, he explained. The new salary scale will become effective January 1.

The committee chairman discounted reports that sheriff's deputies profited from joining a CIO union. He said the salary schedule is not the result of demands made by any organized group.

"We found," said Supervisor Triquet, "that Ingham officers were working 6 days a week and 32 to 56 hours. For the same wages Lansing and East Lansing police received for 5-day, 40-hour weeks. That forced our hands."

Because of added personnel and merit increases the salary list was increased by 6%. Supervisor Triquet estimated. The total salaries for next year come to $689,040. That total takes in only part of the county payroll. Not included are salaries paid by the county road commission, Ingham chest hospital and board of social welfare. The board of social welfare also sets the salaries for the county hospital at Okemos.

Salaries of elective officers are unchanged for next year. The law provides that salaries for elective officers can neither be increased nor diminished during terms of office to which they were elected.

Salaries of the judiciary lead the Ingham list. The county provides $5,000 each to augment the state salaries of $12,500 paid the 3 circuit judges. Each of the 3 court reporters gets $7,400. The friend of the court and probation officer, Lloyd C. Service, receives $6,360. Investigators and social workers on the staff draw salaries ranging from $3,450 to $4,140.

Legislation enacted by the present legislature forced supervisors to add $600 to the salaries of each of the 3 court reporters.

Probate Judge John McClellan receives $11,500 salary and Robert S. Drake, probate register, receives $6,000.

County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard, Treasurer Laurence Parker and Register of Deeds Mia Bell Humphrey each receive $6,750. Chief deputies in their offices get $4,140. Ingham's drain commissioner, Gerald L. Graham, receives $6,750.

Charles Chamberlain, prosecutor, receives a salary of $7,500. His assistants receive from $5,280 to $6,360.

Stanley G. Peck, Sr., receives $5,800 as director of veterans affairs and Ralph Strope, civil defense director, receives $4,800. Supervisors made provision for an assistant director at $3,240. The office is now vacant.

Sheriff Willard P. Barnes gets a salary of $7,000. The undersheriff, Fred Frye, receives $5,220. For next year Chief Deputy Kenneth Preadmore will receive $5,160, Captain Versie Babeock will draw $4,740, Lt. Harold Barnhill will get $4,500 and Sergeant Ralph Smith will receive $4,320. Mrs. Barnes for her duties as matron will get $2,280. Patrolmen and turnkeys will get from $3,750 to $4,200.

Dr. E. K. Musson, health director, draws $12,000. George R.

Landy, public health physician, is on the payroll for $8,550 and Clarence R. Kewitch, public health dentist, draws $7,650. Miss Mildred Cardwell, nursing director, draws $5,250 and 10 public health nurses get from $3,600 to $4,500. Four graduate nurses draw from $3,500 to $3,650. There are 8 sanitarians listed in 4 categories, their salaries ranging from $1,200 to $7,500.

Serving with Supervisor Triquet on the salaries committee are Supervisors K. G. Brown, Williamston; Alva Cronkhite, Stockbridge; John B. Fay, Delhi; and Frank W. Perrin, Lansing.

Driver Does 90 Days

Peter Garcia, 21, Mason, will be doing no driving for 90 days. He is in the county jail, sent there by Judge Charles H. Hayden Friday. Garcia pleaded guilty to driving on a revoked license. His record shows repeated traffic violations, Judge Hayden declared in passing sentence.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Waters, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Draggoo of Osseo. Rev. P. C. Johannides, pastor of Robbins Methodist church, Eaton Rapids, performed the double-ring ceremony at the church in the presence of 100 guests.

Baskets of white gladioli decorated the altar for the wedding rites. Fred Northrup played "Love You Truly, Because and The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown which she made of white antique tulle fashioned with three-quarter sleeves, fitted bodice and Peter Pan collar. The bodice featured a row of waistline buttons with tiny buttons and was trimmed with rows of seed pearls. Her tiara of seed pearls and orange blossoms held in place her fingertip veil of illusion. She wore a string of pearls which was a gift from the bridegroom. Her flowers consisted of a cascade bouquet of shattered carnations and white roses.

Mrs. Duane Waters served as matron of honor for her sister-in-law. For her duties she donned a ballerina-length frock of orchid tulle styled with a bolero jacket, which she made for the wedding. Cookies in the cookie jar.
Children provide cookie recipes.
Mrs. Bishop uses oatmeal.

It's cookie time again! When the house is cool on arising then is a good time to peek house to bake cookies. On goes the oven and soon a whirring creeps into the kitchen, and then but a step into the girl's room. They say that is one of the most delightful ways to wake up - to the good smell of cookies baking. The girls come out rubbing their eyes and grinning.

We have 2 cookie jars. They come first. They more go into plastic bags for the freezer. Freezing does not seem to hurt them at all, and, oh, the luxury of always having something to serve in a jiffy. For cookies thaw fast.

We do not make one batch at a time. I can never remember doing that since the girls arrived. It would be sort of discouraging for one batch would last only about supper time - what with Pete grabbing a few each time he comes into the house - and Sammy a real cookie-boy - and the girls arriving starved from school. Cookies are the disappearing things you ever saw around here!

It's one of the things I remember most about home. Mother's cookies of moist, delicious circles always with a raisin in the middle. No one, be he stranger or friend, went away without a sample if he arrived while she was baking.

It was a good habit to copy, especially when my husband turned out to be the nation's No. 1 cookie consumer. (Anyone care to compete?)

By now a raft of cookie recipes have appeared in my files. I am forever trying new ones only to be met by these words, "You have yet to come up with a cookie that can beat Inez Peacock's date ones. These are pretty good but still not quite."

Heaven help me if I ever find a recipe that surpasses them! There will be no time for writing this each week. Just making cookies!

Jane Foreman of Webberville sent me a folder of 15 "cookie recipes her third grade youngsters made. They had brought their mother's favorite cookie recipes and put them into a colorful booklet for Christmas gifts. It is full of interesting recipes and along this winter I am going to include some of them. For by the mail that arrives it would seem that a great many of us are cookie-hobbyists. Can you think of a better one to ride?

Here is a cookie that we like. It is made with oatmeal. Usually Pete says, "If you are making them for me please skip the oatmeal ones for they are the poorest kind there is."
"This recipe makes him eat his words. I believe it is the brown sugar that makes the difference. Doesn't brown sugar make anything taste better? We use it altogether on cereal, rice, mush, fruit, etc. I, too, laughed at first but not anymore. We put on a white sugar bowl only for company and even then can't resist asking, "Would you like to try brown sugar?"

This is the recipe for Mrs. Avinell Bishop's "Oatmeal Refrigerator Cookies." She lives near St. Johns and is Lona Bishop's mother.
Cream 2 cups brown sugar and 1 cup shortening, add 2 beaten eggs, 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon vanilla, pinch salt, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 cup nutmeats. Mix in 3 cups oatmeal. Make into 2 rolls and wrap in wax paper. Store in refrigerator for a few hours. Slice and bake for 15 minutes at 375 degrees.

I hope the one who sets this up for printing checks to see if nothing is left out. Once in one of the recipes I put in this column something was accidentally omitted. I took me weeks to answer the inquires - to say nothing of what some folks must have thought.

Let's take a walk around the NEW '56 FORD!

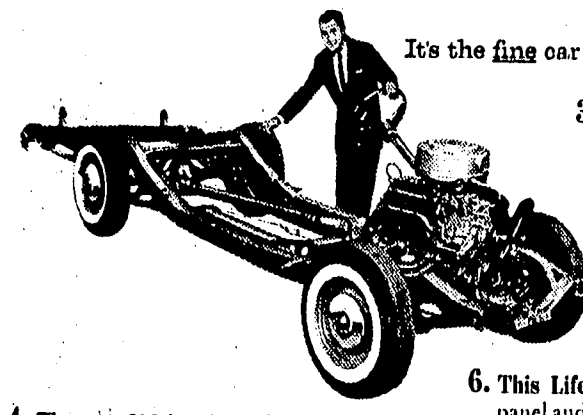

It's the fine car at half the fine car price!

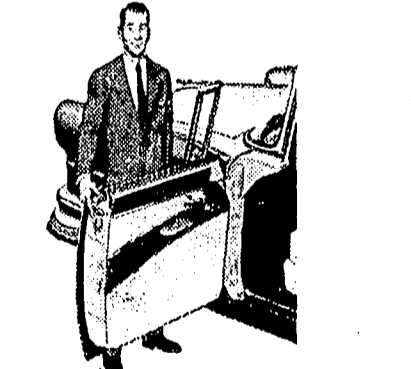

1. We'd like to show you some of the things that make the Ford one of America's finest cars... though it's one of the lowest-priced. Let's start with these long, low lines. Looks like it hates to stand still, doesn't it?

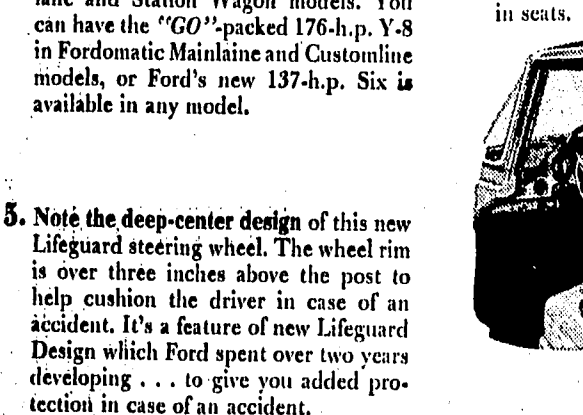

2. Here, on your left, is the inspiration for the styling of the '56 Ford—the famous Ford Thunderbird. Look at those broad, flat hoods, for example. Here is styling that will stay in style.

