New Roads To Aid Mason's Industrial Potential

Two 24-foot-wide concrete arterials are pushing southward from Lansing toward Mason.

The arterials will close the freeway gap linking Jackson and Lansing and are expected to help vitalize the economy of the Mason area.

The new leg of US-127 will relieve and complement the Cedar street route from Mason to Lansing. It is only part of a highway program to upgrade highway facilities from the southeastern and south central parts of the county to Lansing.

Also included in the Department of State Highways program affecting those areas are:

---Extending M-52 from just north of Millville in the southeast corner to an interchange with I-96 near Webberville and connection with M-47;

---Rebuilding a number of interchanges and crossovers at locations on existing US-127 south and west of Mason;

---Construction of the I-496 and M-43 connector east across the Michigan State university campus and west to downtown Lansing.

The main affect of this construction will be to open the shopping areas of Lansing and East Lansing to easier access from the south and eastern parts of the county, and in doing this highway communication throughout the area will be improved.

New US-127 is the hub of this improvement. In a Lansing area trunkline plan released in 1961, it was listed as one of the four important routes forming the trunkline system, and a major link in the multi-lane facilities traversing the state from Indiana to Canada, via Sault Ste. Marie and the International Bridge.

The 1961 plan also stated that a new routing of US-127 would remove the heavily-traveled trunkline from the urban and commercial centers along Cedar street to superior facilities in a less populated area.

An engineering report in 1963, covering the proposed and existing routes gave a number of reasons why a new route is necessary.

The report stated that the effectiveness of the Cedar street route from Mason to Holt is being reduced by increasing commercial and residential building. From Holt to north of Lansing the route consists of city streets that are below standard in number and width of lanes. There is no control of access on this section and only minor control of turning movements.

Department of State Highway traffic studies showed that at the present time 11,000 vehicles are using the Cedar street-US-127 every day at the point where the new route will intersect north of Mason. This number rapidly increases closer to Lansing. Projected figures indicate that this volume could grow to 50,000 or more by 1985, and the present US-127, obviously, would be unable to handle it.

With the completion of new US-127 late this year, the traffic on Cedar street is expected to drop to 6,000 immediately and the new route will carry 10,000. The jump from 11,000 to 16,000 in total indicates that people who use roads other than the crowded Cedar street will use the new facility.

The traffic projections show that by 1985, 40,000 vehicles will be using the new route from Mason and 13,000 will use Cedar Street.

The US-127 link will hook up with the present I-496 connector between Lansing and East Lansing and funnel traffic through the city to proposed US-127 north. When the proposed I-496 and M-43 east-west route is finished sometime in 1971, US-127 from Mason will intersect this inter-city expressway to give easy access to Michigan State university and downtown Lansing.

What does this mean to the residents of Mason and the surrounding farm region? In the words of Richard Lilly, assistant director of the Department of State Highways planning division:

"The improved transportation facility will greatly increase the Mason area's potential as an industrial site and provide a much better access to the Lansing center."

Also, most land along Cedar street that would be suitable for industrial development is already claimed as commercial and residential. The 1963 engineering report from the highway department stated that the land between Cedar street and the new route is primarily agricultural but available for development.

Mason businessmen aren't waiting for the new US-127 to open before they move to make use of it. The city of Mason has contacted the Tri-County Planning commission to study different zoning possibilities to make the best use of land adjacent to US-127.

According to officials of the planning commission, 2 studies are under consideration. An extended study would cover all of Mason and Vevay and Alaledon townships. A shorter study would cover just the US-127 - Cedar Street interchange area west of the Mason city limits.

Ingham County Road commission officials said the main concern of the city is to arrange some sort of coordinated planning with the townships in regard to zoning the land around the intersections on the new US-127.

"The idea is to zone the area within effective range of each intersection to insure the proper use of the land," they said. "We don't want somebody building in somebody else's backyard."

Mayor Gilson Pearsall of Mason said that while no official action has been taken on the 2 proposals, the council favors the larger one. "If we can get the townships to go along with this we will undertake the overall zoning survey," Pearsall said. "But we can't seem to get people interested; if they don't, we'll go ahead with the

Ash St. Family Stricken

ONLY A MEMORY NOW - This is all that is left of the Felt Plains Methodist church on Meridian road which burned to the ground last Saturday. The little church, built in 1898, was a complete loss. Only the foundation, built of field rocks, and the steps that led to the church door remain. Only the church sign (shown in inset) was saved.

68 Year Old Church At Felt Plains Burns

Fire last Saturday completely destroyed the Felt Plains Methodist church on Meridian road while members of the congregation looked on, helpless to save the 68 year old wooden structure.

But the building will be rebuilt. The church board, meeting Tuesday night unanimously voted to start a fund drive to start within the next 10 days. Rev. Dorr Garrett pastor of the church, will set up plans for a definite goal and contributions may be sent to him at his home in Leslie.

Rev. Garret, in addition to serving the Felt Plains, is pastor of the Leslie Methodist church.

Only thing saved from the fire was the sign carrying the name, which was ripped from the walls as the blaze was being fought by Leslie firemen.

The loss has been estimated as high as $45,000 but Don Dillingham, one of the parishioners says it will cost at least $85,000 to replace it. The church was insured for $20,000.

Ironically the church board had recently approved an increase of $12,000 in coverage and was awaiting approval from the insurance company when the fire was discovered about noon Saturday. The approval had been expected last Thursday but did not arrive.

Only ruins remain of the building which was built in 1898 of wood taken from trees on nearby farms on a foundation built of field stone, also acquired from farmers in the vicinity.

Firemen said a fire was attended early Saturday morning in the stoker furnace that supplied heat for the building. Apparently the fire burned inside the building for several hours and went unnoticed by nearby residents.

Along about noon a passerby noticed flames and called the Leslie fire department. By that time, however, it was too late and the little church and all

3 Injured In 2 Car Mishaps

Two accidents here, one on Saturday and one on Monday, caused injury to 3 persons. Carolyn M. Anderson, 18, of 4952 Bunker road was reported in serious condition Tuesday in Mason General hospital, suffering from injuries received in a 2 car crash at W. Ash and Lansing streets Saturday evening.

Mason police said her car and one driven by Max Hulett, 32, of 341 N. Rogers street, Mason collided at the intersection. Hulett's wife, Virginia, 32, was treated at Mason General for injuries and released.

In the accident Monday which occurred at 6 p.m. in the 700 block of S. Barnes street, Alene Perry, 1418 Edgar road, headed north on Barnes lost control of her car which went up over the curb and hit the home of Robert Ware at 719 S. Barnes, damaging the porch. In the car with Mrs. Perry were several children, one a 2 month old baby and another son, Donald 7. Both the baby and the boy suffered bruises and abrasions and were treated at Mason General hospital and released.

Mrs. Perry told police that the baby cried and she glanced down to see what the trouble was. It was then that the car bounced up over the curb. She was ticketed for driving in an unsafe manner.

Dart National bank established a beach head in Delhi township Friday morning. The Mason based bank, now observing its 40th anniversary, moved a small house trailer onto its property at 2095 Aurelius road within hours after authorization was granted in Washington Thursday night. By Tuesday, a specially equipped 52x12-foot mobile office was on the site and is being used for full banking purposes.

Dart National petitioned to the controller of the currency in Washington and was granted authorization to establish a banking office in Delhi township nearly 18 months ago. But before the bank could establish the Delhi office the controller and Dart National bank were jointly enjoined in Grand Rapids federal court from continuing with the plan. The court action was brought against Dart National by American Bank and Trust of Lansing which has its own branch bank in the township.

After 18 months of court actions, Federal Judge Noel Fox in Grand Rapids district court adjudicated in favor of Dart National bank thereby nullifying the suit brought against it by American Bank and Trust.

Thursday Judge Fox lifted the 18-month-old restraining order and Dart National officials immediately sought and received from Washington the needed certificate authorizing the establishment of the Delhi branch. Dart officials, ginger over the possibilities of further injunctive action from AB&T, hastily outfitted a small mobile home as a temporary office and by 8 Friday morning firmly established the "bank" on the Aurelius road property.

While Dart National was establishing its banking office in Delhi, American Bank and Trust officials were busy, too. Friday they appealed the decision handed down in Judge (See BRANCH, Page A-3)

Road Limits In Effect

Road limitations were placed in effect on all roads in Ingham county last Thursday midnight and will remain in effect for 6 or 8 weeks, officials of the Ingham County Road commission announced Friday.

Weight limitations are restricted to 11,700 pounds per axle on single axle trucks and 8,450 pounds per axle on tandem axle vehicles.

WELCOME--Here's Bill Harris being welcomed to the Dart National bank Delhi office by Leonard Carter, cashier, and Mrs. Bernadette Northrup, assistant cashier. The small travel trailer that served as an office through Monday was replaced by a specially equipped 52 x 12 foot mobile office Wednesday.

School Addition Plans Accepted

Final working drawings and specifications for additions to the senior high school were approved by the Mason board of education at a special meeting Tuesday night. The board set Monday, March 14, as the date to receive bids from contractors.

The additions will include 12 new classrooms. Three types of contractor bids will be received, the general contract and the mechanical and electrical contracts.

The board also approved preparation of specifications for four 66-passenger buses for delivery next fall. Bids will be opened at the March 14 meeting.

The board also approved a request from Robert Prudon, principal of the senior high school, that the board share with the student council the cost of providing about $900 worth of lighting and sound equipment for the senior high school auditorium.

Deputies Rout Marauding Dogs

Ingham county sheriff's deputies fired 2 shots to rout a pair of dogs who were molesting livestock at the farm of Ernie Rapp, 1858 Tomlinson road, last Wednesday night. The officers fired the shots into the ground because the dogs were too close to other livestock. The marauding dogs killed 2 ducks and injured some sheep.

Siren To Sound

City Considers Future Planning

Two possible plans for the future planning of Mason were presented at the Mason City council meeting Monday night by the Tri-County Regional Planning commission.

Under the first plan the commission would include in its study a general land use plan, a base map of the city; revisions of the zoning ordinances; new subdivision regulations; a detailed study of the business district, including traffic, recreation and industrial land uses; and a capital improvement program. This complete study would cost an estimated $3,500 per year for 2 years, the time required to complete the analysis.

The secondary plan costing the city in the neighborhood of $1,100 would include a review of the city's ordinances, new classifications for particular zoning areas and a zoning study restricted to areas adjacent to the US-127 and the now under construction I-496 connector.

At an earlier meeting with the city council the commission indicated the study would not be as effective if 2 of Mason's adjacent townships, Alaledon and Vevay, didn't participate.

Provisions were included in the commission's proposals which would include the townships if they so desired. Keeping this in mind, the city has called a joint meeting March 1 of the Mason Planning board, city council, plus the Alaledon and Vevay boards to discuss possibilities of adopting one of the overall plans.

