In Memoriam

In memory of George Phelps, a member of our class, whom we lost in a fatal accident on May 26, 1945.

CLASS HISTORY

It is the year 1947. As we sit in a dimly lighted library pondering over a number of old class history books, we come across the history of our class. Memories quickly flash through our minds as we slowly cast our eyes over the yellowed old pages. Out of the thirty-five tiny tots who started kindergarten in 1934, Agnes Ellsworth, Helen Johnson, Harold Darbor, Eugene Duling, Jack Furney, Bruce Hancock, James Moores, Robert Parisian, Russell Spalding, and Donald Cone are the surviving members in 1947.

Those who arrived to strengthen our class during the first through the sixth grades were Kenneth Allen who came in the second grade, Norma Halava, Don Lott, Stanley Patton who joined us in the third grade, Janet Fillingham, Robert Traill, Laurie Wilson in the fourth grade, and Raymond Brown in the sixth grade.

During our Junior High School years of seventh and eighth grades, Rosemarie DeChelbor joined us as we entered into this part of high school with new ideas and new ideals to learn.

At last came the most trying and tempting year of all, the Freshman. Four members of our present Senior Class joined us during that year to help carry the load of jests and remarks from underclassmen. They were Marjorie Johnson, Freda Johnstone, Laura Mazurek, and Glenn Tropf.

The name of Freshies was soon forgotten and we assumed the name of Sophomores. Our enrollment was increased by six members destined to leave us before graduation.

When school began the following fall, we assumed the more honorable name and place as Juniors. This year, Lillian Davison, Reva Horaney, Wilma Ireland, Joyce Quick and Robert Fansler joined us to help out on a successful Junior play and reception.

The next year we occupied the most important and dignified position of all, Seniors. This year was the happiest and best of all our high school years. Hilda Straub joined us this year along with Robert Smyth and Wallace Beck who returned from the armed forces, and Mr. Myron E. Smith, our class advisor. We were saddened to learn that at the end of the semester when roll was taken, Iris Sanford and Shirley Martin were no longer with us, which leaves a total of thirty-one members in the class.

The names of three other people are linked among our memories. Edward Kaiser and Julius Pekrul who left to join the navy, and George Phelps whom we lost in a fatal accident during our Sophomore year.

Many friends have joined and left us during these twelve happy years but this constitutes those who have stayed and helped complete our school days book of memories with us.

As weeks and days roll by, the dawn of class day and commencement appears on the horizon. The evening is fast approaching when we will receive our diplomas which will take us from Holt High School prepared in a sense, to begin life's work, the task of which rests on each individual. We will not have the mutual friendship of each other as in our school days to help us over the stony way, but we will never forget the impressions which these friendships have planted deep in our hearts.

Helen Johnson
Agnes Ellsworth

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of Holt High School, in the village of Holt, County of Ingham, State of Michigan, being in sound state of mind and ever aware of the possibilities in this life before us, do make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills made by us.

To the Juniors, we will our reputation of being the most cooperative class in the school.

To the Sophomores, we leave our keen desire for the pursuit of education.

To the Freshman, we will all our old pencil stubbs which never needed any erasers.

James Kenneth Allen wills his position of water boy and managership of all athletic teams to Joseph Paul Scott and Floyd Raymond Bell Jr.

Wallace Phillip Beck wills his love for the armed services to Carlton Edward Watters.

Raymond Keith Brown bequeaths his ability to obtain cuts and bruises from innocent everyday happenings in life to Alice Lavonne Beck.

Donald Robert Cone leaves his conscientious thought of pedestrians when driving to Robert Harold Skogen and Murrel Edward Moon.

Harold Sheridan Darbor wills his southpaw pitching to Richard Nole Spurgeon.

Lillian Ila Davison bequeaths her serene disposition to Sadie Elizabeth Cataline.

Rosemarie Patricia DeChelbor leaves her pleasant smile and sweetness to Helen Louise Chaffee.

Eugene Alfred Duling wills his aggressive ways to Barbara Armada Lee and Clare James Drier.