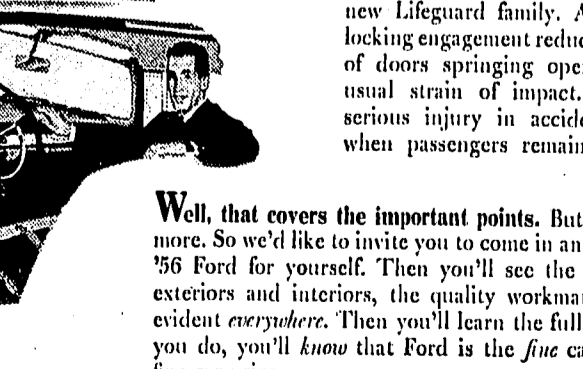

3. Here's what you ride on. This frame has five cross-members including a special K-bar member up front. It can really take it! By the way, the control arms of Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension are angle-mounted to cushion out the head-on as well as the up-down shock of bumps.

6. This Lifeguard cushioning for instrument panel and sun visors is optional. It gives you extra protection when thrown forward in an accident. You may also have optional seat belts to help keep occupants securely in seats.

Everett Tackles Highlander II In Grid Game

Needled by the close call with St. Mary in the opener, Everett poured it on a defenseless Eaton Rapids team Friday night. The Vikings won 31-6 with All-Stater Dean Look scoring 3 times.

Eaton Rapids didn't have a chance. The Vikings rolled to 208 yards on the ground and picked up 68 more through the air. They scored in every period.

Although the Greyhounds didn't come close to winning they did point out the chink in the Everett armor. The Vikings are weak on defense. Eaton Rapids moved to 13 first downs with most of the yardage built up on the ground.

Friday night the Vikings will find out just how good they really are when they go over to Howell. The Highlanders have the best team in years and are out to atone for some of those shellackings the Vikings handed them during the lean years.

After disposing of Fenton in the opener, Howell moved against a strong Northville squad Friday night and turned an intercepted pass into a 7-0 victory.

Although the Northville encounter didn't peg the Highlanders as a red-hot offensive unit they boast some big and fast runners and a forward wall spearheaded by giant Dick Macken, the 240-lb. speedster.

For Everett it was Look's night. Eaton Rapids just couldn't stop the Viking flash. He carried the ball 14 times from scrimmage and accounted for 139 yards. On another occasion he carried a punt back 52 yards for a touchdown and scored 2 more. In addition he completed 2 passes in 3 tosses, one going for a touchdown, and punted the one time the Vikings were forced into it.

Bill Sudberry, the other half of Everett's backfield punch, came through with a 2-yard scoring thrust and stood out on defense. Eaton Rapids picked up its touchdown in the second quarter with its only sustained drive. Terry Perkins, Gary Oude, John Magnat and Bruce Conard each took turns grinding out short gains to move the ball 76 yards with Magnat going the final yard on a line buck.

The Greyhounds will step out, side of the Capital Circuit in an attempt to pick up a win Friday night. Hastings will furnish the opposition.

Howell Rolls on With 7-0 Win Over Northville

Howell's fighting Highlanders had to rely on an intercepted pass in the second quarter to stop Northville Friday. The Highlanders now have a record of 2 wins and no losses.

That record will be on the block Friday night when Everett comes to town. Everett has posted 2 victories, too.

Howell has its best team in years. Everett is listed as one of the top teams in the state. Friday's game should be the top Capital Circuit attraction of the season. In the offense department the edge must go to Everett. The Vikings have rolled up 51 points against Lansing, St. Mary and Eaton Rapids. Howell piled up 23 points in its opener against Fenton and added 7 at Northville for a 30-point total.

On defense the Highlanders receive the edge. So far they have not let anyone cross their goal. Everett has had 24 points scored against its defense.

Howell has a rough and heavy line spearheaded by Dick Macken, a 240-lb., 6-ft., 5-in. giant. Macken can move fast, is a long way around and hard to get through. The rest of the Highlander line is heavier than the average high school line.

Against this stone wall defense Everett will throw Dean Look, Bob Sudberry and Bill Truscott, a fast and powerful set of backs. To go along with the running attack, the Vikings have one of the circuit's top ends in Roger Quinn to catch Look's passes.

Smith Wins Game
Howell's Russell Smith was the best receiver Northville had Friday night. He intercepted one pass in the second quarter and raced 25 yards for the game's only score. Chuck Brigham added the extra point.

Smith again stopped Northville cold with another pass interception late in the fourth quarter to nip a Northville drive. This time he did the trick deep in Howell's territory.

Rams Surprise Oriole Gridders With 25-6 Win

Holt moved on to its second Capital Circuit victory with a surprisingly easy 25-6 win over Charlotte. The Rams previously disposed of Eaton Rapids.

Friday night Holt will play at Grand Ledge. The Comets took it on the chin Friday night at St. Johns. Comparing the records, Holt should have no trouble posting its third straight Capital Circuit win.

The Rams were given little chance in pre-game forecasting. The bigger and more experienced Charlotte squad was supposed to be too powerful for Holt.

Before the game was over, though, it was evident that Holt has another powerhouse, even if it is in a small package.

Charlotte took a first-quarter lead when Ron LeSney blocked a punt, picked it up and ran the remaining 12 yards. The Rams came back in the second period with a scoring pass play from Walt Runyon to Bob Tuttle, covering 15 yards. In the third quarter Holt moved out in front with a drive which carried 55 yards. Bill Merritt punched the ball over from the 5.

Holt completely dominated the final period. The Orioles never had much of a chance to go on the offensive. The Runyon-Tuttle combination paid off with another touchdown pass on a toss covering 8 yards, and guard Allen Shaver intercepted a Charlotte pass and ran it back 35 yards to score. The Rams were able to collect on only one extra point try, a pass from Runyon to Larry Crowe.

Charlotte will make its third try for that elusive first win of the season against Mason Friday night. The Orioles have handled the Bulldogs with ease for the past 3 years but this game is classed as a close one.

Jewett Delivers

Bob Jewett came through in his first game for Michigan State university. The all-around Mason athlete great saw action for the first time against Indiana Saturday. Quarterback Earl Morrill tossed him 3 passes and he caught 3 passes—not a bad performance the first time out. One of the passes went for State's first touchdown. Jewett drew the praise of the Spartan coaching staff for his work. Saturday he will be pumping heads with Michigan's great Ron Kramer.

Grand Ledge Loses To St. Johns 11

St. Johns took it out on Grand Ledge Friday night for the poor showing the Red Wings made in the 0-0 opener against Mason. St. Johns slapped the Comets down 20-7 with Harold Nietzsche leading the way.

Grand Ledge will have another rough night Friday. The Comets will entertain the rampaging Rams from Holt who are out looking for their third straight Capital Circuit win.

St. Johns scored twice in the first period on a 54-yard punt run back and a 32-yard end run by Nietzsche. In the third period Nietzsche again broke loose to score, this time from 81 yards out.

The lone Comet score came in the last period on a pass from Mike Miner to Dick Robinson.

Mason Drops Stockbridge 20-0

Bulldogs Head for Charlotte Friday

Mason is all set to swing into the Capital Circuit wars Friday night over at Charlotte. The Bulldogs picked up a 20-0 victory over Stockbridge Friday night to carry into the Circuit race along with the tie game at St. Johns.

That tie game with St. Johns means more this week than it did after the ease in which the Clinton county boys rolled over Grand Ledge Friday night. The Comets took it on the chin 20-7.

Charlotte is a question mark. In the 2 Oriole games so far this season Coach Malcolm Gobel's gridders have gone down to defeat, a season start which doesn't happen to the Orioles often.

In the opener the Orioles dropped a 21-0 decision to Battle Creek Lakeview. Friday night over at Holt the small but determined Ram squad polished off the Orioles 25-6.

So far the Orioles have been unable to come up with any offensive drive. Against Lakeview the Orioles showed some signs of a passing attack but at Holt even that fizzled out.

Mason goes into the Charlotte game carrying the best record it has had in 3 years. In fact the Stockbridge scalp represents the first victory for Mason since 1952.

Mason's football stock has begun to rise. Coach Ed Kehe has developed Sophomore Dart Stone to fit into his veteran backfield of Jerry Lumianski, Dennis Doolittle and Duane Clark. For added insurance he can call on Wes Pulver, Ray Miller and Tom Clipper to step into the backfield and be assured they will do a creditable job.

Up front Mason has size mixed with speed and experience. Ron Kast, Ken Lovette and Larry Dent give Mason a sure-handed and rangy end combination. In the line on offense and defense Allen Tomlinson and John Howlett have been standouts. The rest of the line has been doing a good job, too.

Lions Scoreboard Works
For the first time since the Lions club provided Mason with a new electric scoreboard last year Mason fans could see what it looked like with the lights flashing on Mason's side.

For the second quarter Mason took a punt on its own 18 and started a drive which carried to the Panther 35. Doolittle and Clark were the workhorses pouncing out the yardage in short gains. From there Doolittle went all the way on a line smash. After breaking into the secondary he cut to the sidelines and crossed the line without a hand being placed on him.

The Doolittle run ended the scoring in the first half but shortly after the second half opened Tomlinson recovered a Stockbridge fumble on the Panther 30 to start another Mason drive. Lumianski finally sneaked it over from one yard out.

In the last period Coach Kehe juggled his lineup. The new combination came through with a picture play right at the start. Pulver, running at fullback, smashed off tackle and cut for the sidelines with perfect interference all the way. No one touched him in his 65-yard touchdown romp. Clark booted the extra points on the second half touchdowns.