Holt Man Injured In Fire

HOLT - Fire that was discovered at 3 a.m. Monday in the trailer home of Jessie Ford, 33 and his wife, Bonnie Jean caused injury to Ford in his efforts to extinguish the flames.

Ford suffered burns to both hands, under the arms and in the lower back.

Holt firemen were called and extinguished the fire but not before the trailer was badly damaged. Mrs. Richard Hutting, 6409 Bishop road, is the owner of the trailer into which the Ford's moved earlier this month.

Richard Hutting estimated the loss at about $1,000. He said the trailer is a total loss.

Ford was admitted to Ingham Medical hospital for treatment of his burns.

Russell Harper, assistant chief of the Delhi township fire department, said the cause of the fire has not been definitely determined and is still under investigation. Harper estimated the loss to the contents of the trailer at about $700.

Despite his burns, Ford awakened his wife, told her to get out of the trailer and ran to a neighbor's home for help.

Ingham county sheriff's deputies took Ford to the hospital.

'Book Worm' Corner Is Popular at Holt

HOLT--Ever on the alert to try new and interesting ways something different for her pupils, Holt teachers are delving into an individual reading approach which seeks to nurture independent reading for each 1st grade child soon after a phonics foundation is laid. Under the plan each child is treated as an individual and is taught at his own speed, whether it be delayed or accelerated.

An example is the 1st grade class at the Sycamore elementary school taught by Mrs. Dottie Anderson. She has arranged a "Book Worm" corner in the room where the children hope to sit during their free time and delve into their reading.

If this corner of chairs and rug are all occupied the child takes a little carpet sample and goes to a quiet, secluded spot all his own to travel the fun roads of books.

3 Persons Hurt In 2 Accidents

School Building Jobs Move Ahead

HOLT--Work is moving forward rapidly on construction of additions to Holt and Dimondale schools, Dr. Maurice Pernert, superintendent of schools, said this week.

All excavating and footings for additions at the Midway, Elliott and Sycamore schools are in and block laying is scheduled to start this week.

Work on a new Education Center to be built at the west end of the Midway school property also is keeping up with the other construction work. Excavating work still is to be completed at the addition to the Dimondale school, which is part of the Holt system. Funds for the improvements

The carpet samples are in varied bright colors with blues and greens being the most popular.

When the child feels he has read the book to his own satisfaction, he requests a private conference with the teacher.

Mrs. Anderson is finding that this grown-up approach to reading is so popular that often a conferee must wait a day or two to have his request granted for a private audience with his teacher. During the conference the child is asked leading questions about the book, may be a brief summary of his choice story, a description of one of the main events in the book, perhaps to read passages here and there, maybe to read the new vocabulary contained in that book.

The children are progressing so steadily that it has been rare that a student is sent back to reread his book or parts of it. Nearly all children leave the private conference with a big smile of accomplishment and a new book tucked under his arm. He immediately grasps a carpet sample and is off to start his latest assigned book.

HOLT - A delegation of some 15 residents of the McCue road area visited a meeting of the Delhi Charter township planning commission last Monday night to protest against plans of the Theroux Development corporation to operate a landfill at 6300 McCue road.

The Theroux company has asked the township board to rezone the area where the proposed fill is planned from agricultural to commercial. The township board referred the matter to the planning commission.

One member of the delegation told the commission that he has noted that property values drop when a landfill enters an area. Another said he had about sold his home until the request for rezoning was made for the landfill.

The commission was told by Merrill F. Wyble, a township attorney that after February 28 landfill dumps will come under state jurisdiction which will put them under state department of health regulations. Miss Edith Lewis, Delhi township clerk, sent a letter to the commission citing the need for a township ordinance to govern the erection of business signs and billboards. It was referred to a committee for study.

through a program of counseling, remedial work and treatment.

Mrs. Simpson plans to work with individual students, small groups and to assist regular teachers.

When she finds health problems as a cause for the reading problem with children, the child is referred to a nurse who is available. The nurse has connections with consultative health services available to assist in diagnosis and treatment.

During the coming summer a second reading specialist will be employed and the two reading programs will be conducted simultaneously from June 28 to August 3. A course for pre-school and kindergarten children will be emphasized.

The students will go to school about 5 1/2 hours daily, 5 days a week.

Miss Rogers Is Bride

Newlyweds Honeymoon In Chicago After Rite

Mr. and Mrs. David Sells are honeymooning in Chicago following a candlelight afternoon wedding ceremony at the Mason Church of the Nazarene on Saturday, February 19.

The Reverend John Bremer of the Lutheran Church for the Deaf of Flint officiated for the rites.

The bride is the former Bonnie Kay Rogers, daughter of Mrs. Julia Rogers of Leslie and Kenneth Rogers of Mason. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. George Wickman of Iron Mountain, Michigan. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a chantilly lace and silk organza gown with fitted bodice of lace accented with scallops forming the portrait neckline. Long fitted sleeves were finished in deep points at the bride's wrists.

Her gown was designed with an extremely full floor-length skirt with an organza tunic affect under which there were two over-lapping tiers of scalloped lace forming a wide brush train.

The bride's triple bouffant veil of imported French Illusion was secured with a crown of aurora borealis crystals. Her bridal bouquet was of white carnations, tiny hyacinths and ivy.

Miss Susan DeBaeke of Detroit was the maid of honor with Mrs. Benny Graham and Mrs. Lupe Zamora, both of Lansing, acting as the bridesmaids. They were identically attired in floor-length gowns of Azalia Motre taffeta with empire midriff and Watteau floating panel backs. They carried bouquets of pink carnations, tiny hyacinths and ivy.

Serving as best man was Anson Mitchell of Lincoln Park. Ushers for the wedding were Robert Kerchaert of LaPeer and William Rogers, brother of the bride.

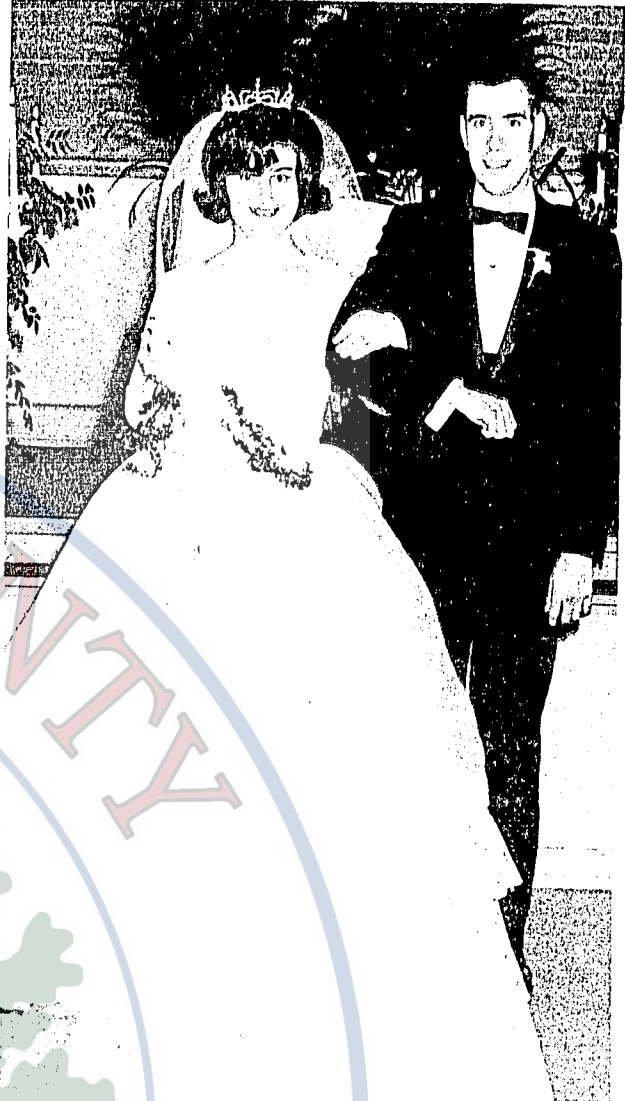

Mary Maybee of Eden was the flower girl attired in floor-length pink eyelet embroidered organza dress. Mrs. Carl Anderson of Lansing was the soloist accompanied by Alex Fetters of Mason on the organ.

Following a reception in the church parlor, the newlyweds left on their honeymoon.

Among special out of town were Mrs. Clara Premo, grandmother of the bridegroom from Iron Mountain, and Mrs. Ronald Weiszmann, sister of the bridegroom from Denver, Colorado.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of the Michigan School for the Deaf of Flint. The bride also attended Gallaudet college at Washington D.C. The bridegroom is currently employed in Flint.

Little Children Should Never Be Left Alone

Never leave little children at home, even for a minute. More than 12,000 persons lost their lives in fires last year, and 2,100 of these were children under 16 years of age who were victims in home fires.

Many times that number received burns in home fires. Parents are urged that when going out, to make arrangements to have an adult or a capable teenager sit with the children until their return home.

"WHO FOULED? ME." There was very little doubt when the official blew the whistle after this piece of action Tuesday night in the Mason-Williamston game. Mason's Jeff Cotton did some rough-riding on Jerry Neigh. Other Williamston players are Steve Dunckel and Andy Daignault. Mason players are Jim Powers and Paul Allaire.

Gabriels Crushes Haslett

Gabriels kept up its hot basketball streak Friday night at the expense of Haslett. The Rocks crushed the Vikings 78-60.

