

WILLIAM FARNUM IN 'LES MISERABLES' WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

NOW AND THEN PRICES ON 'LES MISERABLES'

Victor Hugo sold the publication rights of 'Les Miserables' foremost of his romances, for $80,000. It cost William Fox nine times as much, or about $750,000, to produce it for the screen.

KNOW THE LAW BEFORE MAKING CIDER.

In response to several inquiries regarding the law governing the making of cider, we are herewith printing a short summary of that law written by John F. Kramer, Prohibition Commissioner.

Section 36, Article V of the Prohibition Regulation provides that cider containing less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol by volume intended for sale must be put up and marketed in sterile closed containers or treated with preservatives in order to keep the alcoholic content within the proportion allowed by law.

Secret cider made for home use so long as it contains less than one-half of one per cent alcohol may be sold, but if it is not intended for immediate consumption it should be preserved, since cider containing alcohol in excess of the above amount cannot be possessed by any person not a permit holder other than the person who made it in the home.

MOST LIBERTY

Still some lament, with language rude, the passing of Old Booze; the precious boon of getting stoned they cannot lose. Our fathers fought at Bunker Hill, Toledo, and elsewhere, that we our tanks with gin might fill, they wrathfully declare.

DOLLAR DAY AT STOCKBRIDGE

On the last page of this issue will be found announcements of our Merchants of the real bargains offered on Dollar Day, Tuesday, September 14th.

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

A Sunday school Superintendent recently called for two minute impromptu speeches on "What is the matter with this Glorious Country of Ours?" Needless to say no one had the courage to venture his own opinion and no one would get up to repeat some one else's ideas.

If the writer were to venture an opinion on this big, perplexing problem she would say we note the we are all running wild over non-essentials. We want some big thing to do and neglect the ordinary every day tasks that must be done if we and the institutions we profess to hold dear are to survive.

The rural people are the workers of the world. With them, there's no eight hour day, no double pay for overtime. The time was when there were no drones in the hive but now dad is often told that if he wants to keep cows he must milk them, he won't; and mother does the laundry work, the mopping and the other rough work of the house.

A well known breeder of Holstein cattle recently related to me a circumstance so illustrative of the spirit of the times that I pass it on. This man had one of the most noteworthy herds in Michigan.

Section 36, Article V of the Prohibition Regulation provides that cider containing less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol by volume intended for sale must be put up and marketed in sterile closed containers or treated with preservatives in order to keep the alcoholic content within the proportion allowed by law.

Sweet cider made for home use so long as it contains less than one-half of one per cent alcohol may be sold, but if it is not intended for immediate consumption it should be preserved, since cider containing alcohol in excess of the above amount cannot be possessed by any person not a permit holder other than the person who made it in the home.

Still some lament, with language rude, the passing of Old Booze; the precious boon of getting stoned they cannot lose. Our fathers fought at Bunker Hill, Toledo, and elsewhere, that we our tanks with gin might fill, they wrathfully declare.

All members are especially requested to be present at the next regular meeting September 14th, as we wish to give our Brother and Sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Milner a reception which we unable to give at the time they moved to Jackson.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Helen Mar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunsmore to Mr. Albert Malcho, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Malcho of Stockbridge, which occurred in Mason on Wednesday, September 1st.

THE NEW HOTEL.

A town of 800 people and no hotel. That is the condition Stockbridge has been in for some years, but at last we are to have an up-to-date hotel, one that we will be proud of—so the new proprietors assure us.

Mr. Harper and Mr. Brattin have leased the Hurst House, and will open a first-class hotel when alterations are completed, with a confectionery store in connection.

The dining room is to be opened, and regular meals will be served with special dinners on Sundays. What was formerly the bar room, and will be a lunch room, and what is now the office and until recently the card room, will be the confectionery store.

There can be no doubt that this will be a decided improvement, and should have the support of the entire village, and with the auto livery (to be established) and the bus line now running in connection with the hotel it will go a long way towards putting Stockbridge on the map as an up-to-date village.

It is the plan of Mr. Harper and Mr. Brattin to have an opening banquet, announcement of which will be made later. The opening will take place about the last week in September.

BURSTING SUGAR BUBBLES

There is an old economic law that a 10 per cent increase in production means a 50 per cent decrease in prices. Yet, in spite of this law, in the face of a 17 per cent increase in the production of sugar, this spring, speculators so manipulated the market that there was an actual increase of 50 per cent in prices.

Just what was done to the market to effect this result most people will never quite understand. Probably fear had most to do with it, the fear on the part of consumers that sugar was going to 50 cents a pound, as some people prophesied.

Neither fear nor speculation nor the manipulation of the market could forever keep up prices. As stocks accumulated, and as banks refused to loan money except on low sugar valuation, as warehouses were so full that tons could be crammed into them, as housewives declined to do their usual amount of canning with 30-cent sugar, the inevitable finally happened.

The "bottom fell out of the market" Speculators have been caught with millions of pounds. "Dumping" began, and, actuated by fear, holders of sugar scrapped between themselves as to who could first reach what little market there was.

The farmers who are interested in power farming can get a demonstration of what a Fordson Tractor will do by visiting the Collins farm, rented by W. G. Reeves, one mile east of town.

'EVANGELINE' IS PUT ON SCREEN BY FOX

Miriam Cooper, a motion picture star well known here through her work in several Fox successes, will be seen on the screen at the American Legion Theatre on September 20th, when William Fox will present the poet Longfellow's immortal 'Evangeline' in motion picture form.

THE SPIRIT IS LACKING

There is not, despite the various shortages and the high prices which confront us, that urge to work which formerly made men and women proud to establish new records for themselves as workers.

Of some of our ills, there is an end apparently in sight. That mad fever for spending which afflicted our nation in common with all others, seems to be on the wane.

The whole world had a get-rich-quick mania for a time and there are still millions on millions who are suffering from delusions of wealth without work. Until the awakening comes to all of us, we shall continue to have our individual and collective troubles.

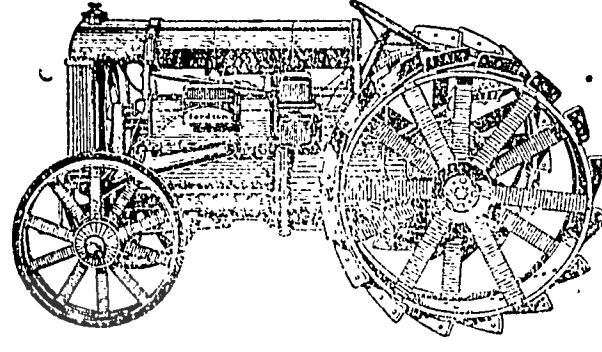

The peril of high wages in the city, drawing labor from the country, impairing transportation through the shortage of transportation labor, and bringing about a condition of scarcity and high prices which tends to nullify the effect of high wages, bids fair to be curbed.