Stockbridge, a powerhouse last year and a fizzle so far this year, appeared to lack drive. The Panthers have some good material. Mary Camburn is a hard-running back with lots of leg action and speed. He gave Mason a hard time all night. Skip Fredenburg is a good quarterback. Up front the Panthers have lots of size but so far this year they have failed to click for Coach Bob Boyd.

If they do start to roll the rest of the Ingham County league can look for trouble.

Mason will be at full strength for the Orioles. So far the Bulldogs have escaped injury.

Leslie Continues Fast Pace With 6-0 Win Over Dansville

Leslie grabbed a firmer hold on the lead in the Ingham County league Friday night by downing a stubborn Dansville crew 6-0. The win, added to last week's 33-0 victory over Stockbridge, put Leslie out in front.

The Blackhaws play Williamston at the Leslie field Friday night and on the basis of early games Leslie should maintain the front-running pace.

Against Dansville the Leslie running game bogged down but the Blackhaws had enough of an air arm to click for a second-period touchdown. Warren Conard did the tossing and Doug Lynch the catching.

Bill Kamawin, ace Leslie back, missed the game. He will be on hand Friday night against the Hornets. He is the best Blackhawk runner and if he is in shape Williamston is apt to leave the field on the short end of the score.

Dansville moves over to Fowlerville Friday night. The Gladiators from the Livingston county town are on the road back after some lean football seasons. In the opener Fowlerville topped Morrice and Friday night the Gladiators beat Williamston 6-0.

Dansville is looking for its first clean-out victory. In the first game the Aggies and Hornets battled to a 6-6 tie. Dansville is a much stronger team than the record indicates.

Long Scoring Runs Wins for Okemos

Okemos added to its prestige Friday night with an 18-0 win over Haslett. It was the second win for the Chiefs and stamps them, along with Leslie, as the team most apt to battle for the Ingham County league title.

Okemos moves over to Stockbridge Friday night while Haslett will journey to Dansville. It should be a breather for the Chiefs. Stockbridge has not scored a touchdown in its 2 games while the opponents have rolled for a total of 53 points.

Okemos has a break-away team. The Chiefs have demonstrated an ability to score from any distance out and at any time. They proved it against Haslett. In the first quarter Al Wells raced 20 yards on an end run for the first touchdown.

On the first play from scrimmage in the second half Garth Richey scored from 75 yards out and in the final quarter Richey tossed a perfect pass to Dick Bernard for 65 yards and a touchdown.

If the Chiefs have a weakness it is the inability to score the extra points. Unless they sharpen up in that department they might be in for some disappointment before the season ends.

Haslett could not punch any holes in the Okemos defense. Only twice did the Lakers move within striking distance of the Okemos goal. In the first quarter Haslett had the ball on the Okemos 3 but lost its momentum with a couple of costly penalties. The other Haslett touchdown bid was stopped short by the final gun.

The Ingham County league showdown battle will take place at Okemos October 7, providing the Chiefs and Leslie escape upsets this week. The Blackhaws will go to Okemos in an unfamiliar role of a title contender. The winner on October 7 will probably be the team on top of the ladder at the end of the season.

STOLZ RANKS HIGH
Denny Stolz, assistant coach at Haslett high school and former Mason athletic star established a passing mark playing for Alma college. He placed 10th among the small college passers in number of completions. He set the mark even though he missed a couple of games because of injuries.

A Job for Peron

Late dispatches indicate that Uruguay will reluctantly give Juan Peron sanctuary. Uruguayans would rather he went somewhere else.

There's a job open for Peron or for any other dictator. The opening is the proposed city managership at Mason.

The city council is now considering a resolution which will change Mason's form of government from the traditional councilmanic representative type to a streamlined city manager type. Maybe that's what Mason wants. Maybe it is what Mason needs. But before we get an imported or a homegrown Peron on our hands we ought, as the intellectuals say, to explore the possibilities or probabilities.

The proposed ordinance has these provisions: The city administrator shall recommend to the council the appointment of officers of the city who are required by law to be elected by the city council. He shall further recommend the removal or suspension of any officers when such removal or suspension shall be consistent with the best interest of the city. He shall further appoint, and when necessary for the good of the service, suspend or remove all employees of the city except as otherwise provided by city charter or law. He shall prepare the budget annually and submit it to the council. He shall keep the council advised of the financial condition and future needs of the city, and make such recommendations as he may deem advisable. He shall recommend to the governing body the salaries to be paid each appointive officer and subordinate employee of the city. He shall recommend to the governing body such measures as he may deem necessary or expedient. He may consolidate or combine offices, positions, departments or units under his jurisdiction with the approval of the city council. He may be the head of one or more departments.

Individual members of the council shall not direct or request the appointment of any person to, or his removal from, office by the city administrator or by any of his subordinates, or in any manner attempt to dictate the appointment or removal of officers and employees in the administrative service of the city.

These are some of the powers the city manager of Mason will have if the proposed ordinance is adopted. They may be customary powers. Yet here in Mason our customary kind of government has been entirely different. We have elected men to the council because of their ability to serve the city. We have governed ourselves through elected officials. Most of the time we have done a good job of governing ourselves in this fashion. We ought to consider carefully before we abandon the type of government we are accustomed to. We ought to think twice before we permit the seven men we elected councilmen to shift their responsibilities.

Certainly under a city managership Mason does not need seven men on the council. The number of councilmen ought to be small enough so the people can reach the city manager. Under the present plan where three councilmen are elected one year and four the other it is difficult for the people to exert much control. With seven men to hide behind, a city manager could do just about as he pleased and as long as he pleased. If there is to be a city manager the council should be slimmed to five or even three.

A city manager is nothing new. There are cities where the city manager plan has worked well. There are other cities where it has not worked well. It all depends upon the man chosen, of course. Just like the council plan of government. It works well, too, when the people choose good men.

For 15 years Mason has talked about switching to a city manager. We have waited that long and all the time we have governed ourselves well through a city council elected by and responsible and responsive to the people. There is no reason to become hasty over the situation now. We can wait another few weeks, or months, or years. We might better wait than to adopt an ordinance in one burst of enthusiasm without quite knowing all it contains, and without giving full consideration to every power which the council and people will have to surrender.

Mason wants no Juan Peron, either imported or homegrown.

Indispensability

Speculating over the president's health for political advantage is not only in poor taste; it is grisly.

President Eisenhower is a great man, one of the finest men to ever serve as president of the United States. Faced with tasks almost superhuman, he has brought peace to a warring world. He has brought decency and good public morals to government. People of good will throughout the world honor and respect President Eisenhower. He has given them new hope and new courage just as he has given Americans new hope and new courage.

It is tragic that President Eisenhower has been stricken. It is also further proof that in this great nation of ours the people can not and should not rely on one man for either governmental or party leadership.

Democrats surrendered party principles, they ignored history's warnings, they scorned the admonitions of Thomas Jefferson and other party founders, to follow one man. Now the Democratic party has been virtually destroyed.

Republicans learned little. They became a one-man party. Now they are looking for another man.

Neither party should rely on one man as a candidate for president or governor or any other office. Both parties should rely on principles.

The death of President Roosevelt, the sickness of President Eisenhower, should prove that no one man is indispensable under our system of government.

For upwards of a year President Eisenhower has indicated to his party that he did not consider himself indispensable. Party leaders heard him not. There is not a man or woman upon this earth who is indispensable, regardless of nationality or party. We ought to recognize and accept it.

In our prayers for President Eisenhower's recovery we all ought to pray for the strength and the courage to share part of the burden he has carried so long and so well.

Training Is Just Part of It

Driver-training is only a part of the cure for what ails us on highway safety. Along with reasonable speed limits, reduction of horsepower and better highway engineering, compulsory driver-training might help but it wouldn't cure.

Last Friday night and Saturday morning there were two crashes near Mason. In neither of them was lack of driver-training a factor. Both drivers were regarded as expert. Both knew how to handle cars. Both could have received "A" in any driver-training course offered.

In one case the expert driver probably forgot that the road ended. In the other the expert driver stayed out too late and probably dozed at the wheel.

When the legislature considers doing things to cut highway traffic toll, driver-training should be considered, but not as a complete remedy in itself. It is just part, and a small part, of the answer.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Men who suffer from sickness yet still want to travel, see things and experience romance of all sorts should join Allied or Mayflower. They also have the advantage of rising to command faster ashore than afloat.

Captain A. L. Moore, Dallas, Texas, docked beside the Sycamore in Mason Saturday. His vessel had unloaded cargo and picked up new cargo through Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Indiana. After finally delivering furniture to LaFayette, Indiana, and St. Joseph, Royal Oak and Grayling in Michigan, Captain Moore here to (I almost said moored) at Mason. Waiting for him here was what he called a batch of manys; many small packages for a navy man and wife at Norman, Oklahoma.

Unlike the navy where there are a thousand men to pull a rope, Captain Moore has no regular crew. He shanghaied me as stevedore; and I was a willing worker. Last June my son-in-law and daughter packed their belongings and borrowings in Margaret's bedroom, in the garage and the basement. The navy, George said, would send for the goods in a day or so. The day came Saturday, a little over 3 months off schedule.

Already in the maw of the giant vessel were loads of household possessions gathered in Flint, Grand Rapids and Detroit and consigned to the southwest. After the Bauer goods went aboard, 2 other stops were scheduled in Lansing and Gary, Indiana, to finish out the load. Then will come the long cruise, stopping first at Enid, Oklahoma, then Norman and on to Lubbock and El Paso in Texas, before heading back to Houston and maybe to Dallas.

Before Captain Moore reaches Dallas he may have other cargoes to pick up and deliver in Seattle, Mexico City, Boston or even Alaska.