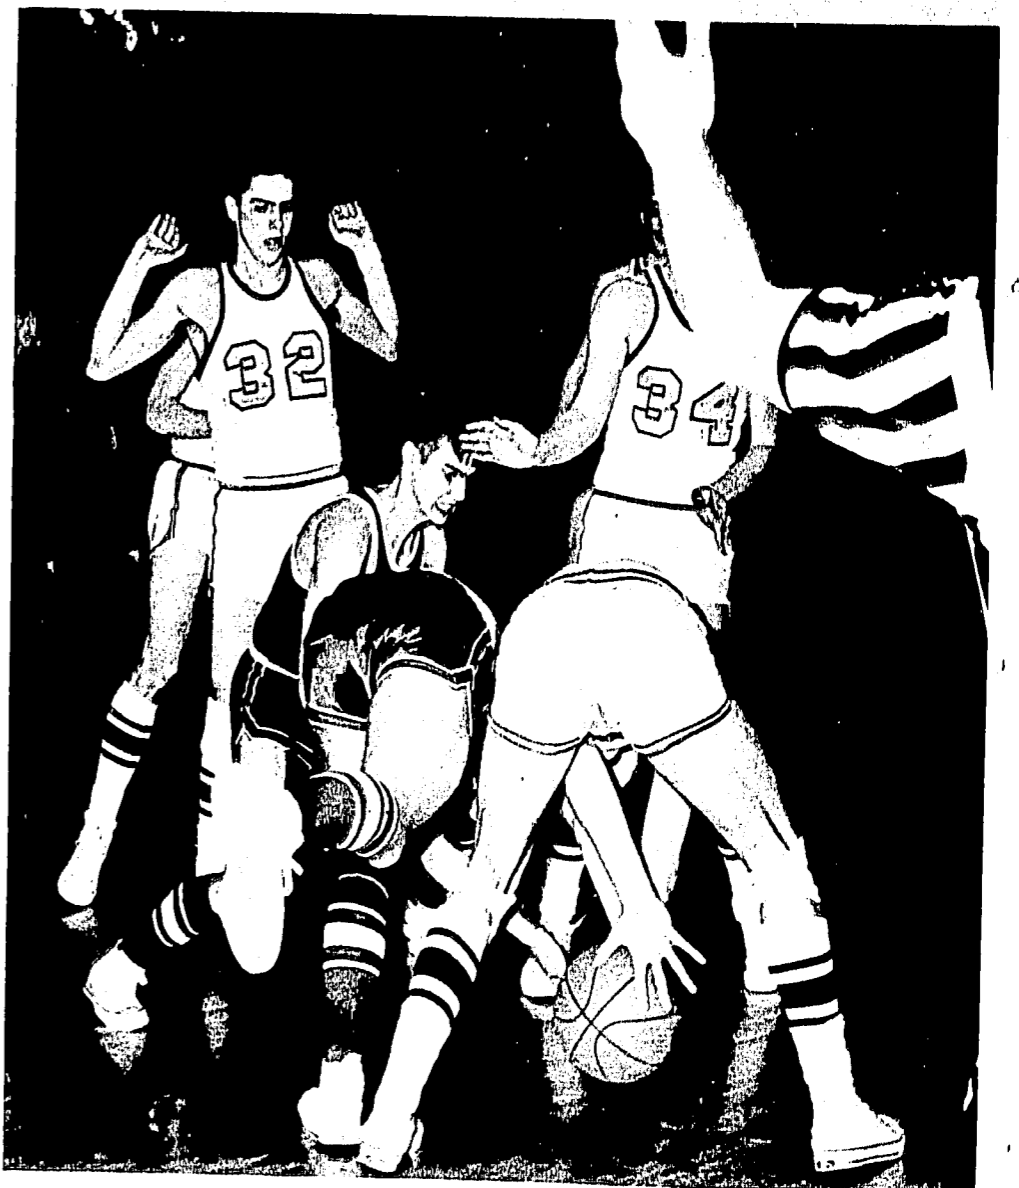

The win enabled the Rocks to stay even with Holt at the top of the circuit ladder. The Rocks are 10-3 for the season while Haslett rests in last place with a 2-11 count.

Haslett stayed with the league leaders through the first quarter. Gabriels closed out the initial period holding a 19-15 lead.

From there on out, though, it was all Gabriels. In the second period the Rocks pumped in 21 points. The third period found them hitting at a 23-point clip. Haslett gained the edge in the fourth quarter scoring but not enough to pull the upset.

For Gabriels Jeff Larkins scored 19. Tom Jakovac added 15. Steve Nowosacki came through with 13. Jim Fewless tossed in 11 and Mike Carrigan added 10.

Andy Gordon was high man for Haslett with 18, 9 of them coming in the first quarter when a Haslett press had the Rocks off balance.

BASKETBALL SOMETIMES APPEARS to be football, even including the pass from center. The camera caught a couple of unidentified combatants fighting for a loose ball along with Mason's Dan Webster over at Howell Friday night. Howell players in the camera range are Bill Simons and Dave Arnold.

Panthers Down Hornets

Old rivals, Dansville and Stockbridge, head into the final week of the Ingham County League basketball race still deadlocked for first place.

The last remaining chance for Stockbridge to take the title all alone would be for Fowlerville to rise to the occasion and defeat Dansville in their closing game Friday night.

The Panthers will be at Pinckney and should have no trouble there.

Last Friday's action saw the Panthers come from behind after a shaky first few minutes against Williamston and win going away, 78-66. The Hornets scored first and it took Stockbridge nearly three minutes to get their first basket from the field but they soon found the range and went ahead midway through the first quarter and never trailed thereafter.

Rob Sooy had a fine night, scoring 25 points, followed by Steve Collins with 21, Dave Mills with 17 and Tim Howlett with 11. Howlett again turned in a fine floor game both on offense and defense.

Bad Week Hits JVs

Mason's JVs had themselves a bad week, Friday night they were edged by Howell 58-56 in a nip and tuck battle which was in doubt right up to the final second.

Then Tuesday night they dropped a heartbreaker to Williamston in an overtime game which finally went to the Hornets 98-97. Scoring 97 points usually means a winner for most any high school team, but it didn't in this case.

Over at Howell Gary VanderVeen was the big shooter. The Jayvee center accounted for 17 points with Doug Engle hitting for 13, Pat Birney bagging 12 and Ron Underwood getting 11.

Mason trailed by 2 at the end of the first quarter and trailed by 7 at the half and then came on strong to almost pull the game out of the fire.

Howell put on a last-ditch rally in the final quarter to wipe out a Mason lead and knot the count in regulation play. Then the Highlanders went on to pull in front and stay there in the overtime.

Engle had one of his best shooting nights. The Mason guard poured in 32 points to pace the attack. VanderVeen came through with a 22-point effort, Underwood added 17 and Pat Birney contributed 14.

Mason Draws

Drawings for the Class B district tournament at Mason were made Tuesday morning for Charlotte, Eaton Rapids, Holt, Stockbridge and host team Mason.

Mason will take on Charlotte Tuesday night at 7:30 in the tourney opener.

Wednesday night at 7:30 Holt will meet Stockbridge. The Thursday night game will pit Eaton Rapids against the winner of the Mason-Charlotte game.

The finals are set for Saturday night.

Mason Loses To Howell But Gets by Williamston

Mason Loses

Against Howell, Mason appeared well on its way to victory when an epidemic of bad ball handling hit in the last quarter. The Highlanders, never far behind, moved in front and stayed there.

With Jim Powers, Paul Allaire and Bill Strait doing most of the shooting, Mason moved in front 19-12. In the second period Howell came on strong in the closing minutes to pare 2 points off the lead with Mason leaving the floor at half-time owning a 34-29 lead.

Howell found the range in the third quarter while Mason

Mason had another one of the lose one-win one weeks, Friday night the Bulldogs did the losing, falling to Howell 74-60.

Tuesday night the Bulldogs stepped out of the Capital Circuit to take on Williamston and came out on top of the Ingham County league foes 71-58.

Mason will close out the regular season Friday night over at Okemos. The next bit of action is slated for Tuesday night when Mason opens the Class B district play in its own gym against Charlotte.

shooters cooled off and the Highlanders ended the quarter on top 48-44.

At the start of the last period Mason rallied to pull even but

Mason Wins

Tuesday night Mason and Williamston tangled in a rough game with lots of excitement and a few bumps and bruises. The Bulldogs moved in front by a few points in the first quarter but by the time the first 8 minutes were up the Bulldog lead, often as high as 6 or 7 points, had melted to 17-15.

That's the way the second quarter ran with Mason getting in front and Williamston fighting back. When the half ended the Bulldogs owned a 32-28 lead.

The third quarter was more of the same with Mason managing to add one more point to its margin.

The fourth quarter was a little different. The Bulldogs limited Hornet shooters to only 3 field goals. In the meantime Gary Barker hit a hot streak with 4 quick baskets and a pair of free throws to shove Mason safely out in front.

Jim Powers was the top shooter for Mason with 28 points on 9 field goals and 10 free throws in 13 attempts. Paul Allaire was next with 22 points and Barker finished with 11.

For Williamston Steve Dunckel was high with 13 and Mike McNeilly was close behind with 12. Williamston's fortunes began to sag when McNeilly, the top Williamston rebounder, was forced out of the game on fouls.

Leslie Takes Glads In Overtime Game

It took an overtime to do it but Leslie came up with a sweet 81-78 win over Fowlerville Friday night and the Blackhawk did it on the Glads' home court.

Dave Wheeler sent the game into overtime when he put in a layup with 2 seconds to go. In the overtime the Blackhawks piled up 8 points.

It was a nip and tuck affair all the way. In the first quarter Fowlerville worked its way to a 19-17 lead. By halftime the Glads had run their lead to 39-33.

Then Leslie came storming on in a hot third quarter featuring some fancy shooting from the foul line to make the scoreboard read 55-54 at the three-quarter mark. The lead changed hands all through the last quarter until Wheeler bagged his crucial shot making the overtime necessary.

The win enabled Leslie to pull into a tie with Fowlerville for fourth place.

In the scoring honors race Chuck Lay had himself a night, bagging 31 points for Leslie on 11 field goals and 9 free throws. Mumby ended the night with 26.

Dye and Carson each collected 16 points to pace the Fowlerville attack.

In the season closer Friday night Fowlerville will play at Dansville and Leslie will host Williamston.

Hornets Draw

Williamston will get its first taste of action in the Class C tournament at Lansing Sexton on Thursday night in a 7:30 game. The Hornets drew Bath in the pairings made Tuesday afternoon.

Other teams in the tourney are Haslett and BTS meeting Monday night, and DeWitt, who will meet the winner of the Monday night contest on Wednesday night.

The finals are scheduled for Friday night.

Dansville Coasts By Pinckney 74-46

Coach Searl Briggs at Dansville gave his varsity starters a rest Friday and still the Aggies won big, taking winless Pinckney 74-46.