Agnes Louise Ellsworth bequeaths her record collecting duty to Barbara Jane Knapp.

Robert Edgar Fansler leaves his science ability to Walter Lawrence Holz.

Janet Claire Fillingham wills her "peaches and cream" complexion to Phyllis Ann Galka.

Jack William Furney bequeaths his ability of influencing student teachers to Richard Lee Hovey and Bonnie Jean Warner.

Bruce Wendell Hancock wills his "way with women" to Robert Curtice Bailey.

Reva Delores Horaney bequeaths her acting ability to Sally Lou Basore.

Wilma ReJoyce Ireland leaves her quietness and frankness to Florence Marie Lott.

Helen Roberta Johnson wills her "all-around" personality to Ronald Edward Pearce.

CLASS WILL

Marjorie Ann Johnson bequeaths her love for Mason, Michigan to Margaret Dorothy Dart.
Rex Donald Lott wills his cool, clear headed outlook on life to Leo Benjamin Lonsberry.
Laura Ann Mazurek wills her knack of energetically supporting any class project to Marilyn Joyce Baxter.

James LaVerne Moores wills his strong tenor voice, and interest in Boy Scout work to Donald Arlen Bell and Robert LeRoy Rage.

Robert Allen Parisian bequeaths his quiet manner and cooperativeness to Donna Jean Stackhouse.

Freda Marjorie Johnstone leaves her ability to date out of town men to Joyce Elaine Wade and Shirley Ann Phelps.

LaVerne Stanley Patton wills his infectious laughter and "sharp" remarks to Charles Lawrence Cliff.

Joyce Virginia Quick bequeaths her love, and chairmanship of the pop stand to the next lucky (?) person.

Robert Donald Smyth wills his ability to work, go to school, and keep up his social life to Maurice Welch Martin.

Russell Braton Spalding leaves his willingness to give sermons for reasonable donations to Norman Keith Parker.

Hilda Marie Straub bequeaths her blush to Norma Jane Green.

Robert Edward Trall leaves his soft tinkling laughter and studious habit of sleeping through Government Class to Arthur James Faussett.

Glenn Elmer Tropf wills his quick wit and sweet innocent smile to Mari-Margaret Grahame.

Laurie Ann Wilson leaves her ever conquering ways and wonderful personality to Barbara Jean Larner.

Myron Elson Smith, our class advisor and friend bequeaths his pace-making stride to Irene Audrey Trusty and Robert LaVerne Hartley.

We will the task of furthuring peaceful relationship between the coming Juniors and Seniors to Shirley Darlene Zimmerman and Shirley Jean Brooks.

We also will our blue jeans, lumberjack shirts and saddle shoes, which we intend to cast aside for more dignified attire to Barbara Ann Smith.

To the future graduates of Holt High, We bequeath our best wishes for success and happiness.

CLASS PROPHECY

surprise, found that it belonged to none other than Freda Johnstone. As we dined, we were entertained by Bob Traill and his orchestra, with James Moores as vocalist.

As we were eating our dessert, Freda came over to our table and sat down. "It certainly is good to see you both," she said. "I have been invited to Hilda Straub's wedding which is to take place a week from tomorrow. It really will be a fashionable affair. Reverend Russell Spalding is officiating, and Laura Mazurek, who is planning another business trip to Washington, will be Hilda's maid of honor. Did you know that Janet Fillingham owns two beauty salons in town? She tells me that she has the beauty culture of Hilda's wedding party. Marge, I have an appointment with her tomorrow. Would you like to go along? I know she will be glad to see you."

So the day passed, and the next morning we found ourselves at Janet's beauty salon. And as before, the talk went back to old schoolmates.

Janet said, "Did you know that Helen Johnson is head-buyer at Marshall-Field's in Chicago? I hear she's doing an excellent job. Joyce Quick is also doing a splendid piece of work as dean of Stephens College for girls. She started out as professor of social sciences and has been promoted to dean. Lillian Davison is supervisor at the Sparrow Hospital in Lansing. She was at the head of her class all during training. I always knew she would succeed.