That's the way cross-country movers operate. They work 10 hours a day, lying up at motels and hotels nights. Few sleep in their vans, Captain Moore said, unless the cargoes are in pirate waters.

Captain Moore's Allied tractor and van has a 160-gallon gasoline tank. Loaded, he averages about 6 miles per gallon. The roughest trips he has made have been to Alaska. Such an Alaskan trip can mean a new set of tires all around and a tire tube comes to about $100.

After juggling all the furnishings out of the house and stowing them in the van, Captain Moore agreed with me that only single men should ever be called up for military service, or if married, the wives should remain at home. The services are bogged down with household goods.

A euphemistic headline in a neighboring daily called sick hogs "ill swine." Here at the Ingham County News a hog is just that, even though some of the items from MSU and the county agent use the word swine; and a sick hog is sick, not ill.

It's queer how announcers latch onto a word and keep it going. In the Michigan State-Indiana telecast Saturday the word was "storming." Sixteen times some back stormed up or down the field. And not a drop of rain fell.

Printers are not only dedicated men, here in Mason they are becoming segregated. Bill Pinch was the first to appreciate the quietness and beauty of the Steele-Maine area. He bought the Charlie Johnson residence at 522 Maine court. Then Ken Sheffer dealt with Harry Shultis for his homestead at 328 Steele. Next was Bill Reeser, who has bought the Rollin Dart house at 302 Steele. All three will live there all in a heap. They get along well at the plant and know of no reason why they can't dwell in harmony when not working.

Mr. and Mrs. Shultis are moving to a new home in the Don VanderVeen, Sr., subdivision, which is the former Silsby cherry orchard. The Darts are going into winter quarters in the Thomsen building on West Maple to save money for a new house north of town next year. They have a down payment on 14 acres in Alafelon.

Bob Densmore's first passenger after receiving his pilot's license was his wife. They went to Indian River for an outing. It was the first time up for Mrs. Densmore.

Mason's red, white and blue mail-drop boxes add a gay note to the scenery.

I suggested to Brother Hugh, a postal executive, that his department should adopt the Canadian system of doing away with wickets and closed windows. Canadian postoffices operate without rifles and shotguns.

The Canadian plan couldn't be made effective here, Hugh said, until regulations are changed. Beneath U. S. postoffice counters guns are kept to repel robbers. Canadian postoffices operate without rifles and shotguns.

Ingham's busiest half-dozen of highway Sunday afternoon was on US-127 in quarter-mile each side of "Beaspoon Corners. In drove customers, visited Palmer orchards and Wardlaw's. Blossom Orchard to buy supplies of melons, peaches, apples, pears and cider.

Many of the new fall books have arrived. One of particular interest to parents and teachers, it is YOUR CHILD'S READING TODAY by Josette Frank. A student and consultant on children's reading for many years, Miss Frank presents a brisk discussion of books for today's children, relating that reading to the competition of comics and TV. She presents graded lists of books for boys and girls, gives advice on building the home library and presents many devices for encouraging children to read.

Billed as the romantic naturalist, Willie Ley has written SALAMANDERS AND OTHER WONDERS in which he takes up fantastic items like the abominable snowman, the tree of death, the man-eating tree of Madagascar and the case of the cahow. Ley specializes in odd secrets of zoology and weird botanical lore.

GRAND DECEPTION is a collection of true stories by well-known authors about successful hoaxes, ruses, impostures and frauds. The book introduces Joseph Walker, who disappeared with an ocean-going steamer; John Keeley, who profitably developed atomic energy in 1872; and a man who created an imaginary football team, whose lively games were reported all season by the New York Times. The articles are written by authors like Gene Fowler, Herbert Asbury, Mark Twain, Stewart Holbrook and Clarence B. Kelland.

Nothing but the straight stuff is delivered in HEAR ME TALKIN' TO YA, designated as the story of Jazz, as told by the men who made it. Some of the old timers came up with some rather startling information, as the ones who recalled Benny Goodman imitating Ted Lewis, and Louis Armstrong singing tenor. Other contributors are Buck Johnson, King Oliver, Fletcher Henderson, Duke Ellington and Dave Brubeck.

Some of the jazz musicians played in dives of necessity but now we have a breed who take to dives for the joy of it. Read all about them in DIVE: THE COMPLETE BOOK OF SKIN DIVING by Rick and Barbara Carver. They are not cosmeticians, but fans of the mask and flipper craze. A remarkably complete book containing illustrations, underwater techniques and regulations, it is rounded off with a history of skin diving.

The all-prevailing enthusiasm of youth makes ancient history come to life—as Mary Chubb seems to have done in NEPERETTI LIVED HERE. Mary was no Egyptologist but she talked her way into a job as secretary for an expedition exploring the home of Queen Neferitti. All the members were young and they drew their inspiration from historical sources while they unearthed history itself.

You've not heard the last about Michigan above the Straits. Maybe the celebration is over but the bridge is on its way and 2 new books have been published. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Bayliss have written RIVER OF DESTINY, THE ST. MARYS. Long-time residents and students of the St. Marys area, their book reveals that the place has had 145 names in its history. This is an indication of their assiduous research while maintaining a readable text. The first part covers the history of the river including an account of the murder of James Schoolcraft in 146, while part 2 is concerned with local history and recollections. Of 300 pages, the authors devote 5 to Charles T. Harvey and the building of the canal.

Clara Ingram Judson deems Harvey as worthy of more space, as she gives him 33 pages in THE MIGHTY SOO, a book written in the popular vein. She covers a period of 500 years, with text and illustrations characterizing the Indians, explorers, priests, trappers, soldiers and businessmen who played their parts in that epic.

TODAY'S Meditation
The Upper Room
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Henceforth I call you not servants; . . . but I have called you friends. (John 15:15.) Read John 15:12-17.

One day a little girl, well known to me, invited a friend into her home to play. Looking at a picture on the wall, the small visitor asked, "Who is the person in the picture?"

"That is Jesus," came the reply.

"Do you know him?" asked the visitor.

"No," said the small hostess, "but my father does; my father is a personal friend of His."

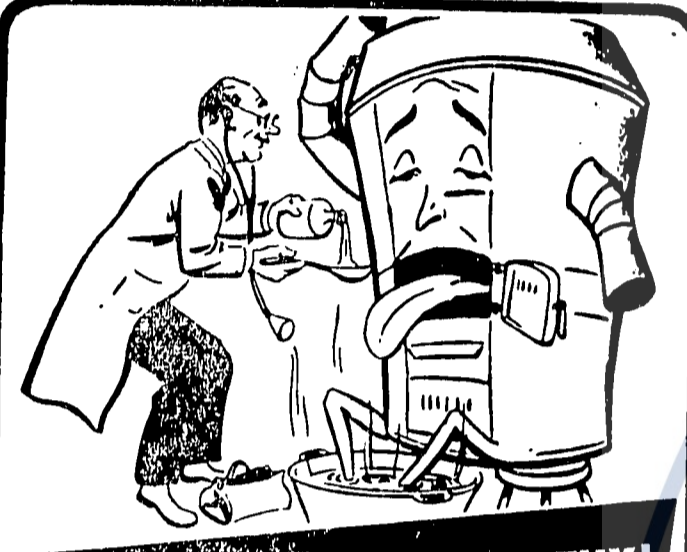

Christ is not merely a figure of past history. True, He walked through the fields of Galilee and the streets of Jerusalem long ago. He was a good man who lived and died in the ancient world. He is also the living Christ of today, an unflinching friend and constant companion with whom we may walk in fellowship and in whose strength we may face each day.

He does not lift us out of life, remove our burdens, or deliver us from the experience of death. He shares with us our life of inspirations, burdens, joys and sorrows. In love He goes with us and gives His sure help. We are not alone. He is our available friend.

PRAYER:
Our Father, increase our response of faith. Quicken the surrender of our wills. Give us open hearts of love that we may know the friendship of Thy Son, our friend, in whose name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Christianity is the gift of friendship in which Christ is both the giver and the gift.

The PTA business meeting and reception Thursday for teachers, school board members and ministers was well attended. Approximately 150 new members were obtained. The entire faculty is included in the membership. President of the PTA, Leslie Vince invited the parents to match the teachers' interest by joining.

The meeting was opened by the group singing. They were led by Mr. Vince and accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Vince. Rev. John W. Bullock who is the father vice-president of the PTA and president of the Ministerial association, offered prayer.

The business meeting consisted in reports of all committee chairmen. Among them was the health committee report by Mrs. John R. Frey, who announced that the TB X-ray mobile unit would make 2 appearances in Leslie sometime between the dates of November 22 and December 16.

It is a rule in the annals of PTA meetings, that the grade producing the most parents at the PTA meeting will have a special banner in their room, until the next meeting. Mrs. Ford Chapman's room will have the banner for the coming month.

Mrs. William Kannawin, a member of the school board, greeted the guests and introduced Superintendent Clarence Vanderhinden. He introduced each teacher. Rev. Bullock introduced the new ministers in the area. They were the Rev. and Mrs. Vernon H. Beardley of the Housel United Brethren church; and Rev. and Mrs. Robert W. Worgul of the Baptist church and the Rev. and Mrs. Harry W. Cummings of the Free Methodist church.

Leslie Council Acts on Lights

At a recent council meeting it was decided to install several street lights.

Two street lights can be installed within the block at Williams and Russell without installation charge while one light will take an installation charge of $155 due to the rule of installing free each new light within the 300 foot limit. It was voted to install the 2 lights. The petition for a street light at Kimball and Pennsylvania was tabled until Councilmen Ralph Kelley and William Durfee make an investigation and report at the next regular meeting.

The Council authorized Building Inspector Oliver Eckert to attend a 3-day meet, which is in the nature of a school for building inspectors, at MSU, October 21, 22 and 23.