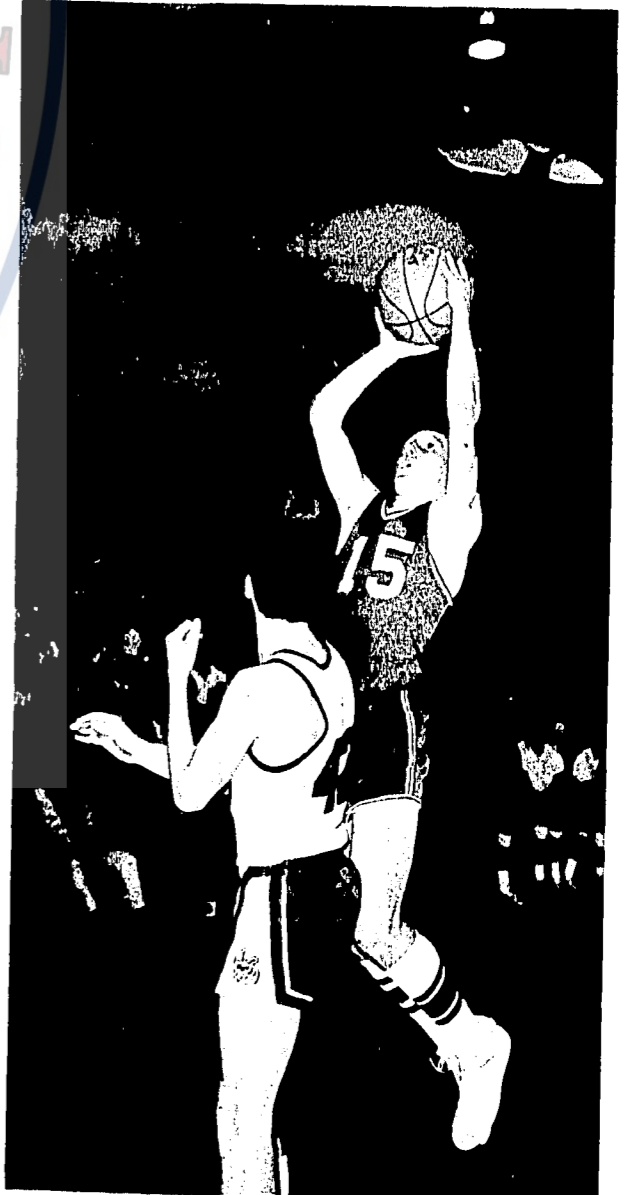

The win kept the Aggies tied with Stockbridge in the Ingham County league race with one game left on the schedule for the Aggies. It won't be an easy one because Fowlerville is always dangerous, even this year when the Glads are not in their accustomed place at the top of the standings. Dansville will have the home court advantage.

While the Aggies close with a hard one, the Panthers will be playing at Pinckney in what should be a fun night for the visitors.

Larry Wright paced the Aggies against Pinckney. The sixth man on the Aggie squad had himself a night with 26 points on 10 field goals and 6 foul shots. Barry Chapman, a sophomore, came into his own with 20 points and Jack Prince added 10.

The Aggies jumped off to a 16-4 lead and were never in any trouble after that. At half-time Dansville was in front 45-21. The Pinckney crew stayed close to the Aggies in the second half but never did outdo the Aggies in scoring.

DOUG ENGLE, Mason's sharpshooting Jayvee, had himself a night at Williamston. He poured in 32 points on 11 field goals, including this one, and 10 free throws. Mason lost 98-97 in an overtime.

Ingham-Jackson Park Proposed Where Survey of State Began

If a plan now in the talking stage blossoms into reality the spot where the survey of the state of Michigan began nearly 150 years ago--in 1825--will become a joint Ingham-Jackson county park. The area embracing 100 acres is for sale but with the proviso that the purchaser use it only to develop a park. Talbert Abrams of Lansing, who is head of the Abrams Aerial Survey corporation and the Abrams Instrument corporation, has offered to purchase the tract and donate it to Jackson and Ingham counties for the park. Abrams one of the country's leading aerial surveyors, would like to see the park developed as a monument to those early day surveyors who risked their lives in carrying out the terrific task of making the survey. "Their ability to establish a base line and meridians is a tremendous story of our history," he said.

The Michigan Historical commission long has wished to mark the spot but it is hidden in a clump of thickets and a marker placed there now would not be visible from any traveled point.

But if this development takes place the ground would be cleared and made into a park of which both counties could be proud. It has been suggested that stones from every county in Michigan be obtained with which to build a monument which also could serve as a marker for the historic site.

A century and more ago the area was Indian country, inhabited by bands of Potawatomi tribesmen with whom those early surveyors had to battle to accomplish their tasks.

The area, peaceful, quiet and primitive, today, is the habitat of deer.

Maps of the tract show that the boundary lines of the 2 counties are not straight because of an error in establishing the east-west baseline. Other surveyors later corrected this and other errors by establishing correctional lines which remove the jog and bring the townships together. These correctional lines which comprise base lines are used in all legal descriptions today.

To have changed the base lines and the meridians would have meant re-surveying the entire state of Michigan.

Michigan State university clothing specialists say clothing researchers are working on a one-step process of making fabric by spraying fibers. If this process is perfected, it will eliminate spinning and weaving of fabrics. Clothing is also being genuinely 'wash n'wear' through a durable press process.

X MARKS THE SPOT - where the start of the survey of the state of Michigan back in 1825. It is the location of a proposed 100 acre park and a monument marking the historic site. The east-west dotted line is the boundary line of Ingham and Jackson counties and the dotted line running north and south shows the division of Rives and Henrietta townships in Jackson county and between Leslie and Bunker Hill townships in Ingham county.

There's a good answer!

No matter what the problem -- or how vexing the situation -- there's always a good answer. And it's basically spiritual. Often it depends on how we answer the question "Who Is Your Maker?" Each week the Ingham County News inquiring reporter asks a question of 5 persons at random in Mason. This week's question is: "Do you think the $310,000 bonding issue for a new city hall will pass?"

Editors note: Answers to this question indicate how the persons think the general public will vote and do not indicate how the individual will vote himself.

Dall W. Patterson, DVM, Kearns road, Mason: "I don't really think the bonding issue will be successful. Most of the people I have talked with don't think the city really needs a city hall."

Tom Christensen, 225 Walnut court, Mason: "The whole question is up for grabs. People voted against the old garage building and now they are being asked to vote for a brand new building that will cost some $310,000. I don't know whether or not the people will approve the bonding issue."

Mrs. Milton Beebe, 204 N. Cedar street, Mason: "Judging from the attitude of people coming into the grocery store who have discussed the city hall issue, I don't think the bonding question will pass. There has been quite a bit of talk about the city hall in the last few months and I don't think the people will vote for it."

Ivan Kerr, 225 E. Elm street, Mason: "I would say the bonding issue will not pass. There has not been enough information about the proposed building presented to the people about the actual facility to warrant the people of Mason voting for it."

Jim Mulvany, 122 E. South street, Mason: "I have my doubts as to whether the city hall bonding issue will pass, however, I can't say I have really talked with too many people about the question."

The World of Music Baroque Era in France

During the Baroque Era (1600-1750) I have said there was a trend to develop national styles. By this I mean each nation was setting a trend or style of composition of its own, yet all these national styles had the same basic beginnings. I have termed these beginnings Italian roots, for it was from Italy that the basic designs were taken. In France one man did more to develop the French style than any other--his name was Jean-Baptista Lully (1632-1687), and it is interesting to point out that he was an Italian by birth.

On a visit to Florence Italy the Chavaller de Guise had been pleased by the gay, bright face and fine voice of a young Italian named Lully. The French Nobelsman persuaded the boy's father to let him go to France and promised that the young boy would be trained as a court musician.

When Lully arrived in France he was taken into the rich household of a princess. But Lully was a high spirited boy, and he angered his mistress so seriously that he was dismissed to the kitchen to work as a servant. But Lully was not to be discouraged by this setback and rather than do the work of a servant he entertained the other servants in the kitchen with his singing and dancing.

The King of France at this time was Louis the fourteenth, or, as he was called, "the Grand Monarch." His palace at Versailles, just outside Paris, had no equal in all Europe for beauty, extravagance and luxury. Music and dancing constantly filled the palace.

The French enjoyed dancing so much that they created dancing plays. These stories, told by singing, music, dancing and gestures, were called ballets. Gradually the French omitted singing in their plays and the stories were told only by dancing and the music.

Eventually the news of Lully's music and its excellence caused him to be restored to royal favor. Lully became court musician and eventually was appointed chief musician to the king. Lully was an astute business manager and knew how to take advantage of certain opportunities and this kept him in good favor of the king.

As elaborate ballets were the favorite of the king at this time, one of the Italian composers of Euridice came to Paris to give a performance of his opera. The Italian art was strange to French taste and the opera was a failure. But Lully was quick to see a way to make the opera popular. He wrote an opera just as the Italians did but he included in it a ballet. The French king was so pleased by this "French" opera that he made Lully sole director of the French Opera House in Paris. So again it was through Lully's astute business management, his ability to act correctly at the precise moment, and the favor of the king that made Lully what he was, virtually the dictator of music in France. For the remainder of his life Lully served as the most distinguished court musician in all of France.

In the operas of Lully we see the basic Italian ideals and design, but there is the touch of France and the great palace of Versailles. The plots of the operas of Lully were based on mythological themes with frequent long interludes of dancing and choral singing. The whole opera was cleverly intermingled with adulation of the king, glorification of the French nation, long discussions of 'amour', and episodes of romantic and marvelous adventure. For the operas Lully composed music that was very pompous and that projected the highly formal splendor of the French court.

A Major Force

Reprinted from Manistique Pioneer - Tribune

THE LOCAL RETAILER can be a major force in the increase in the wealth and welfare of his community. In fact, to be successful in modern business, the retailer necessarily becomes a primary factor in community progress. A suburban retail association lists some of the merchants' contributions as follows:

1. Sales efficiency. To stay in business the merchant must continuously seek more effective methods of distribution. This leads to cheaper prices for everyone.
  2. Increased motivation. Retail advertising is the most important factor in the immediate purchase of new products which reduce labor and make living more pleasant and healthful.
  3. Creation of a trade center. A community is unified by its trading center. Take away the progressive stores and the citizens focus their interests and spend their money at more distant centers.
  4. Promotion of stronger institutions. The merchant knows that good schools, stable government, and recreational and cultural facilities affect his own business, because happy, informed and active people are his best customers.
- Retail advertising which is the best mirror of the nature of a trade center, does more than sell goods from day to day.
Advertising of good merchants is the repository of stimuli which keeps a community alive.

If I were writing an etiquette book, and I have no such intention after a complaint was registered against me at a recent church supper because I speared slices of tomato out of a salad bowl, I would ban the word "pardon," except for the most heinous crimes. "Beg pardon?" would be ruled out entirely. When someone mumbles his words or speaks too low the listener should say "Speak up" or "Speak plain," or "What?" not "Pardon?" or "Beg pardon?"
Asking pardon or offering apology is seldom necessary and when it is there is little use in offering it. If an injury has been suffered that calls for apology what the injured person actually wants is revenge. Anyone who thinks I owe him an apology can come in and get an apple this week. It will do him much more good.