"I called Hilda after you left yesterday," Freda said. "She told me that Bob Fansler was working in a laboratory at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, as a chemist. That is where the A-bomb was made you know. She also said that Wallace Beck is an engineer now. He specializes in bridges. From what she said, he is doing fine. Don Lott is a traveling salesman. He is working for a large men's-wear firm. Eugene Duling owns a large farm somewhere near Holt. He specializes in dairy farming. I hear he has quite a big business."

"Well, here is the biggest news of all!" I said. "You all remember our Senior Class Advisor, Mr. Smith, don't you? He has retired on his farm near Holt. I hear he has 160 acres now. Sounds like quite a place doesn't it? He certainly was a good scout and made our last year enjoyable, didn't he?"

CLASS PROPHECY

It was a hot, summer day, and I had just come home from a hard day of work at one of Chicago's leading department stores. I was tired of riding street cars, and decided to spend a restful evening at home with a new book I had recently purchased. The book was the latest best seller, and I was anxious to begin my reading.

I read on and on and soon found myself playing the role of the leading character, and as the scene changed, I was walking down the avenue of a large city, the name of which I couldn't recall.

As I walked, I noticed a sign which read--"Stanley Patton, D. D. S." The name was very familiar sounding, so I walked in to see if it was really the "Goon." I had graduated with him back in '47. When he saw me coming, he said, "Why, my goodness, Marjorie, what are you doing here?"

"Oh, I just noticed your sign and decided to drop in!"

The conversation drifted into a discussion of our old classmates. I asked Stanley if he knew where any of the rest of the old gang were.

"Of course," he said. "Harold Darbor owns a gas station just down the street. Jack Furney is head of the Conservation Department at Sault Ste. Marie, and Bruce Hancock is chief forester in the Lower Peninsula. And remember how good Agnes Ellsworth was in her commercial subjects? She is now a secretary in Washington, and is looking forward to a promotion in a couple of weeks. Rosemarie DeChelbor is working as private secretary to Kenneth Allen who is a prominent lawyer in Detroit."

"And did you know, Stanley," I said, "that Norma Halava is designing clothes for Reva Horaney, one of the leading actresses in Hollywood? Reva is now getting ready for a tour of the country with her personal agent, Glenn Tropf and her secretary Wilma Ireland. Bob Smyth, the famous New York columnist, is handling all of Reva's publicity."

"By the way, Marge," Stan asked, "have you heard Laurie Wilson's 'Home Economy' program? It comes on every morning around 10:00 on station WLS. It is a very interesting program for anyone who is interested in Economics in the home."

It was nearing noon, so Stanley and I decided to lunch together. So, off we went in Stanley's 1957 Atom-mobile. We stopped at a very exclusive drive-in, and much to our

CLASS PROPHECY

"Yes, he certainly did," Janet replied. "Say, does anyone know where Bob Parisian, Raymond Brown, and Don Cone are?"

"I really don't know," I said. "From what I have heard, Bob Parisian is now Reverend Robert Parisian, and Don and Raymond own a gas station. I wonder if they are still traveling back and forth to Mason?"

The scene became fainter and fainter until I heard the clock in the church tower striking--1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9-10--and I felt my book slide off my lap onto the floor. "My goodness!" I said to myself. "I must have been dreaming. But it seemed so real hearing about all of them again. It certainly has been a long time. I wonder if I'll ever see them. They're all so scattered. Oh well, I must be off to bed. I have a long day ahead of me tomorrow. A girl like me isn't promoted to purchasing agent everyday--and who knows--maybe I will see someone I know!!"

Lansing 10, Mich.

When the far-seeing grocers who are now the A. G. merchants dug down into their pockets to put up this huge modern warehouse pictured above, they were making an investment that would help every customer save money on their groceries.

Whenever you see the A. G. emblem displayed you can get your dividend on this large investment. Be a regular A. G. customer and save money regularly!