It was voted to give the Band Mothers a food handling license without cost, to permit them to sell hot dogs, hamburgers and other foods at football and other games. The Band Mothers, it was pointed out, have given unselfishly of their time in raising money for special band needs.

The members of the Council voted to extend the present "No Parking During School Hours" plan to include the west side of Woodworth street, from Bellevue to Butler Street, to facilitate the loading and unloading of buses. This was in answer to a request from Richard Schmitt, school board president.

Service Council Maps Program

The first fall meeting of the Leslie Service Council was well attended. Mrs. Roy Sineman, president, heard reports of officers and committees which showed the supplying of needs of groceries and clothing to several families during the summer.

The amount to ask for from the Red Feather group was set at $500. The treasurer, Mrs. Kenneth Austin, was asked to send a detailed report of the past year's disbursements to the committee in charge of Leslie fund allocations.

Mrs. Mary Agnew, secretary, reported the date of the Thanksgiving basket planning meeting to be November 14.

Recruiting Starts For Fund Campaign

Workers are needed for the United Fund "Red Feather" campaign soon to open, said Lloyd Dutton, chairman. He has requested newcomers to the area who have had experience in Red Feather work to help in organizing this year's drive.

Dutton urged business men to be frank about their attitude toward the United campaign idea against the old method of having each organization conduct its own drive. He also invited representatives of the business men, and clubs and organizations to delegate members to function with him in the drive.

Dutton asked that the Leslie residents who will be called upon to contribute at the places of business in Lansing or Jackson where they work to divide their amounts to be given so that part of it may be through the Leslie United Fund "Red Feather" drive. Unless that is done, the Service Council and other needs right in Leslie may not be met for the coming year, Dutton said.

A CHILD SLEEPS...

A Child sleeps peacefully... a sleep without dreams. The day just passed has been filled with play, adventure, new learning and discoveries. The day ahead is something to look forward to.

There are no nightmares for this child because there is no fear to kindle them. For it is the fear of the unknown... the fear of tomorrow... that stirs us to unrest.

To look forward to tomorrow tranquilly... as this child does... you must have FAITH. You will find that faith in the Church, and with it you will be able to face, unafraid, your tomorrows, and all they hold.

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Soapboxes May Be Traded In 1956 State Campaign

By ELMER WHITE
Michigan Press Association
Politicians are swapping soapboxes in Michigan as both parties stack their ammunition for 1956 campaigns.

Republicans, with a story for the working man, are going after the labor vote.
Democrats, prosperous with a full slate of incumbents in the capitol, are wooing the farmer.

The switch in emphasis will have an effect on the 1956 election, both sides claim. The new areas of campaigning are expected to make Michigan one of the hottest states in the drive for votes.

"We are going to show the laboring man that he has benefited from a Republican legislature," said Republican State Chairman John Feikens.

Democratic State Chairman Neil Staebler said the party is whipping together a "state farm program" to show normally Republican farmers that they would do well to vote the other way.

Republicans are driving the family of the farm with their agricultural policies," he said. "Corporations are buying the land as business enterprises."

Both parties conducted spirited voter registration campaigns in September.
Democrats aimed a major campaign gun at the 80% farm party, claiming President Eisenhower promised 100%.

Republicans are wary because the problems have been with legislators for years.
Juvenile Judge Nathan Kaufman, of Detroit, said children have been waiting 25 years for a space in mental hospitals. People have died on the highways ever since cars were invented.

"We're going to be criticized whatever happens," said one Republican lawmaker.
He said Gov. Williams can claim the credit for recognizing the "emergencies" and calling the session. "The governor can also attack Republicans for not solving problems of the past 20 years in 4 days of the session."

Democrats sought to tie the proposed $200 a year salary increase for teachers to their $4,000 minimum wage plank.
Some teachers are working for relatively low wages in Michigan schools and poorer districts are hiring uncertified teachers regularly.

Party support for the tieup of the 2 issues died in a State Central Committee meeting.
Rep. John Penczak (D-Detroit) said he and others plumped for the $4,000 annual wage floor in the last session of the legislature. He said: "We took an awful beating. If you want the $4,000 a year guarantee, you're going to have to send us more Democrats."

Here's how they analyze it:
Potential candidates at Chicago next August 13 - except Gov. Williams - will be able to go into the convention, campaign for the nomination, and still hold a spot open back home.

Williams will have to make his decision before going to Chicago and it will have to be public, because the deadline for withdrawing from the governor race expires before August 13.

Conceivably, Gov. Williams could be nominated for the presidency by Democrats and still be the candidate for governor in Michigan.

What would happen in that case is an interesting project for any attorney that happens to be in the mood for a night of contemplation.

Whatever is accomplished in the special session of the legislature in October will also have an influence on 1956.

Theatre Will Show Lady and the Tramp

The treacherous, complicated maneuverings of a woman obsessed with ambition and a blind need for wealth are dramatized in "Hell's Island," which comes to the Fox in a double feature Friday and Saturday. It stars John Payne and Mary Murphy and features Francis L. Sullivan, Eduardo Noriega and Arnold Moss.

"Hell's Island" is a fight for possession of a fabulous stolen ruby a battle waged by ex-D. A. John Payne; by Mary Murphy, who not only jilted and ruined Payne but fights him for the ruby at every turn; and by Francis L. Sullivan, who claims ownership of the gem and hires Payne to find it. All Payne finds is trouble as he journeys to a primitive tropical island in his search. To complicate matters for Payne, Sullivan, a massive killer confined to a wheelchair, begins to distrust the man and sets his hirelings on him. Before "Hell's Island" is a half hour, Payne is up to his neck in violence.

Double Feature Planned
One of the most unusual Westerns in years may be "Wyoming Renegades," which opens at the Fox in a double feature Friday and Saturday.

"Wyoming Renegades" returns Phil Carey, with Martha Hyer, Gene Evans and William Bishop. Photographed in color by Technicolor, the film tells how the women of the frontier town of Broken Bow took up arms against an outlaw band.

Disney Presents Film
With charm and pure entertainment, Walt Disney's "Lady and the Tramp" will be at the Fox Sunday and Monday. As the first all-cartoon feature ever to be produced in CinemaScope, Disney's latest accomplishment is in color by Technicolor.

Starting from the opening scene a whole wonderful world of dogs cavorts merrily, musically and magically.
There's "Lady," a society-bred Cocker Spaniel who provides the ingenue in the cast. There's "Tramp," the soldier of fortune from the wrong side of the tracks who handles the hoes in a manner worthy of Rin-Tin-Tin. And there are others: "Jock," "Fruity," "Peggy" and "Dumbie," all new additions to the Disney album of animated personalities. And here's a special mention for "Peg," the ex-showgirl who almost stops the show with her torrid delivery of the hit ballad, "He's a Tramp."

John Wayne, Susan Hayward, Ray Milland and Paulette Goddard.
"Reap the Wild Wind" has an epic quality about it in the intensity of its scope, its thrill scenes and its romantic story. Set against the swash-buckling era of Key West in the 1840's, the film relates the fascinating tale of the piratical salvagers who plundered the fat carcasses of ships that went to pieces on the treacherous Florida reefs.

DeMille Story Planned
"Reap the Wild Wind," is being brought back to the screen in Cecil B. DeMille's new saga of the sea. It will be at the Fox for 3 days beginning Tuesday.
A Technicolor production in the best DeMille tradition, the picture has a cast headed by

Beef Picture Looks Bright in Ingham

By M. H. AVERY
County Agricultural Agent

There are some of the highlights of the feeding meeting held in Ingham county last week with Don Stark of the ag economics department and Wilton Finley of the animal husbandry department of Michigan State university on the outlook and feeding program for 1956.

Meat consumption for 1955 was at a second high of 79 lb per person and the outlook is for it to continue at a high rate. Cattle numbers are high and expected to remain about the same for the coming year. However, high employment and income of consumers should hold strong. There is some shift from milk to beef cattle. Cheaper feeds, because of the large supply, offer a margin of safety. We are feeding an additional 2,000,000 people each year.

Next year looks like the time for farmers to feed the kind of cattle that they are used to feeding, not a year to experiment. It will be a year to buy cattle to fit the feed supply which the farmer has on his own farm and then to upgrade these cattle with the protein supplement. In other words, if buying good cattle, plan to upgrade them to choice for the market. Lighter animals will be the safest buy. Calves 300 to 400 lb will be the safest to feed. Heavy animals, 900 lb and up, are speculative and only farmers who are sure of their program should plan to feed this weight cattle.

The margin between buying and selling will be the narrowest in years which will call for careful management and feeding and upgrading to make the profit. Feeders will probably cost about the same as last year, according to the selling price. They should be cheaper, but because of the large number of animals on the range and good feed supply, the price will stay up rather than drop. Stark emphasized that the fellows who have been feeding will want to continue feeding, but to use good judgment in buying the right kind of cattle for the market which they intend to sell them on. Selling market cycles can be kept in mind. For example, over a 10-year period, common cattle are cheapest to buy in the fall (September or October) and the highest price for the sale for this class of cattle is in April and May. On the other hand, choice cattle are usually available at the best price in October and early November, but the high selling month for choice animals is October and November. These animals would then want to be carried for about a year. It will be doubly important to have these cycles in mind for this coming year.

Wilton Finley emphasized efficiency in feeding the cattle after being purchased. Again the feeding program will want to be based on the length of time the animals are to be fed, the weight of the animals at purchase and the type of feed which the farmer has to use. Cheap gains this fall can be put on steers in 2 ways. If they are purchased early enough, they may be turned on fall pasture. He also emphasized the efficiency of good corn silage for steers. He said steers would do well and make good gains on good corn silage plus 1 1/2 lb of a good protein supplement per day per animal. A good protein supplement would be one which contained 30 or more per cent of protein.