October 16, 1947

Harlan Mills, late of Mason and now of Ypsilanti, had a harrowing experience last week. For two weeks Mrs. Mills had tried to get a plumber to unplug the sink drain. Finally her husband decided that there was no need to wait for the plumber. He bought a can of Drano, borrowed a set of tools, and crawled under the sink to start work. He loosened the pipes and started probing with a wire. He ordered his wife to dump the can of Drano down the sink. She grabbed the can and dumped the contents. Nothing happened. Then it was discovered that Mills had bought a can of popcorn along with the Drano and has placed the popcorn on the drainboard instead of the Drano. With the pipe crammed full of sludge and the shelled corn, Mills went to work furiously to clear the pipes. His wife, not to be outdone in the crisis, then found the Drano and dumped it into the sink. With a whoosh the whole mess gave way and Mills was drenched with the sludge, popcorn and Drano. He spit and squirted the mess out of his mouth and ears and then was horrified to discover his pet tooth missing. He and Mrs. Mills sifted all through the popcorn but could not find the missing molar. When Mrs. Mills made the beds a little later she found the tooth under her husband's pillow. By that time a plumber had arrived to put the sink back together.

THOUGHTS FOR THE WEEK

Read Luke 7:19-27

Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment. —John 7:24

PRAYER: Our Father, help us to overcome the blindness of prejudice that we may reject false standards. Help us to look upon others with the clear vision and loving concern of Jesus, our Savior and Master. In His name we pray. Amen.

What's Wrong With a Primary Race?

What is there about competition that political party leaders don't like?

Our system of political parties, including primaries, is important. Yet both major political parties have their leadership wringing their hands because there is apt to be some competition in the race for United States senator.

This last week Republican leadership called a conclave of party leaders to come up with a preferred candidate. This they did. One Hundred seventy-five, give or take a few, party bigwigs singled out one candidate.

Democrats appear shaken that a primary fight may erupt between G. Mennen Williams and Jerry Cavanaugh for the same senate post.

On the one hand both parties go to great lengths to deplore voter apathy and on the other hand they do everything possible to dull voter interest.

Republicans at the grass roots are mature enough and well informed enough to name their own candidates with their action in the ballot booth. They are smart enough to pick one man from a field of 2 or 3, or a dozen, for that matter. The same holds true for Democrats.

A hard-fought and cleanly-fought primary might be just what is needed to breathe some life into the Republican party. The same type of battle might be what the Democrats need to help their supporters generate a little interest in the issues of the day.

Political parties need leaders but even more important, they need the interest of the party faithful. A primary can't help but sharpen that interest.

There is nothing to be feared in a primary battle. So let's have a couple this summer. King makers are not needed on either side of the political fence.

Gambling Is no Cure

Feeling a growing financial pinch in state treasuries, more and more legislators are considering some form of legalized gambling for revenue. Several states are currently considering bills to legalize sweepstakes, lotteries, beano, off-track betting, and other forms of gambling.

We believe legalized gambling is bad for government, bad for society, and bad for the individual. It creates far more problems than it solves. We hope that legislators will muster the courage to oppose it in all forms.

SOME PERSONS claim that the worst features of gambling can be reduced by providing a cloak of legality. We believe that experience shows otherwise. Far from reducing the severe problems which organized gambling creates, legalization frequently increases them.

Legalized gambling swallows up wages and savings of the community which, for the most part, would otherwise go into constructive community enterprises to meet legitimate human needs. Losses, moreover, fall heavily on the poor and underprivileged, thus causing individual and family hardship and compounding the community's social problems.

PROMOTION OF gambling by state authority induces many to gamble for the first time in their lives. Gambling is not so much an inborn human instinct as it is an acquired habit. Once people acquire the habit, they seldom confine their participation to legally sanctioned programs of gambling. The result—a net increase in all forms of gambling.

The life blood of organized crime is gambling. Since legalized gambling stimulates illegal, it helps to finance the crime syndicates which dominate the underworld. Racketeers, moreover, find gambling an industry unusually susceptible to manipulation and have managed to muscle in even where gambling has been legalized.

Legal as well as illegal gambling corrupts police, politicians, and other public officials and undermines respect for law and order. Those in a position to know most accurately state that gambling results in corruption which rots the fabric of society at all levels, and they see no solution to the problem in the proposal to legalize gambling. Neither do we.

One of the great naval heroes of World War II will be laid to rest this week. Admiral Chester Nimitz did a great job in taking the U.S. naval fleet, a good share of it laying on the bottom of Pearl Harbor, and molding it into one of the greatest and winningest naval fleets in history.

I can personally report, though, that while the admiral was a great naval tactician, he didn't do too well pitching horseshoes.

Back when I was rock hopping in the Pacific, the admiral pulled in an island paradise called Funifuti in the Ellits Island group. This happened to be a sliver of land which I temporarily called home and in the interests of boosting marine corps morale, someone brought along a set of horseshoes and a couple of stakes.

The admiral, escorted by Col. Binney of the marine corps, was strolling around the island one evening and happened by the horseshoe pitching pit just as Sgt. Bob Kobdiah, a sharpshooting Blackfoot Indian from Wisconsin and I got our turn at athletic endeavor.

The admiral promptly issued a challenge—and he and the colonel went down to defeat.

It can be reported here that the admiral and the colonel were fair men. Neither one of the sergeants lost their stripes.

In fact the navy and marine corps brass paid off the wager. They gave us that day's copy of the Honolulu Star which had been flown in for the admiral. I had put up a 2-months old issue of the Ingham County News as my part of the wager.

All the news out of Washington points to the fact that the administrations tax proposals to help pay for the guns and butter Johnson's program aren't going to be challenged to any great extent.

In fact there is no concerted action on anyone's part to keep the proposed spending on an even keel. It's small wonder that government spending goes unchecked. It appears that no one, including the average taxpayer, gives a whoop.

Someone once said that although death and taxes are both inevitable, death has one thing in its favor. It doesn't get worse everytime congress or the state legislatures meet.

****

Too seldom is news related about the youngsters who do not get into trouble. A classic example is provided by a pair of junior high girls who hired out as baby sitters and surprised a Mason businessman and his wife when they returned by washing down the kitchen walls and scrubbing the floor unsolicited. Laurie Krokker and Chris Bartlett will go far with such industriousness.

The Melting Pot

You've undoubtedly heard that clever little song that is going around these days called "Hello Dolly".

Its first few bars go like this:

"Hello Dolly!
"Well, Hello, Dolly!

"It's so nice to have you back where you belong".

The tune was so catchy the Democrats picked it up as their song at the last national convention, but they substituted the word "Lyndon" for "Dolly" and played it and sang it for their favorite candidate, Lyndon B. Johnson.

Whether or not the song had anything to do with it, Lyndon was nominated and later went on to be elected President of the United States.

Now it looks as if the song and the musical of the same name may become one of the biggest box office hits of the decade.

It opened its 3rd year in New York's St. James theater in December with Ginger Rogers in the lead role. Three other touring companies are playing in various parts of the United States and in England. The No. 1 touring company, starring Carol Channing, is now playing in Chicago, another company, headed by Mary Martin of "South Pacific" fame is in London and a 3rd troupe is in Las Vegas, Nevada with Betty Grable as its star.

Every so often one of these type of musicals hits Broadway with a smash that carries it for years. Such a one was "My Fair Lady" which is still on top as far as entertainment goes. It has been made into a movie and production rights now have opened to amateur theatrical groups. "My Fair Lady" has not one, but at least 3 songs that are of the whistling type, which is usually the mark of a good show. Its top tunes are "The Street Where You Live", "I Could Have Danced All Night" and "I'm Getting Married in the Morning".

****

The "Dolly" show has a distant relationship to a play of a much earlier date. That was a comedy titled "A Day Well Spent" which John Oxenford, an English playwright, produced in 1835.

In 1847 Johann Nestroy of Austria took the Oxenford play and used it as a basis for a German language farce.

Years later, Thornton Wilder, the American playwright, drew upon Nestroy's play for a little venture called "The Merchant of Yonkers." "The Merchant" came before the footlights in the 1938-39 season and was a flop. Wilder revised it and renamed it "The Matchmaker". He brought it out in 1955. It was an instant success and ran for 488 performances.

James Stewart took "The Matchmaker" and turned it into a libretto for musical comedy and Jerry Herman wrote the songs. They named it "Hello Dolly".

****

We hope that "Dolly" has a long, long run for it is musicals of its type and "My Fair Lady" that bring back the earlier grandeur of the theater where one could go and forget his cares for a couple of hours with an enjoyable play.

About Teens

LET'S GIVE A CHEER - The seniors put on a real cheering display during the Pep Week assembly Friday morning complete with pom-poms, ballions and lots of noise.

H.H.S. Seniors Nab Pep Award

By CONNIE BROWN
Holt High School

HOLT--Pep Week at Holt high can only be described as "Enthusiasm Plus!" Bright class colors, catchy sayings on lapel buttons, giant-size school spirit signs all over the school were only a part of the activity-filled week for the Rams.

All the work and enthusiasm paid off as the Holt varsity basketball team brought in 2 wins during the Pep Week. Haslett fell victim to the Ram cagers on Tuesday with Okemos close behind on Friday.

Throughout the whole week the high school classes competed for the honor of demonstrating the most pep and school spirit. On their way to setting a record are the members of the senior class who won the Outstanding Class Pep Week award for the fourth consecutive year.

Points are awarded to the classes for signs which were displayed in the gymnasium and judged on Thursday, for the most pep at the special assembly on Friday and for having the largest percentage of class attendance for the basketball game Friday night.

CONNIE

Following the game on Friday the sophomore class sponsored a dance at which the Pep Week awards were announced. Other class winners were junior class, second, freshmen class, third and the sophomores coming in last.

Once consolation to the classes was the fact each of the classes did so well during Pep Week it was difficult for the judges to make a selection.

Along with the sign contest and pep assembly there was also a special day during the week designated as Clash Day. This was sponsored by the Student Council. On this day students wore school clothes, but the more weird the color combinations the better. The students thought the day was Ideas were brought up concerning a dinner for the seniors to be sponsored by their parents. It was also suggested that the seniors' parents be honored at a dinner sponsored by the students. Plans for the Senior Trip were also discussed. Possibilities discussed were a trip to Bob-Lo Island, a trip to Milwaukee, or a day at the Double R Ranch, or the Jack and Jill Ranch.

A film about the Jack and Jill Ranch was shown. This seemed to be the most popular idea. Seniors will decide definitely what they want to do in the very near future.

Holt High School students attended an assembly about driving safety on Tuesday morning. William Cheeseborough spoke and also narrated a film about race drivers. He has driven for 7 years in the Indianapolis 500, 17 years in races, and 200 years on the highway. He is definitely qualified to speak on driving safety for he has an almost perfect driving record. The assembly was made possible through the cooperation of the A. C. Sparkplug Company.

Wednesday, February 16, the Teen Center was open from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. This particular evening was devoted to a Valentine Dance. Music was furnished by the Avantis of Mason. The center was decorated with a Valentine's Day theme.

Thursday evening the sophomore class had their potluck. The decorating theme was George Washington with miniature Washington Monuments decorating the tables. Following the banquet, a judo demonstration was given by students from Michigan State University and a student from Lansing Community college. The entertainment was interesting and the attendance was very good.