Finley emphasized purchasing protein in ton lots this fall for the amount that will be needed for most of the season with the expectation that the price will not go too much lower. However, he says, if the protein does go down, then hold what you have purchased and purchase the lower priced protein to feed while it is low and then feed the higher priced protein later in the year. He emphasized that protein added to the ration makes the ration more efficient in the production of meat.

Last spring there was considerable discussion about the use of Stilbestrol hormone in the fattening ration. Here is the latest information as a result of feeding it at Michigan State university and other places: Most beef cattle feeders in Michigan are now convinced that Stilbestrol in the fattening ration is an efficient gain booster. Cattle will gain up to 20% faster with the hormone in the ration and they will make their gains on 13% less feed. There is no difference in color, shrink or carcass quality between those fed Stilbestrol and those not fed the hormone. In fact, on carcasses taken from the experimental program at Michigan State university and judged by buyers, not knowing which steers had been fed the Stilbestrol, the Stilbestrol-fed carcasses graded a bit higher in quality than the non-Stilbestrol carcasses.

Good Sires Available At Ram Day

The starting point of profit from sheep is a good ram. Graydon Blank, extension sheep specialist at Michigan State university, says that good rams will pay for themselves several times while poor rams always cost money no matter how cheaply they are bought. Michigan sheepman can get top-quality rams for their flock through the 1955 ram day and ram truck programs. These programs make possible a one-stop visit to the best purchased flocks in the state, says Blank, by collecting rams in convenient locations.

Lime Gives More Cash To Farmers

There are many reasons why farmers should use lime, according to M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent. Undoubtedly, the best reason is that it pays off handsomely in profits to the farmer, he points out. Much experimental data is available in the national agricultural colleges and experiment stations showing that for every dollar spent for lime from $3 to $15 are returned to the farmer in profit through increased yields and better quality crops. In order to get the maximum benefits from liming the soil however, farmers must remember that applying all of the recommended cultural and conservation practices results in the greatest profit. Besides lime, these practices include fertilization, crop rotation, terracing, using good seed and proper seed bed preparation. Doing any of these will result in bigger and better crops, but the highest return comes from doing the complete job.

Liming the soil furnishes calcium magnesium for the crops and these are transmitted to the consumers, resulting not only in bigger crops and profits, but stronger and healthier bodies. Liming helps make nitrogen and phosphorus available. It favors beneficial soil bacteria which reduces the effects of harmful ones. It reduces toxic soil conditions and results in better physical soil conditions.

Farming is becoming more scientific. The guesswork is being taken out. Farmers can eliminate some of the guesswork from their soil treatments by having soil samples tested for lime and fertilizer needs. A balanced soil fertility will produce best crops. It would be well to take soil samples this fall before the ground is frozen to get tests on soil for spring crops. Lime needs to be applied ahead of legume seedlings.

Weedicide Gets Results

Michigan corn farmers who were disappointed with chemical weed control this year probably didn't use 2, 4-D at the proper rate or apply it at the right time.

That's the word from farm crops specialists at Michigan State university. They say that the wrong time and wrong rate will cut corn yields.

Michigan State university experiments over 6 years show that 2, 4-D plus cultivation gave better weed control and higher corn yields than cultivation alone.

The ester form of 2, 4-D, as a pre-emergence spray at the rate of one pound of actual material per acre, gave the best weed control and the highest corn yields. One-half pound of the amine form of 2, 4-D after 2 cultivations gave only slightly better corn yields than the usual 3 cultivations. But when a half-pound of the amine form was applied after the corn was up, there was a reduction in yield. The chemical was substituted for the first cultivation.

The farm crops specialists insist that the first cultivation can be skipped if the recommended pre-emergence spray is used. They term the spray good insurance against weeds getting out of hand in wet weather.

Farm Boys May Take MSU's Study

Boys from Ingham county have an opportunity this year to take short courses in agriculture at Michigan State university.

M. H. Avery, Ingham agricultural agent, said there are several scholarships available for the course. The training includes 8-week terms with instruction in dairying, crops, farm management, livestock, poultry, soils, horticulture, farm mechanics, plant diseases, bacteriology, insects and parasites.

Special courses in leadership, family living, parliamentary procedure and public speaking also will be a part of the students' schedule. While attending the short course the students will be housed in the short course dormitory and will eat at the short course cafeteria. Complete cost for an 8-week term is $180. It covers room, board, tuition and books.

Good Sires Available At Ram Day

The starting point of profit from sheep is a good ram. Graydon Blank, extension sheep specialist at Michigan State university, says that good rams will pay for themselves several times while poor rams always cost money no matter how cheaply they are bought.

Michigan sheepman can get top-quality rams for their flock through the 1955 ram day and ram truck programs. These programs make possible a one-stop visit to the best purchased flocks in the state, says Blank, by collecting rams in convenient locations.

Leading off the program is ram day at Michigan State university, Monday, October 3. Breeders will bring in yearling and 2-year-old rams for sale. These rams will be placed in pens according to the asking price and sheepmen may choose the ram they want at the price they planned to pay.

Also that day, rams will be chosen to go on the ram truck. This truck will make 6 stops in northern Michigan for sheepmen who had made orders to pick up their rams and for others to choose from the additional rams brought along.

The program is sponsored by the Michigan Sheep Breeders Association, the M. S. U. animal husbandry department and the county agricultural extension offices. For further information, write M. S. U. or see your county agricultural agent.

Timber is a crop which can require very little labor on the part of the owner and still pay its way in relation to other farm crops, Tworck said. However, the owner must give some thought to its management if it is to produce profitably, he stated.

Grazing animals should be kept out, mature trees should be harvested and the best species for the site should be encouraged over others, Tworck said.

Many woodlots contain a high percentage of trees which are either highly defective, of poor form or of an inferior species, he added. A tree may be alive and growing but still producing no merchantable volume because of rot or other defect. Such a cut tree may take up as much as 1/25 of an acre in the canopy. In virgin timber, decay balances growth, and there is no increase in the volume of merchantable wood, he explained.

Species of high value should be favored over species having low commercial value where the site is capable of growing the higher value. This can be accomplished through improvement cuts, thinning, plantings or in harvests which are selective, Tworck added.

Geologists estimate Michigan's supply of salt at 71 trillion tons.

Forester Asks Farm Tree Goal

Improvements of timber stands on lands to remain in continuous production should be a goal for every woodland owner, according to Elton Tworck, farm forester in Mason.

The world's largest cement plant is located at Alpena.

Cold Lye Will Clean Milkers

Dairy farmers now have a simple, easy way to keep milking machine parts sanitary.

It's soaking inflations and milking tubes in a cold lye solution—a 13-ounce can of lye in a gallon and a half of water. Research Dairyman J. M. Jensen of Michigan State university says boiling inflations in lye water is no longer necessary.

Jensen, who found the easy answer to the cleaning problem, explains that the cold lye solution kills bacteria and does a good job of removing butterfat.

Water for the solution should be soft—like rainwater, and it must be stored in a crock or a granite-ware utensil. Enough of the solution should be made to cover the inflations and tubes.

A dairyman can use the lye solution 2 ways, according to Jensen:

The rubber parts can be soaked between milkings, then rinsed off thoroughly in hot water before use. Or the dairyman can use 2 sets of rubber parts, with one set left soaking for a week. The other can be washed after use. Or it can be stored on a solution rack using a weak lye solution—one pint of the stronger solution diluted with water to make a gallon.

The lye solution, used either way, will last for months. As long as it is clear, not muddy, it is certain to be the right strength.

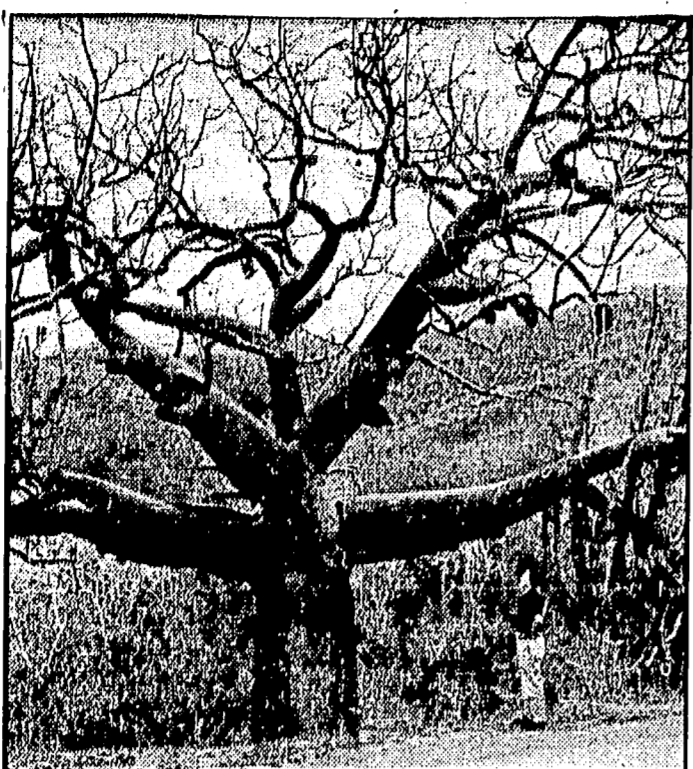

If soapy deposits form on the rubber parts when they are left in the solution all week, that is another indication of proper strength. Jensen adds, "If no soapy deposit forms, the solution has lost strength."

Children may tear up a home, but seldom break up one.