The Holt Junior High School Students of the Month are Jamie Sabatino and Robin Rapella, eighth grade, and Denise Shinaver and Steven Meredeth, seventh grade. Congratulations to them!

MSU's three-man finished ninth out of 200 colleges and universities participating in the 26th annual-William Lowell Putnam Mathematics competition. MSU won the competition in 1961 and 1963. Team members this year included William Webb, a Wyck-off, N.J., senior who graduated in December; Neil L. White, senior of Midland; and Allen Beadle, Mt. Morris freshman.

FHA Girls Sponsor "Mr. Ugly" Contest

By RONDA BALZER
Haslett High School

HASLETT -- Asking for a donation to the drive against birth defects in return for a loaf of bread, students from all Ingham county high schools walked from house to house Sunday on the annual "Teen-Age Program of the March of Dimes bread drive.

Panthers Stage Pep Rally

By RUTH CAMP
Stockbridge High School

Twenty minutes of the sixth period were omitted last Friday afternoon so that a pep meeting could take place before school was dismissed. The band played the school fight song as the students entered the gym. Following the opening, led by the cheerleaders, junior varsity coach Jim Sargent gave a short talk. He explained the league standings (with Stockbridge tied for first) and told the student body that he thought Duane Clark has done a tremendous job of coaching the varsity this year. Sargent spoke briefly about the junior varsity and said the team he has this year is the best he has ever had.

RUTH

Besides leading the students in some cheers, the cheerleaders gave a short skit titled, "Nature Scene", featuring Mike Loso and Dave Hanson.

Last Friday was school color day. Everyone working in the office wore orange and so did many of the students. To add to the color scheme, the cheerleaders passed out large orange pins with team slogans on them.

The cast for the junior play, "Cheaper By The Dozen", was selected last week following tryouts Thursday afternoon and evening. There was a good representation of the class and Mr. Klinger, the director, thanked everyone who tried out.

Those selected and the role they will play are: Father, Steve Batchelor; Mother, Mary Reed; Anne, Karen Hamlin; Ernestine, Ellen O'Brien; Frank, Mary Lindberg; Larry, Eddie Porzolt; Fred, Dean Bachelor; Dan, Paul Stephens; Miss Brill, Sue Brown; Martha, Ruth Camp. The three younger children, Jackie, Lillian and Bill will be played by junior high students. Mrs. Fitzgerald will be played by Mildred Wilson, Dr. Burton by Dick Frayer, and Joe Scales by Gene Cowan.

Okemos Singers Will Entertain Youth Council

By JOEL ELLINWOOD
Okemos High School

OKEMOS - Operating on the precept that "Youth is the opportunity to do something and become somebody" is the Greater Lansing Youth Council. The group, sponsored by the Lansing Community Services Council, is composed of some 30 youth organizations of Greater Lansing. These organizations include most high schools in the area, the Explorers, Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. groups, the N.A.A.C.P., 4-H, Youth for Christ and many other youth oriented groups in the area.

JOEL

The result of recommendations made at the 1957 Lincoln Youth conference. A Teen-Age Seminar on youth activities was set up to study these recommendations and at the end of a year's study the constitution and basic structure of the organization was developed.

The group has won Parents Magazine Youth Group Achievement Award for outstanding service to the community and is one of the area representatives to Michigan's Youth Activities Council.

The Greater Lansing Youth Council is holding its annual open meeting this Wednesday night at 7:30 at the YWCA in Lansing. A folk singing group from Okemos will be the evening's entertainment. All interested high school age youth in the area are invited.

Webberville Juniors Ready Class Play

By MARSHA LOTT
Webberville High School

WEBBERVILLE - There was a pep assembly Friday in preparation for the Morrice game, the last regular game of the season. The cheerleaders did cheers and the varsity did their pom-pom routine. Webberville defeated Morrice Friday night on their home court.

MARSHA

The starting five for Webberville were: Mike Miller, Ron Lunsted, Doug Waite, Jerry Arnold and Ron Vicelli. The J.V.'s won their game, 61-40.

After the game Friday night about 15 teenagers gathered at the home of Bonnie Moran. They enjoyed pizza and pop. Jayanne Arnold was the guest of honor at a birthday party given for her last week by Raymond Ryan and Sandy Ryan. The teenagers enjoyed refreshments and an evening of dancing.

The senior class is sponsoring a Powderpuff basketball game Tuesday night. Boys from the 4th, 5th and 6th grades will play in addition to the girls teams. The teams have all been practicing hard in preparation for the game.

The junior class will present their play "Ready-Made Family" Thursday and Friday at the Community hall. The teenagers have worked hard on this play and it promises to be a big success.

7 Teens Attend Institute

By RUTH CAMP
Stockbridge Methodist Youth Fellowship spent the weekend at the annual Midwinter Institute at the First Methodist Church in Ypsilanti.

Saturday's program included two speakers at two different sessions, followed by group discussions and a feed back. There was a 3 hour recreation period during which the youths were permitted to do what they wanted to. Many took advantage of the opportunity to tour the campus of Eastern Michigan University.

There was a movie on Saturday night, followed by a dance in the fellowship hall of the church.

The young people spent the night in various homes of church members and returned on Sunday morning for church services, evaluation, a talent show, dinner, district rally and election of officers.

Those attending from Stockbridge were John Millhouse, Dick Frayer, Kathy Sweet, Judy Stephens, Becky Howlett, Ruth Camp and Linda MacKinder.

Mason Exchange Students Visit Dansville High

By CHERI RUEST
Dansville High School

DANSVILLE--Last Monday, the Dansville F.H.A. and F.F.A. Chapters held a joint meeting in the Gym. The program which was held to fulfill one of the F.H.A.'s national goals, was entitled, "International Exchange".

Teaching Career Prospects Bright

Teaching career prospects have never been more numerous for Michigan State University graduates, even though MSU is producing elementary and secondary school teachers in record numbers.

The reason, say MSU officials, is that the growing supply of certifiable teachers is being met by an unmatched demand for new teachers, especially at the elementary level.

MSU leads the nation in teacher production, according to the most recent survey by the American Association for Teacher Education. And even though MSU's output is growing, there is no dearth of job openings.

Donald F. Harden, assistant director of the Placement Bureau, said the 452 school districts conducted 2,560 interviews at Michigan State last year.

Qualified students who want to teach at the elementary level, he added, can almost hand-pick the geographical area in which they will work.

Williamston Color Day Is Success

By CHRIS STEWART
Williamston High School

CHRIS

The party lasted from 8 to 12 and everyone danced and listened to records for most of the night. Potatoes, chips, pretzels and pop were served.

There was an after game dance Friday in the high school cafeteria, after the Williamston vs. Stockbridge game (which Williamston lost). Disc Jockey for the night was Frank Boeve.

Girls Athletic association had a meeting Wednesday during third period. It was decided that the G.A.A. would definitely like to have a dance within the next few months.

Committees were picked for the dance. The theme for the dance is not known, but it will probably be a girl ask boy dance.

Friday was color day at Williamston high school. The purpose of this is for the classes to compete against each other to prove which one has the most school spirit.

Each class gave a skit at the pep rally Friday afternoon. Also each class received a little trinket which they wore all day to distinguish themselves from the other classes.

The seniors theme was "Batman" and each senior wore a bat which said "Bat em Down." The juniors theme was "We shall overcome" (Panthers) and each junior carried a sign. The sophomore's theme was "Cage the Panthers" and each sophomore wore a cage with a panther in it around their neck. The freshmen's theme was "Hornets beat Panthers" and the freshman wore halos with green antennae.

At the pep rally the cheerleaders performed a skit about cheerleaders from the cave man era to today.

Leslie Musicians Play For All-Star Concert

By KATHY ISHAM
Leslie High School

LESLIE - Several members of the Leslie high school band spent this weekend in Chelsea preparing for and presenting the All Star band concert. Sherri Wellman, Larry Higdon and Donald Johnson left Saturday morning for a day of practicing and getting acquainted. Several relatives and friends of these students went down to hear the All Star Band concert Sunday afternoon.

The F.H.A. club elected new officers last Wednesday on activities. Newly elected officers will not take office until later this spring but elections had to be held so they could vote on who to send to the State F.H.A. convention in April.

KATHY

In order to qualify for office the candidates were required to have a "B" average or better. Officers elected included: Mary Lou Hatch, president; Peggy Chamberlain, vice-president; Linda Latter, secretary; Diane Mumby, treasurer and two representatives to the convention, Sharon Taylor and Marsha Jenkins. This is not all the offices to be filled but the rest will be elected within a week or two.

The pep meeting Friday held something special for 3 varsity cheerleaders - a belated initiation. After a couple of cheers, Dixie Hayter, Sue Fry and Vickie Waters became the victims of the other 3 varsity cheerleaders. They demonstrated "How the cheerleaders always have such neat looking hair". How? - The poor girls had to do a cheer with their hair ratted but not combed down! Wonder if they had fun combing it out before the game? We sang the school song to dismiss the pep meeting.

School was dismissed one hour early Monday to allow time for the monthly teachers meeting.

The juniors are trying to find a play which they would enjoy presenting to the public this spring.

Several seniors from L.H.S. went to Lansing last Saturday to take the ACT (American College Testing) test. This is required by many colleges before acceptance to enter the college will be granted.

Baptist Teens Have Y Night At Haslett

HASLETT -- Saturday evening the Senior High and Pre-teen youth groups held a "Y" night. Miss Marilyn Miller, Rex Norris, Rev. and Mrs. Roy Shelman, and Mrs. Frank Hogle were chaperones of the group from the Lake Lansing Baptist Church.

They spent the evening playing volleyball, swimming, playing basketball and using the trampolines.

Federal Order Milk Price Is Too Low, MMPA Asserts

Michigan Milk Producers Association is seeking a U.S. Department of Agriculture hearing on the federally-regulated price paid to member farmers for their milk. MMPA said it would offer evidence that the present Federal Order price for milk that goes into bottles is too low.

The request for a public hearing was limited to Federal Order Number 40, which regulates sale of milk in the Lower Peninsula of Michigan roughly south of a line from Manistee to Rogers City, except for parts or all of the southernmost tier of counties plus Van Buren County.

The area covered by the Order produces virtually all of the Michigan milk sold in the major population centers of the state.

The pricing formula for bottled milk set forth in the order has not been changed since 1951, when the milk marketing order went into effect. The actual price paid by dairies to farmers producing milk in Michigan has been higher than the Federal Order price because MMPA successfully negotiated "super-pool" premiums when it became apparent that the Order price would not measure up to costs of producing milk for the bottling market.

"There is mounting evidence that the present effective Class I (bottling milk) price, which is well above the Order price, will not measure an adequate supply of pure and wholesome milk for the market, and it is indisputable that the Order 40 Class I price would fall far short of meeting the minimum market needs," MMPA said in a letter requesting the hearing. The letter was addressed to Herbert L. Forest, chief of the Dairy Division, USDA.

MMPA officials were in Washington Thursday (February 17) to discuss the hearing request. Representatives of MMPA's nearly 10,000 dairy farmer members approved the hearing request Wednesday (February 16) at their regular monthly market committee meetings. The 15-member MMPA board of directors, also composed entirely of dairy farmers, had previously recommended that the step be taken.

Glenn Lake, MMPA president and a farmer in North Branch, said the federal Order price for southern Michigan "must be put on a realistic and reasonable basis if Michigan dairy farmers are to be served by Federal Milk Marketing Order Number 40 in the way in which it was intended."

"The Class I pricing provision in the order is based on evidence presented at the promulgation hearing," Lake said. "There have been many changes, both in dairy farm operations and in milk marketing, since 1951. It is time Order 40 pricing provisions are updated."

The hearing request noted that total milk production in Michigan has been declining for several months, while sales of bottling milk have increased. At the same time, prices paid by farmers for all sorts of goods and services have continued to rise and dairy farmers find themselves facing a worsening cost-price squeeze.

Current predictions indicate the cost-price squeeze on farmers will continue over the next 15 years. Projections prepared by Michigan State University economists are for farm prices to go up 20 percent by 1980, but the prices farmers pay are expected to increase 25 percent in the same period.

"There is no question that bargaining and marketing will become increasingly more important to Michigan farmers," Lake said.

"Federal Milk Marketing Order Number 40 is one of the bargaining tools accepted by Michigan dairy farmers as a means of bringing stability, but pricing provisions are unjustifiably low and a burden to Michigan dairy farmers," Lake said.

If pricing provisions in this order lag so far behind the times that farmers must assume more, rather than less, of an economic burden then the pricing provisions need to be changed," he said.

A major problem in the southern Michigan order is an unrealistic "supply-demand" provision. The request for a federal hearing singled this factor out as one item that needs attention.

"The Federal Order Class I price of Order 40 is not in reasonable or proper alignment with adjacent and nearby markets," the request to USDA said. "This misalignment is due partially to the extremely severe supply-demand provision of Order 40, which permits a maximum 'take off' of 45 cents compared to Chicago's maximum of 25 cents and northeast Ohio's 24 cents."

Inmate Attacks Deputy; Objects to 'Mug' Shot

Clifford A. Price, 22, of Lansing is out of jail again but while he was in he created more trouble than 3 men. Price was arrested on a traffic violation and sentenced to serve 2 days in the county jail. He was brought to the jail Monday night, February 14, and on Tuesday morning Deputy Lester Strickler, an identification officer at the jail, went to Price's cell and get him for finger printing and photographing. That is when the trouble started.

Price was told to wash his hands when they reached the identification office. As he was doing that he asked why it was necessary to have his fingerprints when he was involved only in a traffic violation. He was told all prisoners booked at the jail must be fingerprinted.

When told to sit down for his photograph he objected strenuously and said he didn't want to pose for a picture. As Strickler was putting a board bearing Price's jail number around the inmate's neck, Price jumped up, kicking the board from the deputy's hand. Strickler said they started wrestling and the chain on the number board was broken, the camera was knocked loose from its base and Strickler's uniform was ruined. The deputy said during the struggle his head was slammed against a wall.

Strickler said he finally wrestled Price to the floor and called for help. Other officers arrived and Price was placed in confinement.

Later in the day Price was arraigned before Judge Roy Adams in Mason justice court on a charge of disturbing the peace. He was given fine and costs of $32, placed on probation for 6 months and ordered to make restitution of $15 for the damage he had caused. Judge Adams says he gave 10 days in which to pay the fine and costs and make restitution.

State Police Get New Garb

State police troopers are being issued new field service jackets as a substitute for the uniform blouse for cold weather patrol duty wear. The jackets are dark blue nylon with zippered front, small collar, and right and left front pockets.

Tested for several weeks, the jackets are said to provide greater warmth in cold weather than the blouse and allow more freedom of movement.

JUSTICE COURT

Stampski, charged with assault and battery on the person of an Ingham county deputy sheriff last Christmas Day, was found guilty at a trial before Judge Roy Adams in Mason justice court Monday. He paid fine and costs of $135 and was placed on probation for one year. Judge Adams said Stampski also is awaiting trial in Meridian township on a charge of drunk driving.

Kinny Brown of Argus, Indiana, and his brother, Raymond, of Jackson both appeared before Judge Adams Wednesday on bench warrants. This time he put up a $200 peace bond and was released. His brother was subpoenaed for the trial of Kinney last fall and failed to appear. He faced Judge Adams Wednesday, February 9 on a charge of contempt of court. He was fined $20.

Agriculture In Action

The Bride's Biscuits Michigan girls must be more appealing, because they get married younger than most in the nation. The average marriage age for a Michigan girl is a bit over 18 years, while the "average" girl in our nation puts off matrimony for another two years.

Perhaps the youth of these newlyweds has helped create an entirely new set of home-making problems, for without making had jokes about the bride's first biscuits, it may be noted that incidents of food poisoning have shown a steady, recent rise.

Youthful or not, today's married women pack a lot of living in a little time, for a check of the status of Michigan women at a median age of 25 reveals they have already furnished two complete homes, have borne their last child, and have the first child already in school.

Such statistics help guide experts working with the "Family Living, Education" branch of the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University. Headed by Mrs. Loa D. Whitfield, an eminently practical and efficient person, the work of this group will aim in months ahead at helping solve problems that come, for example, when a high percentage of rural home-makers are also employed at off-farm jobs.

"We have learned that a child's development and attitudes gained by age 5 shapes his entire attitude for life," Mrs. Whitfield reported to a group of Michigan farm leaders recently. She expressed concern with a pattern of skipped breakfasts that has led to undernourished teenagers, and caused malnutrition in this State of Plenty to become a major problem.

In an informal visit with members of the board of the Michigan Farm Bureau, Mrs. Whitfield revealed concern felt for family members who must adjust from what she termed the "family center" to individualism.

She implied that many parents are confused about democracy, adding that "People who cannot cope with democracy as taught in the home, cannot cope with democracy as encountered in the world."

Obviously, burnt biscuits are only a small part of the challenges facing Michigan's young bride.

21 O Negative Blood Donors Needed in City

Recently in a Boston hospital, a medical team twice replaced all of the blood in a young man's body with fresh blood as they fought to cure a liver disease which is usually considered to be fatal. The Boston doctors fought and won.

If the same battle had taken place in an Ingham county hospital at the same time, the outcome might have been far different. For a two-week period in January, the Red Cross blood supply was dangerously low.

Last year 73 Mason residents, in local hospitals only, received anywhere from 2 pints of blood up to perhaps 90. Just 85 pints were donated at the last Bloodmobile stop in December.

At this time there are 3 open - heart operations performed a week at Ann Arbor and Ford hospitals. Mason has been asked to give active help in only one of these. A man, living close to this vicinity, will undergo open-heart surgery in Ann Arbor at eight a.m., Friday, March 4, if Mason or Mason area residents are able to furnish 21 pints of O negative blood, drawn less than 24 hours before the operation.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Presbyterian church the day before the operation, on Thursday, March 3, from noon until 6 p.m., to do its part in identifying, labeling and packaging the blood.

The O negative blood is needed between the hours of noon and 2:30 p.m. as it must be in Ann Arbor by 6 p.m. in order to be cross matched and screened for antibodies, an essential part of any transfusion.

Ivan Kerr and his daughter, who has had open-heart surgery, will represent the Mason Bloodmobile on TV channel 10, at 9 a.m., February 25. Donors, other than O negative, are also needed and will be welcomed at the Bloodmobile when it stops in Mason next week.

This Week's RECIPE

With son Bill stationed in Viet Nam, Mrs. Donald Rich of 4465 W. Columbia road, Mason, has quite a time keeping him supplied with little goodies to eat from home. One cookie recipe which she found in a magazine and tried has become a real favorite of her family and is quite easy to stir up according to Mrs. Rich.

This is Mrs. Rich's formula for pineapple cookies:

- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1-8 ounce can crushed pineapple (drained)
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup chopped California walnuts
- 1/2 cup raisins or dates

Cream the sugar, shortening, egg and vanilla. Add the pineapple. Sift together the dry ingredients and add this to the creamed mixture. Finally stir in the nuts and raisins or dates.

Drop the cookies from a teaspoon onto an ungreased cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes until lightly browned. This recipe makes about 3 and one-half dozen pineapple tidbits.

He Is in Viet Nam

Young Mason Family Awaits Dad's Return

There are lonely times when your husband is serving in the armed forces in a far away country. Mrs. William (Janet) Rich of Mason finds herself in just this situation but there are also many instances when there isn't time to get lonely with 2 toddlers to look after.

Her husband Bill is stationed in Chu Kai, Viet Nam with the Marine Corps. Life for him is altogether different than he thought possible earlier in his life.

The days are spent working in the Chu Kai post office, but at night he doesn't go home to a cozy fire to be greeted by his wife. In Viet Nam, home is a tent complete with cot and a lot of other home-sick servicemen who are carrying on the job of war with the hope of soon going home.

This sounds rough and it is, but there is also the family at home that misses a loved one and worries over his safety, just as Janet does.

The Richs have 2 children Robin, 21 months, and Kevin, 5 months old. Robin was a year old when her dad was sent overseas and little Kevin sees pictures of Dad, but hasn't yet been introduced.

Mother Janet is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Rosebury of Barnes road, Mason. A graduate of Mason high school, she was the 1961-62 homecoming - football queen.

Bill signed up for the Marines while he was in high school and left for training in San Diego, California soon after graduation. Janet and Bill were married in California and were separated by "Uncle Sam" in May of 1965 when he was shipped out.

When Bill left, Janet returned to Mason in May with young daughter Robin and in September Kevin was born. She has been living with her parents, Bill's parents and just recently returned from a month's stay in Allegan with her sister-in-law.

The young Marine's term of service would normally be over this June, but he has been notified of a 4-month extension. Hopes are still bright that the extension will be cancelled in the near future though.

What does a young mother do when her husband is stationed away from home? Of course, there is the regular sessions spent with a pen and paper trying to tell the happenings of the day. Not to mention the 24-hour a day job of caring for Kevin and Robin.

Janet says mail service to Viet Nam is quite regular with air mail letters arriving from the United States in 5 to 6 days and letters from the servicemen reaching families within 2 or 3 days.