HANG YOUR SHIRT ON A KAPOK LIMB — That's what Ecuador's Ministry of Economics would have you do, as it announces that it is making large tracts of land available to those who would cultivate the living "general store," hitherto harvested only from wild growth. Bark is used in manufacture of twine, sacks, nets, hammocks and cloth. Hairlike fruit fiber, lighter than cotton, is used for stuffing floats, life preservers, cushions. Seed fiber, very elastic, far exceeds cork in flotation qualities and is used in lifesaving devices, clothing and upholstery. Seed also yields oil for soap making and feed cake for livestock. Tree is said to be both rain and drought resistant.

International Dairy Show Has Youth Competition

Young people will play a prominent part in activities of the third international dairy show and world's championship rodeo.

The big exposition, featuring dairy cattle judging and dairy products and dairy farm machinery displays, is slated for October 8 through 15 in the Amphitheatre of the Chicago stock yards.

Members of 4-H clubs and vocational agricultural students from 16 states will show 300 purebred cattle in the junior cattle competition. Breeds include Ayrshires, Brown Swiss, Guernseys, Holsteins, Jerseys and Milkings Shorthorns.

Youngsters will test their ability to judge dairy cattle quality in the 4-H dairy cattle judging contest.

Land grant universities will compete in teams in the collegiate dairy cattle judging contest. They will also match skills in judging dairy products. A dozen schools are expected to send teams to Chicago.

Country & Town

By Jim Brown

It's getting so people are demanding free gifts for just about any occasion. I don't mind sending a gift as a token of esteem to any hostess, bride or golden wedding couple. But this latest twist of actually asking for a gift is going too far. Last week my wife received an invitation to a reception which read, "... request the presents of Mrs. Jim Brown..." I suppose the hostess meant she wanted the "presence" of Mrs. Brown. I hope so, because my wife will be present at the reception, but not with presents.

At the height of the Kiwanis community sale Saturday, J. B. Dean and Glen Coon spotted a couple of bicycles on the sidewalk in front of the sale building. Thinking (so they insist) that the bicycles were left at the building to be sold, the 2 Kiwanians put a price tag of $3 on one and $2 on the other. Two boys who were shopping in the sale building arrived just in time to rescue their bicycles from a swarm of buyers.

Last year, J. B. found a parked car in front of the building and almost had it sold when the owner showed up.

For the past 3 months, I have been doing a summer replacement series for Art Carney, television's sewer man. I have probed, prodded and pushed in my sewer most of the summer in an effort to unplug the line. Each service call would bring only temporary relief.

Saturday, with the use of a flashlight, a clothes pole and a wad of gum (bubble), I pulled a toy cane, a wooden toy fire engine and some other things from the sewer. Our house now has one of the fastest running sewer lines in town. It's a thrill to know that we are now directly connected with the main stem.

Mason's Bob Jewett did himself proud Saturday with his touchdown catch in the MSU-Indiana football game. In fact, Bob did all of us proud.

Gus Kean isn't giving flowers away at his open house. It's his belief that flowers aren't lasting enough and that it's being overdone. Gus will give goldfish to the first 1,000 customers when the doors open Friday morning. It's just 2 to a customer, though. One for each lapel.

if you're like me.

The thought of starting a lawsuit seldom crosses your mind, and you have only the slightest idea when to sue and how to start a suit.

Our laws give me a written guarantee that the courts will see to it that I'm repaid any money I loan, or that people I deal with will keep their word when we make a contract, or that I'll get what I'm reasonably entitled to if I get hurt because of someone else's negligence.

Suppose that someone doesn't pay the money he owes me, or smashes into my parked car and refuses to pay the garage bills? Or maybe he claims that it was my own fault when I sprained my ankle on his broken stairway and lost a week's work, while I feel sure that if he had taken care of his property I'd never have missed that paycheck. The law gives me the right to go to court. That I know.

Which court is the right one in which to prove my claim? Is it small enough to be handled in the court of a justice of the peace, or must I go to the circuit court, or even to the federal court? Am I entitled to anything beyond my doctor bills or garage bill for all the trouble I've been through? Is it damages I want, or an injunction, or a writ of replevin?

Damages are what I'd be asking for if I demand a money judgment for some wrong, or loss, or injury I have suffered because of another person's actions. At least, that's my general understanding. In addition to recovering my actual expenses for the services of someone like a doctor or a mechanic, and receiving the equivalent of whatever pay I've lost from being unable to work, I might be entitled to some money for my pain and suffering, in case there's physical injury. Or if I've been subject to ridicule, or loss of business, or my reputation has been given a bad name through vicious gossip, or malicious printed statements, or false arrest, I might claim damages.

I may only want the court to enforce an agreement I have with someone by directing him to perform some specified act. Maybe I want to stop or prohibit some action or circumstances that will cause me harm. Then it's an injunction I want. Maybe I want to get back something other than money that I've loaned. That's known as "replevin."

Whatever it was, my head would be whirling. But, I'd be almost certain to come out ahead.

LAWRENCE D. BAHILLY of Grand Rapids, executive head of a trucking firm ranking among the nation's top 6, was elected president of Michigan Trucking association last Wednesday. He is Interstate Motor Freight System's president.

Medical Groups Sponsor Contest

A public speaking project on tuberculosis is being sponsored this fall in Ingham county high schools.

Classes in English, speech and science can participate.

Cash awards are being given by the Ingham County Medical Society Women's Auxiliary; and community speaking engagements will be arranged by the Ingham County TB and Health Society.

The Women's Auxiliary and Ingham County TB and Health Society in conjunction with the Michigan Tuberculosis association are sponsoring the project, so that more students and adults will be aware of the importance of the school and community X-ray service offered them free of charge.

Six Herds Hit 40 Lb

Six herds which averaged over 40 lb of butterfat in the Ingham No. 5 and Ingham-Williamston Dairy Herd Improvement association.

These herds were Russell Kleiss, 11 registered Holsteins, 45.0 lb fat, 1,350 lb milk; Don Williams, 47 registered Holsteins, 45.0 lb fat, 1,260 lb milk; Robert Hunt, 13 registered Holsteins, 45.0 lb fat, 1,260 lb milk; Stanley Voss, 21 grade Guernseys, 42.0 lb fat, 1,140 lb milk; J. Jorgenson, 39 grade Holsteins, 39.0 lb fat, 1,140 lb milk; and Ira Cronkright, 21 grade Guernseys, 39.0 lb fat, 790 lb milk.

In the long run, because I'm the kind who would think about suing only as a last resort and only when my conscience told me I was dead right, I have faith that the law will protect me, that a court will see that justice is done.

What to Do with Surpluses?

USDA Searches for Magic Market

Huge surpluses of farm products are the main depressing factor to U. S. farm prices, and reducing these surpluses seems to be the number one job now for government farm officials.

The natural hope is that we can sell our surplus food to foreign countries, but right now there doesn't seem to be much chance of finding outlets in the under-developed countries of the world. Individuals in these areas don't have the money to buy food and fibre; their governments generally prefer to buy machinery, implements and other capital goods with the limited money available.

There's a possibility of finding outlets in the Soviet sphere for surplus farm production. Fats and oils, meats and cereals are needed. But because of political uncertainties and the scarcity of Soviet supplies for exchange, it would be wishful thinking to count heavily on future outlets there for surplus farm production.

Governments are getting more and more involved, through export monopolies, export subsidies, cut-rate export prices, equalization funds, in the business of foreign trade in agricultural products. There's no longer a free world market for most of the major food commodities. Prices are still influenced by the law of supply and demand. But government intervention makes a tremendous difference in the way the law operates. Unless there's a general agreement among nations on trade restrictions, commodity agreements and international distribution of surplus foods, the whole business of world trade in farm products will get progressively chaotic.

accounted for more than half CCC's losses.

Grain men think the corn crop will be under 3,000,000,000 bushels. There's been widespread deterioration to the crop in the last month. If the crop ends up under the 3,000,000,000 bushel mark it would be a big drop from the outlook a couple of months ago. At the end of this month the corn carry-over from previous years is expected to total about a billion bushels, enough to produce 33 lb of pork for every person in the U. S. Production of sorghums, oats and other feed grains were so large this year that carry-over corn supplies will probably increase by another 100,000,000 bushels a year from now.

A new high-yielding, high oil content soybean variety of early maturity in northern areas has been developed by USDA scientists. It's called Grant. Seed will be released to certified seed growers next spring. It's especially adapted for central Minnesota and northeastern South Dakota.

Meat production is breaking some all-time records. Inspected packers last month slaughtered the greatest number of cattle for any month in history, almost 1,800,000 head. Hog slaughter in August set a new August record at 4,500,000 head and slaughter of sheep and lambs last month was the highest in 7 years.

The current administration plan seems to be "buy time" with some temporary type of farm assistance until the flexible price support program has taken hold. Question is, can federal officials hold the line under increasing political pressures, not only from Democrats but also within GOP ranks? The fireworks will start when congress meets in a few months.