Bill often writes home asking for something special to eat that isn't available in the Asian country. One of his requests included tuna fish and canned Peppi. Mrs. Donald Rich, Bill's mother, of 4465 W. Columbia road, Mason, and Janet regularly pack up homemade "goodies" for Bill in tin cans.

Everything must be sent in tin cans to insure its safe arrival. The family doesn't sent too many incidental items, such as books, clothing, because there isn't room to store anything in a tent and wet weather conditions in Viet Nam ruin almost any and everything.

Food is probably the nicest gift because it is eaten before the weather can effect it and it makes a nice change from the regular sea rations which the fellows have to eat over there.

Until Bill's discharge there are always letters and photographs to look forward to with each mail delivery.

Resuscitation Is Subject of Parents' Meet

Some 40 persons attended the monthly meeting of the North Aurelius school parents association which was centered around a demonstration on the value of artificial resuscitation.

Warren Coon presented a film strip showing the life-saving technique. Following this all those in attendance were given the opportunity to try the resuscitation method on a dummy called "Annie".

It was explained that in Europe it is taught to the elementary children because its value is considered so important.

Discussion centered around a future possibility of artificial respiration being taught in the United States. Artificial resuscitation is used in cases of drowning, strangulation or other similar accidents.

Traffic safety will be the topic of next month's meeting. The fourth grade was the hostess group and served cookies and coffee. The next meeting will be March 14 at the school with the third grade acting as hosts.

The Aldins Entertain
Mr. and Mrs. Bill Aldin, Baptist Intern Missionaries, entertained at dinner Thursday night Mrs. Miriam Wikon, Mrs. Hazel Hall, Mrs. Violet Hinkley and Mrs. Daisy Bartley. Following the dinner, the Aldins showed pictures of their work.

Federal Farm Programs Boost State's Economy

Federal farm programs boosted the Michigan economy by 55 million dollars in 1965, Frank Light, chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, told the annual conference of his agency in Grand Rapids Wednesday.

Payments to farmers participating in the voluntary feed grain and wheat diversion programs amounted to $42 million. This program allowed farmers to divert from production to a conserving use, acreages of corn, barley, and wheat. In 1965, Michigan farmers diverted 710,000 acres of their 1,150,000 base acreages of corn and barley to conserving use.

Corn was offered for sale at all 31 bin sites from January through May on a bid basis. Through this period, 1,150,000 bushels were sold leaving a balance in storage of 4,706,000 bushels as of December 31.

There were over 44,000 farmers who voluntarily participated in the 1965 wheat program, diverting from production of wheat 125,000 acres. Farmers who diverted at least the minimum required to participate in the program earned certificates on their planted acres of wheat. The payments in Michigan to participating farmers in 1965 amounted to over $10 million.

The long-term Conservation Reserve program has 3,176 contracts remaining in effect. There were contracts written for a 10-year period. The annual payments on these amount to $2,600,000 this past year.

Incentive payments are made each year to encourage the production of wool and sugar products. Last year, 4,500 producers of wool and unshorn lambs received incentive payments amounting to over $193,000 while 2,700 sugar beet producers earned incentive payments totaling $2,530,000.

Light said a new Cropland Adjustment program has been included for 1966. "This program allows farmers to retire part or all of their cropland for a period of five to 10 years," he said.

Michigan and 14 other states under the Smaller Communities Program of the Public Employment Service.

The youth specialists will work exclusively with youths under 22 in small towns and rural areas. Their job will be to determine the types of employment services needed by rural youth, to provide job placement, development, and training to insure that the employment needs of such youth are being met.

Representatives in Michigan will work with other members of the mobile teams and will have the support and cooperation of the staff of local Michigan Employment Security Commission offices and Youth Opportunity Centers.

It will be their function to develop job opportunities, in-

Co-Op Extension Service Farm Views And News

By R.C. LOTT

We are hearing and reading many reports on the advantages of narrowing our corn row width.

Dr. Elmer Rossman of the MSU Crop Science Department says: Plant population has a greater effect on corn yields than row width. Narrow row corn culture should be considered when 1) convenience of uniform row width for all row crops (corn, beans, soybeans) is important and 2) all other corn production practices are being utilized to a maximum.

The objective for narrow rows is to provide more nearly equal distance (or area) around each plant at the same population. Equidistance per plant may 1) permit more efficient utilization of sunlight. A higher percent of radiant energy is absorbed by the leaf canopy and less sunlight reaches the soil. 2) result in less evapotranspiration of moisture from the soil surface since less sunlight reaches the soil. 3) reduce weed problems since there may be more shading of the soil surface and less available for weed growth. 4) improve efficiency of plant nutrient absorption through more uniform root distribution and as indirect results of 1, 2 and 3 above.

Five years (1961-65) of testing have shown an average increase of about 5 percent for narrow rows. Differences have been somewhat inconsistent—sometimes no difference due to row spacing. The yield differences in favor of narrow rows were greater and occurred more often at high yields (90 bushels or more per acre) than at low yield levels.

It may be easier and less expensive to get a 5 percent increase in yield by planting a better hybrid, earlier planting, improved weed control, more fertilizer, better plant production, earlier harvest or improvement in other practices.

University of Illinois agricultural economists have calculated that for 200 acres of corn the added cost to go from 40 to 30 inch rows is $2.71 per acre. For 400 acres it would be $1.66 per acre. This assumes that you need to trade planters, cultivators, and combine heads. These added costs are for additional weed spray, draft requirements, depreciation, interest, repair on special equipment, and added labor.

18-20" vs 36-40" rows
Closer row spacings, 18-20 inch rows, with more nearly equidistant spacing of plants, has given an average yield increase of 20 percent in MSU experiments 1961-65. Machinery to handle the 18-20" rows is not readily available. Whether the yield difference warrants development for very close row spacing is not yet clear.

Dave and Dorn Diehl of Dansville are trading in their 4 row planter and 2 row corn harvester for 6 row equipment at 30 inch row spacing. Their reasons for the change are:

- 1) Plan to replace corn planting and harvesting equipment anyway.
  - 2) Feel that 30" row equipment will produce higher yields of corn per acre.
  - 3) More efficiency in planting and harvesting their 350 acres of corn in 1966.
- Every farm will need to size up their own situation. If normal yields have not yet averaged 100 bushels or above yield, it may be most advisable to correct first the cause of the lower yields of corn.

FFA Members Qualify for Regionals

Mason will have 2 representatives in a regional Future Farmers of America contest to be Thursday, February 24, at Williamston. They are Alan Droscha and Jim Thorburn.

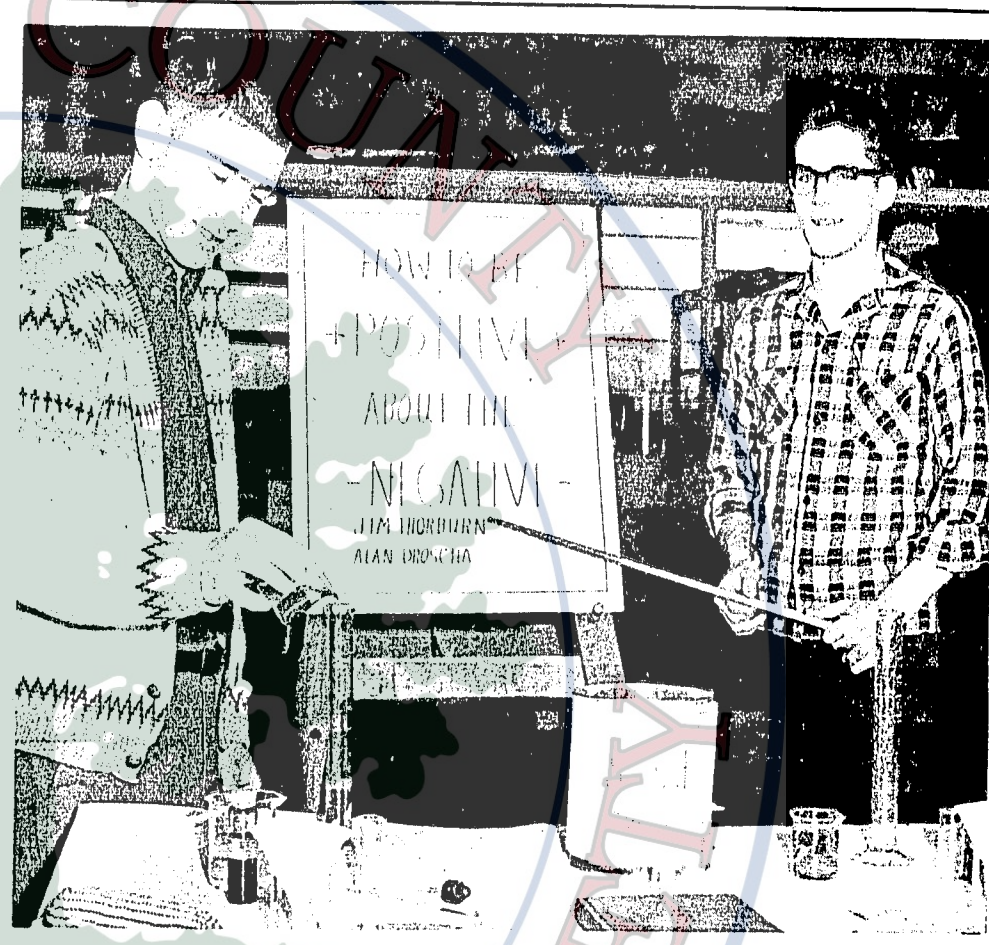

The young men will be presenting a demonstration on the cation exchange in the soil. By working with various soils and adding catalysts, they will show how positive ions contained in electrically charged atoms react in soil.

Droscha and Thorburn received a gold medal for this demonstration at the district FFA contest recently, which automatically qualifies them for the regional eliminations. Other areas of the district contest were parliamentary procedure, farm forum and public speaking.

Mason's freshmen members earned a silver award for themselves in the parliamentary procedure category. They included Don Sherwood, Dennis Rector, Dwayne Baumer, Steve Janecke, Don Arend, Don Fogle, Brad Smith and alternate, Bob Solld.

School's participating in the district meet were Williamston, Mason, Bath, Leslie, Dansville, Webberville, Okemos and Stockbridge.

Servicemen
Cadet David L. Pfeifle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald N. Pfeifle of 3018 Moyer road, Williamston, has been named to the superintendent's merit list at the U.S. Air Force Academy. Cadet Pfeifle, a member of the class of 1967, will wear a special silver star and wreath insignia on his sleeve in recognition of his outstanding academic and military achievement. The cadet is a graduate of Williamston high school.

A POSITIVE WIN - Jim Thorburn (left) and Alan Droscha were recent gold medal winners in a district FFA contest at the Williamston high school. Their demonstration dealt with the cation exchange which takes place in the soil.