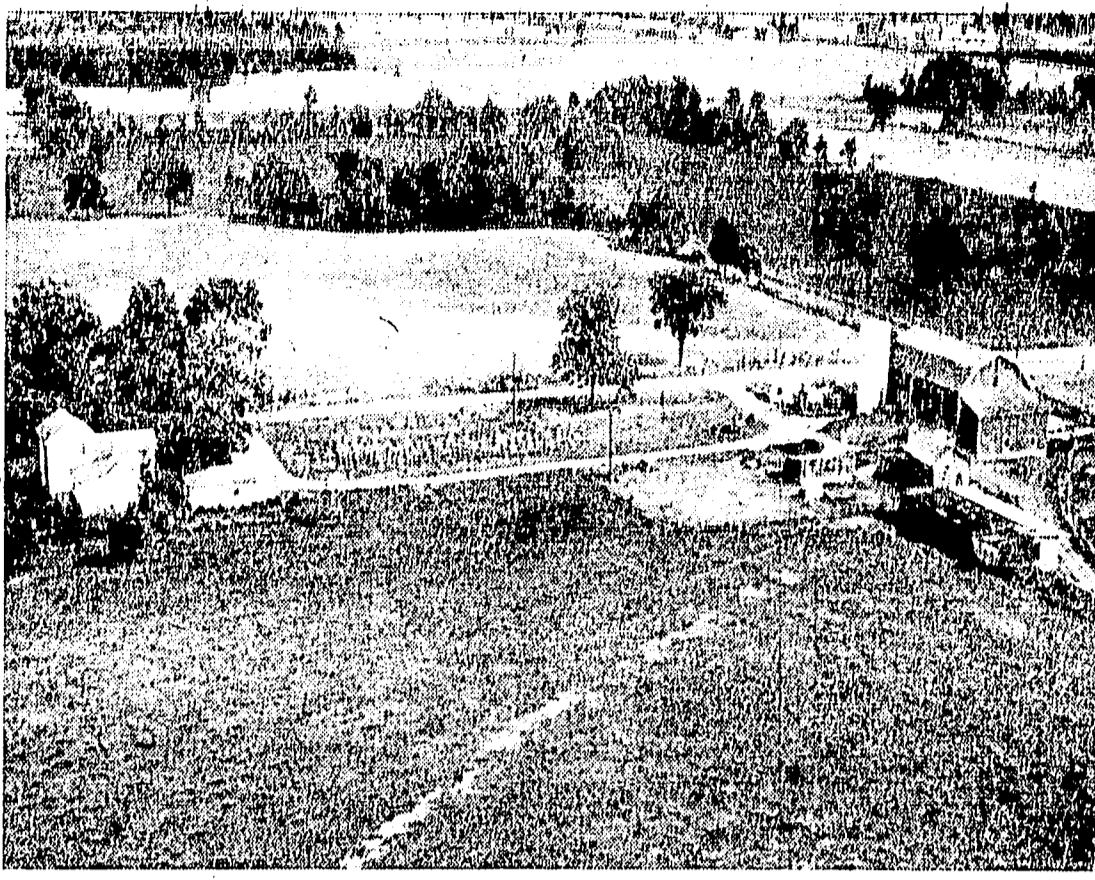

Over 90% of the country's corn crop was reported mature and safe from hard frost at end of the third week in September. In Michigan about 75% of the crop was mature with another fifth in the dent stage.

A modified Brannan plan for agriculture is getting attention from farm officials and congressmen as a possible means for boosting farm income.

A compensatory price payment plan is now in effect for wool. The production payment plan in some form will doubtless be proposed in congress when the next session starts.

As far as plans for bolstering farm income are concerned, the only one being kicked around now is the incentive program for shifting "surplus" land to conservation. This could be done either through government rental or by payment to farmers for diverting land from soil depleting crops to soil-building practices. The "Soil Bank" idea isn't new; it was proposed several years ago and had the backing of the Grange and Farm Bureau, conservation agencies and others.

Miscellaneous . . . Cattle by-products make up 10% to 20% of the total value of cattle. Sheep and lamb by-products account for 20% to 30% while hog by-products contribute 2% to 5% of their total value. . . Meat packers sell practically all their beef in 7 to 14 days after the cattle are slaughtered. . . While CCC's holdings of butter are shrinking, supplies of cheese taken over by USDA under price support operations are growing. . . Outlets for cheese are far more limited than those for butter or dried milk, surplus salesmen report. . . Corn belt feeders aren't buying their usual number of stockers and feeders. Movement of cattle from public markets to feed lots the last 10 weeks were 13% below same period a year ago.

MR. AND MRS. RUDOLPH FLAMME live on the farm pictured in last week's mystery farm series. The 160-acre dairy business is located 2 miles west of Leslie on Bellevue road. The Flammes bought the place in 1945. Before that, they lived on farms on Olds road and in the Bunker Hill area. Besides a herd of Holstein dairy cows, the Flammes also had a cash crop of wheat this year.

The Flammes have 5 children now grown and living away from the farm. Mr. and Mrs. Flamme are members of the Farm Bureau and attend Lutheran church services in Jackson.

Mrs. Clarence Griggs was the first to identify the mystery farm. She phoned the correct answer to the Ingham County News Friday morning and will receive a year's subscription free for her answer. The Flammes can have a free mounted enlargement of their farm by stopping into the News office.

Hunters and Harvesters Both Get October Moons

October will be a month of moons, 2 of them full—one harvest, one hunter's.

So said Associate Professor Hazel M. Losh of the University of Michigan astronomy department. And the full moon of October 1 will be the year's harvest moon, which is defined as the full moon occurring nearest the time of the autumnal equinox in mid-September.

The second full moon, seasonably called a hunter's moon, might this year be called a Halloween moon—it occurs on October 31. Due to the moon's path being nearly parallel to the horizon at these times, the moon will appear sooner than at any other time during the year, thus supplying harvest and hunting evenings with full moonlight for several nights in a row.

And while farmers are making hay while the moon shines, city folk who catch the 8 o'clock bus will be getting up in the dark. The length of the days will decrease noticeably in October, said Professor Losh, and by the end there'll only be about 10 hours of daylight.

This leaves plenty of time for observing planets, constellations and meteor showers during the 14 evening hours. There are 2 of the showers scheduled, one around October 9 and the other around October 22.

Among the constellations, Antares, the Charioter, will be prominent as a pentagon-shaped

RECORD CROPS INCREASE SOIL CONSERVATION NEEDS

The year 1955 will shatter previous records in production of some crops and all crops as a group may equal the record 1948 output. The Department of Agriculture recently released its latest forecasts on this year's production showing that hay, oats, soybeans and sorghum grain will push to new high levels. Here are comparative figures for some crops:

	1954 Production	Indicated 1955	Percent Increase
Corn	2,964,639 bu.	3,113,467 bu.	1%
Oats	1,499,579 bu.	1,636,030 bu.	9%
Hay (All)	104,380 tons	108,464 tons	4%
Alfalfa	49,328 tons	51,699 tons	5%
Soybeans	842,795 bu.	887,627 bu.	13%
Sorghum Grain	204,087 bu.	226,776 bu.	11%
Peanuts	1,028,070 lbs.	1,089,325 lbs.	6%
Tobacco	2,280,408 lbs.	2,268,867 lbs.	1%

In addition to these increases, many crops such as cotton, barley, wheat (spring and winter), and most fruits, are expected to remain at continued high levels, many surpassing their 1944-53 production averages.

But this is only half the story. Many of these crops are being produced on less acreage than in the 1944-53 period and more is being produced per acre. Of the 28 crops (excluding fruits) reported on regularly by the Department of Agriculture, 19 show a greater expected yield per acre than last year. And 15 of the 28 reported on are actually being produced on fewer acres.

It doesn't take much imagination to see the exhausting burden this intensified cropping places on the soil. Replenishment of cropped-out plant nutrients through addition of lime and fertilizer and maintenance of other regular conservation measures is a "must" if the land is to continue to meet these crushing food and fibre demands.

Farm Youths Have Look at Detroit Livestock Market

Thirty-nine Michigan 4-H club boys, winners of 817 blue ribbons with their cattle, hogs and sheep, got a practical lesson this week in how to do a better job of marketing their livestock.

The 39 4-H clubbers, tops among 5,000 farm youths participating in 4-H beef, sheep and livestock projects in major livestock-producing counties, spent 2 days taking a behind-the-scenes look at livestock marketing in Detroit.

The unusual course in practical marketing was sponsored by the Michigan agricultural extension service, the Railroad Community committee of Greater Detroit and the 4-H Club Foundation.

Visiting farm boys spent half a day listening to livestock marketing economists, stockyard men, meat packers and government agricultural experts tell about their specialties. Then they spent most of a day watching livestock being marketed at the Detroit stockyards, winding up their tour with a visit to a meat-packing plant.

The visitors also got an intimate view of railroad operations during a half-day at Detroit's Ford Street Union depot. They toured a modern railroad passenger train especially assembled for them by Detroit railroads, climaxing the trip with luncheon aboard a railroad dining car. For 32 of the 39, it was their first dining car meal.

"We should do this sort of project with many other farm products, for our young people must learn more and more about the complexities of marketing," Maurice L. Hill, of East Lansing, associate district 4-H club supervisor, declared in pronouncing the trip a "great success."

"We hope this pioneer marketing project will lead to many more, for we think it is very beneficial to Michigan farmers of tomorrow," he added.

The 4-H club leader's sentiments were echoed by young men participating in the tour.

"This tour has shown me something of the livestock business which many farmers and farm youths, including myself have not considered or thought of before," was the way Carl Forwilliger, of Otsville in Genesee county, put it. "The trip has left a clear impression that feeding livestock is only a part of the story of meat on the table."

"Everything I am I owe to ARCADIAN 12-12-12"

It takes plenty of big, full heads of wheat or barley to make profitable yields, when growing costs eat up 15 to 20 bushels per acre. Many Midwest growers make big profits on grain by using ARCADIAN 12-12-12 to turn out 40, 50 and even 60-bushel yields. Here's how it's done:

Full-feed your wheat this fall with 400 to 600 pounds of ARCADIAN 12-12-12 per acre drilled in at seeding. Free-flowing ARCADIAN 12-12-12 spreads easily, dissolves quickly in the soil, feeds your fall grain fast and full-feeds it right through to ripening a big crop. Use ARCADIAN 12-12-12 now to supply all the nitrogen, phosphorus and potash your crop needs for a strong start, good wintering over, and big yields of plump grain.
